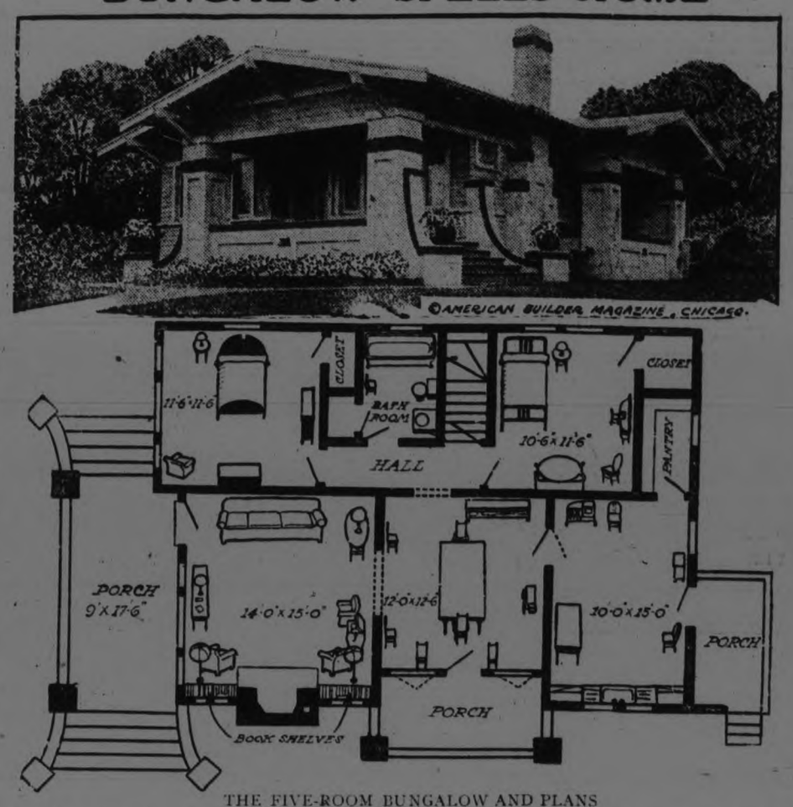
BUNGALOW SPELLS HOME



THE FIVE-ROOM BUNGALOW AND PLANS

Real home atmosphere is brought out effectively by this singular bungalow. Its curving line, simple ornamentation and quaint design literally invite visitors and promise a cheerful welcome.

The design at the same time, gives the impression of substantial, massive comfort. Yet it is planned to cover a small inside lot, instead of the large corner lots usually necessary for the average bungalow.

The floor plans shows a systematic, economical arrangement of rooms, with bedrooms isolated from the rest of the house and reached through the dining-room only.

Wonderful furnishing opportunities can be had in this living room, due to its two unbroken walls and its nearly square dimensions. A suggestion for furnishing is given, although the sofa, for instance, can be put in place of the table in the front window. More chairs can be kept in the room, if needed, although a room with little furniture is much better than one cluttered up.

Similar furniture layouts are suggested in the other rooms.

A French door divides the living-room from the dining-room. The French effect is carried further into the dining-room by the French windows which can be thrown open in summer to afford a pleasant dining place.

Housewives will like the kitchen for its square, roomy character, although it is not too large to make kitchen work tedious. The pantry relieves the necessity of filling the kitchen with pantry shelves.

The best part of the kitchen, however, is the window-lit sink—a helpful feature to the woman who knows what it means to work at a sink which is darkened by her own shadow from the center ceiling light.

The outside dimensions of the entire home is 28 feet by 40 feet. In Chicago where building costs are high, construction of the home alone would amount to about $7,0000.

WHAT WOULD WE DO WITHOUT ICE.

This Year the American People Will Use About 58 Million Tons of Ice, According to Leslie Smith.

The ice man is beginning to smack his lips. His busy season is starting. And if people realized the magnitude of the ice industry, there'd be less joking about it.

This year the American people will use 58 million tons of ice, according to Leslie C. Smith. He's secretary of the ice men's national association. A little arithmetic discloses that about 800 pounds of ice will be used in 1924 for every man, woman and child. This includes refrigerators in homes, butcher shops, grocery stores, hotels, restaurants, refrigerator cars, etc.

Every day of the year, Americans pay about a million dollars for ice.

Many now living can recall the days before artificial ice, when the summer's supply depended on winter freezes. Those days are gone.

Virtually all ice used by Americans is artificial, with the exception of New England and a few remote districts and farming sections. Out of the 58 million tons of ice used this year, 42 million tons will be artificial.

Did you ever stop to think what we'd do if if didn't have ice? Cities would be impossible without refrigeration to preserve vegetables and fruits and meats during the long rialroad trip to market, not to mention the necessity of ice in stores, cold storage plants, homes and eating places.

Take away the supply of ice, and the whole system of civilization would be shaken and in danger of collapse.

For many centuries scientists experimented trying to produce low temperatures artificially. As far back as ... atory. But ice making and refrigeration did not begin to come into general use unitl shortly before the Civil War.

The thousands who contributed to the gradual development of the art of refrigeration are unknown to fame, apparently because their services were useful. Had they been military destroyers, monuments everywhere.

Tellier, whose discoveries made cold storage possible, died in poverty.

DRY BATTERIES.

Dry batteries used with the WD11, WD12 or UV199 tubes ought to last six weeks or two months under ordinary conditions, if kept in good shape. Some batteries, operated infrequently, are known to have lasted six months.

Timbers from the historic "Mayflower" have been discovered to have been used in building a tavern in Buckinghamshire, England.

TRINITY CLUB AT LAKEFIELD

Thespians of Local Church Presented "The Dust of the Earth" to Large Audience — First Dance At Riverside Pavilion.

LAKEFIELD, April 22.—The Dramatic Club of Trinity Methodist Church, Peterboro, gave their fourset play, "The Dust of the Earth," in the Memorial Hall on Monday night, under the auspices of the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church. The play was well received by a large audience, who were very appreciative and attentive, and responded quickly to the humorous hits. The plot was very well carried out, though rather weak in parts, but each part was well taken, and the interest never flagged. Mrs. George King, as Susan Moore, made a hit, but the natural acting of Miss Babs Carter, as Nell, was very fine. Gordon Kane, as Jerry, was well taken and never overdone. "Old Mose" probably carried off the honors, as his work as the old negro servant was very fine and showed careful study of the part. Mr. Lighthart took this part, which made a hit with the audience. Between the acts, Mrs. Doig contributed several vocal solos which were much appreciated. Mrs. Doig is the possessor of a pleasing and sympathetic voice. Miss Pearl Rehill played several piano selections which were enjoyed.

The sale of home cooking, announced for the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. for Friday afternoon, has been postponed.

The first dance of the season was held in Riverside Pavilion on Monday evening, and was a great success in spite of the unseasonable weather. The music was supplied by Hendren's orchestra and a pleasant evening was spent.

The iron pots of Gondricourt

JUST after daybreak a traveller along the narrow byways of a small French village can see the housewife beginning her day. Through the open doorway her fireplace glows like a forge. A heavy iron pot, which she has filled with water from the town pump, is lifted and swung upon the crane. At the other end of the village, perhaps, runs the little stream where she washes her family's clothes upon the rocks.

Throughout the village life of much of Europe, such pictures are multiplied by thousands. Quaint, to be sure, but what grinding and incessant toil these primitive household arrangements mean!

In contrast to this, even the remote districts of America boast comfort unknown to the rural life of other countries. Conveniences are found that could not be duplicated in any save the wealthiest city homes of foreign nations.

Adequate heating systems, the farm lighting plant, the washing machine, the vacuum cleaner, the telephone, and numberless labor-saving devices have lifted modern life in America to unprecedented levels of comfort and ease.

To a large measure this has been due to advertising. Advertising has familiarized all of us with new inventions. Advertising has made possible the wide distribution of new products. By increasing sales, advertising has reduced the price of modern household utilities to the reach of the modest purse.

By reading advertisements we keep abreast of modern progress

THE CHRISTIAN MOTHERS ARE HOLDING A BAZAAR

The Christian Mothers' Society of St. Peter's Cathedral are in charge of an Easter sale of sewing and home-made cooking which began yesterday afternoon in the hall of St. Alphonsus' Lyceum, and continues during this afternoon and evening. The ladies have for sale a quantity of very useful and pretty things, including a large supply of children's garments. The practical, serviceable and yet dainty quality of the small dresses and rompers makes them very likeable. There are numbers of the fresh, pretty ginghams that always look well, in solid colors and in plaids, also lace-trimmed summer frocks in pink prints and percales, and the dress with bloomer outfits that are always so useful. There are also some dark serge and twill dresses, print house dresses for women and plenty of cunning things for the baby, including some daintily-embroidered wee white dresses, done in Dresden blues and pinks.

There are towels on sale, plain and fancy, some pretty silk corset-covers and crochet yokes, and a number of serviceable and dainty aprons.

The home-made cooking sale offers a splendid assortment of pies, cakes, preserves and biscuits, all of the finest quality, and afternoon tea is served at small individual tables. The president of the society, Mrs. John Coughlin, acts as general convenor, Mrs. A. Sharpe has charge of the sewing sale, Mrs. F. Fairen of the home-made cooking, and Mrs. Jno. Lynch and Mrs. C. Rutherford of the afternoon tea tables.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE TEAPOT-HANDLE PARROT

He was sitting there thinking this way.

One of the oddest people in Doofunny Land was the green felt parrot—mostly green, but also yellow, blue and red—a gorgeous person, indeed, with a handsome head.

It was whispered that he had no feet and absolutely no insides, and that all he owned in the world were his felt feathers.

It was also said that his mission in life was to sit on the handle of a hot teapot in order to keep people from burning their hands.

But no one could be sure of that because he now sat on a tree in Doofunny Land, day in and day out.

One day he was sitting there thinking this way to himself. "Oh, dear! I do get tired of sitting here. No variety in life. It isn't like the good old days when I used to sit on a handsome sideboard and be carried to the table to sit beside the teapot three times a day!

"Nobody thought it a disgrace then for me not to have my stuffing. Indeed, my mistress made me so on purpose, with just two flaps for sides.

"But everybody here in Doofunny Land looks so fat and healthy. Here comes the stocking cat now looking like a pillow."

Nancy and Nick came along, too, just then, and met the stocking cat right under the limb where the teapot parrot sat.

"Miew! Miew!" cried the cat, sitting down and wrapping his braided tail around him. "I have such a pain I can't move."

"That's too bad, Thomas," said Nick sympathetically. "What's wrong? Eaten too many tinmice?"

"No, that's the funny part of it!" mewed Thomas. "I haven't had a thing to eat. I've had this pain off and on ever since the day I was made. The girl who made me took an old stocking and cut off the top half. She sewed the top across and tied the corners for my ears, then she stuffed me with cotton and sewed me across underneath; then took a needle and yarn-thread and made my face and whiskers and feet; and my tail.

"But no sooner had she finished than I felt this sharp pain inside."

"Let me look at you," said Nancy, and picking the cat up she felt him all over. Suddenly her fingers touched something. "Ouch!" she cried. "Why, you have a great long needle in you. Here it is! No wonder you've had a pain."

"Oh, thank you," exclaimed the cat. "I feel a million times better. What a relief!

No sooner had he gone than the parrot called down cautiously: "Wait a minute, will you? "Is that true, what the cat said? Is that the way they stuff people with cotton?"

"Yes," answered Nancy. "Why?"

"You've got a needle. Could you get some cotton and stuff me? You see I'm only half a parrot!"

After that the parrot flew everywhere and became very friendly.

"That was all talk!" said the Doofunnies. "The parrot is a really fine bird. What ever made us think there was anything wrong with him."

ST. GEORGE'S DAY

To-day is the anniversary of events that will for all time loom large in British history. It is not only the day of England's Patron Saint, St. George, Slayer of Dragons, but it is the anniversary of the birth and death of the most collosal figure in English literature, Wm. Shakespeare.

Linked with these things Canadians may remember with thrilling pride that it also is the anniversary of the Battle of St. Julien, when Canada's sons on mud and gore-soaked fields of Flanders proved themselves "gentlemen unafraid," and by their undying valour in the face of deadly gases and awful odds won a place for the maple leaf beside the English rose.

Englishmen in Canada, and Canadians of English descent will to-day wear roses in memory of the "Little Grey Mother," but otherwise the day will be quietly celebrated after the manner of a race not unemotional, but conservative in expression of its emotions.

SCHOOL BOARDS KEEP DOWN COST.

Half As Much Money Spent In Calgary On Amusements.

CALGARY, Alta., April 23—"The people of the City of Calgary last year paid admission to amusements to which taxes were charged considerably more than one-half of the cost to them of education for the same period and when they can do that they certainly cannot say that they have reached a stage where they are unable to support the schools they have and the same condition exists at Edmonton."

This was the chief argument advanced by the Hon. Perrin Baker, Minister of Edmonton for Alberta in an address before the opening session of the Alberta Educational Association yesterday when he declared that school boards have economized on costs and are now down nearly to rock bottom and cannot be reduced further.

GET MILLER OR WALTER NEWTON

As Opponent for Buff Here Next Monday Night

Walter Newton of Chicago, and Charlie Miller of Detroit, will not arrive in Toronto until late this afternoon, so that the announcement of Willie Buff's opponent for Monday night's boxing bill cannot be made until to-morrow. Newton and Miller will meet in the feature bout of the Viaduct A.C. bill at Toronto to-night. A 'phone message from the Queen City last night practically assured the local boxing committee that either Newton or Miller would come here box Buff.

The entries for the city boxing championships include one by Jack Thompson who will meet Lorne Coombe for the lightweight honors. All the classes will be well filled.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—A recent government ushered itself in with the famous "last night party," which will remain a lasting disgrace to the Prohibitionists of Ontario. But true to their principles, if principles such things can be called, that same government and its supporters in the Province voted down an attempt at investigation, and so double disgrace passed into the history of this Province. Imitators have learned that trick we see. What will be the end, your paper and I are prevented from discussing. It is before the courts, and if lying can win, there will be a further record of infamy to add to our chronicles.

What are the advocates of applying force to the best and only really decent people in a community trying to do? To put us all into a herd, and then, with some favourite and the police in charge, drive us to that consummation which they have mistaken for civilization? If we are trying to develop decent people, why not cherish them with every safeguard? The most corrupt of the provinces is, of course, the most ignorant of that fact. We would expect that, and boasting can neither mend it not evade the consequence. Force has always for its counterpart as well as ally crookedness and sneakery.

We are destroying the whole fabric of our people, and actually grim with delight when we suppress the punishment of our own wickedness and weakness. We have defied the order of things proclaimed by God, Who said that "The wages of sin is death," and what with our cowardly resort to hiring force to dragoon the only people who can truly be called respectable, we have fallen into the pit of our own corruption—the pit which we are digging ourselves, and the very grave of our highest hopes. We bid fair to go down in ruin and contempt, still boasting of our goodness, still maddened with conceit.

The secret society formed for purposes of revenge, seems to be getting in its work. It is the terrible result of oppressive measures.

J. H. Burnham.

"THREE THOUSAND UNION CONGREGATIONS."

To the Editor of EX-MINER:

1. It is seen in the official statements of the Presbyterian and Methodist Home Mission Superintendents some months ago, which gave a total of fifty-five Union Congregations in all Canada.

2. It is seen in the census returns of two years ago, in which eight thousand people in Canada call themselves "Unionists." Allowing five persons to a family, each of the "three thousand Union Congregations" would consist of half a family.

3. It is seen in the official reports of the parent churches. "If three thousan congregations had withdrawn from the Presbyterian Church to form "Union Congregations," it would have left that church with less than fifteen hundred congregations; whereas her official reports show steady growth from forty-three hundred and fifty congregations, a dozen years ago, to last year's forty-four hundred and thirty congregations.

4. It is seen by a glance at these "Union Congregations." Take samples from East, Middle and West. In a central region in Alberta are two neighbor districts—Willowdale and Springvale. In Willowdale is a Presbyterian pastoral charge, with four preaching stations. In Springvale is a Methodist charge, with three stations. At one time there was an occasional Presbyterian service in one of the Springvale stations. These services, in each case, were for less than half-a-dozen families, and, with their consent, and with no mention of church union, were discontinued a dozen years ago.

Since that time all these stations have been purely Presbyterian or Methodist, and are given as such in the official reports of these parent churches. Yet they are all claimed as "Union Congregations."

From this same region of Alberta take samples of a slightly different type. Trochu and Three Hills are two Presbyterian charges, with five preaching stations. There have never been Methodist services in any of them. They have always been Presbyterian. They are all claimed as "Union Congregations." These dozen samples in Alberta are types of hundreds of "Union Congregations" in the West.

Take now some samples from the farthest East. The map of Halifax Presbytery, broadcasted by the Union committee, has nine black spots and twenty-eight red spots, and the following inscription: "Red indicates points where Union is now in operation. Black indicates the only purely Presbyterian charges left in the Presbytery of Halifax. Outside the cities there are three Presbyterian congregations."

What are the facts? Of the dozen and a half of these red spots in the counties of Halifax and Hants, over a dozen have been Presbyterian Congregations through all their history, for thirty, sixty, and one hundred years, and they are to-day what they have always been.

In some of these places the Methodists held services for a longer or shorter time. For lack of people they withdrew, in some cases forty years ago. From other places they have withdrawn more recently. In some of them there has never been any Methodist service. In none of them has there ever been any change in their relation to the Presbyterian Church. The map, as a whole, is as glaring in untruth as in color.

Take now the red-spot "Map of Church Union in Northern Ontario," broadcasted by the Union committee. That map covers—"from Orillia to Port Arthur," "over three thousand miles of railway," "with Union charges, 121—"embracing 364 preaching stations." Of that map, note:

(a) This great region is mostly new territory, opened up by "three thousand miles" of the trans-continent railways and their branches, and many of these "Union Congregations" are railway stations, mining or lumber camps, and small farming settlements, with occasional larger centres.

(b) Most of this new territory has been divided among the churches to avoid overlapping. Many of these hundreds of red spots have never known but the one church. Most of them are definitely Methodist of Presbyterian congregations, and are given as such in the official reports of these churches.

(c) In nearly every centre large enough for two congregations, there are both Methodist and Presbyterian churches, showing that while working in unity and co-operation, the people, where strong enough, will maintain their own church.

HYDRO STRONGLY OPPOSE INVASION

Toronto Will Join With Other Hydro Municipalities of Ontario in Vigorous Protest to Dominion Government Against Any Invasion

TORONTO, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—Toronto will join with the other hydro electric municipalities of Ontario in a vigorous and direct protest to the Dominion Government against any invasion of power development within the Province by private interests or any corporations.

By an unanimous vote of the city council just before midnight last night, and in a response to the communication received from the Hydro Electric Municipalities Association, this city voices in no uncertain terms its stand that Hydro development should be entirely through public ownership.

Motion, which will be forwarded to Ottawa, points out that it has become well known that the private interests are seeking rights to develop navigation and the water powers of great lakes and St. Lawrence. It states further that in view of the investment of over $250,000,000 on part of the municipalities, and in view of increase of future requirements, every precaution should be taken at the present time.

A PIANO RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MISS ELCOME

A piano recital by the pupils of Miss Bessie Elcome, A.T.C.M., was given in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, with assistance by vocal pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park and Miss Phyllis Moore, reader. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a very good attendance, and the recital proved to be entertaining and a splendid exhibition of ability on the part of the instructress and hard work by her pupils. The readings by Miss Phyllis Moore were much enjoyed, also the vocal numbers of Miss Mabel Gardiner, who sang "The Little Dustman" and "A Little Coon's Prayer," and those of Mr. Stanley Willis, in an aria from Handel's "Messiah," "Every Valley," and the recitative "Comfort Ye."

Krogmann's "March" and "Song of the Sea-Shell," by Jean and Gerald Dawson: Krogmann's "Vesper Bells," by Donald Reid: Bach's "Musette," by Barbara Ackerman; Krogmann's "The Robin's Lullaby," by Muriel Wilson and Donald Best; Tellier's "Conte du Soir," by Frances Jennings; Brandon's "The Brook," by Muriel E. Wilson; Barnby's "Chansonette Joyeuse," by Adrienne Mathews; Levenson's "Menuetto," by Donald Best; McIntyre's "The 'Cello Player," by Margaret Gillespie and Muriel Wilson; Spindler's "Messengers of Spring," by Margaret McCulloch; Thompson's "Danza Grazioso," by Ruth Agnew; Kramer's trio, "Holiday Polonaise," by Alda Bartlett, Margaret Johnston and Arleigh McKone; Poldini's "Oiseaux de Passage," by Muriel E. Wilson; Lemont's "Bye-Gone Days," by Mary Comstock; Wach's "Pervenche," and Friml's "Valse Lucille," by Margaret Johnston; Lack's "Valse Arabesque," by Arleigh McKone; Nolck's "The Enchantress," and Graham Peel's "A Prelude," by Alda Bartlett; Mendelssohn's "Spinning Song," by Madeline Willis; Chaminade's "Toccata, Op. 39," by Beatrice McGregor; Kowalski's "Roses de Boheme," by Frances Ackerman; Poldini's "Temps Pluveiux (Rainy Weather)" by Iris Edwards; Beethoven's "Rondo a Capriccio (Op. 129)" and Mozart's "Fantasia in D Minor," by Mildred Morphet; Schumann's "Faschingsschwank-aus Wein, Op. 26," and Wirtz "Dawn Among the Trees," by Helen Lamb; Yartin's "Spring Morning," Paul Juon's "Humoreske," and Chopin's "Valse in C Sharp Minor," by Olive Bentley, and Rossini's "Overture—William Tell," by Mildred Morphet and Helen Lamb.

Aluminium Ware	Windows
Bathtubs, Tiling	Mirrors
Fine Kitchen Utensils	Refrigerators
White Woodwork	White Shoes
Brass, Copper and Nickel Ware	The Hands
Glass Baking Dishes	Linoleum and Congoleum

Cleans nickel and brass without scratching!

Scratches—even tiny ones—catch the dirt and make the brass or nickel harder to clean next time. Bon Ami absorbs all the grime and tarnish, and polishes to a glistening lustre without the slightest scratching.

Just sprinkle the fine powder or rub the Bon Ami Cake on a damp cloth. (Never use the cake direct.) Then apply the soft lather. When the lather dries, a few rubs with a clean, dry cloth will instantly bring back the mirror-like sheen.

And Bon Ami never reddens or roughens your hands.

JUDGMENT ON MONDAY IN ALCOMBRACK CASE

Defence Introduced Alibi for Three Days When Crown Witnesses Said They Purchased Drugs From the Accused--Members of His Family Testify.

Edward Alcombrack, charged with having morphine in his possession, contrary to the opium and narcotic drugs act, appeared after adjournment yesterday in Magistrate Langley's court, and the hearing was continued until after six o'clock. It resumed this morning.

The defence, through witnesses drawn from Alcombrack's family, set up an alibi indicating that the accused was not out of the house on the days or at the times when Crown witnesses declared they purchased drugs from him on Charlotte street. On the conclusion of the Crown Attorney's argument Magistrate Langley pointed out that no witnesses other than the convicted drug addicts had been called for the Crown to rebut the testimony offered by the defence witnesses. He pointed out an inaccuracy in the evidence given by one witness, in which she said that a week ago on Tuesday her brother got up about noon, whereas he appeared in court on that morning at ten o'clock.

A bottle of tablets was produced by the Crown but ownership was not established. Witnesses said a similar bottle had stood on the prisoner's dresser since delivered by a doctor, now deceased, at the time of the flu epidemic, some years ago. It contained, the witnesses believed, morphine, and had been seized by the police.

Alibi Set Up.

A sister of the accused said her brother had been in poor health during February, and on the 22nd the doctor was called.

On February 26 the accused arrived home at 5.30 and was not out of the house afterwards. The family played cards and her brother retired about 11 o'clock. There were also present two other relatives. No one called at the house that night to see the accused.

On February 27 the accused was at home with his father and his sister; he was not very well. Next morning he did not get up until after 12 o'clock.

It was on these days that Crown witnesses had said they purchased drugs from Alcombrack, meeting him by appointment.

In cross examination witness said she did not know other witnesses claimed having seen her brother on the days she said he was in the house.

On the Friday previous Dr. Loudon was called to attend her brother, who was very ill. He suffered from heart trouble.

Magistrate Langley: "Where was he the following Tuesday?"

"He went to bed."

"On the Tuesday before where was he?"

"I'm not sure whether we went to the show or played cards."

Another sister of the accused said she lived in the same house with Ed. Alcombrack. On Friday, Feb. 2, Dr. Loudon was called to treat her brother for heart trouble. On other points she corroborated her sister's evidence.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hatton the witness said her brother could not have got out of the house luring the day without her knowledge.

The witness could not say for sure whether brother was home a week ago. She thought on that day he got up about noon. He did not usually get up until 12 o'clock.

"I know he didn't go out at any time on Wednesday, Febraury 27," the witness said.

Magistrate Langley: "What time did he get up on Thursday, the 28th?"

Witness: "About noon."

Witness said she did not know some witnesses had sworn they saw her brother at times when she said he was in the house.

Percy John Cross said he is a brother-in-law of Ed. Alcombrack. His testimony agreed with that of He corroborated the preceding witnesses and disclaimed knowledge that others were to give contrary evidence.

Richard Alcombrack, 45 years resident in Peterborough, said his son was 26 or 27 years old, on Feb. 28. He corroborated the preceding witnesses and was not subjected to cross-examination.

Accused Denies Charge.

Edward Alcombrack, the accused, said he was not out of the house on Feb. 26 and did not see Killenbeck, Collins, Pethick or Hargrove. Neither did he see them on the following night or on any of the days mentioned. He had not given or sold morphine to any of the Crown witnesses, he said.

On February 28 he did not have in his possession 200 quarter grains of morphine tablets as charged by the Crown.

He had about seven years ago received morphine tablets from a doctor for medicinal purposes, and Chief Newhall has these now in his possession. They were in his room on the dresser when the police took them. "I had never bothered with them," he said.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hatton, the accused said he got the tablets in 1919 or 1920 from a local doctor. "After I had the 'flu I was troubled with inflammation of membrane of the heart, and the doctor left them there for medicinal purposes," Alcombrack said.

When he saw the tablets last they were in his room on March 3. He was sick in bed when the police went for him, and the physician would not allow him to leave.

"You're positive they are the same tablets you got from the doctor and in the same bottle?"

"Yes."

He did not meet any of the men at Reid and Charlotte Streets on the days named.

He did not go to a doctor's house on the 27th or 28th, and he did not tell anyone he had been there.

On April 29 he was at Lakefield and did not meet Pethick or telephone.

"Then he must be off his head?"

"There's something wrong with him."

The witness said he saw Pethick on Saturday morning about 11 o'clock. He wanted Pethick to do some work for him and went around with him to do it. He met a doctor at the G.T.R. train that day and made arrangements to get some medicine. He did not go with Pethick to the doctor's.

On March 1 he got the medicine, consisting of tablets, which were not morphine.

Alcombrack started to tell of procuring drugs for Donnelly and his counsel reminded the Court that as King's evidence Alcombrack gave testimony under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act in a previous case against a doctor.

Alcombrack told Mr. Hatton he never sold any of the men named any drugs.

Cross-examined by the Crown Attorney, the witness said she knew the doctor in question had been dead some time, but she did not know in what year he died. She did not think the bottle had been emptied and re-filled, and did not know whether a bottle produced was the one given by this doctor.

Witness said she gave her brother the tablets in water. She had never seen a hypodermic needle or syringe but had seen an ear dropper.

More Denials.

Rebuttal by the prosecution brought John Pethick again to the stand, where he said Russell was considered queer and would not be believed on oath. He denied item by item the allegations of frame-up brought out by the defence, and said no notes were exchanged. He did not hear Hargrove say anything about perjury.

Lavergne Killenbeck and Hargrove denied having conversation about Alcombrack and denied specifically all the allegations made by Russell.

SAYS JAIL POWERS REFUSE HIM HELP

Huard Appeared This Morning Without Witnesses, Saying Jailers Refused to Call on Them--Hearing Tomorrow.

James Huard, appearing before Magistrate Langley on remand on a charge of vagrancy, continued his complaints regarding treatment in the jail. When he appeared last he said he could not get permission to post letters, only one a week, and was kept without stamps and money. To-day he said he has asked to have two witnesses subpoenaed to appear at his trial but no one respected his wishes. He had twice asked to see the turnkey but he would not respond.

Huard spurned the offer of counsel and elected to defend his own case, provided the witnesses were available. He was remanded until tomorrow morning and meantime the witnesses will be called on.

Mr. John E. Smith, of Farm and Dairy, is one whom the accused expects to give good character evidence and Mr. Frank Montgomery, of the Montgomery Hotel, will be asked to testify that Huard had his hotel bill paid up. From these facts the prisoner contends he is not a disorderly person without means of support.

CLOSES THE DOOR.

(By Webb Miller, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, April 23. — President Coolidge's address in New York yesterday closes the door for French hopes for discussion of war debts in connection with the experts' plan for a reparations settlement, in the opinion of authoritative French sources here to-day.

"Mr. Coolidge's statements mean the total of Germany's debt cannot be reduced because France must demand 7 billion gold marks additional to be able to pay the United States and England," the Petit Journal said in discussing the addres s.

French authorities unanimously believed the President's speech will have a definite effect upon developments of the experts' plan because it dispells Europe's constant hope that the United States would consent to a discussion of war debts in connection with her participation in a reparation settlement along the lines laid down in the Dawes' report.

Pertinax, the well informed political writer, saw the force of domestic political pressure in the Presidents' remarks on the foreign situation, saying:

"The United States already has started its presidential campaign battle and it is apparent that the Japanese are not the only people to suffer hard knocks as a result."

All in all, France felt to-day that there has been no essential change in the American position and that the possibility of at least getting a reduction in her debt to America in connection with the reparations settlement still is as remote as ever.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH HELD GOOD CONCERT

The concert held in the basement of St. George's church last evening under the auspices of the Men's Club was a great success. Mr. W. J. Howden occupied the chair. The opening number was a selection by the Sunday School orchestra of St. James 'Methodist church, followed by an amusing sketch entitled "A Matrimonial Advertisement," in which the following took part: The Misses Blake, Butler, Park, M. Allen, and Messrs. R. Allen and D. Allen. An interesting musical programme included vocal numbers by Mrs. R. Scholey, Miss M. Scott, Messrs. R. Moore and F. Pratt, and a vocal duet by Mrs. H. Rew, Junior and Mr. F. Pratt. There was plenty of applause for the comic contributions in song of Messrs. C. Coleman and W. Thompson, and a reading by Mr. J. John was much appreciated. A violin solo was given by Mr. C. Rusaw and a violin and cornet duet by Messrs. Rusaw and T. Hotstone delighted their audience. The selections by St. James' orchestra were well rendered and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Accompanists for the occasion were Mrs. T. Hotstone, Miss G. Brownlee and Miss I. Howarth.

At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks to the orchestra, the assisting artists and the chairman was voiced by Mr. Albert Cuff, who was convenor of the programme.

HERE'S RULES FOR SCENARIO WRITING.

It Is Best For the Beginner to Try Other Fields First, As It Is a Hopeless Task For the Amateur.

By CAREY WILSON.

Although one of every five persons seems to be afflicted with "scenario-itis," I want to say at the outset that the chance of the average embryo writer to create desirable motion picture stories is very remote.

Thousands of scripts reach every big studio every year and are rejected because they are almost invariably lacking in the necessary fundamentals of motion picture story structure.

Few amateurs seem to realize that there is a distinct difference between a story, as such, and a story that may be told on the screen.

The first essential is that motion pictures are told mainly IN PANTOMIME; that, barring a few descriptive or quote titles, the photoplay must have its plot advanced, its characterizations portrayed and climax disclosed by means of physical action before the camera. Until that point is thoroughly grasped, progress is impossible.

Theme follows understanding of pantomime, as the second fundamental. With the exception of those designed only for the lightest entertainment, pictures must have theme value to justify production—the relation to life, the keynote sounded by story, plot, characters; that something which identifies it as a matter of interest and sympathy to millions of people.

Theme differs from plot, the third fundamental, in that the plot is the manipulation of characters and drama which depicts the theme.

The greatest delusion of embryonic writers is to think of plot as the foremost requirement, whereas in reality, it is but one of several essentials of equal importance.

A principal characteristic of amateur scripts is the entire lack of plot originality, even when, occasionally, the writer has hit upon a worthy theme.

Frequently, however, the most hackneyed plot becomes desirable because of its fine treatment.

Characters constitute the fourth essential. Characterization in pictures is becoming more and more important. It is not sufficient that a story shall merely classify its principals by name and occupation, as amateurs generally do.

It is absolutely essential that movie characters be endowed with as much humanity, as much individuality and personality as are the people whom you met in every-day life and feel you know well. Failure to do this is fatal.

The fifth fundamental is development. This comprises the manner in which the previously enumerated essentials are handled. Practically every good picture story builds to a climax, at the crisis of which the elements of opposition are eliminated and the story can quickly be brought to satisfactory conclusion. Almost every picture has an interesting love story.

Good practice in acquiring a sense of pantomime is to pretend that a blank wall is a movie screen. Pretend you are looking at your story as a picture. Then write down on paper what you visualize there only after you have distinctly seen each scene and situation acted out by imaginary actors. You must think in words, in subtitles, only where your actors speak certain phrases, or where it is necessary to describe a certain place or a condition of things to clarify the action.

And, of course, eternally study motion pictures with cool detachment to see how they are constructed and why they have appeal.

NEW YORK COUPLE PLEAD GUILTY TO BISCUIT ROBBERY

They Appeared on a Charge of First Degree Robbery and Were Remanded Until Monday

NEW WYORK, April 23 (Canadian Press). — Celia Cooney, confessed bob-haired bandit, and her husband, Edward S. Cooney, to-day pleaded guilty to an indictment, charging robbery in the first degree when arraigned before County Judge Martin in Brooklyn.

Judge Martin accepted their pleas, and they were remanded to jail for sentence on Monday.

The girl, dressed in familiar sealskin coat, cerise turban, and grey, bead-trimmed dress, and her husband, faced the lineup in the Brooklyn Police Station in good spirits.

Nathan Mazzio, assistant cashier of the National Biscuit Company's warehouse, Brooklyn, who was shot during the hold-up, said, "Yes, that's the girl."

"I'm sorry you were shot," Mrs. Cooney told him.

Both the girl and her husband corroborated statements of the witnesses many times. In one instance when a woman declared they had taken $35.00 from her till, Cooney said they only got $17.00.

In another case when witness insisted that the pair robbed his store of $150.00, Cooney said: "Oh, no, we only got $60.00 from you."

ST. GEORGE'S DAY PETERBOROUGH

This being the anniversary of the birthday and deathday of Shakespeare and the name day of St. George of England has a great significance for the Englishman wherever he may be. St. George is a prototype of the chivalry and sense of honor that form the grain of the English character and Shakespeare has made the English language predominant and potent wherever the highest civilization has spread.

Englishmen may well glory in this national festive day, in what it means in the way of achievement in all that represents the spread and upholding of the highest civilization and its manifestations in all the arts, enterprses and best agencies of human advance.

At the head of the list of the world's great statesmen its great warriors by sea and land, its great explorers and builders of nations, its great apostles of religion and the great figures in all spheres of human endeavour, are the names of Englishmen, scions of a noble homeland and men with an inborn love and reverence for sport and the sporting chance.

To-day, the flag flies over the Sons of England hall on Hunter street and there will be a celebration to-night but besides that not a flurry on the calm of the city's life. Irish men, Welshmen, Scotchmen on St. Patrick's, St. David's and St. Andrew's days grow enthusiastic; and the powder burning, squib shooting, Yankees go hysterical on July 4; but that is not the way of the Englishman. He is satisfied with possession without making a fuss over it. He is not emotional. He believes the best brand of loyalty is that kept in the heart and lived up to. Flaunt and vaunt and display are not needed to show true reverence and devotion, and so to-day—St. George's day and England's day—passes without a stir.

SAFETY AND EASE IN MOTOR PARADE

When automobiles in the big parade to-night arrive at McDonnel Street on the return to the Armouries they will alternately go west on McDonnel and Murray Streets.

The first car will turn down McDonnel, the second will proceed to Murray before turning, and the third will turn at McDonnel.

This is expected to relieve congestion at the turning, and the plan is believed by Chief Newhall to be the best yet devised.

The Chief suggests that as a matter of courtesy drivers of automobiles not in the parade will refrain from cutting through the line, and hints that drivers in the parade should keep their positions and distances in order to make the occasion worth while.

Traffic control arrangements have been completed by the police department, and with the fine weather promised by this afternoon's sunshine there is no reason why the occasion should not be made one to be long remembered for its success.

KIWANIS MEMBERS COSTUME TONIGHT

Will Put on an Impromptu Concert at Motor Show Tonight.

A feature of the Motor Show to-night will be an impromptu concert by the members of the Kiwanis Club who will appear in costume. Various phases of the concert will be staged at intervals during the evening, so that those who come early and late will have an opportunity of seeing this high-class stunt.

ANNUAL MOTOR SHOW OPENING

Armouries Have Been Converted Into a Blaze of Color--Many Surprises.

The yearly good time at the big Armouries Building has rolled around again. For three days and nights the massive grey stone building will be alive with color and light and merriment, and then relapse into its wonted dignified seclusion for another year. In the interior of the long, high-vaulted hall, preparations were going forward apace this morning for the annual Motor Show. Men and women with grey crepe paper and hammers and nails and tacks were all absorbed in the one idea, the getting ready for the formal opening to-night. The main ideas of former years have been adhered to. The booth formation will be the same, down the centre of the hall, with the cars parked at either side. The entrance will once more bloom with color and fragrance, in the flower booth ,done in brilliant hues, of the 51?h Regimetnal Chapter, I. O.D.E.

The pleasant little Cavlary room at the right of the main entrance will be used by the Otonabee Chapter to serve high tea and afternoon tea, while the I.O.D.E. also have cards in the recreation room on Thursday afternoon and evening and Friday afternoon. The south-west gallery will contain the wonderful Midway exhibit which has been so mysteriously heralded for some time, and the Peter Robinson Chapter conduct the dance every evening in the band room. On an elevated platform, Prof. Gliddon's orchestra will give a musical programme every evening.

Cherry blossoms and green lattice-work are already in place, at the large section devoted to the sale of home-made cooking, coffee and doughnuts, by the Catholic Women's League, and next door is a gay booth taken by the Young Women's Christian Association, who provide a cheery note with their orange and blue arrangement. Ice cream and candy are sold by the Thursday Club and the Business Girls' Club, there is the popular lottery booth in its accustomed place ,and at the side, a "bran pie" surprise party, in charge of the King's Daughters.

GAVE AN ADDRESS.

At the Salvation Army Temple last night, Mrs. Commissioner Sowton, of Toronto, gave an interesting address, dealing with the missionary endeavour of herself and her husband, now in charge of the Army in Canada, when stationed in India and Sweden. There was a good attendance at the lecture, and the Songsters and Temple Band were present, rendering several enjoyable selections. Announcements were made by Mrs. Colonel Powley and Mrs. Brigadier Moore of Toronto, who accompanied Mrs. Sowton. The three ladies were introduced by Adjt. A. Smith.

FABLES ON HEALTH

One day, when Mr. Mann, of Anytown, was feeling out of sorts, he dropped in on the family doctor.

The medico was pretty shrewd and he handed it to Mr. Mann rather straight:

"The trouble with birds like you is that they'd rather play pinochle than volley ball. Pinochle is all right, but when you can rest your cards on your stomach it's time to get acquainted with a gymnasium.

"It's pretty nice to have plenty to eat and drink and sit around the livelong day and accumulate avoirdupois, but let something happen and we find the heart beating 200 times to the minute and the breath coming at 50 every 60 seconds.

"What are you going to do, one of these days, when a fever hits you? Sickness means increased work for your heart, and it's better to have solid muscle than soggy fat around it.

"Can you breathe deeply and regularly? Well, the rangy and well-muscled man can. His heart is beating regularly and has strength.

PLICE AFTER MATTHEWS.

TORONTO, April 23. — "All I can say is that the police are working along well defined lines," stated Provincial Treasurer Price today, with regard to the "absence" of Charles W. Matthews, and his step-son-in-law Mason. He would not make any comment on the case but he seemed more optimistic regarding it.

ADDRESS MISSION WORK.

In the Sunday School Room of the George St. Methodist Church last evening Miss Elizabeth Hawkins, who is a home missionary of the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church, gave an interesting address, illustrated with lantern slides, of her work among the Ruthenians in Western Canada. Miss Hawkins is stationed at a place called Kolokreeka, 70 miles north of Edmonton, and gave an interesting account of her work among the foreigners, picturing their habits, homes and modes of living. During the evening vocal solos were given by Mrs. J. H. Renwick and Mrs. Ford Turner, and a reading by Miss Margaret Walker. Rev. Mr. Young occupied the chair.

BOW TRIMMINGS.

Bows of highly polished cire ribbon trim some of the most distinctive hats. Usually the bow is placed low over one brim and some of the lops extend below the hairline.

LEATHER COATS.

Leather coats, short and long, usually quite untrimmed, are new this season. Sometimes they have very circular sides.

FOR HASH.

SHORTER SERVICE FOR STREET CARS

Beginning and End of Service of Sunday Street Cars Has Not Been Paying Business--Two Weeks Off Each End.

At a fire, water and light committee meeting last night permission was given the Peterborough Radial Railway to curtail its Sunday service during the summer months. Mr. John McCann referred to the farce of running street cars during May and September on Sunday, and a letter was read from the Hydro Electric Commission head office asking permission to cut two weeks off each end of the Sunday service period. This was granted without demur on motion of Aldermen Crowe and Phelan, and service will start on May 18 this year, instead of May 4, and end on September 14, instead of September 28.

Most of the evening was taken up in examining samples and tenders for uniforms for firemen, and on motion of Aldermen Crowe and Maher the committee recommended the acceptance of Grafton and Company's tender of $1002.50 for 19 suits for firemen and 2 suits for the chief and assistant.

Other tenders were: Schooley and Snider, 21 suits and extra coat, $1025; Maher and Wesley 21 suits and extra coat $913.75; J. H. Taman, $900; Regent Tailors, $25 each or suits and $7 for pants to $30 and $8.50; Le Brun, $35.75 to $40 for suits for firemen and up to $50 for chief; Peterboro Tailoring Co., for suits with extra pants, $35 to $42 for firemen and $47.50 to $49 or chief and assistant, Alderman Maher with drew his firm's tender.

On motion of Aldermen Phelan and Crowe, H. LeBrun and Co, were approved for thesupply of 64 shirts at $1.90 and 20 shirts at $2.55.

The purchase of caps, ladders and other equipment was also approved.

LIQUOR PLEBISCITE IS DUE THIS SUMMER

TORONTO, April 23 (Canadian Press). — Questioned to-day regarding the report that the date of the liquor plebiscite to be held in Ontario had been tentatively fixed for 30th June, Premier Howard Ferguson said:

"I am glad you told me. I had not heard the date."

He declined to make any statement on the matter.

A canvass of semi-official opinions that the vote will be taken early in the summer.

DROWNED IN BATH TUB.

TORONTO, April 23. — Her head submerged, Mrs. Elizabeth Hynes, 56, was found drowned in a bath tub in her home here this morning.

BUDGET DEBATE WILL BE RESUMED TO-MORROW

OTTAWA, April 23. — (Canadian Press).—The length of the Budget debate, which is to be resumed when the House meets to-morrow, is now variously estimated at from one to two weeks. This would be, of course, subject to change, according to developments in various parties during its progress. Present indications are that there will not be a very large number of speakers from either Progressives or Liberals, while it is said that no prolonged discussion is intended on the part of the Conservatives.

No decision on the part of the Opposition to move an amendment has yet been announced, and opinions on its probability differ a good deal. There has been a report current that an amendment would be brought forward to assert the historical Conservative policy of protection and to charge the Government with having deserted the Laurier-Fielding principle of tariff reciprocity. No definite information is available on the matter, and in some quarters the moving of an amendment is said to be doubtful.

CLEVELAND PRY WHITE SOX FROM LEADERSHIP

Ten - Inning Game at Chicago Won By Sherrod Smith's Smash — Whitehill Pitched Tygers Into First Position — Detroit Took Series From St. Louis.

CHICAGO, April 22. — Sherrod Smith smashed one of Thurstons slow pitches to centre for a single after two were out in the tenth inning, and Cleveland got a 7 to 6 victory over Chicago. The Indians batted Blankenship hard in the eighth inning and took a commanding lead, but the locals played an uphill battle, drove Coveleskie off the mound and tied the count in the ninth. Score:

Chicago .. ..00000102 3—6 15 2
Coveleskie, Smith and Myatt; Blankenship, Thurston and Crouse.

ERRORS HURT SENATORS.

WASHINGTON, April 22. — New York broke even in the series with Washington, by taking the final of the series here to-day 6 to 3. Errors by Rice paved the way for half of the visitors' runs. Hoyt proved to be strong in the pinches after the first inning. Score:

New York .. ..041010000—6 14 1
Washington .. ..200100000—3 7 3
Hoyt and Schang; Zahniser, McGrew, Wingfield and Ruel.

THREE DOUBLE STEALS

DETROIT, April 22. — Earl White hill was effective to-day and Detroit made a clean sweep of the series of three games by defeating St. Louis 8 to 4. Wildness by Bayne and Lyons helped the Detroit offence. St. Lous scored one run and Detroit made two by means of the double steal. Score:

St. Louis ....010000003—4 7 2
Detroit .. ..10100033x—8 8 1
Bayne, Lyons, Voight and Collins; Whitehall and Bassler.

BIRD PITCHER WALKED EIGHT

Baltimore Defeat Syracuse In Final of the Series — Thomas Fanned Thirteen

BALTIMORE, April 22.—Thomas held Syracuse to five scattered hits, and Baltimore won the third and final game of the series here to-day by 7 to 3. Thomas struck out 13 men but was a trifle unsteady in the early sessions, walking eight. Reinhart started for Syracuse and baffled the Orioles for three innings. Score:

Baltimore .. .. 00023200x—7 9 1
Reinhart, Barnes, Montgomery and McKee; Thomas and Cobb.

TWO HOME RUNS TO HORNSBY'S CREDIT

Free Hitting By Cardinals and Pirates—Reds Win Third From Cubs.

ST. LOUIS, April 22. — A triple, with the bases filled, a double and a homer, gave Pittsburgh six runs in the fourth inning to-day, and the Pirates defeated the Cardinals 10 to 7, in the final game of the series. Dyer was forced from the game in the fourth with an injured hand. Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal second baseman, got two homers with no one on either time. Score:

St Louis .. ..000201013— 7 13 0

NO ERRORS IN COLD

CINCINNATI, April 22. — Cincinnati made it three straight from Chicago by winning the final game of the series to-day by 3 to 2. Though the field was soft and the weather very cold, both teams played fast and errorless ball. The score:

Cincinnati .. ..00003000x—3 7 0
Kaufmann, Blake and O'Farrell, Mays and Hargrave.

LACROSSE AT Y.M.C.A. TONIGHT

Everyone Interested in the Game Requested to Attend Meeting — Some Players Have Been Out Already.

There will be a meeting of the Lacrosse Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A. All those interested in this sport are expected to attend as the plans for the coming season are to be decided upon.

Some of the boys have been out with sticks but the weather hasn't been any too good yet. Practices will likely start next week.

There are some newcomers who are hoped to strengthen the team this year, one of them being S. Stevenson of Hastings who will bolster up the home field.

HOCKEY JUNIORS WERE BANQUETTED

The members of the Peterboro Junior Hockey team and their lady friends were the guests last night at a dinner and dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cheu, at their home on Simcoe Street.

All the officers were present along with the players and trainer, Harry Dugan, and the evening was a joyous one from start to finish. Music was supplied by Miss Phillips, on the piano, J. Nasimok, on the violin, and Bob Allen on the saxaphone, while several vocal solos were also rendered by Harry Dugan.

Dancing was from 8 until after which refreshments were served. Dancing was continued after the refreshments.

Walter Jackson, assistant manager of the team spoke on behalf of the boys and thanked Mr. and Mrs. Cheu for their thoughtfulness and generosity in giving the boys a banquet.

Mr. Cheu in his reply said that he found it a great pleasure to entertain the team and hoped that he would be able to banquet them again next year. He also wished the team and their officers the best of success in the future.

"STANDARD" SCRIBE'S EFFUSION

The Kingston Standard drops into biblical language, apparently trying to demonstrate that the jaw-bone of an ass is as potent a weapon now as it was in Samson's time. Here is the article:

And it came to pass that in the village of Peter, close by the river of Trent, there was a paper, and that paper was wont to give much acclaim to the band of adherents to the pastime called baseball. And up into this village of Peter went a certain scribe, and he did labor long and hard that his favored band might attain the highest point in the hearts of his chosen people. And there was cause for rejoicing in the land about the village of Peter, for the baseballers reached the heights of almost winners in the league called Central Ontario, until there came the year nineteen hundred and twenty-four, and with it dark forebodings and dire happenings.

So, seeing the hand-writing upon the wall, and knowing it not, for the scribe was of vision meant only for his own village of Peter, he did seek out the leader of the Peter-Outs, and in a loud voice said: "Jacob, Jacob, there dwelleth in the town of the Kings a scribe who has looked down upon us. He has cast his pen upon his paper and behold we stand as defiled. Has thou not the gladiators to win laurel wreaths?" Must thou take this abuse." But Jacob, turning to the scribe, said: "Brother, brother, be calm, it is but meet and just that such should be done. Canst thou not understand that I am a man of few words? Remember well that I have the righteous in the man of Heck. What matters it if I have nothing else? Get thee hence to thy sanctum, heed not the words which come from other towns." But the scribe being of the skin that was thin, was not content, and going his way, didst boast, in word of metal, of the valiant deeds his favored band would perform.

And it came to pass that the scribe labored and brought forth a worm, and the worm gnawed and found the pickings sour indeed. And then Jacob said unto the scribe, "Brother, brother, the ideas of March have passed, and we yearn for the fourth day of June, for is it not the day when I shall go forth into the town of Kings and slay the dragon there. Get thee hence and write as I tell thee." And again the scribe wrote, and again the worm gnawed but became dyspeptic.

And as time went on the writings increased, but the people of the village of Peter, having not the intelligence of the scribe of the skin that was thin, read and learned not. And behold the fourth day of June came and the band of Jacob went down into the town of the Kings, and there engaged in deadly battle with the tribe of Joseph. And Joseph looking at Jacob said, "Jacob, Jacob, why hast thou deceived us? Thou has spread rumors, through thy scribe, of thy prowess, and behold ye put not the band of gladiators on the field. Show us now, for we are natives of that state called Missouri, and we ar e wont to believe the scribe's writings have been taken from the leaves of the book of Ananias." But Jacob, in characteristic pose, spake not a word unto Joseph, but turning to the man of Heck, said, "Allie, Allie, the time has come. In the words of the Publican, thou art elected. Get thee hence onto the mound of the pitchers and show these defiled creatures the wonders of thy strong right arm." And the man of Heck, being of the meek and mild kind, spake not a word.

And behold there was a great multitude assembled, even to the second and third generations. And from the villages and hamlets they came to the town of the Kings, for it was indeed a feast day, and there was meat and drink to be had. The Patricians came in their horseless chariots, and the Plebians came afoot. And when they had all gathered about the field of battle, and the great man had called the combatants together, the man of Heck walked to his chosen place, and his brother-in-arms walked to where the great man Umps was. The brother-in-arms, shackled face and legs, in a loud voice, did bring shame down on the heads of the tribe of Joseph. But they spake not a word. And as time went on the man of Heck was battered to a frazzle, Jacob did see that it was indeed a glorious sacrifice which was being offered to the King of Swat. And when the smoke of battle had cleared away, and Jacob didst see that his band was slain, he didst look for the scribe, but the scribe had departed, in a search for the ancient and much-abused Alibi, knowing that he knew where it was to be found. And Joseph, looking at the downfallen, Jacob didst say, "Jacob, Jacob, thou has indeed deceived us. Thou hast told us of the prowess of the man Heck. Yea, thou hast the righteous in Heck, but we have the left in Gallagher. Get thee home, crawl into a hole, and pull the hole in with thee." And Jacob, gathering the remnants of his flock about him, stole away quitely into the night and was gone. And the scribe, when last seen was plodding his weary way past the village of Bell.

RICKARD STILL PURSUES FIRPO

Further Inducements Are Cabled to Argentine Boxer to Fight Dempsey.

NEW YORK, April 23 (Canadian Press). — Tex Rickard yesterday renewed his efforts to influence Luis Firpo to abandon his present decision to retire from the ring and match the Argentine with Harry Wills as an elimination test in June or July to determine a challenger for Jack Dempsey in a title bout next September.

Rickard announced that he had cabled Juan Homs, his agent in Buenos Ayres, additional instructions with regard to fight proposals Homs carried to Firpo from the United States. The promoter did not reveal the steps he had taken, but intimated further inducements would be placed before Firpo, who recently refused to listen to Rickard's latest advance.

"I still am confident Firpo will abandon his idea about retiring and make another effort to lift the heavyweight title," said Rickard. "I have sent further instructions to my agent, Juan Homs, in Buenos Ayres, and expect some developments in a day or two. He advised me, however, that Firpo so far had refused to consider any proposition and seemed intent upon quitting the ring.

"However, should Firpo give up another campaign here, I have Quinti Romero, the Chilian heavyweight, as well as Erminio Spalla, as an alternative opponent for Wills in a bout which I plan to stage in Boyle's Thirty Acres, either the first of June or first week in July. Romero impresses me as an especially good prospect."

THEATRES

"LOVES WHIRLPOOL" ATTRACTS ATTENTION AT THE ROYAL.

Probably no subject is causing more speculation at the present time than spiritualism. "Loves Whirlpool," the Royal Theatre attraction tonight, is therefore both timely and interesting, for it presents a story of spiritualism in a new form. It deals with a pair of crooks who contrive a fake seance in order to revenge a supposed wrong, but Molly, the girl, finds that she is really possessed of psychic power and the very force that she has been making a jest of, shows her the way to a better life. "Love's Whirlpool" belongs with those pictures which are "different," but which nevertheless, deal with vital problems and basic emotions.

James Kirkwood, as the crook, Jim Reagan, and Lila Lee, as Molly, his sweetheart, give remarkably realistic performances, and Madge Bellamy does some excellent work in the rather difficult role of Nadine Milton. The supporting cast includes Robert Agnew, Edward Martindel, Matthew Betz, Margaret Livingston, Clarence Geldert and Joe Mills.

If you like thrills, put "Love's Whirlpool" on your list—it has lots of them. If you are the least bit interested in spiritualism, real or fake, and in the portrayal of a great love, you wont want to miss this picture.

LENDS AN EAR TO EVERYBODY

"Say, boss, how does this idea strike you?"

And Hunt Stromberg immediately closets himself with his prop man or his head electrician or his chauffeur or anyone who happens to have the idea. Because the young producer recognizes the value of ideas, no matter from whom they come.

In fact, work on "The Night Hawk," his first production starring Harry Carey, turned into a perpetual conference as to how to make this picture the best ever filmed.

Even the trick horse of the production, El Sang'rito was seen whinning a few secrets into Stromberg's ready ear. There are some who scoff at this, but the producer took out his note book, just the same, and began writing furiously. That afternoon he changed the whole story around!

It only takes a few minutes on the set to realize that the Stromberg unit is an open market for suggestions. Carey will yell his from the back of a bucking bronco; the trombone player will stop in the middle of a tricky trill, to yodel his, and even Director Stuart Paton stops drinking his perpetual tea long enough to whisper a couple of thousand dollars worth of ideas to the listening producer. The most amazing part of it all is that Claire Adams, the leading lady, who is much too beautiful to be brainy as well, can deliver advice with the best of 'em.

And Stromberg has time to consider all of them. He has even been known to register perfect calm while one of his assistants tells him that he's got a bum bunch and that if he'd only listen to him . . .

If co-operation means anything, "The Night Hawk" should be a great picture, that's all! It comes to the Royal Theatre for a three days' run next Monday.

Help for Baby SCOTTS EMULSION Builds Strong Bones

AT THE CAPITOL

JAMES CRUZE NEW PICTURE AT CAPITOL ON THURSDAY NIGHT

James Cruze again!

What more need be said when one recalls such pictures as "The Covered Waggon," "Hollywood," "Rugles of Red Gap" and "To the Ladies?"

"The Fighting Coward," Cruze's newest production for Paramount come to the Capitol, Thursday.

Cullen Landis plays Tom Rumford who returns to his home after years spent with a step-uncle in Philadelphia. He knows nothing of the dueling code prevalent in the southern states and is ordered from the house in disgrace when he refuses to fight a duel with Major Patterson for the girl he loves.

In Natchez he meets Gen. Orlando Jackson (Torrence) a fighting, gambling man who takes a fancy to the boy and builds up for him the reputation of a dangerous gun-fighter. The notorious Colonel Blake he calls him.

Seven years find Tom once more back at his folks' place. It is his moment for revenge. Years ago they had branded him a coward, a miserable houn' dog. Now he, the most feared and respected man along the Mississippi, would show them a thing or two.

Does Tom win the girl back? Does he make Patterson pay for the humiliation he brought upon him? How?

Better see the picture.

Others in the supporting cast include Richard Neal, Carmen Phillips Helen Dunbar and Frank Jonasson.

AT THE GRAND

THE GREAT CONCERT

It is difficult to say whether Peterboro people lack discrimination in musical matters or whether they are simply unlucky but the fact remains that they have a singular faculty of missing some of the best entertainments of the theatrical season.

Such was the case at the Grand last evening when London's Great Concert "8" presented one of the most charming and enjoyable programmes that has been heard here in many a moon. The talented company comprising eight real artists, was greeted by a corporal's guard and it must have been heart-breaking to present a concert under such conditions. To the credit of the organization be it said that every member gave his or her best just as if they were looking into a sea of faces instead of row after row of empty chairs and their best was something to be remembered.

The companw is headed by Tom Copeland the Scottish comedian who has a comedy method all his own and who whether singing about "Just a wee Drappy" or playing the piano in a manner that Pachman never even dreams of or telling Scotch stories in immitable fashion keeps his audience convulsed. Mr. Copeland is a host in himself and hos solo numbers and his work with Miss Suzette Tarri prove him a genuine artist.

Miss Tarri, a charming soubrette with a irresistible stage presence scored a triumph. Her "Song of a Clock" was delightfully done and her "Maggie, come right upstairs" was a master piece of fun-making. But Miss Tarri is not only a comedienne but a splendid vocalist as well and her voice was used to great advantage.

There are three other most talented singers with the concert "8". Miss Molly O'Moore, a soprano with a voice of great purity and wide range sang "The Hills of Donegal" with splendid effect and had to respond to an enthusiastic encore.

Mr. Richard Alexander, the possessor of a rich sonorous baritone, scored heavily with his "Wheel-Tapper's Song" and he too had to acknowledge the applause by a second number. Mr. Wilfred Virgo a sweet-voiced tenor who sings with splendid expression and clearness of ennunciation delighted his hearers with the rendition of "Dream Girl" and his encore number was equally pleasing.

These vocalists showed their calibre in the final number when they sang in English the wonderful music of the last act of "Faust", a most exacting task that was performed in masterly fashion. Messrs. Virgo and Alexander, earlier in the programme contributed an enjoyable duet and with Miss O'Moore and Miss Tarri song "My Love is Like a Red Red Rose" most acceptably.

The instrumentalists of the company are Miss Joan Duff, a sixteen year old girl, whose work at the piano was the sensation of the evening. Miss Dorothy Alwynne, a most accomplished violinist and Mr. Walter Nunn, a clever cellist. Their playing either in unison or as soloists was of the highest order. The two played the well known "Gypsy Rondo" in sparkling fashion.

Miss Alwynne demonstrated her remarkable ability as a violinist by her finished rendition of Herbay's "Hjer Kate" and the audence insisted on an encore the artist winning fresh laurels by her playing of Drdla's beautiful "Souvenir."

Mr. Nunn's solo number the spirited "Tarantelle" by Popper was played with splendid effect and the cellist was called upon for a second number.

Last but not least was Miss Duff who not only played nearly all the acompaniments in most effective style, but scored an individual triumph in her solo Chaminades "Autumn" in which she displayed a mastery of technique that was amazing.

The whole programme was full of charm and last night's audience are doubtless taking a good deal of pleasure in telling their friends what they missed.

Fortunately however, there may be another opportunity of hearing the concert "8" in spite of the slim crowd last evening as Mr. Copeland intimated this morning that there may be a return engagement next month.

If this develops the Examiner's sincere advice to music lovers is to not let anything keep them away from the Grand.

MINER MOVES INTO THE ROYAL PALACE

Labor Government of England Gives Jamie Brown a Chance to Make His Dreams Come True.

LONDON, April 23.—(United Press)—A wee Scottish laddie, called Jamie Brown, used to peep through the gates of Holyrood Palace at Edinburgh and gaze with awe at that great old castle, the ancient home of the Stuarts, and for 250 years the home of Scottish nobility.

Jamie Brown lived in a miner's tiny cottage. His father worked hard and his mother worked hard, and Jamie worked pretty hard himself from the time he was past the toddling stage. But whenever he had time to play he always found himself, somehow or other, in the vicinity of Holyrood Palace, staring bigeyed at the great gray pile where Lords of Scotland had lived for centuries—and building his own boyish castles in the air. But in the wildest of those dreams Jamies Brown never fancied himself living in that fine old palace. No, that was too much, even for day-dreams.

So Jamies Brown went into the mines. He became a miner as his father and his father's father had been before him. He, too, lived in a tiny cottage—a kitchen and two rooms, and he paid $50 a year rent for it. And sometimes, even as a man as he and his wife were taking a Sunday stroll, he'd pass by the old palace he had so loved as a boy—and find, perhaps he had not entirely lost his capacity for dreams — but not, of course, dreams of ever living there. Some things are too impossible even to dream of.

Moved into Palace

The other day James Brown, miner socialist and member of parliament if you please, moved, with his wife, from a $50-a-year, two-room-and-kitchen miner's cottage into Holyrood Palace, Edinburgh, ancient home of the Stuarts and for 250 years occupied by Scottish nobility.

For with the establishment of a Labor Government in England, James Brown had been appointed Lord High Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. The holder of that office—always before a Scottish nobleman—is entitled to live in Holyrood Palace, and, as the representative of the king, to have royal salutes fired in his honour And he gets a salary of $10,000 per year.

"Yes, it's rather a wonderful transformation for a Socialist and a miner," he said. "But I'm going to show that a Socialist and a miner can do things properly and maintain historic traditions.

"Not a single dignity of the ancient place and ancient office will be sacrificed because a Socialist and a miner has been appointed to the post

"And yet, I shall not change, either I shall continue to be Jamie Brown and live as I have always lived. Of course I am tremendously pleased that I have been chosen, but it will make no difference in my mode of living."

Back to the Cottage

Brown explained that during the few weeks of the session of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland he will live in Holyrood Palace, in accordance with the obligations of his position. But after the Assembly he and his wife will move back to their $50-a-year cottage and live there until the Assembly meets again.

"The home in the mining village," he continued, 'was good enough for me to take my bride to 35 years ago and it's good enough for us now.

"My wife was a mill-girl, working at paper finishing, when we married. I started work in the coal pits when I was 12 years old, and I've worked ever since then—and we've lived in that same cottage every day since we married. And we don't want to give it up—and won't.

As Lord High Commissioner I leave the cottage for a few weeks and live in the home of the Royal Stuarts and hold levees as the representative of the king and ride in the state coach—and my wife will be called Her Grace.

"But, after that, we'll return to our ten-pound-a-year cottage—glad to have lived in a palace for a bit, but even more glad to get back home."

For 35 years Brown has been superintendent of the Sunday school in his village.

"If I have done anything worth while, the kirk is responsible," he said. "The kirk has made me what I am. Boy and man, every good lesson of life I have learned in the kirk."

BANK ENQUIRY THIS MORNING

Depositors Claim is Directed Solely Against the Covernment.

TORONTO, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—"Our claim for relief so far as depositors are concerned is solely against the Dominion Government and not against the directors of the Home Bank," reiterated A. J. Browning, counsel for the depositors of the suspended Home Bank, at the continued investigation this morning by Hon. McKeown, Royal Commissioner.

Mr. Browning said the depositors would hold the Government responsible because warnings given on various occasions before the collapse in 1923 had not been heeded by the Finance Department to the extent of an independent inquiry.

Consequent on this stand it was decided that the directors and other officials of the bank under indictment will not be summoned as witnesses, but invited to attend, and give evidence at sessions in Ottawa to-morrow.

Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, will appear for cross-examination to-morrow in Ottawa, and it is expected that H. A. MacHaffie, one time assistant to the president of the Home Bank, and who made serious charges in 1918, will appear for examination in Ottawa on Friday.

Investigation here was included this morning.

PETER SMITH GETS REMANDED FOR WEEK

TORONTO, April 23.—(Canadian Press)— Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer of Ontario during years of 1919 to 1923 was again remanded for week when he appeared before Magistrate Edmund Jones in Police Court this morning charged with conspiracy to defraud province out of certain moneys.

Bail still remains at $102,000.

FLOWER.

A flower on the shoulder is one way of showing that you keep up with the fashions—and a very fascinating way, too.

Wild rabbits, which overrun eastern Washington, are being trapped and shipped to Alaska for food for foxes.

Beavers have become so numerous in some farming localities of western States that their destruction has been necessary.

Hero Pension About Abolished

LONDON, April 23.—(United Press).—England's perpetual pension system has almost played out.

The Government has just "bought off" the Rodney perpetual pension—leaving only one in existence, the Nelson pension. Recommendations have been made that it, too, be abolished as soon as possible.

The "perpetual system" plan, in favor years ago as a method of rewarding great English heroes, was to grant a certain annual payment to the hero as long as he lived, and to continue that same payment to his heir, and to the heir of that heir, and so on eternally.

The Rodney perpetual pension, just cancelled by purchase, was granted in 1783 to Admiral Rodney for his victory over the French fleet. The payment was $10,000 a year. The total payments to Rodney and heirs has come to about $1,410,000. The pension was "bought off" recently by paying the present Lord Rodney a lump sum of $210,000—or twenty-one years of the pension—in consideration of which he agreed to call it quits.

The Nelson pension of $10,000 per year will probably be disposed of eventually by a similar agreement son heirs.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

When you go to buy a home consider its rental. This will give you a key to its cash value.

When buying a home it is well to bear in mind what the particular property in question would rent for should you ever have to leave it. This point is likely to be overlooked since the home features, as a rule, make the first and strongest appeal. Nevertheless, the buying of a home should be looked at partly from a business standpoint.

If you had to rent it how much would the rentals pay you on your investment? Unless they would pay you 10 to 12 per cent gross, it is not an extra good investment. Taxes and insurance have to be paid. It must be redecorated, repaired, and allowance be made for its remaining idle part of the time. Then too, the property depreciates from 2 to 5 per cent each year and that must be considered.

Considering all of these things could you make the home you are about to buy a paying investment if you had to leave it?

The Hidden Quality of the Gray-Dort

THE beauty of the Gray-Dort line is apparent to every observer. It has long been the outstanding car of its class for appearance.

But underneath these beautiful bodies is a quality of materials and design and workmanship which is amazing in cars at Gray-Dort prices. Here is tangible evidence of the intention of the new Gray-Dort management to give the greatest automobile value ever offered in Canada.

Every vital part of the Gray-Dort has been checked and tested by engineers under gruelling conditions. Every change they recommended has been made. An entire new rear axle was designed. A new disc clutch was built into the car. New rigid inspection rules were established.

Every Gray-Dort car is now absolutely right in every detail. One drive will convince you that never before have cars of this class given such performance. And the performance is permanently built into the Gray-Dort for years and years of satisfaction to you.

See the new Gray-Dorts; find out what they will do; and learn the low prices.

Mrs. Rupert Gliddon is spending the Easter week in Toronto, with her sister, Mrs. H. Winger.

Mr. Fergus Sheehy is home from St. Michael's College, Toronto, for the holidays.

Mr. Jack Lane is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr and Mrs. T. Lane, Hunter Street.

Miss Lily McCleary, who has been a popular member of the stenographic staff at the local Bank of Commerce, has been transferred to the Superintendent's department of the bank in Calgary. Prior to her departure she was entertained at afternoon tea by the bank's staff, who presented her with a purple silk parasol and an address. The presentation was made by the manager, Mr. W. H. Dunsford.

The Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League held a very successful bridge party yesterday afternoon, and military five hundred last evening, at the home of Miss M. Calcutt, Robinson Street. The guests were received by Miss Calcutt and Mrs. R. H. Parsons, the president, and the group in charge of arrangements included Mesdames H. Morgan, Gray, Logan, Munro, Butcher, Gifford and Miss I. Morgan. In the afternoon, eighteen tables of bridge were played, with Mrs. E. Howson winning the first prize and Mrs. T. McWilliams the consolation. Twenty-three tables of cards were played during the military five hundred held in the evening, the winning table having four men playing: Messrs. J. McDonald, I. Moore, C. Williamson and J. E. R. Munro. Decorations were carried out in a color scheme of pink and mauve, with pink tulips on the tables.

Miss Louie Woodgate and Miss Madeleine Bingham spent Sunday with the latter's sister, Mrs. Howard Gardner, Norwood.

Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse was elected a councillor of the Ontario Library Association, on the occasion of their 24th annual meeting, held in Toronto yesterday.

Mrs. H. Johnston, 535 Aylmer street, was hostess last evening at a reception given in honor of Mrs. Robert Bugg, Wolsley street. Mrs. Bugg, who was mainly responsible, in her role of conductor, for the very successful concert given recently by the Female Voice Choir, which resulted in a donation to the funds of the Well Babies' Clinic of fifty dollars, was presented by the members of the choir with a handsome bouquet of flowers and a purse of gold, presented by Mrs. Johnstone, also an address, read by Mrs. B. Singleton, in which the members signified their pleasure at being associated with Mrs. Bugg in the choir, and spoke of the friendly relations mained, owing to the cheerful good humor of their leader. Mrs. Bugg replied in appropriate terms, and the balance of the evening was spent in the enjoyment of music and dainty refreshments.

Miss Eva Clark, Rogers Street, whose wedding takes place on Saturday of this week, has been entertained during the past fortnight at teas and miscellaneous showers by Mrs. Wm. Sharp, Miss Marjorie Gladman, Miss Jennie Frederick, and Miss Ruby Carr.

WEDDING BELLS

PILLING—PALIN.

The wedding was quietly solemnized at 11 o'clock this morning, at St. Luke's Anglican Church, of Doris May Palin, of Peterboro, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Palin, of St. Catharines, formerly of this city, and Robert H. Pilling, son of Mrs. M. Pilling, of this city, and the late J. Pilling. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. G. J. Bousfield, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march, played by the organist, Mr. J. Thompson. She wore a handsome gown of grey canton crepe with shoes and stockings to match, small hat of grey and navy, and fox fur neckpiece. Her wrap as of navy tricotine, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Alice Sanderson, wore cocoa canton crepe with brown hat and carried Columbia roses. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. S. House.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal couple left on the noon train for a honeymoon in Toronto, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls. On their return they will reside in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Pilling, both of whom have a large circle of friends in the city, were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts, including presents from the department in the Canadian General Electric Company, in which the bride-groom is employed. The staff of the Peterboro Examiner presented the bride, who was a popular member of the business office section, with a handsome silver tea service.

BOBBED BANDIT AS ROOMER WAS A PERFECT LADY

Quiet and Reserved Said Woman With Whom She Had Roomed — Shocked By Arrest and Confession —Girl's Nerve Shattered By Her Baby's Death.

STORY OF FLIGHT.

NEW YORK, April 24. — "That girl is no bandit! I don't believe it—and I won't believe it until I hear it from her own lips—no matter what you say!"

Thus spoke Mrs. Rose Vitala, of No. 439 Franklin avenue, Brooklyn, at whose home Celia Cherison, the "bobbed-haired bandit" lived for 13 months before she became the bride and crime partner of Edward Cooney last May. She added:

"She was a perfect lady, if ever there was one. She was very quiet and reserved and during the time she lived here had no visitors. On several occasions she told me both her parents were dead, and she had no relatives. I believe what she said is true and think the police will find that they have made a terrible mistake.

"She had a big room with an alcove on the top floor and used to come down frequently to make a pot of tea on my stove. On these occasions she played with my babies and I could tell she was highly refined with lofty ambitions, although she did work in a laundry."

A little more than a year ago the girl moved to No. 461 Franklin ave., and then to No. 52 Madison street. Then she moved to No. 1099 Pacific street, at which address she and her husband had a furnished apartment.

Says Son is Innocent.

Mrs. Mary Cooney, mother of Edward Cooney, was interviewed at her home, No. 887 Dean steet, just as she came out into the yard to plant flowers. She is attractive, past middle age, and the mother of four other boys besides the alleged bandit. She was shocked when informed of his capture in Jacksonville. She declared:

"I don't believe he did it—I don't believe it."

Her soft voice was broken with frequent sobs, although she struggled hard to repress her emotions. She continued:

"Eddie was always a good boy. He worked for twelve years in one shop and up until a year ago when he married, lived at home.

"I have only seen his wife three or four times—not often enough to know whether or not I like her. However, I don't believe they are bandits.

"Eddie always came to my house every morning for coffee before he went to work. We talked about the bobbed haired bandit and he joked about her.

"Then a couple of days after the hold up in the biscuit warehouse, he came in and said that he was going away for a short time, because the police were looking for him. He

Driftwood Sniper Rescues Child Afloat on Ice Floe

WINNIPEG, Man., April 24 (Canadian Press). — Arthur Callatin, aged 2, son of Robert Callatin, of St. Boniface, climbed aboard a drift-covered ice-floe in the Seine River near his home yesterday afternoon, and was taken off his hazardous island a little later a mile and a half way in the Red River, into which the Seine empties.

In the meantime the child had been missed and the river was being dragged for his body.

Arthur was not seen climbing aboard the floe, which carried him from the shore and out of sight.

G. Schneider, fishing for driftwood in the Red River, saw the boy drifting down the stream and took him off the ice.

He was quite uninjured, and was not particularly alarmed.

HOUSE RENEWS BUDGET DEBATE WITH CHURCH UNION DUE NEXT WEEK

Amendment Asserting the Conservative Policy of Protection and Declaring Liberal Lapse From Laurier-Fielding Principle Will Likely Be Moved—Leaders Yet to Be Heard on the Budget

RAILWAY FINANCES.

OTTAWA, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—The tariff will hold the centre of the stage in Parliament for a week or two after the House of Commons meets this afternoon. The Budget debate, out of which this issue has risen sharply, will be the first order of business and will hold precedence until it is concluded. No front bench speakers are expected in the debate at the outset, but before long the leaders of the three parties in the House are likely to intervene. Neither the leader of the official opposition, Righ Hon. Arthur Meighen nor the Progresive leader, Robert Yorke, has yet spoken, and their deliverances are looked for with much interest. It is considered probable that Premier King will reserve his speech until after Mr. Meighen has spoken.

Protection Amendment

No announcement has yet been ade as to whether thre will be a Conservative amendment to the Budget. Gossip on the subject is pretty evenly divided, but if a Conservative amendment is moved it is regarded as likely to be in the form of an assertion of the historic Conservative faith in protection and a charge that the King Government has been unfaithful to the Laurier-Fielding policy of a stable tariff. The debate was to be opened this afternoon by John Hubbs, (Conservative Prince Edward, Ont.) while E.B. Ryckman (Conservative, Toronto East) is also expected to speak during the first day. On the Liberal side C. A. Gauvreau of Temiscouta and E. W. Robinson of King's Nova Scotia, are

ITALY MOURNS DEATH OF DUSE

ROME, April 24— Gabriele D'Annunzio, many of whose plays were interpreted by Eleanora Duse, telegraphed Premier Mussolini from his home in Gardone, when learning of the great tragedienne's death in the United States.

"The tragic destiny of Duse could no have been fulfilling in a more tragic manner. Far from Italy the most Italian of hearts has been stilled. I beg that the beloved remains be brought to Italy at the expense of the State. I am certain that my grief to-day is shared by all Italians."

The Premier replied:

"The fate of Duse, to whom a year ago I offered a pension so that a great artist might not leave Italy, has affected me greviously. Immediately upon being informed of her tragic death I telegraphed Ambassador Caeti to proceed forthwith to Pittsburgh and on behalf of the Italian Government make the necessary arrangements to bring the body to Italy at the cost of the State."

THE CANADIAN GENERAL BYLAW WAS APPROVED

Large Majority In Favor of Measure to Extend Exemption on the Company's Property In the City.

VOTE BY POLLS.

It is a long time since an industrial bylaw received such whole-hearted support as the Canadian General Electric bylaw that was submitted yesterday and which received a majority of 2,270 votes. The total vote polled was 2,453 in favor of the measure and 183 against. The bylaw required two-thirds of the total vote polled to carry. The polls closed at five o'clock and the final return was in by five-forty. The result was never in doubt from the first until the last of the thirty-eight polls was heard from. One poll recorded a dissenting vote of one, while others ran up to six and eight votes against. At that it was a light vote, considering the number of voters eligible to vote. However, when the election of a municipal government fails to bring out the voters it is not expected that a bylaw vote will meet with any greater reception.

Yesterday's result was an eye-opener and will no doubt be very gratifying to the Canadian General Electric Company. Tenders have been advertised for the new building, and in a few days building operations on the new extension will be under way.

Many Passengers Burned to Death

PARIS, April 24.—Only the scantiest details were available here last night regarding the collision near Bellinzona, Switzerland yesterday, between the Milan and Zurich Express trains, which resulted in the death of 21 persons and injuries to many.

The Geneva correspondent of the Temps telephoned that the collision occurred a few hundred yards north of the Bellinzona station. Preliminary investigation indicated that it was due to the failure of the driver of the Zurich Express to observe signals set against him as he was approaching the station. The violence of the collision was the more appalling as the Zurich train was drawn by two powerful engines.

The gas-lighted passenger coach on the Zurich train caught fire and flared up like a torch. None of its passengers escaped, all being burned to death. The bodies recovered were unrecognizable.

Crews of both locomotives were reported to have been killed.

WOMAN ALTERS HOLD-UP STORY

Mistress of Alleged Bandit Accused of Murder In Montreal Bank Car Ambush Says Money Was Handed to Her In Street.

MONTREAL, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—Sobbing like a child, Emma Lebeau, King's witness in the murder charge against Guiseppe Serafini, Mary Serafini, his wife and Ciro Nigri Niero, broke down under a gruelling cross-examination by counsel for the defence in the preliminary hearing of the charge here yesterday. The Lebeau woman admitted under pressure that she had lied in her evidence before the Coroner's Court when she stated that on the day of the Hochelaga Bank collection car hold-up when the chauffeur, Cleroux, and the bandit, Stone, were shot dead and $142,202 stolen, Niero and Serafini had brought the handbag containing a part of the money to a house on Coursol Street. In examination by the Crown Prosecutor a few minutes earlier she declared that the bag was handed to her and Mary Serafini and that they had brought it themselves to the Coursol Street house.

Prior to this statement she said in evidence that she had lived with Niero for ten months before the hold-up and arrests. She further stated that she had sewn black cloth masks on the request of Niero. She admitted that she suspected what Niero's and Serafini's "trade" was but was not absolutely sure.

Before commencing her evidence, the Lebeau woman was given the protection of the Court, which Judge Perrault said would shield her fully, "but not in case you perjure yourself."

Before adjournment the Crown Prosecutor, R. L. Calder, K.C., requested the court to commit Mary Serafini to stand trial for the murder of the bank car chauffeur, Cleroux, together with Niero and Serafini, as an accessory before and after the fact. Alban Germain, K.C., counsel for the defence, asked to be allowed to make an argument before such commitment be made and the case was adjourned to next Friday. It was agreed between counsel that the charge in the murder of the bandit, Harry Stone, would be postponed zine die.

Insurance Employees Are Moved to Ottawa.

MONTREAL, April 23.—It is announced that to-night and to-morrow night a special train will leave New York over the Canadian National Railways, each of which will bring approximately 200 men and women who will settle permanently in the Dominion.

They are all members of the Canadian Department of a large United States insurance company and they are being moved permanently to Ottawa which will be made the Canadian headquarters of the company.

WEATHER AND CITIZENS GREET THE MOTOR SHOW WITH WARM GOOD CHEER

SPLENDID EXHIBIT

The 1924 Motor Show opened with a bang last night. With the elements smiling on the venture and contributing a fine night for the initial performance, with a parade full of pep and color, with a big crowd in attendance, with a variety of amusement-makers, and everyone doing his or her bit to contribute to the general good times, the Motor Show got away to a fine start. With its best foot forward, it bowed to the city last night, and the city responded with a splendid attendance. Over a thousand people filed into the big building last night to join in the throng of merry-makers.

The parade, which formed the prelude to the big performance, was one of the best in years, from point of view of originality and variety of decorated cars. There were only six cars lacking to round out an even hundred of vehicles of different descriptions that started out from the Market Square at seven o'clock and proceeded in a clamorous chain, in well-ordered array, to the big Armouries building. The Peterboro Fire Department's small red car led the gallant procession, with siren blowing, Chief of Police Newhall in the place of honor. Behind him came Chief Gimblett, in a big car, and members of the Fire Brigade, in the big red truck; then Mayor Turner and civic officials, and Chamber of Commerce car, with four passengers in the president (J. W. Fraser), vice-president (G. A. Gillespie), the secretary (Leon Frazer), and W. R. Morris. Decorations of gay pennants streamed from many of the private cars that followed. Stock's Bread waggons were present (four strong), and several of the big Robson & Penrose trucks, a Quaker Oats truck, half-a-dozen autos with Kiwanis ensigns; a huge brown doughnut from the Downey-flake Tearoom; children singing and shouting from gaily-ornamented big trucks; Y.W.C.A. girls in costume; the bands of the Peterboro Rangers and the Salvation Army and Dugan's merry Jazz Band, the latter in blackface, to enliven the proceedings with music; an Ocean Blend Tea waggon; a simulated perambulating box of Dr. Chase's Pills, and, to wind up the proceedings, a wonderful Rotary float, in a long green war canoe, filled with lads holding paddles, this followed by two auxiliary cars.

Opened by Mayor

At the Armouries, Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, chairman of the Peterboro Health Association, formerally called on Mayor Turner to open the Show, which His Worship did in a few well-chosen sentences, after which the lid was off and fun waxed fast and furious during jolly evening hours. The enjoyment of the crowd last night was quite spontaneous. Everyone was out for a good time) and everyone seemed to be having it. There was something doing every minute. On the usual elevated platform, draped with the flags and pennants that decorated the big hall from beginning to end, the Symphony Orchestra, with some forty members in attendance, discoursed lively music, under the baton of their leader, Professor Gliddon, in a manner that brought much appreciative comment. Listeners in the upper galleries, where the crowd gathered to watch the moving kaleidoscope of color and to enjoy the orchestral music, were many. In tuneful, melodious fashion, the orchestra gave several of their popular numbers, including several

NOVELTIES AT THE ROYAL BALANCE OF THIS WEEK

See the Motor Show of Course But Don't Miss the Program at the Royal.

In keeping with the policy of the Royal management in presenting only the newest and best of the feature productions, Jane Novak, in "Divorce," has been secured for today, Friday and Saturday. This big production is surrounded by the best added attractions from the open markets of the film world. The comedy, "Family Life," is a riot of laughs. The Western, featuring Marie Walcamp, "The Indian's Lament," is out of the ordinary. Added comedies and a sport reel, "Quail Hunting," round out what appears to be the best programme at the Royal in some time.

Superior's Water Level is Falling

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 24.—Mariners about the head of the Lakes are concerning themselves over a drop of twenty-six inches in some two years in the water level of Lake Superior and say that unless Superior "comes back" and the level increases instead of decreases year by year commerce will suffer until such time as more dredging is done to permit of heavy draught bottoms carrying their full cargoes.

Captain Samuel Wright, who has plied the waters of Lake Superior for years, believes that Lake Superior is going to be dry long before it would in the course of natural events. If an old chart, said to be 100 years of age, examined by Captain Wright is any criterion of the rapidity by which the water is lowering the shore line in Port Arthur will be greatly changed in the next century .This chart shows the water in Superior to have lowered eight feet in 100 years, but Captain Wright points out that within the last two years the level has gone down two feet and two inches.

HUDSON ROUTE NOT FEASIBLE

James Carruthers, Montreal Grain Broker, Emphasizes Faults of Hudson Bay Shipping — Future Ahead of Vancouver.

MONTREAL, April 24.—According to James Carruthers, Montreal grain broker, the Hudson Bay route is impracticable for grain shipments but Vanouver will eventually ship all grain grown west of Medicine Hat, Alberta. Mr. Carruthers based his belief on observations made during a western trip which he has just completed.

He gives three reason for his belief. First, official reports show that the Bay ports would not be open more than three months of the year and that they would close just as the western grain movement prop er starts. Grain would accordingly have to be carried for one year before shipment out of the country. Second, ice exists even during the three months the Bay route would be open which would mean the necessity for specially constructed boats for the Bay grain trade. The heavy cost of this construction would not justify ship-owners in building boats for a three-month traffic. Third, Hudson Bay ports have only twelve to fifteen feet of water, continuous dredging at big expenses would be essential.

On the other hand, Mr. Carruthers was of the opinion that all expenditures on the Port of Vancouver were justified. He concluded, "to develop, however, Vancouvd must be sure that its ports affairs are in the hands of a harbor commission composed of practical men who will run the port on business lines and, as here in Montreal, will not permit interference by politics."

FRANC SOARING DESPITE SALES HITS BUSINESS

French Manufacturers Embarrassed By Cancellation of Orders Resulting From the Continued Advance of Exchange —Bankers Try to Check It By Heavy Selling.

REACHES NEW HIGH.

NEW YORK, April 24 (Canadian Press). — French banking interests, which six weeks ago were actively selling in a determined effort to check the so-called "foreign offensive against the franc," yesterday were as actively selling the French currency in a desperate effort to stabilise it and check the rapid advance resulting from the panic-stricken retreat of the short interests.

From 10th March, when they established their record-breaking low of 3.45 cents each, the French francs have soared until on Wednesday they touched 6.84 cents, the highest quotations since the spring of last year.

Paris selling sent them back to 6.63 cents in the late afternoon trading.

Orders Cancelled.

International bankers reported that the brisk advance in francs, especially the sixty point jump in the last week, has had an unfavorable effect on French import business, resulting in a number of cancellations of orders payable in francs, for which no hedges had been placed in the foreign exchange market. French manufacturers of perfumery, toilet articles and automobiles are reported to have been the hardest hit by cancellation.

Heavy speculation in French francs, particularly, in central Europe, has been under way since the complete collapse of the German paper currency. Emboldened by their early success, these speculators enlarged their operations and the intensity of their attacks until a short interest of huge proportions had been built up, despite artificial attempts of the French to stabilize their currency.

Morgan Ended Selling.

Active retreat of the short interest did not start until after J. P. Morgan and Company placed at the disposal of the French Government a credit of $100,000,000, and more, if necessary, to stabilize the currency. Since then francs have mounted steadily upward.

The recovery in Sterling exchange, which has crossed $4.40 to a new high level for the year, has been due, in part, according to local bankers, to the return of home British capital which was invested in United States securities when the Labor Govrnment assumed control through fear of a capital levy, and other socialistic doctrines, being placed in effect.

said he had done nothing but when the police get after you they lock up in jail and keep you there for a couple of months. He spoke of Celia's condition and said when it was over that he would come back and vindicate himself.

Like a Dream.

"It's all been like a dream to me, this hold-up business, this flight to Florida and my capture. I married Eddie about a year ago. We came down here because I was about to give birth to my baby," said the girl before she appeared in court.

She said her child was born here April 12th, after their flight from New York, which led them through thirteen states. The baby lived just a week, the mother continued, as she took her seat in the train opposite one of her captors.

"I named the bay Katherine—after my mother-in-law, who lives in Brooklyn. My husband and I were the only ones who went to its funeral.

"Oh, gee, I tried to smile—"

Just for a moment this slip of a girl—she's just 20 years old—sobbed a bit. Then:

"I tried to smile through this and play the iron-nerved girl bandit as the papers played me up. It wasn't any use—nobody will ever know how I loved that kid of mine."

Arrested in Jacksonville.

The detectives tracing them to Jacksonville arrived just in time as the girl and her youthful husband were said to have arranged passage on a steamship leaving shortly for New York. Hearing that the couple were going under the name of Sheehan, they traced them to a local rooming house on Monroe street.

The proprietor of the house hearing the couple discussing the death of their infant notified the police. The New York detectives went there early to-day. After the first rap on the door, came the query:

"What do you want?"

Told that the detectives were outside, back came the answer in a feminine voice:

"All right; give me time to put on a skirt."

The detectives agreed. But they say they heard whisperings with a man regarding making an escape down the fire escape, and they broke in the door.

Said Detective Gray:

"When that door broke open there stood this girl here pointing a gun at us but she didn't shoot. She turned her head, and we just took that gun away from her."

Girl Tells Suicide Plan.

The girl was vitally interested in the conversation. She leaned forward and said:

"You see, it was this way: Eddie told me that he wanted to kill himself. Said that he wanted to kill me, too. Said that he had made up his mind that the cops would get us alive.

"But while the police were breaking in I made him promise not to kill himself or me, and not to shoot the police unless they fired first.

A dab of powder, and Celia looked different.

"Me go to jail? Sure!"

A bit of rouge went on the cheeks.

"Of course, the day of miracles has passed, but if I get out next week, I'm going to the circus."

Motor Car Fitted to Rails Used For Track Inspection

CINCINNATI, April 24.—(Associated Press).—Veteran railroad men in the Southern Railroad yards at Ludlow, Kentucky, have had a surprise. Down the main track recently, sandwiched between the "Sewanee River Special" and a freight, came a sedan auto on flanged wheels. It had full steering gear, both front and rear axles being immobile; it weighed 5,000 pounds, and was heavy enough to operate the electric block system of the railroad.

The "sedan" was equipped with "cowcatcher"; dashboard speed control, and a motor regulated by a switch formed like a rheostat. It is believed the new car is the only one of its kind.

The designer says the car primarily will be used for inspecting tunnels, and for emergency duty.

You Can Be Sure of Quick Relief

For Stomach Complaints, Rheumatism Kidney, Liver or Bladder Trouble, Lumbago, Piles Female Internal Disorders, Eczema.

Have you tried every form of patent medicine and medical treatment imaginable without obtaining relief? Instead of an improvement in your condition, you find that the affliction is steadily gaining a firmer hold—your system is gradually becoming weaker, and generally, life is a burden to you.

It is an established fact that there is no substitute or artificial preparation that the genius of man has ever been able to invent that can successfully take the place of plain wholesome food or pure water as provided by Nature. Then does it not stand to reason that Nature has provided in like manner for the alleviation of human suffering? No thinking man or woman can refute the soundness of this argument.

Lang's Mineral Wonder is not a Patent Medicine or Quack Nostrum. It is not a man-made preparation. A study of its analysis shows beyond a doubt that it was specially designed by Nature for the purpose of keeping the human body healthy, strong and vigorous. Because it contains the exact vital mineral salts with which the blood and human system must be supplied constantly to maintain health, strength and energy. This has been proven repeatedly by the men and women who have used it.

For the various ailments mentioned above, there is no artificial treatment that money can buy that will produce such marvelous healing action and renewed vitality as this genuine product of Nature. It removes the cause of the trouble and completely renews the whole system by building up new, red corpuscles, replacing broken down tissues and revitalizing every organ of the human body. In the language of a gentleman just the other day who had proven the wonder healing qualities of this Nature product, he said:

"If the public could only know what this mineral wonder will actually do for those who suffer, you wouldn't be able to supply the demand. I never experienced anything like it in all my life."

That is exactly what Lang's Mineral Wonder offer you—renewed health and strength in every sense of the term, which you failed to obtain through any other source. The length of treatment necessary to accomplish this varies to some extent. But in the majority of cases, no matter of how long standing, from two to three months' treatment will make you feel like a new being—with renewed health and spirits and a new enjoyment of life.

Your condition will show definite improvement in a few days after commencing to take this Mineral Wonder, but it would not do justice to either the patient or the product to stop there. Because the action of the Mineral Wonder is directly through the blood, which is naturally a slow process. Consequently it must be used for a reasonable length of time to enable it to perform its good work thoroughly.

A full two months' treatment will cost you just six cents a day. Then why suffer longer?

If your druggist can't supply Lang's Mineral Wonder, do not accetp any substitute as there is nothing "just as good." A regular treatment will be mailed promptly by the distributors on the receipt of $1.25 or 4 for $4.00. Take advantage of the special quantity price. You will find it will be the best investment you ever made.

DAUGHERTY ALLEGES INFLUENCE OF MOSCOW IN SENATE'S ENQUIRY

Forced Out of the Coolidge Cabinet, the Former Attorney - General Imputes Communistic and Destructive Purposes to Senators Who Have Been Most Active In Washington Investigations.

SAYS HE HAS PROOF.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—Harry M. Daugherty told an audience of friends and neighbors here last night that he had given up his cabinet post rather than "contribute to a treasonable cause."

Files of the Department of Justice, he said, contained "abundant proof of the plans, purposes and hellish designs of the Communist International."

"Bear in mind," he added, "that the files which I refused to deliver to the Wheeler Investigating Committee at the time my resignation was requested, were demanded by Brookhart and Wheeler, two United States Senators who spent last summer in Russia with their Soviet friends — those same Soviet and Communist leaders who preach destruction of constitutional government, destruction even of human life.

"I preferred to permit my integrity to be questioned and my honor to hang in the balance, for the time being, rather than surrender the files in the keeping of the Department of Justice. I gladly gave up a post of honor rather than contribute to a treasonable cause."

Pilgrims to Moscow.

Mr. Daugherty charged that "pilgrimages to Moscow by United States Senators," had been arranged for by the Communist authorities after their efforts to capture labor organizations had failed.

"There, (in Russia) no doubt, new inspirations were adavnced," he continued, "as to what steps should be taken to cripple the Government of the United States and crumble the columns that support it.

"It may tairly be inferred that one step in this direction was to capture, by deceit and design, as many members of the Senate of the United States as possible and to spread throughout Washington city and in the cloak rooms of Congress a poison gas as deadly as that which sapped and destroyed brave soldiers in the late war.

"Time will not permit me to give on this occasion the details of the various plans and efforts undertaken to influence the Senate as a body and individual members thereof. When the country is willing to hear and in condition to comprehend it, the whole story will be made known. For protection of innocent persons much of it must now be withheld."

Destroy Confidence.

Mr. Daugherty said that Department of Justice records showed that a Communist movement began in the United States three years ago to destroy confidence "in our form of Government."

"To this end," he continued, "confidence in men of both political parties had to be destroyed, when they could not be dominated by the directors of the movement. At any cost, by any conceivable method, cruel ,criminal or murderous, the character of men in authority had of necessity to be assassinated."

The former Attorney-General declared that official government records, obtained from official Russian sources, "contribute indisputable proof' of the assertions he made. He referred then to what he described as the connection between the Communists and those members of the United States Senate and other individuals, who seemingly embrace the ideals of this strange and dangerous doctrine, "especially as it may be applicable to the "investigative mania" at Washington.

Senate Stampeded.

"The Sentae was swept off its feet," Mr. Daugherty continued. "Precedent was cast to the winds. The protection of individual and official rights has been ignored. Under senatorial immunity falsehoods were reeled off by slanderous tongues of conscienceless senators. Groundless charges were made against those who had stood for the enforcement of law and for orderly processes."

The former Attorney General then paid his respects to the Daugherty committee.

DAUGHERTY'S "US BOYS."

WASHINGTON, April 24.— Replying to recent criticism by former Attorney General Daugherty of the Senate investigation, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, prosecutor of the Daugherty committee, declared in a statement last night that the "evidence thus far adduced before the committee is but a drop in the bucket."

"The achievements of the Department of Justice of which Mr. Daugherty boasts," he added, "cannot be fully reevaled until the Ohio gang, known at Columbus as 'Us Boys,' and numbering almost a dozen high officials of the Deaprtment, is ousted.

"Daugherty complains he has had no opportunity of cross-examining witnesses. This is false. His counsel have been allowed to eaxmine every witness who finished direct testimony."

C.N.R. Statement

One of the early events of the season, as soon as the debate on the Budget is concluded, is the statement in regard to the National Railways to be made by Hon. G. P. Graham Minister of Railways and Canals. He will review the finances of the Government Railways during the last year and is expected to announce a net result incluring fixed charges of about $45,000,000 on the debit side of the account. The gross revenue of the National Railways during the year was $254,000,000 and the operating expenses $234,000,000 leaving an operating surplus of about twenty millions. The fixed charges on the Government lines for the year were $65,000,000 of which $35,000,000 is owing to the public, and $30,000,000 to the Government. The difference between the operating surplus and the total fixed charges, therefor figures out as about $45,000,000, but owing to tax accruements and other elements in the income account not included in this calulation, the final result may be slightly different.

Church Union Too

The Church Union question will come prominently to the front very soon after the resumption. On Friday there is to be a meeting of the Private Bills Committee when the day for the consideration of the Church Union Bill is to be set. The day at present in view is Wednesday of next week, but this has not yet been finally decided.

Shortly before the House opens to day there will be a public ceremony to pay honor to the memory of the late Bowman Brown Law who represented Yarmouth, Nova Scotia in the House of Commons and who lost his life in the fire which destroyed the Parliament Buildings on February 3, 1916. The Speaker of the House of Commons, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will preside over the ceremony while the memorial tablet to Mr. Law will unveiled by the Prime Minister. After the unveiling, addresses are to be delivered by Mr. Meighen and Mr. Forke by Hon. E. M. McDonald, Minister of National Defence and by F. Lacombe Hatfield, the present representative of Yarmouth in the House of Commons.

Monkey Living With Hogs on Kansas Farm.

REPUBLIC, Kan., April 24.—(United Press).—In the pig-sty of W. H. McClure, farmer near here, lives a monkey.

"Jock," a diminutive member of the tribe of tree-jumpers, wandered aimlessly into this town three years ago and attached himself to a pen of chickens owned by a local fancier. Here his presence caused too much of a stir.

Chanticleers of the flock resented his usurpation of their leadership, and noisy, be-feathered battles followed, until the owner was forced to drive the monkey away. By a queer quirk of fate, as "Jock" jumped before the shooing of the poultryman, McClure drove past the house with a wagon-load of hogs.

"Jock" swung aboard the wagon and settled comfortably on the back of a fat hog. Dislodged, he leaped to the driver's seat, and from there to the backs of the team. A runaway followed.

When the hogs had been herded together and placed in their pen following the upheaval, "Jock" was seeking assimilation.

Since that day—three years ago—the monkey has been a regular inhabitant of the pig-sty.

In that time numerous families of pigs have grown to hoghood under "Jock's" guiding care and have become expert "saddle hogs," with the monkey as chief jockey.

At night, "Jock" sleeps between two of the hogs. At meal-time he selects portions of the feed that appeal to him and eats them from a vantage point astrlue the back of one of his adopted brothers.

McClure advertised for an owner of the monkey. None appeared, so "Jock" continues his life in the hoglot.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO CHICAGO.

An announcement of unusual interest to all who have occasion to visit Chicago and cities farther west, has been made by the management of the Canadian National Railways.

In addition to the already complete Canadian National Railways service operating from Toronto to Chicago, there will be inaugurated on April 27th, a new observation, sleeping car service, leaving Toronto daily at 11.45 p.m., arriving Chicago next day at 2.50 p.m., Central time.

Besides providing a most convenient leaving time this new service is highly attractive in its time of arrival. By using it passengers bound for points west of the Illinois metropolis will have ample time for business or pleasure in Chicago, and still make all connections for western points that same evening.

Thomas Chambers on the Rights of the Church

By Professor John T. McNeill, Knox College

The churches do not claim infallibility, but they rightly claim to exercise, through their established courts, authoriyt in things spiritual. Assemblies in Scotland and Canada have always had minorities to deal with. In no single crisis has there been complete unanimity. But usually the minority has been a "loyal opposition," which did not call upon the State to invade the church in its behalf, and place it in authority to the subversion of church order. The Veto Act of 1834 was passed by the comparatively narrow majority of 184 to 138; but Dr. Chalmers protested against its annulment by the State.

"In things ecclesiastical," said Dr. Chalmers, "we decide all. Some of these things may be done wrong, but still it is our majorities which do it. They are not, they cannot, be forced upon us from without. We own no head of the church, but the Lord Jesus Christ. Whatever is done ecclesiastically is done by our ministers as acting in His name and in perfect submission to His authority. . . . There is no one thing which the State can do to our independent and indestructible church, but strip her of her temporalities. nec tamen consumebatur. She would remain a church notwithstanding."

MONTREAL TRAMWAYS CLAIM FOUR MILLIONS

Action Against Imperial Trust Company Alleging Losses In Bond Transactions — Charge Illegal Purchase of Big Bond Issue.

MONTREAL, April 24 (Canadian Press). — The action taken by the Montreal Tramways and Power Co. against the Imperial Trust Company and former directors of the plaintiff company to recover $4,439,664 took another step forward yesterday when the writs were returned into Court accompanied by the appearance of the defendants, who have six days longer in which to file their defence.

The declaration of the plaintiff company, claims the sum of $4,439,664 from the defendants as loss and damage suffered by it, as the result of wrongful and unlawful bond transactions for which it is alleged the defendants were responsible. In particular, it is charged that resolutions authorising and approving the purchase of debenture bonds of the Montreal Tramways Company of a par value of $6,000,000 from the Imperial Trust Company, were illegal as not having been passed by a quorum of disinterested directors of the plaintiff company.

The plaintiffs also complain that these transactions were not revealed to the shareholders of the company, and that no general meeting of the latter was called for eleven years.

Merger Effected.

The declaration states that the defendants with the exception of McIntyre, were at all times directors of the old Montreal Street Railway Co., of the Imperial Trust Company, and of the Canadian Light and Power Company.

The defendants, according to the plaintiff company, effected a merger of the Canadian Light and Power Company and the Montreal Street Railway Company, which latter concern became the Montreal Tramways Company. The incorporation of the consolidated companies under the name of the plaintiff company was effected in England in 1910.

The plaintiff company further states that on 18th November, 1911, the Montreal Tramways Company executed a trust deed in favour of the Royal Trust Company to create and secure payment of perpetual debenture stock to the amount in the first instance of $16,000,000 bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum.

The Imperial Trust Company, it is claimed, in December, 1911, represented that it was owner of debenture stock of this issue in the Montreal Trampany Company to an extent of from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. The plaintiff company declares that the Imperial Trust Co. agreed to deliver to it the amount of stock held in the Montreal Tramways Company in return for debenture stock of equal value in the plaintiff company.

Purchase Authorised.

Specifically, the plaintiff company alleges that at a meeting of the old directors of the plaintiff company, including E. A. Robert, F. Howard Wilson, Hon. J. M. Wilson, and J. M. McIntyre, a resolution was passed authorising Robert to purchase Montreal Tramways debentures, of a par value of $6,000,000 from the Imperial Trust Company at not more than 92 1-2. Robert was given the power to make such arrangements as he thought proper and advantageous in regard to payment, it is alleged.

This meeting was held on 9th April, 1912, and on 22nd May, 1912, another resolution approving the purchase was passed. The plaintiff company attacks both these resolutions as having been illegally passed, declaring that a quorum of disinterested directors was not present on either occasion.

Meeting Not Called.

The plaintiff company declares that these transactions were not submitted to the shareholders, and complains that the former directors failed to call a meeting of the shareholders for seven years.

It is claimed that the transactions of the defendants have resulted in loss and damage to the plaintiff company to the sum of $4,439,664, for which sum judgment is asked.

How Does Your Porch Floor Look?

There are two outstanding features about this Porch Floor Paint. One is that it is SPECIALLY made for Porch Floors—and combines a hard durable finish with a clean lustrous appearance. The other is that two pints will go as far as three pints of ordinary or so called cheap paint—assuring the consumer of Best Results and a considerable saving on the cost of material. The reason is to be found in the quality of the ingredients used and the fineness to which they are ground by powerful machinery. It is easily applied, dries quickly, and can be had in six harmonious shades.

CUTTING DOWN THE ARMY.

Ottawa reports declare that a drastic reduction is to be made in the permanent force of Canada, and a similar reduction will have to be made in the provisions for the annual training of the non-permanent forces.

The slash in militia expenditures is in response to the demand for economy, and while it will be regretted by the militia officers who have patriotically struggled under difficulties to build up and train their units, there is reason to believe that the general public will approve of the saving affected.

There are varying opinions as to the efficiency and usefulness of the militia training in Canada.

There are those who claim that the Canadian militia vindicated itself during the World War, for it provided the framework upon which was raised Canada's magnificent contribution to the Empire's forces.

But military authorities are not lacking—the Examiner has met some of them who have been through the mill—who are of the opinion that so long as provision is made for the training of a sufficient number of officers and non-commissioned officers Canada has no need of anything further.

Whether a sufficient supply of such officers and non-coms. could be secured without the continuance of the present militia system is another matter.

THE CHANCE OF THE SMALL STORE.

The Ottawa Journal produces figures to show that 80 per cent. of the retail business in cities is being done by 40 per cent. of the shops, 15 per cent. of it by 20 per cent. of the shops, and 5 per cent. of it by 40 per cent. of the shops.

The number of failures, according to the law of averages, should be highest among the last 40 per cent. that get but 5 per cent. of the trade, and that is exactly where most of them do occur, says the London Advertiser.

According to one theory a large number of stores handling similar lines should be a good thing for the consumer because the resulting competition will keep down prices.

That idea is faulty. Look at it in another way. Take the grocery or any other trade for London. It is a fairly fixed quantity. People eat about the same amount week by week. The more people who come in to share that business means an increase in the number of people who must live from it. Prices to the consumer cannot be lessened by increasing the number of people he has waiting on him.

The economist claims there are too many retailers, and he can produce figures that are convincing. But that is as far as he can go. He cannot keep more people from starting up, but he can warn them. The chances for the retailer, starting in in a small way, on small capital, are not bright.

SIMPLIFYING SCHOOL SYSTEM.

A greatly modified course of study, the elimination of non-essential subjects, a reduction in the number of text books and the doing away almost altogether of home work is the programme held out to Ontario's public school pupils by Hon. G. H. Ferguson as Minister of Education.

The details are not announced, but the new system will be ready for a try-out next term, and the result of the test will be awaited with a great deal of interest as an experiment along lines that many people have considered as decidedly necessary.

The general outline of Mr. Ferguson's new plan shows two fundamental changes in the curriculum now in use in Ontario's public schools.

In the first place, there will be a readjustment which will tend to make the course of study more flexible and make it possible for individual schools to adopt a course best fitted to meet the particular needs of their locality.

Secondly, overcrowding in the present curriculum will be relieved by taking out of the compulsory list a number of subjects not regarded by the Minister of Education as essential.

Rural school teachers who have been compelled to try to teach fourteen or fifteen subjects to half a dozen classes in a few hours each day may be expected to greet the changes with open arms as their task will be materially lightened, while school pupils will regard as the most important feature of the Premier's announcement the abolition of home work.

A GOOD DAY'S WORK.

The Examiner is confident that the people of Peterborough are to be congratuated upon the fact that by a very large majority of those who voted they yesterday supported the bylaw extending the assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company by about three and one-half years.

The vote was a good day's work for Peterborough.

The results will be immediate as the contract for the new building is to be let at once, and the building operations will afford a considerable amount of employment during the summer.

But the significance of the passing of the bylaw lies not so much in the fact but in the assurance that is given that the local plant is to have other and more imposing additions, and that it is not hoping too much to look for an establishment double the capacity of the present factories within the next ten years.

The pay roll of such an establishment would certainly play a very prominent part in the development of Peterborough, and the benefit would be directly or indirectly felt by everybody.

A very large percentage of the eligible vote was not polled yesterday, but this is easily accounted for, aside from he usual indifference and lethargy of many of the electors, by the feeling on the part of numerous citizens that the bylaw was sure to carry and that their vote would not be needed to ensure the passing of the measure.

The citizens who worked to get out the vote and the electors who exercised their franchise deserve thanks for their public spirit.

They realized that in supporting this bylaw they were helping to build up their home city—and they did their duty.

To them belongs the credit.

BACKWARD PUPILS.

When Dr. Richardson, a new member of the Campbellford Board of Education, at a recent meeting suggested that something be done to help backward pupils in the schools of that town he placed his finger upon one of the most glaring defects in the educational system of Ontario. Dr. Richardson was formerly a teacher himself, and what he has to say on the internal management of schools is for that reason entitled to special consideration.

The school life of the children of today consists of one examination after another. Whether the system by which advancement is noted is pernicious, as so many claim, or is the best incentive to exertion on the part of the pupils, the fact remains that the teachers have apparently, to a great extent, lost sight of the great object of education—to prepare those under their charge not for an examination but for the great struggle in which they must engage when their school days are completed. The success of a teacher is too often judged by the number of pupils whom he or she got through on examination.

Under such a system there can be only one result. It is the bright pupils that are given special attention, and it is the so-called dull ones who are neglected. No one can blame the teachers for these conditions. Teaching is their life work, and in order to retain their positions they must show results.

That a boy is slow in his school work is no reason to believe that he lacks some other gifts necessary to make him a useful and successful citizen when he grows up. The highest aim of education should be to find out the particular line of effort for which the pupils are most fitted so as to give them the proper start in life. At present the entire energy of the teachers seems to be devoted to impressing upon the pupils that the one object of their existence, the greatest ambition of their academic career, is to pass the examinations. Those who fail receive no sympathy, but, worse yet, are ostracised by their successful schoolmates.

Pupils that are behind in their studies on account of sickness or when unavoidably absent from some other cause, should be given a chance and not kept in classes with other pupils many years their junior. In some of the leading schools of Ontario ungraded departments have been established, and this innovation is apparently what Dr. Richardson has in mind for Campbellford.

Dr. Richardson appears to have a sense of the responsibility which rests upon himself and his colleagues on the board. This responsibility does not end with erection of costly school buildings and the engaging of teachers of high attainments and successful as success is measured today, and in keeping the schools open every school day of the year. It is, as Dr. Richardson seems to realize, the duty of the members of the board to see that all the pupils, possessing as the latter do so many diversified gifts, are given an equal chance. That a boy fails in one line is no reason why he should be thrown into the educational discard. There is some pathway in life for every normal child to follow if his steps can be directed to it. The further he proceeds along the wrong road the further he gets from the life work for which he is designed. There are, of course, unfortunate and affected children who are mentally deficient, and those hopeless cases should be removed from the public schools.

The Campbellford Board of Education proposes to build the education of the children upon a sure foundation by engaging another expert teacher for the primary department, which is now overcrowded. The members of the board seem to realize, as Dr. Richardson does, that their responsibilities are heavy. Men elected to Parliament or Legislature have limited opportunities to build up a better citizenship in the nation compared with those representatives of the people who are entrusted with the management of the educational affairs of a community. The man who bends the twig is doing a greater work for posterity than is the man who is lopping dead branches from the grown tree.

PROVINCIAL EXPENDITURES.

The growth in Provincial expenditures in Ontario is startling when it is investigated, as it has been by a writer in MacLean's Magazine, whose figures should be of interest to Examiner readers.

He has found that while the population of Ontario increased about 40 per cent. in the twenty years between 1902 and 1922, the debt of the Province has increased nearly fifty-eight times.

The per capita debt has, in fact, grown in twenty years from $2.88 to $101.07.

The Dominion per capita debt is $366 per head, and when the municipal debt is added it is estimated that the total load figures out at a per capita debt of $576 for every man, woman and child in the Province.

The cost of government in Ontario has increased over six and a half times in twenty years.

These are statistics that should cause the people of Ontario to do some quiet thinking.

Most of the expenditures that have caused this tremendous increase have been for things asked for by the people.

There must be a realization of the fact that no Government can really economize unless it has the co-operation of the citizens it represents.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is significant that the two big shows, the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley and the Peterborough Motor Show, both opened on the same day.

Miss Agnes McPhail has no admiration for the school system of Ontario. But, then, is there anything to which she ever gave her whole-hearted approval?—London Advertiser.

Well, she said some very nice things about J. J. Morrison.

The word "wrecked" seems a mild one to apply to the condition of the Home Bank as disclosed by Liquidator Clarkson's evidence.

Premier Ferguson again promises to eliminate home work. It is not expected that Ontario pupils will inaugurate a strike to have the old system restored.

Lindsay is to have an old home week this summer. The old boys will have no difficulty in recognizing the town.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 23.—Butchers' cows were in good demand this morning and steady to firm prices were paid dby the packers. For good cows the average was 5¼ to 5½ cents a pound and choice one made a cent a pound higher. Medium cows brought 4½ to 4¾ cents. Bulls are a little firmer and boloynas are selling up to 3½ cents.

The top this morning for medium weight butchers was $7.75 a cwt. and Shields and Atwell sold a sweet load of 850-lb. butchers at $7.15 a cwt. Stockers of feeders are still somewhat draggy, but a load of 1,000 lb feedsr brought $6.35 and one 850 lbs. each sold at $6 a cwt. Milchers and springers are moving a little more freely.

The demand for the out of the ordinary calf is still good and four weer taken at the opening at 12 cents a pound. Good medium calves are 9 to 10 cents, and the common kind run from 6 to 8 cents.

Last year's lambs are about done and any coming are readily used up at firm prices. Spring lambs are not too good a selection yet and there is a wide spread from $8 to $15 each. Choice sheep are selling at 9 cents a pound.

With a run of 4,000 hogs today, packers are working for a $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b. market, but there was no settlement up till noon.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 23. — A steady feeling prevailed in the local cash grain market. The flour market is quiet. A more active business was done in millfeed, but the rolled oats market was quiet. There is nothing new in the baled hay market. A fair attendance was done in eggs. The trade in potatoes was only fair. The demand for butter was quieter. There is little doing in the cheese market.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 23. — Influenced to some extent by the present favorable crop outlook and by an estimate that 105,000,000 bushels of domestic wheat would be carried over into the new crop season, the wheat market to-day underwent a moderate setback. The closing prices were unsettled, ½ and 5-8c to 3-4c net lower; May $1.03 7-8 to $1.02, and July $1.04 5-8 to $1.04 5-8 to 3-4; Corn finished 1-8c to 3-8c down; oats at 1-8c off to a shade advance, and provisions varying from 2c decline to 5c gain.

PASSING IT ON

HERE are two generations who are going to enjoy their home life and appreciate their home beautiful. The future pleasure which the younger will take in his home is largely dependent upon the action of the elder in keeping up that home with paint and varnish.

Will he, year by year, set an example of painting up his property for his son to follow? Will he take the pains to explain to his son, as he grows older, the economic value of paint and varnish for preserving property? Will he show him how paint and varnish save real money by preventing deterioration?

This man put his hard earned capital into the home he owns. Is his capital still there? That he will know fast enough if forced to sell. A well painted property maintains its face value.

REPUBLICAN DESIGNS DISAVOWED BY SOUTH AFRICAN EXTREMISTS

AGREE WITH SMUTS.

CAPETOWN, South Africa, April 24.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).— The republican bogey in teh British Union of South Africa has been killed, so far as the National party is concerned, according to the declaration here Wednesday, on the opening of the Nationalist campaign, by General Hertzog, leader of this branch of the opposition to the governmen to General Smuts.

General Hertzog said that the republican doctrine had never been on the Nationalist programe. The party would, he said, be foolish to press this issue unless the English speaking people wanted it as much as the Dutch. Replying to questions from the audience, the National leader declared that sovereign independence had already been secured the Union of South Africa, and was admitted by the present Premier, General Smuts. To a query from an auditor—"Well, what more then do you want?", General Hertzog said that South Africa should use that independence and act independent of the British Privy Council, perhaps going so far as to elect their own Governor-General.

Same as Canada

J. J. Malan, leader of the Cape Colony Nationalists, who also spoke at the same meetings with Hertzog in Capetown and Vryhead said that the sovereign independence which the Nationalists stood for did not necessarily imply secession from the British Empire. The Dominion of Canada stood for the same sovereign independence, the speaker said, and so also did General Smuts himself. If this policy implied seccession from the government and state of the British Empire constitutionally, however close relations might other wise remain, then the Nationalist party was secessionist. Unless Premier Smuts was deliberately deceiving South Africa the Nationalists and he were one in this policy said Mr. Malan.

Attacks on Smuts

The Nationalist attacks on the government of Premier Smuts are principally along the line that it is bankrupt and financially incapable of carrying on an economic administration. Further they allege that General Smuts is under the domination of the capitalists.

Laborites and Nationalists make a common platform in their onslaught on the government and their defence of the pact between these two opposition parities.

Italian Tribute To Lloyd George

CRICCIETH, Wales, April 24.— Former Premier Lloyd George yesterday received two distinguished Italian soldiers, General Giuseppe Garibaldi, grandson of the Italian liberator, Giuseppe Garibaldi, and Captain Palazozli, who laid wreaths on the grave of Mr. Lloyd George's mother in tribute to the former premier's services to Italy during the great war.

Mr. Lloyd George in acknowledging the tribute, referred to Garibaldi as the embodiment and inspiration of liberty and paid homage to Italy's comradeship with Great Britain in the cause of humanity.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Special Easter Meeting of the W. M. S.—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24.—A special Easter meeting of the W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon when Miss Nellie W. Turner gave an excellent address on missionary work. Mrs. H. O. Richardson sang a solo, "A Song of Trust." A report of the Easter offering was given and the mite boxes opened.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. W. Turner on Friday, May 2nd instead of Tuesday.

The flowers in the Methodist Church on Easter Sunday were beautiful and were the gift of Miss Dorothy Heath of Detroit. They were sent to her old home church and in memory of her brother who made the supreme sacriifce in the war and whose name is on the tablet in the church.

The services in the Anglican Church were well attended and the special music was of a high order. The sermons by the rector, Rev. G. C. Clarke, B.A., were splendid and helpful to all present. The beautiful floral tributes were given in honor of those of the congregation who have passed away during the year from the congregation.

Much credit is due to Miss Maynard ,the organist and the splendid anthems and music.

BRITAIN URGED TO MEDIATE IN MOORS' TROUBLE

"Daily Mail" Reporter Bears Letter to Premier MacDonald From the Amir of Rebels Offering to Negotiate Peace With Spain — Secret Trip to the Riff.

Defend Independence.

LONDON, April 24 (Canadian Press). — Abd El Krim, leader of the rebel Moors, has appealed to the British Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald, to invite Spain to cease war, and has offered to send an ambassador to discuss peace conditions, provided the independence of the Riff territory is not compromised thereby.

The appeal was conveyed in a letter which Abd El Krim gave to the Daily Mail's special correspondent, G. Ward Price, who has just returned from a secret trip through Riff in disguise. Mr. Price handed the letter to Premier MacDonald Tuesday . He says the Premier was very much interested, but that the diplomatic issue raised was too delicate for him to discuss publicly. He, however, commissioned the correspondent to notify Abd El Krim that the letter had been received safely.

Invokes Humanity.

A translation of the letter reads: "The Riff Government is exerting every effort to defend its independence in the war which is proceeding between it and Spain. In this campaign the latter country is violating the rights of man. In the name of humanity I appeal to you to invite Spain to put a limit to the ruthless hostilities which have destroyed so many lives.

"I am the recognized Amir of the State of the Riff and am ready to send an ambassador to discuss conditions of peace provided they do not infringe the honor of my realm or compromise its independence. Otherwise the sword must decide this matter, and victory will be in the hands of God, who giveth it to whomsover he will."

Surprised Amir.

Mr. Price's journey was undertaken to get first hand information in the interior of Riff. He describes lengthily his difficulties and experiences and his arrival at the field headquarters of Abd El Krim, to whom he sent a letter introducing himself as the Daily Mail's representative. Apparently he had little difficulty in gaining access to the Amir, who was unaware of the trip and greeted his visitor through an interpreter with an astonished: "Howeve: did you manage to get here?"

Abd El Krim is quoted by the correspondent as saying that the Riffians will never consent to foreign domination, which the enemy is attempting to force on them .

Mothers know a dose of
DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE
SYRUP PEPSIN
Will keep them fit

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him, she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. G. R. Paquette, Pierreville, Que., and Mrs. J. F. Beale, 325 Johnson Av., Winnipeg, always give Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

The Meaning of "Good"

All doctors agree that a thorough cleaning out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good laxative," and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children — calomel, which is mercury and loosens the teeth; phenolphthalein, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which concentrate the blood and dry up the saliva. They consider Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin safe for all ages as they know it is a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. The formula is on the package.

Give Laxative for Colds

Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Laxative Syrup Pepsin.

QUEENSLAND A COTTON LAND HER PREMIER TELLS ENGLAND

MANCHESTER, Eng., April 23. —(Associated Press).—Queensland's Premier, E. C. Theodore, told a meeting of business men here that Queensland had million of acres of land suitable for cotton production, and that Australia is free from those terrible pests which have made such vast inroads into the prosperity of cotton growing in other countries.

In 1919 there were 72 acres under cotton cultivation in Queensland which yielded 37,000 pounds of seed cotton. This year the acreage was 180,000 and the yield 50,000,000 pounds. In 1922 there were 1,600 growers and in 1924 there were 9,200. Cotton growing, the Premier said, was and would become a white man's industry, each man cultivating his 20, 30 or 40 acres.

GERMANS AGAIN BLAME AMERICA

BERLIN, April 24.—(Associated Press).—American prohibition is responsible for the high price of coffee in Germany, in the opinion of many contributors to local newspapers. Since the Americans cannot have alcoholic drinks they use more coffee, it is argued; hence the high price of coffee in Germany.

Germany now uses only about 25 per cent. of the amount of coffee she used to drink Coffe which cost 160 marks before the war now costs

EXONERATES MAN SHOOTING $99 DOG

Dead Dog and Six Others Attacked Young Colt

OTTAWA, April 23.—Is a man justified in killing a neighbor's dog if it trespasses on and attmepts to destroy his property at night? This question came up in Hull Police Court yesterday, when Isidore Dubeau, of Danford Lake sued Clifford Gibson of the same place, for $99 the value he placed on a dog which the latter acknowledged he had killed on the night of June 3 of last year, when he found it attacking a four-months' old colt in the field adjacent to his home. Judge Mills, was of opinion that the act was justified and dismissed the case against Gibson.

The defendant stated that on the night in question he heard dogs barking outside his bedroom window and had immediately summoned his brother. Arming themselves with guns, the two men went into the field and found seven dogs attacking the young colt. Both fired into the midst of the yelping pack, which quickly dispersed. Next morning they were informed Dubeau's dog was found dead in its master's yard with a bullet wound in its side.

Judge Millar stated in dismissing the charge that if a man might shoot a thief who entered his house at night with intent to steal or destroy he was certainly entitled to do the same to a dog, and the onus of responsibility rested on the owner of the animal.

EXPERTS FILM SOUTH SEA BIRDS

PAGOPAGO, American Samoa, April 24.—(Associated Press).—R. H. Beck and J. G. Corrsia of the Whitney Expedition studying bird life in the south seas, have returned here after a trip through these islands in which they obtained specimens and photographs of all the types of birds found here. The expedition is operating under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History.

Thus far trips have been made to the Marquesas, Society and Cook groups as well as a few isolated islands.

AMES HOLDEN CO. SHOW DEFICIT

Net Loss of $519,172 For Sixteen-Month Period — Fixed Charges Are Still Too Heavy.

MONTREAL, April 23.— A net loss of $519,172 is shown by Ames Holden McCready, Limited; for the sixteen months ended December 31 last, according to the report issued to-day for the first time since the re-organization of the company in September, 1922. President R. Montague Davy points out that sales for the period totalled $7,697,376.11 or at the rate of approximately five and three quarter million dollars for the twelve months. He adds that the expectations of better times following the re-organization have not been borne out and that the reorganization scheme was not sufficiently drastic. "Fixed charges are too heavy and in the figures submitted in the present statement there has been absorbed $449,940.60 in bad debts and inventories alone." Mr. Davy concludes that the outlook for the present year is not good but that expenses will be materially curtailed and a lower margin between cost and selling avlue developed. With only a moderate improvement in conditions, President Davy concludes that the company should be able to hold its own and make no further losses.

Pulpwood Machinery Ordered For Extensions

PORT ARTHUR, April 23.—The Port Arthur Shipbuilding Company to-day received from the Thunder Bay Paper Co. a contract to manufacture wet machines, grinders and other machinery for the proposed extensions to the paper company's plant here. HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of

Mrs. Vansittart, wealthy woman who owns Winston Towers. Another of her guests s

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor who is interested in Prudence. The latter has been falsely accused of stealing at Mrs. Vansittart's home, and has run away to New York. She is rescued from a burning building and carried away in an ambulance. Meanwhile, Virginia, uninvited pays Peter a call one night.

Next day Peter goes to New York on business, reads of Prudence's accident in the papers, and dashes off to the hospital where she has been taken.

CHAPTER LII.

The Magic Spell Broken.

In the narrow hospital bed, Prudence looked up at Peter Armstrong, her heart afire with a strange, new ecstacy she had never known before . . . no, never in the blinding period of infatuation for the worthless Traymore—never in all her thoughtless girlhood!

The girl was speechless' Great emotion somehow makes words seem so futile and so weak.

She loved this big, strong man, as she had never known it possible to love.

She would always love him. Somegreater than herself, something infinitely stronger, something as old as the hills, as permanent, and yet with all the freshness and the newness and fragrance of the spring had caught her, never to let her go again.

Love!

The thing that poets, from time immemorial, had sung about. The thing that makes the world go round.

The one thing in the world worth having, and indeed, without which, life must be ever incomplete.

She—Prudence Page—had never guessed there was such throbbing ecstacy, such a flow of nameless loveliness as beat about her heart just now, when Peter Armstrong, bending over the hospital cot, caught her fluttering fingers in his own strong grasp, and looked long, and deep, and wordlessly, into her hitherto unawakened eyes.

The nurse had gone, and they were alone—alone with the amazing discovery that brought a hot, delicious flow to Prudence's very temples.

"Peter!"

"My little girl!"

Oh! magic words!

Had she dreamt them? Was this some fantasy of her own imagination? Would she wake up and find herself once more in the white-walled ambulance, and the nurse bending over her and telling her she must lie quiet?

But no! The nurse's presence never had held enchantment such as this! The nurse's touch had never generated magic such as flowed in a strong, steady current from Peter's big, brown figers, rushing in a surge of loveliness to the girl's young heart.

There was silence in the little ward, save for the hum of traffic from the street below . . . . . and—what was that? —something that beat about them like the throb of violincellos, like the crushed loveliness of honeysuckle in the moonlight, like the song of nightingales.

Love!

The thing that set young hearts afire. The thing that brought such poignant pain, and yet whose sweetness was so potent, so intoxicating, that—for one hour of it—one would recklessly endure all pangs, all future sorrows.

"Like a pool of lilies, where a man's tired soul may rest." The poetic image was inadequately weak for what he felt, but voicelessly the thought passed through his mind.

How deep and dark and true they were, those eyes! What purity, what wistfulness, what longing, lay behind them!

And who was he to wake this little sleeping princess?

But he was human, and he loved her. Loved as he never thought it possible to love. The agony of mind of the last hour had shown him clearly all that this young girl meant to him.

He bent his head down lower, and an arm slipped round her shoulders, holding her fast. How very nearly he had lost her! With her clipped, boyish, little head, and that pale, lovely little face, there was something immeasurably appealing, something that roused every manly instinct of protection . . .

"My—little—girl!"

The words were out now. She had heard them. A wild-rose color stained the gardenia-whiteness of her face.

And then——

How he ever had the courage, afterwards he never knew. But, without any further parley, his lips—reverently adoring, passionately tender—were on his lips, in a long, enchanted kiss that seemed to have no end.

Even the traffic down below seemed hushed at that enchanted moment. In a breathless silence, all the world was waiting. . . .

"I love him! I shall always love him! He is mine—mine—mine!" In Prudence's heart the song of ecstacy was being sung as though by angel choirs.

But, none the less, an age-old instinct in her made her draw back first.

This sudden surrender, without any preliminary wooing . . . ? In calmer moments, would he think the less of her for it?

She drew her 'bobbed' head away from him, shaking out a tremulous little laugh that, somehow, seemed to break the magic spell like the tinkle of falling glass.

There were tremulous tears behind that laugh.

"I—we—we shouldn't—should we?"

Peter put his two hands on her slender shoulders, and in a voice that shook with feeling, said:

"If there's any reason why we shouldn't care, won't you tell me, and—and let me show you just how foolish all such reasons must be—darling?"

Tomorrow: Traymore Again.

LABOR GOVERNMENT GIVEN FEW WEEKS

Sir Kingsley Wood Declares That a Vital Division Will Come to the Labor Government that Will Necessitate its Resignation.

(By Lloyd Allen—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, April 24.—The Labor Government has only a few more weeks in office before a vital division comes that will necessitate its resignation and a general election, Sir Kingsley Wood, M.P., writing in the "Wesleyan Methodist," declared.

His opinion is shared by many political observers, who point out that Ramsay MacDonald now is in daily need of at least sixty Liberal votes in the House to protect him from the overthrow.

Liberals May Withdraw.

Recent speeches by ex-Premier Lloyd George at Allenfairfechan and Premier MacDonald at York have set the political pot boiling faster than ever. With the Government, more and more dependant upon every available Liberal vote, Lloyd George's position becomes increasingly stronger.

J. A. Spender, representing another branch of the Liberal party, wrote in the Westminster Gazette:

"Mr. MacDonald may be quite sure there are enough Liberals ready now to withdraw their support and 'damn the consequences' if their views continue to be flouted by the Government."

Lacking a majority in the Commons, the Labor Government counts on some votes from one or the other of its opposition parties to support it in divisions.

WHAT GIRLS MUST DO

When girls are tired and breathless, when cheeks are pale, and eyes dull and the heart beats violently when you run upstairs, or climb a hill, mother nature is warning you that your blood is thin and watery. You have been using your strength too fast. You do not eat enough because your appetite is too capricious to enjoy plain wholesome food. All this simply means that you are anaemic—bloodless. You can be better, more active, prettier, in a very short time if you can get more and better blood. But how? you ask. It is easy. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood faster than anything else, and they improve your appetite and digestion because they enable you to use your food and like it. You feel the benefit almost as soon as you begin taking them, and if you want more—a nerve tonic that does not fail—do not delay. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, coupled with wholesome food and out-of-door exercise, will do wonders for you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams 'Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Depositors to Ask For Examination of Edwards

TORONTO, Apr. 24 (Canadian Press)—Application will be made by the depositors' counsel in Ottawa for permission to examine before the McKeown commission a report of George Edwards, accountant appointed by the Government to make an inspection of the bank. Mr. Edwards, it is likely, will testify. It is probable that for the time being the commission will not deal with any branch of the Home Bank affairs affecting directly those under indictment. At a later date the commission will investigate the secret commission said to have been paid from the bank but not until it is learned what results follow the Ontario Government investigation.

FOR 15 YEARS WAS TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA

There is no other remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters that can possibly give such relief to all sufferers from eczema, salt rheum and all other diseases of the blood for the reason that this old and well tried remedy goes right to the seat of the trouble and completely and permanently drives these diseases out of the system by cleansing the blood and making it pure and rich.

Mr. F. W. H. Schultz, Pembroke, Ont., writes: "Having been troubled with eczema for fifteen years, during which time I tried everything I could think of, including doctors, but without getting anything to do me much good I finally decided to take Burdock Blood Bitters, and I was certainly surprised to find that two weeks after I had started to take it I was relieved of my trouble. That was nine months ago, and I have not had a sign of it since. I surely wish to thank you for this wonderful medicine and strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from the same trouble as I had."

CONFERENCE OF ASSURANCE MEN

Life assurance men from all over this part of the Province came together for a conference when the agents of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada met this afternoon. The following officials are in the city in connection with the gathering: Mr. J. B. Mabon, assistant actuary; Mr. George H. Harris, supervisor field service bureau, and Mr. C. E. Reid, inspector.

The local manager, Mr. J. F. H. Wallace, took the chair at the first meeting, and in a few suitable words he welcomed the men to the convention. His Worship Mayor Turner, in a fitting way, welcomed the men to the city. Mr. George H. Harris officially opened the convention by a few well-chosen remarks, in which he dwelt on the importance of local gatherings, which gave an opportunity to many of the company's representatives who were unable to attend the larger conventions from time to time. He welcomed the men to a Sun Life family gathering and hoped the proceedings would be more of a conference than of a formal nature.

Mr. J. B. Mabon gave an excellent address on some of the actuarial problems of the life assurance business. An interesting discussion took place, during which Mr. Mabon was able to answer questions on his particular subject. A paper which was listened to with a great deal of interest was given by Mr. Cecil V. Sleep, of Lindsay, on "Securing Country Business." Mr. H. B. Cowan, in an address on character study from the sales standpoint, gave some very interesting and helpful information to the men of the field force. Later in the afternoon, the delegates motored to the Lift Locks and other points of interest. To-night the party is attending the Capitol Theatre.

The convention will be continued for two days, and to-morrow the representatives will attend the regular meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association. In the evening they will attend a banquet at the Empress Hotel.

MR. ROBERT ARMSTRONG

Acted on Friend's Advice

"For years I was a martyr to stomach troubles," says Mr. Robert Armstrong of Ida, Ontario. "Eating gave me terrible pains in the chest and my stomach would feel sore all over. So much did I suffer that I hardly dared eat at all and as a result became weak and miserable for lack of nourishment. I tried all kinds of medicines without result when finally a friend of mine suggested that I try Dreco.

"I have just finished my fourth bottle and the results have been beyond my fondest expectations. My appetite has improved 100% and I feel better in every way. I hardly have the slightest twinge of indigestion now and my bowels which were chronically constipated and delightfully regular now."

For health and vitality, your body needs two things, nourishment and sleep. Dreco assures both by cleansing the organs of digestion and making them do their work. Thus you are enabled to withstand the ravages of severe winter weather which quickly undermines the sick and weakly. Dreco is made from the pure extracts of herbs, roots, barks and leaves and contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold as follows:
Lakefield—E. H. Northey.
Campbellford—J. E. Birks.
And by a good druggist everywhere.

HEROIC CHILDREN DROWNED IN VAIN

CHICAGO, Apr. 24 (Canadian Press)—Three little sisters, 13, 10 and 5 years old, were drowned late yesterday in the lagoon at McKinley Park, Thirty-seventh and Loomis Streets, after the youngest had fallen into the water and the others heroically plunged one after another into the pond in a vain effort to save her.

They sank to the bottom, clutched in one another's arms in a few feet of water, the eldest choosing to die rather than to relinquish her sister's and save herself. Their bodies were recovered an hour later.

The children were Honora and Helen Holscom, 13 and 10, respectively, and their half-sister, Margaret Ruff, 5.

The only witness to the tragedy was another child, Helen Murphy, who was playing nearby. From her the police obtained the narrative of the extraordinary heroism of the two elder sisters.

MILLBROOK EGG CIRCLE SHIPPING TO TORONTO

First Quality Eggs Are Held In Storage By the U.F.O. For Higher Prices — "Cracks" Are Stored For Hotel and Restaurant Use.

MILLBROOK, April 22.— The "egg circle," recently started by the Millbrook Farmers' Club, has entered upon its second week for business, the store in the Dominion block, lately occupied by Eugene Mitchell's bakery, being their headquarters, with Mr. Martin Pethick in charge.

Previous to accepting the position, Mr. Pethick took a course of instruction in Toronto on the proper grading of eggs. Quite an encouraging quantity has been brought in during the short time the circle has been under way, and patrons are increasing in number daily. All eggs received are shipped to the U.F.O. Co-operative plant, Toronto, and a cheque for seventy-five per cent of the present market value is remitted for specials and firsts, the remaining twenty-five per cent to be sent when the eggs are sold—probably not for some months afterwards, as they are held until prices rise.

Full market value is paid for "seconds" at once, and cracked eggs are broken into a large container and put in cold storage to be sold to hotels and restaurants for culinary purposes. The price is low, but failing this use of them, such eggs would be discarded as of no value.

The local circle has a large territory to draw upon, and confident hopes are expressed for its growing success as the nature of the enterprise becomes more widely known.

The open meeting, under the auspices of the "Golden Links" Mission Circle, which was held in the Methodist Church on Easter Monday evening, was well attended, considering the unfavorable weather and the fact of other counter attractions in the village and vicinity the same evening.

Rev. S T Tucker acted as chairman, and opened the meeting with a missionary hymn and prayer. A piano solo by Miss Ethel Richardson, a piano trio by Misses Gladys Tucker, Marjorie Sayles and Jean Burnham, a vocal solo, "Send out Thy Light of Love," by Miss Richardson, with Miss S. Hetherington as accompanist, were musical numbers given before Miss E. C. Hawken gave her address on missionary work in Alberta, illustrated by some splendid lantern slides.

Prefacing her explanation of the slides with a few remarks on the verse, "There shall be one fold and one Shepherd," Miss Hawken went on to give a most interesting account of the excellent work being done by the various mission schools, hospitals and churches, with their consecrated teachers, ministers, nurses and doctors, who are doing their utmost to make of the large foreign population, Christian, Canadian citizens.

The railway coming into a village, which previously probably consisted of one frame shack, which was store, post office and dwelling, means that as soon as the station is built, elevators are put up, then a bank is opened, and then a pool-room, this, from Miss Hawken's personal experience, is the almost invariable order. A dance hall is likely the next acquisition, and if the church is not alive to her opportunity and ready to take up her task in such communities, evils gets an uninterrupted foothold.

To show the dress of a married Ruthenian woman, with all its beautiful embroidery and fine linen, as well as the head shawls invariably worn day and night, in the house and out, Miss Hawken brought such a costume with her from Kolokreeka, and Miss Hampton wore it standing on the platform until all had seen how it is worn, and the different kinds of shawls, colored and white, with which the heads of both women and girls are covered, regardless of either heat or cold.

Miss Hawken explained that while the faces mostly looked quite dark, the people are really fair of skin, but personal cleanliness being almost unknown among them, their complexions are only discovered after they have been induced to apply soap and water in abundant quantities. One towel, in a Ruthenian home, usually suffices for everything—scrub the floor with it, wash the dishes, use it for their rare ablutions. Often no wash basin is to be found in a home at all; a little water, poured in the palm of the hand and rubbed over the face spreading the grime, not much more, being their idea of an occasional toilet.

They have about fifty holidays during the year, Easter being their great occasion, but on their many feast days and fast days, no one will work. The bell in the belfry always built beside the church, rings at eight o'clock when a holiday is to be observed, and that is the signal for everyone to take the day off, though usually they have no idea which particular holiday they are celebrating.

The Ruthenians have no mirrors in their homes, and for this reason they love to have their pictures taken, often driving into the mission and asking the teachers to use their cameras—family groups, bridal parties, and individual young people being among the visitors who are eager to see what they really look like.

The picture of the funeral bread always given to each guest at a funeral, because of their belief that otherwise the deceased would not have enough to eat in the next world, was particularly interesting, especially as there is attached to each loaf a peculiar branched stick standing up from the centre and hung with apples, doughnuts, small sweet cakes, and other eatables, increasing the supply for the dead as they suppose.

The concluding slide, showing the beautiful picture, "Christ: the Hope of the World," made a fitting ending to a most educative and interesting missionary address.

The offering amounted to over ten dollars and was considered satisfactory, after the special Easter thankoffering taken up on Sunday morning, when the Auxiliary received nearly eighty dollars, and the Circle and Band were also generously supported.

LEPERS OF MOLOKAI COLONY WANT THEIR OWN NEWSPAPER

HONOLULU, April 24.—(Associated Press).—Inmates of the Kalaupapa leper settlement on the island of Molokai, want a newspaper of their own, according to requests reaching John D. McVeigh, superintendent. McVeigh said he had not encouraged the idea, but that the patients had been persistent in presenting it.

A few residents of the settlement who have money will back the new journal and are willing to purchase the necessary equipment. The sanction of the Board of Health has been requested.

SUB-STATION FORMALLY OPENED BY HIS WORSHIP MAYOR TURNER AND DEDICATED TO THE PUBLIC

New Plant Is the Acme of Electrical Perfection With Latest Equipment to Ensure Steady Continuous Service — Local Firm Had Big Contract—Provides For Expansion.

DISTRIBUTES POWER.

Yesterday was a red-letter in the history of the Peterborough Utilithe Commission and in the lives of the commissioners, Robert Hicks, chairman; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and E. F. Mason. It was fittingly celebrated in a formal opening in the afternoon at which His Worship Mayor Turner officiated in the presence of T. H. Matthews, a veteran member of the Commission, and local and visiting prominent men, and last night in an informal dinner in the Empress Hotel when about a dozen guests were present.

Mayor Turner said the Commission had fittingly celebrated a red-letter day in the opening of the new sub-station. He praised the commission for the energy and enterprise which has resulted in the erection of a building which will so well take care of the needs of the city. "The public should be congratulated on having a commission with the ability of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, and the commission should be congratulated on the stamp of officers it has secured to manage its departments." His Worship remarked on the gratification the city feels in having had Mr. T. F. Matthews present for the opening ceremony, referring to him as "the grandad of the Peterborough Utilities Commission." The early commissioners, including Mr. Matthews, set a splendid example of leadership and good judgment that has been hard to follow, but the city has been blessed with men of extraordinary ability. He wished the commission every success in the operation of the new plant.

Must Cut Costs.

Mr. Hicks, who presided at the dinner, said the reconstruction of the city electrically is one of the most important things to the citizens, but this year will be particularly trying to the commission. It has decided to cut costs to the minimum until the new sub station becomes "ground in" to the system, and will operate as close as possible.

When the power lines were taken over from the Peterborough Light and Power Company they were in a very run down condition, and the city paid a fairly high price for the property in poor condition. "We have reconstructed fifty eight per cent of the lines in the city and have forty two per cent yet to rebuild."

Mr. Hicks drew attention to the benefits to be expected from a bill which is now law, that gives power to raise money for utilities purposes with a three fourths vote of the city council and the approval of the municipal and railway board. He gave a short history of the commission since he had been elected to it, telling of the work entailed in gaining a knowledge of the electrical part of the commission's business. "After some months we were fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. Fisk, who put the plant on a good working basis. In 1919 we removed the poles from George street with results that make a good impression and have called forth the appreciation of the public. Reconstruction work has been carried on steadily, and all of east city has been supplied with practically all the work required. With the large amount of work required for reconstruction it would make it very hard for the commission if they were compelled to make the whole reconstruction at a very early date in order to give the better lighting system the city wants. The $40,000 or $50,000 required would have to be met by the city. In connection with this work we made a suggestion regarding tree pruning and agreed that where we were doing work we would pay part of the cost. Tree pruning is not our work, but we are losing a lot in not getting the benefit of the lights we have on the streets. With a little work the present lighting system might do for a couple of years so that we could carry on the extension and reconstruction of the present circuits and bring in new ones gradually. Some people find the great fault with the present system is the lamps burning in the day time. As a matter of fact the current used is the smallest item, about $2 a lamp. With proper care and attention to tree pruning we might be able to make the system last one or two years, and not rush into further expenditures immediately."

Business Increasing.

"Business in Peterborough has been steadily increasing," Mr. Hicks said, In 1920 there were 7,000,000 k.w. hours used; 1921, 9,000,000; 1922, 10,250,000 and 1923, 13,000,000. Since 1919 the city has almost doubled its use of energy. "This," continued the chairman, "will give an idea of the absolute necessity for the new sub-station. The load has increased from two sources. The same number of people are using more current each year, and with this increased demand from the people should the factories step up to normal or to the 1918 business, the increase would have brought us up against a serious position, and it is timely that the new station should be equipped and ready for action."

The equipment in the sub-station is as good as any in Ontario from the standpoint of modernity. The station was designed by an engineer from the Hydro Electric Power Commission in Toronto, and the inspection of materials has been in their hands. "While Mr. Thompson is here I would ask him to convey to the Hydro Electric Power Commission the thanks of Peterborough for the splendid co-operation we haev had and the work that has been done here. The Hydro is organized in a wide field and have men trained in every branch, able to give help that could not have been got in any other way. The services of these highly trained men have been at our command and we owe a great deal to the help we have received from them."

Mr. Hicks drew particular attention as a show room of their end of the expenditure in the building was on switching equipment, for which the Canadian General Electric Company was the successful bidder. "I believe they will be able to point with pride to Peterborough sub-station as a show room to their engineering ability."

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.

Mr. Bradburn remarked on the pleasure of the work on the commission, in the realization that it is for the good of the people of the city, and that when the time comes the commissioners will be able to hand over a very efficient plant. "It will be our continued effort" he said, "to take care of these utilities, not necessarily to make them pay in dollars and cents but in giving service in water and light. I as a commissioner feel proud of the sub-station. I always had a fear something would happen the old sub-station and put the factories and lighting system out of service. Now we will have better service without the fear of trouble."

Speaking of the waterworks division of the commission's business, Mr. Bradburn said before he came on the commission he thought a mistake had been made in raising the water rates. "But the filteration plant was one of the best investments the city ever made. It will save its extra cost in doctors' bills."

G. H. Duncan.

As chairman of the Board of Health Mr. Duncan said he was very pleased when the filteration plant was completed. It is one of the best plants, he thinks, in the province and is a credit to the city. Mr. Duncan mentioned the cases of travellers who say they like to get to Peterboro to get a good drink of water.

E. F. Mason.

Mr. Mason said as a commissioner he had looked forward with a great deal of anxiety to the erection of the new sub-station, but now that it is completed and formally opened he looks at it in pride and gratification. Since he came on the board there has been a constant succession of improvements and a term of reconstruction. The filteration plant was the first work on the commission that claimed his attention and it involved a great deal of painstaking work to see that the construction was carried out so as to make it one of the best plants in the country. That plant is now a credit to the commission and to the engineers and everyone employed on its construction. A great deal of praise is due Mr. Ross Dobbin, superintendent of the waterworks department of the utilities, for his services in connection with the construction and maintenance of the filteration plant.

After the filteration plant was erected the commission was engaged with the fixing of the rates, and today these are very satisfactory in view of the better quality of the water. For fire protection Peterborough has as satisfactory a pressure as any in Ontario.

The sub-station just completed was the next step in reconstruction. The old sub-station gave a great deal of anxiety, but this will be a thing of the past when the power is turned on in the new building on Monday.

Now a building to house the offices of the waterworks department and a workshop and storeroom is being erected, which it is expected will be the windup of heavy expenditures for some time to come.

Mr. Mason expressed his thanks to the Hydro Electric Power Commission for the assistance given through the capable engineers who had given Peterborough one of the most efficient distributing stations in Ontario. He also expressed his admiration of the chairman of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, who is conversant with every detail of the work and ever ready to hear the viewpoints of the other commissioners. "He has never tried to push anything through without the approval of the rest of the commission," Mr. Mason said, "and that is a very laudable trait in a chairman and a good thing for the people of the city."

H. O. Fisk.

"This is a red-letetr day for me," the manager of the Peterborough electric department said. "The opening of the new sub-station is a dream that I have long looked forward to. I started here in a little frame building across the river where there was developed 150 horse power and I have been in an administrative capacity in this work until now I can announce to you 5,000 horse power spread to all parts of the city. I believe you gentlemen will find a way to finance further reconstruction work that we should have done."

One of the greatest tasks the department has had in Peterborough was the establishment of the entire community on a meter basis. The people thought they enjoyed a flat rate, and it was a hard job to install all the meters, but in about two years' time the work was done. Then it was found that the meter system is the fairest, most equitable and most economical way of selling electricity. Citizens are now using electrical appliances in awaycecsecs before thought of.

"Another advantage in the reconstructed plant," Mr. Fisk continued, "is that whereas formerly we bought and distributed a lot of energy that we never got paid for, this will now be saved. It was spent in the form of heat in the wires. The wires were too small—the transformers were overloaded—and old things in the way of construction put up before 1900 contributed toward the loss. Today the losses have been reduced to a minimum—the old losses have been turned into cash."

The manager congratulated the commission on the loyalty of the staffs of the departments and said the employees are proud of the commission's loyalty to them. "As an engineer I have purchased almost all material without interference from you and I have a breadth of liberty few others similarly placed enjoy. I don't think that liberty has been abused."

"Our meter plant is one of the best if not the best in Ontario, according to the chief inspector of meters. The next problem we must confront is that of better street lighting. We have now a station in which to locate the proper street lighting equipment, but it would be poor business to construct an up-to-date street lighting system on poles that would last only a few years. In the meantime street lighting is undergoing certain changes, and I doubt very much if we would instal today the system we would gladly have accepted five years ago. We may profit by the experience of others, and we may not be altogether losing by postponing this work.

We have a complete double switching service in the new station, and aim to give service without interruption. Lightning and sleet storms we have no control over, but we are better equqipped to combat them. We have the best lightning breakers and grounding equipment procurable.

The electric service is becoming more exacting every day. Ten years ago we would have had no trouble in shutting down on a Saturday afternoon or all day on Sunday, but now it is almost impossble to cut off the service twenty minutes. When the power is closed off it may interrupt a hospital operation or X-ray work of great importance. Some of the factories in the city cannot be cut off five minutes in the week."

Splendid service had been taken from the "old trash" with which the service has been carried on until this time, Mr. Fisk said. "We have added to it until we have tripled the output it was intended to give."

E. H. D. Hall.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for the Utilities Commission, recalled the days before the regime of the commission when he was a director of the company which handed over to it. His connection with the commission and the commissioners has always been of the most pleasant, and he congratulated the present commission on the work represented in the culmination of the sub-station plans.

S. R. Armstrong.

Mr. Armstrong called attention to some good work done by the old water company, pointing out that pipes laid in 1882 are still giving good service and probably will for forty more years. The commission deserves credit, he thinks, for keeping the electric rates where they are. The rates were based on the assumption that a certain price would be paid for the electric plant, but when the plant was taken over the city had to pay considerably more. In spite of that the commission went on with the rates as originally planned. Then the Hydro Electric Power Commission increased the rates to the city, but still the commission continued the old rate. "The members of the commission have all been capable men, and have given their best ability and earnest attention to giving the citizens the best service possible."

Alderman Walter Stocker

Alderman Stocker, representing the Fire, Water and Light committee of the city council, of which he is chairman, said he realized the difficulty in street lighting, and assured the commission that his committee will co-operate in working in the best interests of the city. "You have practiced economy," he said, "and the council as a whole has confidence in you."

The sub-station was a real necessity, Alderman Stocker thought, and the city should realize it has an up-to-date plant and good value for the money expended.

Roland Denne.

Mr. Denne, representing the Board of Education and speaking for the Exhibition Board of which he is President, said in his ten years' service on the former and six years as president of the latter he had had much to do with the Utilities branches of the city and had always been courteously treated. Messrs. Fisk, Beatty and Henderson had given him great assistance.

He congratulated the commission on the work done with the "old junk heap" and wished every success in the running of the up-to-the-minute new plant.

George Giroux.

Mr. Giroux, chairman of the Separate School Board in thanking Mr. Hicks for the entertainment said there were usually numbers of people opposed to the chairman of the utilities commission but in the end they found Mr. Hicks' ideas were right.

George Henderson.

Mr. Henderson, accountant for the utilities commission, represented the office staff of both electrical and water departments. In 1914, he said, there were 1200 customers on meter and 1300 on flat rates, using electricity, and 3800 water customers, in the city. Today there are 11,000 customers. Notwithstanding this growth the office staff has been increased by only one and is now the same size as the staff of the old company. The excellent system maintained in the office is responsible for this record.

Congratulations General

Other present were Ross L. Dobbin, superintendent of the waterworks department, who spoke shortly; Henry G. Beatty, foreman electrician, and O. R. Thompson, Hydro engineer.

Congratulations were general yesterday on completion of the sub-station, and the commissioners rest content that they have given the people of the city a first class plant. The building will be open to the public this evening and tonight and tomorrow, and during this time the power will not be turned on, so that it will be perfectly safe for anyone to walk through the entire plant. Much of interest is to be seen, and the machines will be explained to visitors in non-technical language. To assist in an understanding of the plant, which is situated at the corner of Aylmer and Sherbrooke streets on a lot owned by the commission, the following description is given by courtesy of Mr. Fisk:

A very substantial building, 70 x 38 with a railway annex of 30 x 38 has been erected, constructed of red pressed brick with a substantial concrete foundation. This is where all power, industrial, commercial and domestic is distributed from.

In this building will be received electrical energy from the Central Ontario System, over a line coming direct from Healey Falls to Auburn. This line has a capacity in itself considerably greater than the entire city uses at the present time. Also another line coming up from Port Hope, which really comes from Trenton and other points on the lower Trent, bringing in an amount of energy equal if required to the other line. This is at 44,000 volts and it goes without saying that energy at this pressure cannot be used without transformation, and that is really the function of this distributing station. In addition to this there is an emergency line connecting with the Hydraulic Power Company and also an indirect connection through Auburn with the Canadian General Electric power house, as well as the Auburn power house, which has a capacity of 2,500 h.p., more or less, according to the flow of the river. The energy received here after passing the high tension lightning arrestors, which are of the oxide type, is fed to three large transformers, each one having a capacity of 2,000 hp.., at 44,000 volts and is transformed down to 2,300. This 2,300 volt energy is then fed to either one of two large bus bar systems. The main bus carries the measuring apparatus and all the distributing circuit breakers and is situated in the main room, or the control room of the house, which is facing Aylmer street. The circuit breakers are all equipped with disconnecting switches on either side of them, so that in the event of a switch becoming defective in any way it can be immediately cut out and is then quite safe to go into and make immediate repairs, although this is hardly necessary as there is an emergency bus system situated in the basement of the building into which any circuit can be thrown while the switch first mentioned is being repaired. Therefore, it might be said that this house is really a double switching outfit.

The railway annex contains a fine street railway unit, manufactured by the Canadian General Electric Company, consisting of one 1,500 killowat alternating synchronous motor and exciter, which is directly coupled to a 500 killowat direct current generator of 500 killowat capacity, which will handle the railway. This is a very high grade machine of the interpole type and does not show any sparking at the brushes from no load to full load, or considerably over. The synchronous motor will be used for the power factor correction. This is a rather difficult matter to explain in a way that would be intelligible to the layman, However, it might be said that a line running under low power factor is loaded up with idle current, which really uses up the capacity of the line and apparatus without doing useful work. In other words it is current out of phase with voltage. By exciting the fields of this synchronous motor in a certain way this power factor correction can be made, and as the commission is penalized on power factor when it is below 90%, it is expected that this saving will amount to anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000 per year. There will also be another very great saving in receiving the energy at 44,00 volts instead of 6,600 as at the present time. This saving of energy will also amount to several thousand dollars in the course of a year.

Fireproof Throughout.

The new sub-station is fire proof throughout, being constructed entirely of concrete, steel and brick. The walls of the control room and the railway annex have been tinted buff with a tan colour dado. The floors are light gray and long lengths of rubber matting have been placed where the switching requires to be done.

The station lighting is developed with the latest and most effective type of lamps and reflectors. Two large brackets grace the front door and add materially to the convenience of approaching the building at night. In fact the Utilities Commission have reason to feel justly proud of this splendid and effective building, which is large enough to accomodate the electrical needs of the City of Peterborough for many years to come.

The large transformers were made by the Packard Electric Company at St. Catharines and all of the switching apparatus was made and installed by the Canadian General Electric Company. The people voted $150,000 for the carrying out of this work, which it is gratifying to note has been successfully done for $20,000 less than the above mentioned sum.

New "Styling" Model for medium to full figures. Low top, deep elastic gores in front extend below waist line and create the natural figure effect. Long skirt with inserts in back. Elastic bands at side to control thigh flesh. Pink coutil; sizes 22 to 36; $6.50.

CHANGE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

For Women who Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that everything would get black and I could not see. I would sit and cry and did not know what I was crying for. Since I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework for a family of seven now. I will be glad to answer any woman who writes me in regard to my case."—Mrs. JOHN MYERS, 55 Union St., Greenville, Pa.

Many letters similar to this have been published testifying to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They are sincere expressions from women who describe as best they can their feelings before and after taking this well-known medicine.

NO MORE WEAK and DIZZY SPELLS Since She Used MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Miss Bertha Charrette, Regina, Sask., writes: "I have had a lot of trouble lately, with what I thought was heart trouble, and after my unusual exertion I always felt sick.

My doctor advised a complete rest and change, but this I was unable to take.

I became interested in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so started taking them. I have now taken three boxes and am so much improved I can go about my daily work without feeling any after ill effects, and have not had any weak or dizzy spells for some time. Your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever taken, and I will gladly recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to any woman who is weak and run down."

Postal Employees Have Assurance of Attention.

TORONTO, April 24. Canadian Press. — In conversation with Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, over the long distance telephone last night, G. R. Jackson, the chairman of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employes, was informed that the Civil Service Commission had been dealing with the upward revision of salaries all day. The Minister also informed the Federation that the commission will conclude its deliberations to-day and has promised to wire its decision to Mr. Jackson immediately.

History of Station From Its Inception

The construction of the new sub-station was proposed early last year and was voted on by the people on March 21, 1923.

There were 693 votes cast for the project and 171 against, a majority in favor of 522.

The sub-station was proposed to cost $150,000. It as announced yesterday that it has cost $20,000 less than this sum.

The Commission promised that the new station would not raise the rates to the citizens or affect taxes.

Erection had been previously authorized in 1915 at $50,000. Later, $25,000 was added, and last year the vote of the people brought the total to $150,000.

The building will be open to the public from 7 o'clock tonight.

NEW POWER UNITS AT CAMERON FALLS

Tenders Will Be Called Shortly For Construction of Units 5 and 6 — Total Then 72,000 H.P.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 23.—Announcement is made here that tenders will shortly be invited for the construction of units No. 5 and 6 in the Cameron Falls Power development on the Nipigon River. This will bring the total development at twelve thousand per unit to seventy-two thousand, the full capacity of the power house at that point, and exceeding by far the most optimistic estimates of Sir Adam Beck of a few years ago when he was criticized by some for embarking on such an ambitious power programme in this district. Units Number three and four are now in course of construction.

When the 72,000 h.p. is found insufficient to supply the demands of Port Arthur, Fort William and district, new developments will have to be transferred to some other point on the river.

Arrest Stock Salesmen In Toronto For Fraud.

TORONTO, April 24. — Canadian Press. — Wanted in Picton, Ont., on charges of obtaining $10,080 by fraud Charles Wallace and Percy Jarvis, stock salesmen, were arrested last night at 321 Jarvis street.

The accused, the police said, operated under the name of the Financial Corporation, with office at 132 Bay street.

The money is alleged to have been secured by the sale in Picton of unlisted securities.

Jarvis formerly lived in Picton.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

USE BRAN.

Bran may be used in place of soap for washing cretonnes and coloured fabrics. And if articles are rinsed in bran water instead of clear, they will take up enough starch to give the appearance of a new fabric.

of their coming test pieces—the "Lustspiel Overture" and the "Fidelio" number—also the martial "Coronation" March, and some of the Faust music. They have a complete change of programme every evening.

The Minstrels

Music of a different but also very popular order was rendered by Alex. Dick's group of minstrels. After the orchestral concert was finished, these gentlemen gathered for a little impromptu concert of their own. During the evening, they added much to the carnival-like nature of the scene by their untiring efforts to amuse the crowd, who joined in the community singing, led by Mr. Dick, and purchased the song sheets which the energetic group dispensed for the sum of two bits. In black face, in clown's makeup of red and white, in masks that effectually concealed their identity from a curious throng, the minstrels, all members of the Kiwanis Club, circulated through the crowd, led by Alex. Dick, as a big darky, with kinky poll, black face, and a gorgeous costume of red and blue and orange. Joe Wearing was another ebony negro, in resplendent attire of white and blue, his coal-black countenance surmounted by a mandarin's round hat. Other spectacular figures included a romantic old-fashioned gallant, with tall hat and tight clothes and curled love-locks about his handsome countenance, a hula dancer in shredded-wheat skirt and several clowns. Members of the group included Messrs. Alex. Dick, Billy Williams, Carl McLean, Bob Mackey, Jack Marshall, Harry Huffman, Jack McKone, Walter Byers, and Joe Wearing. Another impressive figure in the assemblage also was that of J. H. Seels, in black frock coat, black trousers and high black hat, his chest emblazoned with a yellow bandolier that drew attention to the Midway in the south-west gallery. Here a combined Rotary-Kiwanis House of Mirth was patronized by large and hilarious crowd of men, women and children. The Examiner scribe spent considerable time in this section of the building, and was very much impressed by the entertainment, so much so that words almost fail in attempting to describe its manifold attractions. Laughter, loud and long, greets one from every side, no matter whether one lingers beside the imperturbable smoking lady in the corner, or pays a visit to Dr. Charlie Cook's sanctum, or braves the terror of the deep in regarding the mammoth salt-water monster enclosed safely in a corner room. Mr. James Lynch was one of the patrons of the cure-all physician last evening, and seemed much impressed by the treatment. As for the much-heralded Art Gallery, it came quite up to expectations, and even surpassed them. Mirth was rampant here also, but there are touches of pathos about the pictures that cause some thoughtful consideration. This was apparent in the case of one portrait from life, of "The Wearied Grinder" and "Reminiscences of Childhood," also in the collection of curios on view. There was a homely touch to the "Instantaneous Kid Reviver" that would be appreciated by all, and matter for thought in the delineation of "The Grub That Makes the Butterfly."

"Bonaparte," a portrait, is a striking picture. Suffice it to say, that the Rotary-Kiwanis Midway is all, and more, than has been claimed for it, there has been a great deal of hard work and ingenuity expended in the preparation of a series of laughable attractions, and no one should miss seeing it as a part of the Motor Show good times. J. H. Seels, representing the Rotary Club, and George Henderson, for the Kiwanis organization, have charge of the Midway. Gentlemen assisting at the various attractions last eveing included Frank Linton, Charlie Cook, Dr. J. J. Craig, J. Jeffries, Walter Oke and J. Allen, W. R. Morris, V. J. McElderry, Jerry McClelland and Joe Kennealley.

In the band room at the other end of the western gallery, devotees of the light fantastic tripped and trotted in large numbers throughout the evening. The Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., have the dance, with Miss Gladys Patterson as convenor. Music last evening was supplied by a three-piece orchestra, with Ken Blood at the piano, George Logan at the saxaphone, and Ted McCarthy at the drums.

Various Attractions

Downstairs, girls from the flower-booth plied their arts on the crowd, with such good effect that every buttonhole and lapel bore the insignia of the Motor Show, the gay pink roses or white carnation. The flower-booth makes a brilliant entrance, with its pretty floral blooms and the bright rose-pink and black criss-cross pattern of its decoration, bronze oak leaves forming an over head fringe in effective arrangement.

The 57th Regimental Chapter, I.O.D.E., with Mrs. J. Holmes as convenor, has the flower-booth. Just opposite, in the cavalry room at the right of the main entrance, is the rose-paper decorated section of the Otonabee Chapter, where Pink Roses dot the little tables for service of high tea and afternoon tea, the latter served through afternoon and evening hours. The regent, Mrs. H. Stinson, is convenor here, assisted by Mrs. C. A. White, Mrs. G. L. Stevens, Mrs. C. S. Cummer and Mrs. G. M. Reazin.

Down the long line of booths, there are many attractions, and much of interest to the seeker for fun or for something wherewithal to solace the inner man. Under the orchestra stand is the big booth of the Catholic Women's League, with Mrs. C. Snider, the president, in charge, and Mrs. Emmet Cronin as convenor. This is a pretty section, with its decorations of green lattice-work and cherry blossoms, one may purchase home-madecooking,coffee doughnuts, soft drinks, gum, or cigarettes, or packaged teas and coffees, over its counters. Next door, surmounted by the familiar Blue Triangle, is the very fetching orange and black booth of the Young Women's Christian Association, in charge of Mrs. Reg. H. Turner, with assistants in the Misses M. Elliott, L. Brownscombe and C. Littlefield. Orange and black streamers are suspended from a huge overhead yellow ball and the same colors decorate Indian clubs and outline the display of 'Y' literature and posters.

Farther along, the Thursday Club sells ice cream, at a tiny red-frilled and white-papered section, ornamented with gay green balloons. The president, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, is in charge here, the decorations carried out by Mrs. W. H. Hill and Miss Hugel. Mome-made candy is sold by the Business Girls' Club, in charge of Mrs. D. Drummond, convenor, at a booth ornamented with black and white crepe paper and small bird cutouts, the candy in small black and white boxes and miniature red automobiles.

The lottery booth, in red, white and blue, where Alex. Dick's booming voice did good service in announcements, has a splendid collection of useful articles, including big fat bags of flour, hams, boxes of chocolate, luncheon kits, automobile tires and alarm clocks, silk parasols and beaten brass plates. Mrs. A. H. Stratton and Mrs. C. G. Graham have charge of this section.

At the western end, is the small tent of the King's Daughters, where the president, Mrs. N. H. Sutton, is in charge of the 'bran pie' surprise tubs.

Exhibits of Interests

Sandwiched in between the various refreshment and amusement booths were various exhibits, including a Canadian Lever Springs showing; a collection of handsome motor rugs from J. J. Turner and Sons' stock; a blue and white stall with Ford accessories on view; a yellow and purple section devoted to a display of electric washing-machines, in charge of Miller, Powell and Watson; a Hoover Vacuum Cleaner exhibit from Cressman's store, in connection with the selling campaign of the Hoover people going on here now; and a spotless little booth in red and white, where white-clad nurses from the Nicholls and St. Joseph's Hospital staffs are in attendance to explain all about the Peterboro' Health Association, whose two nurses, Miss G. Peat and Miss M. Condon, are in charge.

The Main Feature

Along the side walls are the main exhibits of the big show, coming last but not by any means least, in the cars that make the Motor Show so successful. A touch of contrast is lent the big machines by the lavish use of green ferns and the little box alders that form a prim and attractive note in the decorations this year. Ranged in line, there are many large and expensive cars. The Ford people have probably the distinction of carrying the lowest-priced and the highest-priced cars in the entire showing, as their line ranges all the way from the small Ford coupe to the new big Lincoln, priced at $6,050. The little, modest Ford tractor also occupies a position in a corner, and the small brown Teddy Bear that entertained arriving visitors last year with his agility in demonstrating a sunbbber still continues to do his share in adding to the general joy of life.

In blacks and blues and fawns and browns, the big, glistening cars invite closer inspection. Their upholstering and mechanism and general finish is the very latest word in motor luxury, and their general effect is complete and beautiful. Among the exhibits are the new Gray Dorts, the Chevrolet and Hudson, the Super Six and the Essex, the Reo, the Packard with its distinctive blue, the Studebaker, the Hupmobile, making its initial appearance in Peterboro', in the rear section at the west end, where the Dodge and the Star and the Durant also repose in luxurious seclusion; the Chrysler Six, another new arrival, also in odd blue finish, the Maxwell and the Chalmers, the McLaughlin and the Oldsmobile and the Overland. Those who wish to purchase a new car have every variety at their convenience, with demonstrators ready to point out the fine points in each, and those who come to admire, not to buy, may well delight in the splendid showing of every type of car, in sedans and coupes and limousines, in coaches and touring and sport models.

Also, there are various small exhibits in cacessories, the Gill Rebound Controllers, the Goodrich tubes.

Added Attraction

This afternoon and evening and tomorrow afternoon, an added attraction is the I.O.D.E. card tables in the recreation room. Tonight also, when the very biggest attendance of the three days is anticipated, there will be an entire change of musical programme and plenty of fun and frolic in every section of the big building, with excellent prizes at door and lottery booth. As the drawing for prizes takes place sharp at half-past nine o'clock every evening, the gentleman in charge are desirous of having patrons stay and take away their prizes. Last night, none were claimed.

The men who work so untiringly for months ahead in preparation for this event and whose endeavors have brought success to the Motor Show in previous years include the members of the Advisory Committee of the Red Cross Association, who, with the co-operation of the motor dealers of the city, put on the Show for the benefit of the Peterboro' Health Association. W. R. Breyfogle is chairman of the Booth and Space Committee; D. R. Wrenn, chairman of the Premiums Committee; A. L. Killaly, chairman of the Attractions Committee; F. L. Roy, chairman of the Advertising Committee; George Macdonald chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Red Cross Society; G. H. Thompson and E. J. H. Vanston are in charge of the Ticket Committee, and Mr. Andrew Brown supervised the parade.

Mr. Field assumed his new title yesterday.

Mayor Turner Tells Great Appreciation

His Worship Mayor Turner to-day expressed his great pleasure in the result of the presentation of the Canadian General Electric Company by-law yesterday. "I fully realized," he told The Examiner, "the responsibilities of the office to which I was elected in January, and requested the co-operation of the citizens, and their support to enable me to carry on successfully. The first opportunity for the expression of this co-operation was given in the extension by-law of the Canadian General Electric Company, and right well the electors responded, carrying the by-law by a splendid majority."

On behalf of himself, the members of the City Council, and the city officials, His Worship asked The Examiner to convey his thanks to the citizens.

The University of Paris was founded by King Philip II about 1200.

"The greatest menace to American progress is divorce. Many of the foremost thinkers and theologians of the age are sounding a warning note that unless the divorce evil is curbed, the sanctity of the American home will be a thing of the past. The ease with which divorces are secured is almost a glorification of infidelity. No nation is stronger than its morals.

"Marriage is the most sacred thing in the world. Unless the observing of the marriage ties is viewed with a sacred thought, our nation cannot live. In the past our forefathers gave no thought to divorce. When they married they married for life. The sacredness of the marriage bond has been responsible for the great strides and progress of the Anglo-Saxon race in the past. The immoral nation dies and unless we put our shoulders to the wheel and weed this great red-tongued monster, divorce, out of our lives, our nation cannot help but sink into the abysmal depths of oblivion."

Dr. LeMoyne, who is sounding a clarion call to all ministers and ministerial bodies to curb the divorce evil, recommended that everyone go to see Chester Bennett's production of "Divorce," which will be the attraction at the Royal Theatre for three days, starting to-day.

LIQUOR PURCHASES HAD BIG INCREASE

Total Amount Paid in 1923 to Government Dispensaries Was $4,840,875

TORONTO, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—Ontario public's purchases during the fiscal year 1923 from Government liquor dispensaries totalled $4,840,875, an increase over last year's sales of $636,614. The number of prescriptions and requisitions handled was 784,444, an increase of 77,800 over the number for the previous year. The revenue for the Province from the Temperance Act, including fines collected, totalled $449,163, and an additional total of $414,776 was returned to municipalities as the fines received on account of prosecutions within their borders. Liquor dispensaries paid into the Provincial Treasury out of their profits the sum of $850,000. The total of $5,704,815 was paid by the Province's citizens during the year under the Act.

This data, together with the statement that the liquor dispensaries, are: Since the accession of the present Government doing business on the reduced rate of profit, constitute high lights in the annual report of the Board of License Commissioners, which was made available yesterday at the Parliament Buildings. As a document it is as comprehensive and interesting as usual, being, in fact, an abstract of the legal liquor traffic carried on in the Province during the past year.

HON. MEIGHEN'S FATHER IS IN VERY BAD HEALTH

OTTAWA, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen's father, who has been in ill-health for some time, was taken suddenly worse yesterday and is not expected to recover.

He is in his seventh-ninth year, and spent most of his life at St. Mary's.

His Mirror Told Him of Exhausted Condition

Mr. R. Paulin, Toutes Aides, Man., writes:

"I became so run down and weak that my heart became affected, and I would sometimes have to remain in bed for several days.

Some one advised me to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I did, and soon began to gain in weight and feel better. I have taken a great many boxes of these wonderful pills, and am feeling ten years younger. Dr. Chase's Medicines, as well as his Receipt Book, are a great help to us, for we live 40 miles from doctors and railroads."

READING POUNDS LEAF PITCHERS FOR 19 HITS

Toronto's Talent Is Not Stingy — Hoblitzell Collected Six Hits During the Slaughter—Rochester Win First Game in Baltimore Series.

READING, Pa., April 24 (Canadian Press). — Reading pounded five Toront, pitchers for 19 hits and won the opening game of the series, 13 to 8. Lightner, Kirkham and Onslow hit home runs. Dick Hoblitzell had a perfect day at bat, getting six singles in as many times at bat. The score:

Reading	00631111x—13	19	2

Thomas, Graser, Lynch, Faulkner, Satterfield, and Vincent; Smallwood, and Haley, Lynn.

NEWARK'S NEW PITCHER.

NEWARK, N.J., April 24 (Canadian Press). — Michael Brown, former Pittsburgh pitcher, was the hero in the Bears' 8 to 5 victory over Syracuse in the first game of a series here yesterday. It was his first appearance in Newark livery, and after a stormy first inning, he was invincible. His triple in the eighth inning was one of the longest hits ever made at Meadowbrook Field. The score:

Newark	10011203x—	8	13 0

Pierrotti, Barnes and McKee; Brown and Devine.

HUSTLERS UNBEATEN.

BALTIMORE, April 24 (Canadian Press). — Rochester took the opener from Baltimore here yesterday, 15 to 8. Groves, who started for Baltimore, was ineffective, and was yanked in the first frame after Rochester had gathered a four-run lead. Frank and Ogden, who followed him, were unable to check the Hustlers in the pinches. The Orioles found Wisner a puzzle for four innings, but after this solved his shoots and forced his retirement in the seventh. Karpp succeeded him and held the locals safe. The score:

Baltimore	001013300—	8	12 3

SLUGGING MATCH.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., April 24 (Canadian Press). — Terrific batting inaugurated the initial series of the Buffalo team in the home of the Jersey City Skeeters yesterday afternoon, and earned George Wiltse's players an easy victory over the Jersey men by a score of 16 to 2. The Bisons hammered the curves of Pitchers Barnhardt and Leplant for 20 soft hits, including a double, a pair of triples, and a homer by Anderson in the ninth with two men on bases. The score:

Jersey City	200000000—	2	7 0

Biemiller and McAvoy; Barnhardt, Leplant and Freitag.

YANKS ARE COMING.

NEW YORK, April 24 (Canadian Press). — The New York Yankees opened the American League season here yesterday with an easy victory from Boston by a score of 13 to 4. Pennock had no difficulty in holding the Red Sox in check, while the Yankees knocked out Ehmke in three innings, and continued to pile up the runs on Fuhr and Howe, his successors. Ruth had a homer, double and single.

New York	21213004x—13	15	2

Ehmke, Fuhr, Howe and O'Neill; Pennock and Bengough.

SIX IN ONE INNING.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (Canadian Press). — The Philadelphia Americans opened their home season yesterday with a 6 to 4 victory over Washington. The game was a pitchers' battle until the seventh, when Marberry weakened, and the locals scored all six of their runs. The score:

Philadelphia	00000060x—	6	11 0

Marberry, Speece, and Ruel, Hargrave; Heimach, Harris and Perkins.

Benny Leonard May Buy Statue

NEW YORK, April 24 (Canadian Press). — Benny Leonard is willing to buy a statue, if necessary, to preserve his good luck in the ring.

Diana is the lightweight champion's good omen, and his faith in her was disclosed yesterday when he made a bid to purchase the figure of the goddess of the chase atop the tower of Madison Square Garden, historic arena, which is to be razed to make way for a business skyscraper.

Leonard asserted he had always made it a point to get a look at Diana before going into the Garden ring, and that invariably she had brought him good luck.

If his bid is accepted, the titleholder said he would make every effort to place the statue "where everyone could appreciate its beauty and where it will preserve 'my luck.'"

Marathon Race Burns Up Sugar

BOSTON, April 24.—The introduction of sugar into the system before or during a marathon race or similar gruelling physical test may increase the endurance of the athlete physicians who examined contestants in last week's marathon here before and after the race announced last night. Blood tests disclosed that the sugar content of the blood decreased considerably during the contest.

The physicians professed astonishment that the sugar content in the blood could become so low and the system endure it. In hospital cases where a similar condition of hypoglycemia, or lack of sugar, is found to exist, sugar is administered to save the life of the patient. This phenomenon, the physicians said, is the result of Insulin shock in the treatment of diabetes.

OSHAWA UNEASY ABOUT GROUNDS

Ball Team Has Not Yet Been Given Dates and the Management Object to Splitting Gates.

OSHAWA, April 24. — At the present time the local C.O.B.L. Association is like a fish out of water. They have rounded out a team which appears to be the strongest years. They are all set for the coming season and have penant aspirations but the Parks Board have not yet allotted them Alexander Park for their games. Several clubs conflict with games which are being played here every Saturday through the summer and at the present time the club officials have very high expenses to meet in connection with the operation of the team. They do not feel anxious in splitting the gates as they are now forced to hand over twenty per cent. of the receipts to the Parks Boards, six per cent. to war tax department and five per cent. to the O.B.A.A. Facing these facts it looks as if the organization is in for a tough season.

These percentages are outside the inside operating expenses including gatemen, ticket sellers, police protection, travelling expenses, equipment groundmen and other incidentals which aggregate an astounding figure.

U.S. RUGBY TEAM LOSE FIRST GAME

Defeated By Blackheath Before Big Crowd But It Was a Narrow Victory.

LONDON, April 23.—The United States Olympic rugby football team was defeated by Blackheath at Paddington to-day, 13 to 9.

The match, which was played on the grounds of the old Merchant Tailors' school here, was the first of two which the United States team is scheduled to play in the vicinity of London. It was a narrow victory for the Blackheath players who scored two placed goals and one penalty goal, equalling 13 points, against three tries, equalling 9 points.

Blackheath found their opponents tough adversaries and only in the last two inutes of play did they pull the match out of the fire after being behand throughout the game. In the first half, C. Slater and H. Slater scored tries in forward rushes for the United States team, and C. Slater added another try early in the second half.

Rugby experts agree that great speed and strength are the chief assets of the United States players. They say that the United States forwards, while showing little ability to heel, were fast in following and knew how to tackle, but the backs did little handling.

T. Lawson, an Oxford "Blue" did most of the scoring for Blackheath. A big crowd witnessed the game.

AUTO-SUGGESTION AS A MEANS OF HEALING

Prof. Andre Marcel Gives Lecture and Demonstration of Methods Made Famous by Coue

Apparently Peterboro people were more interested last night in the Auto Show than in auto-suggestion. Barely a score or two turned out at the Grand to hear the lecture on the practical use of suggestion and auto-suggestion for self-healing by Prof. Marcel Andre, of Paris, France, whose address and demonstration were most helpfully interesting.

Prof. Andre, who has been lecturing on the subject for over twenty years and who has been most successful as a teacher of practical psycho ogy and of the methods of self-healing by suggestion, based on the same principles as the original French schools, which have earned such a remarkable reputation for Monsieur Emile Coue, is an eloquent speaker, with a pleasing stage presence and a descriptive power that made his illustrations of the various principles laid down by him most impressive.

His lecture commenced with an explanation by the speaker of the power of the mind to control every part and every organ of the body, an explanation effectively illustrated by the speaker by many everyday examples. By direct suggestion or auto-suggestion it was therefore possible, Professor Andre claimed, to always relieve pain and to permanently relieve it in cases of headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and other similar ailments.

Headache, he declared, could be cured in a few minutes if the sufferer would simply sit down in a comfortable chair, relax, close his eyes, and repeat to himself that the pain was going away, that the throbbing was ceasing, etc.

It was possible, through auto-suggestion, to sway young just as it was possible for people to make themselves get older by constantly suggesting to themselves that they were looking old, that their hair was turning grey, that their faces were becoming wrinkled. "Just look into your mirror a few mornings and say to yourself that you are getting wrinkles under your eyes, and you'll soon have more wrinkles," said the speaker.

Professor Andre laid down several important health principles. The first was not to worry. "More people are killed each year by mental worry than by cancer and tuberculosis," he declared. A second was, as a man or woman thinks so he or she becomes. Fear and anger, more especially fear, did immense harm, and the Professor warned his hearers that if there was an epidemic raging, the worst thing they could do was to get frightened. If they did they would most certainly get the disease, he stated.

Professor Andre dealt for some time with Dr. Coue's remarkable sentence: "Day by day, in every way, I am getting better and better." and advised his hearers to repeat it over twenty times each night just before they dropped of to sleep, promising steady improvement in their condition if they did so.

Healing by practical psychology was not a substitute for doctors or surgeons. If he had dyspepsia or typhoid fever or anything of that kind, he would be the first to seek medical assistance. But it would cure many complaints, such as sleeplessness, stammering, St. Vitus dance, asthma, nervous breakdowns, and self-consciousness, functional paralysis, weak eyes, neurasthenia, constipation, nervous dyspepsia, and some forms of goitre.

By the applications of the principles of practical pyschology it was possible to overcome many forms of intemperance, the drug habit, etc., and to help in the education and improvement of difficult or deficient children.

One man, wheeled into the opera house in a chair, said that he had been suffering from chronic rheumatism for three years, and informed the lecturer that he was at that moment suffering from pains in his knees.

Professor Andre informed him that it would not be possible to immediately relieve the stiffness in his limbs, but promised that he would at once relieve him of all pain by direct suggestion.

The sufferer was told to close his eyes, and the demonstrator, stroking the man's knees, kept repeating that the pain was leaving, was all gone now, etc. At the end of three minutes the subject was told to open his eyes, whereupon he declared that the pain had gone.

To the Examiner afterwards he declared, as he departed happily for his home, that there was sure no sign of pain and that for the first time in three years he was not suffering.

A general test, in which the Professor sought to show how easily vision could be improved, resulted in eleven of the audience declaring that they could see better than before.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS DEMANDS ATTENTION

Canada Should Be Interested in What the League is Doing—Sir George Foster Will Tell Peterboro' To morrow

Anyone interested in the League of Nations, and everyone in Canada should be interested in the League, not only on account of the work it is doing to foster world-wide peace conditions, but also on account of the expenditure which it has already entailed on the Dominion, in the way of secretarial and other expenses, should make a note of hearing the Rt. Hon. Sir George E. Foster, G.C.M.G., who speaks on the League and its work, at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow evening.. The address begins at half-past seven o'clock, in order to give those in attendance a chance to patronize the Motor Show, where Sir George will also speak briefly at nine o'clock.

Since its inception, the League of every family in Canada) when they task it has undertaken, and its far-distant location from our own Dominion, has been to the majority of people, probably not much more than an idealistic experiment. But when people realize to the full the benefits that may accrue from co-operation with the League, when they remember that the after cost of war to Canada for this year alone will be $56,729,400, or over one million dollars a week (in round figures representig nearly one dollar a week for every family in Canada) when tey realize how the cost of insurance against war, being Canada's total contribution to the League per year of $198,688, or less than four thousand dollars a week, compares with the terrible cost of war in money and manhood to the Dominion, then Canadians will wake up to the fact that an intelligent comprehension of, and co-operation in, the workings of the League, is a duty owing their country and the world.

Sir George Foster is a cultured and eloquent speaker, wtih a broad grasp of his subject, and a pleasant method of imparting knowledge to his hearers. He will be worth listening to, to-morrow evening.

PEPALL DENIES HE SPLIT WITH SMITH

Worked On Commission For Bond Company — With Peter Smith He Used to Sell Lighting Apparatus to Farmers.

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 24 (Canadian Press).—Andrew Pepall, who received a commission of $12,500 from Aemilius Jarvis and Company, Toronto bond dealers, to "influence" the Ontario government bond business in the direction of the Jarvis firm, according to evidence given before the Legislative public accounts committee, broke the silence last night after perusing the Toronto newspapers containing accounts of the treasury scandals.

In a statement, Mr. Pepall makes an absolute denial of the allegation that he "split" his commission with Hon. Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario.

Mr. Pepall was intensely interested in the newspaper reports of the evidence which he had just received from Toronto. He is an old friend of the former minister and told how they used to sell farm lighting apparatus together in earlier days. Pepall said he was engaged by the Jarvis firm on a commission basis to secure government business.

Predicts Dye Will Go to Majors Before July.

MONTREAL, April 23. — Pete Tarrand, who will manage the Canadiens' ball team this season, in the Quebec, Ontario and Vermont Baseball League, brings excellent reports from the south of "Babe" Dye, sharp shooter of the St. Patrick's professional hockey club, and member of the Buffalo International ball club.

He says that Dye went 'great guns' in the training this year, hitting hard and often. Ferrand states it is generally believed that Dye will be shot up to the big leagues before July.

Having too much money, or attaining sudden success in a big way, is dangerous. More often than not the rapid accumulation of wealth distorts the sense of values—makes one forget and neglect the things that once were cherished and treasured, and worship at the shrines of new found gods—gods whose feet usually prove basest clay.

While the rule holds good for both men and women, it applies even more strongly to men, for "love is of man's life a thing apart, 'tis woman's whole existence." At least so it proved in the Parker household, where Jane Parker soon after marriage had to begin a battle against wealth for her handsome husband's affections.

The Parkers, as told in the smashingly dramatic motion picture, "Divorce," starring Jane Novak, which is now playing at the Royal Theatre, were just like many other couples at the time they married. They had their own little love nest. Jim Parker was making a modest income—enough to keep them comfortable in their little house. They were supremely happy—happy with a joy that was climaxed in the birth of a beautiful baby boy.

Shortly after the birth of the baby Jim began to meet with success in business. So rapidly did he rise that he soon was accounted fairly well-to-do. And as his passion for accumulating money increased his love for his sweet young wife decreased. Where there had been love in a cottage there came indifference in a palace. Then came the other woman on the scene. Easy-going, likeable Jim was easy prey for her wiles. So tightly did she get him in her grip that he believed that divorce was the only solution.

But Jane wasn't the kind of a girl to give up that easily — good wives usually aren't. They love their men and they are willing to fight to keep them. Jane fought—fought for her husband and the father of her baby boy. And the battle she wages against the insidious forces that threatened her young husband's very existence forms a throbbing part of one of the most absorbing and entertaining screen dramas ever filmed.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER ADDRESSES BUSINESS MEN AT CAPITOL FRIDAY NIGHT

Capitol patrons are reminded that the theatre has been rented to the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night for an address by Sir George Foster. The usual picture program will be offered complete as usual to-night, Friday matinee and Saturday matinee and night.

JAMES CRUZE PICTURE, "THE FIGHTING COWARD," REAL ENTERTAINMENT

"The Fighting Coward," produced by the man who made "The Covered Wagon," James Cruze, and featuring Ernest Torrence, Mary Astor, Noah Beery, Phyllis Haver and Cullen Landis, opens at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

It's a story of a man and a young fellow who bluff everyone along the Mississippi, the idea being to convince folk that the youngster is about the most dangerous gunfighter thereabouts. And the whole thing is just one long thrill.

Cruze has established for himself a reputation of being the one director today who can take a screen story, in this case an adaptation by Walter Woods of the stage play, "Magnolia," by Booth Tarkington, and get out of it every possible element of humor. "The Covered Wagon," a tense western drama, as produced by Cruze had some of the finest comedy touches of anything ever made. And he's done even more with "The Fighting Coward."

Torrence is at his best in the character of Gen. Orlando Jackson, and Cullen Landis handles the leading man's role to perfection, while Noah Beery gives his usual excellent performance in a heavy role. Mary Astor and Phyllis Haver are well cast as the sisters, Elivira and Lucy.

And there's a thoroughly capable supporting cast.

AT THE REGENT

Presenting a remarkable cast of prominent screen celebrities, headed by the lovely and versatile Colleen Moore, "Through the Dark," a picturization of Jack Boyle's "Boston Blackie" story, "The Daughter of Mother McGinn," is one of the most grippingly thrilling and dramatic crook photoplays ever presented on the screen. The popularity of Miss Moore among screen fans, the excellence of the cast in her support, and the popularity of Jack Boyle's former pictures, including "The Face in the Fog," should guarantee "Through the Dark" as a box-office attraction of the first magnitude. It has been booked for the Regent Theatre for three days, beginning to-day.

The story deals in a most engrossing manner with crookdom and the way in which an ex-convict is led to follow the straight path. It is replete with dramatic thrills that follow in quick succession, and deals with a subject that all lovers of the silent drama enjoy.

HAS CANADA GOT NATIONAL ANTHEM

Inspector Kilburn Failed to See Any Harm in Having "O Canada" for the National Air.

TORONTO, April 24.—(Canadian Press).—Has Canada a National Anthem? That was the question argued at the inspector's section of the Ontario Educational Association yesterday afternoon. The discussion began when Inspector Kilburn moved that the Department of Education be asked to print in the school register or the reader an approved version of "O Canada." The resolution immediately met with opposition from Inspector Craig, who inquired why "O Canada" which, besides being French, was not particularly good, should be mentioned instead of "God Save the King" and "The Maple Leaf Foreevr."

Inspector Kilburn replied that "O Canada" was usually sung to-day, almost as often as "God Save the King."

As for being French, Mr. Kilburn failed to see any harm in that. He had French blood in his own veins and was proud of it.

Another speaker protested that "O Canada" was not a Canadian National Anthem. He described a visit to the Ottawa Exhibition, where he was poked in the back because he was the only person seated on the singing of "O Canada." It was proposed that the Government should be asked definitely to choose the National Anthem as it had just chosen the national flag. When another inspector attempted to speak about the conduct of the French-Canadians during the war, he was met with cries of "Forget it."

Compromising after considerable further discussion, the inspectors recommended that approved versions of both "O Canada" and "The Maple Leaf Forever" be placed in the registers and readers of schools.

FOUR ACCOUNTS TIE UP BANK'S PAYING POWERS

Said Home Bank Counsel in 1916—Did Not See How Bank Could Continue With Open Doors if Even a Few Depositors Asked For Money

HEARING PROCEEDS

OTTAWA, April 24.—(Canadian Press). — "The amount locked up indefinitely in four large accounts is probably three times the paid up capital and more than half the total deposits and if anything should take place which would cause a comparatively small percentage of the depositors to ask for their money, I do not see how the bank could, without assistance from outside, continue with open doors." Above is an extract from a letter written by Z. A. Lash, counsel for the Home Bank to James Fisher K.C., of Winnipeg, representing three western directors of that institution on February 29, 1916. The letter was read by W. T. Lee, counsel for the depositors when the investigation by Royal Commission into the affairs of defunct institution was resumed here this morning.

"I told Sir Thomas White that my main object since I learned in outline what the Bank's position was, has been to bring about a position, which, if the worst happened, would result in liquidation with open doors" the letter continues. "This can only be brought about by the assistance of the other banks." Production of the letter was the feature of a brief sitting of Royal Commission this morning, in the course of which it was pointed out by Counsel for the depositors that if the trial of the Home Bank directors was proceeded with in Toronto on Monday next, their evidence could not be taken by the Commission at present.

Discussion of this point was delayed pending receipt of definite information as to when the trial of the directors is to take place.

Commissioner McKeown informed the counsel that it was desirable to proceed as rapidly as possible in order that material gathered should be available for the banking and commerce committee of parliament. It was announced that Sir Thomas White would appear for examination this afternoon.

Dividend in Two Years

T. G. Clarkson, liquidator of Home Bank of Canada, stated in an interview in Toronto to-day, that the next dividend to depositors in the defunct institution would not be paid for two years.

GORDON PAMMETT.

The death occurred last night at 9 o'clock of Gordon Melville ("Dutch") Pammett, after a short illness. He was a member of All Saints' Church.

He was born at Young's Point, but has lived in this city for the past twelve years.

There are left to mourn his loss, besides a sorrowing wife, two sons, Gordon and Harold, also his mother and father, both residing in this city, three brothers, Robert, James, and Norman, all of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. Rev. J. D. Patterson, of All Saints' Church, will officiate.

WOODSWORTH PROPOSES UNEARNED INCOME TAX IN BUDGET AMENDMENT

Labor Member Would Substantially Reduce Tariff For Revenue Purposes and Transfer the Tax to Inheritances, Unimproved Land and Unearned Income—Conservative Challenges Government to Prove Actual Surplus of Thirty Millions.

WAGERS HIS SEAT IN HOUSE.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—When the Budget debate was resumed in the House Thursday afternoon, E. B. Ryckman, Conservative, East Toronto, characterized the Budget as misleading. It gave, he said, the false impression that Canada had at the end of the last fiscal year $30,000,000 to alleviate taxation and reduce the public debt.

The apparent surplus had been arrived at by giving a promise to pay to a subsidiary, the Canadian National Railways, which was not solvent. That it was insolvent was proved by the fact that the Minister of Railways had seriously proposed that Canada should cancel $400,000,000 of the railways debts and give it a fresh start.

The Government might just as well add their promissory note of $50,000,000, which it had given the National Railways to their supposed surplus, and make that surplus $80,000,000. As long as the railways were insolvent, Canada had no surplus, and would have to pay some time. The public debt was being pyramided and the people of Canada led to believe that it was being paid.

He complained, "and this was more serious," that the Prime Minister had gone back on promises, and had repudiated his responsibilities to the business interests of Canada.

Mr. Ryckman held that if Mr. Fielding had been in the House the present budget would not have been brought down. He quoted Mr. Fieldings promise last session of "tariff stability" and the comments made thereon, at the time, by the Prime Minister.

Offers to Resign.

Mr. Ryckman went on to deal with the question of the surplus, and offered to resign his seat in the firts place if any chartered accountant would certify, having regard to the present value of the guarantees given by the government to the Government Railways during 1923-24 that there was a real surplus of revenue over expenditure during that year. In the second place he offered to resign if Right Hon. W. S. Fielding would certify that he endorsed the Budget as brought down by Mr. Robb. Mr. Ryckman said he attached no condtion to the second challenge.

In regard to the first he imposed the condition that Hon. J. E. Sinclair or any other Liberal member who made the statement that there was a real surplus of 30 million dollars, should also accept the decision of the accountant.

For Whole Dominion.

E. W. Robinson (Liberal, King's N.S.) thought that the budget was legislation for the whole Dominion. There was still much to be done for the peculiar needs of the Maritime Provinces, but the citizens of those provinces realized that the needs of Canada as a whole came first.

The Maritime farmers had endeavored to reduce the cost of production but they were still compelled to do busness on a very small margin of profit. Any tariff change must do some injury to some industry. The changes made by the Government had done the least possible harm to a few and done the most possible for the majority.

SEVERAL MARINES SHOT IN HONDURAS

United States Force Landed Short Time Ago But Intervention Not Sought By Warring Factions.

SAN SALVADOR, April 25.—(Canadian Press)— Several United Marines have been killed in Honduras, according to advices received here.

An attache of the United States Consulate in Tegucigalpa is said to have proceeded to La Libertad, Salvador, a cable station, in order to communicate with the government in Washington.

A despatch from Amalapa says additional reinforcements for the provincial government forces, who are beseiged in Tegucigalpa, have managed to slip through the revolutionary lines and entered the capital.

Other despatches are to the effect that none of the political parties in Honduras cares to shoulder the responsibility of intervening with Sumer Welles, representing the United States Government, in an endeavor to bring about peace between the discordant factions.

United States Marines were landed some time ago and sent to Tegucigalpa, to represent the United States.

GREAT BRITAIN IS DEVELOPING HUGE AIR FLEET

After the War Italy Allowed Its Fleet to Degenerate and Now Realizes Error.

ROME, April 25. — (Canadian Press).—The 'Giornale D'Italia,' referring to the air armaments discussion in the British Parliament, in which Italy has been especially alluded to, declares that the alarm of other nations regarding Italian aircraft development is quite unjustified. In this connection it compares the sums expended annually by France and Great Britain with those expended by Italy, which appropriated only 220,000,000 lire in its last budget for an air fleet of 700 planes.

The newspaper also points out that France and Great Britain are developing strong commercial air fleets which will be powerful reserves in time of war, whereas Italy, it declares, possesses no air personnel outside of that attached to the military aviation arm.

Liquor Circular Posted to Jail

HULL, Que., April 25.—(Canadian Press). — Somebody thoughtlessly re-directed a letter addressed to Willie Cote, serving a jail sentence here, to the local jail, where it was opened.

"I can let you have thirty cases of 'essences' at twelve dollars a case if you want it," the letter read. Sheriff Isadore St. Pierre of Hull turned the letter over to Provincial Revenue Collector Pursell, who wired the sender, Z. X. Lambert of Montreal saying he would take the whiskey, but was unable to go himself, so was sending two messengers for it.

The telegram was signed "W. C." Two liquor commission operators called at the Montreal address where the whiskey was seized. Lambert was prosecuted, according to local police.

PREMIER SENDS PRESS TRIBUTE

Ramsay MacDonald Regards United States Newspapers As Powerful Colleague In Cementing Anglo - American Goodwill.

NEW YORK, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—The press of the United States is an important instrument in the development of mutual understanding between the peoples of Great Britain and the United States, and it has fulfilled this mission with fairness, friendliness and thoroughness, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain last night told the American Newspaper Publishers' Association through Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, who addressed the annual dinner.

The head of the British State, in a message to the association incorporated in Sir Esme's address, declared he liked to feel that in saluting the press of the United States, he was saluting a powerful colleague in the work of maintaining and strengthening a real understanding between the two peoples.

"The more I study the present plight of Europe," said the Prime Minister's message, "the more I feel that in the long run the moral and material future of humanity must depend to no small extent upon a cordial friendship and a generosity of sentiment between our two nations."

Asserting that official relations between the two nations, never better than they were now, needed the sanction of popular understanding to be fruitful and enduring, Mr. MacDonald declared the development of this understanding was the province of the press.

"The individuals who constitute the democracies of the English-speaking countries must learn to understand each other, as in private life real friends understand each other—laughing sometimes at each other, some times holding different views, but always cordial."

C.N.R. Deposits In Home Bank Were Exaggerated.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, in the House of Commons yesterday corrected a statement made before Easter by him relating to cheques drawn by the Canadian National Railways on the Home Bank. Mr. Graham then stated that at the time the million dollar cheque was drawn for deposit in the Home Bank, the total amount of further cheques drawn on the bank used by the Canadian National down to the then current month, including payroll cheque, was $72,745,744. He explained today that this sum had covered a period of ten months and that the correct figure for the one month was $14,524,690.

BOARD OF BANK ASSURED WHITE CAPITAL INTACT

The Former Minister of Finance Was Reluctant to Interfere In Home Bank Affairs and By Publicity Cause Its Failure — Was Impressed By Reorganization and Harmony Among Directors.

PERSONALLY KNOWN.

OTTAWA, April 25. — Canadian Press. — Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, on Thursday afternoon, told Royal Commissioner H. A. McKeown, his reasons for not ordering an independent investigation of the Home Bank. Summarized they were:

1—The apparent harmony of the Board of Directors of the Home Bank consequent to the re-organization which took place in 1916;

2—The letter of Hon. T. A. Crerar expressing satisfaction of the western directors, and

3—His reluctance to interfere with and possibly cause the failure of a bank, which, he was assured by the board, had its capital intact.

Sir Thomas stressed the fact that he had placed his confidence in the re-organized board with Mr. Haney at its head.

He was very anxious that all the facts in connection with his part in the Home Bank case should be placed before the public, and therefore he was perfectly willing to appear before the commission. He waived what he regarded as his strict legal right, appertaining to the position of Finance Minister, whereby the discretion of the Minister in cases of this kind, was "unfettered and unconditional," maintainng that from a strictly legal point of view he was not required to appear and explain his actions.

Assured by Directors.

The warnings of W. A. Machaffie in regard to the condition of the bank, Sir Thomas dealt with by referring to the unanimous resolution of the directors of the Home Bank passed on October 29, 1918, and certified by M. J. Haney, then president. This resolution assured the Minister that the position of the bank was growing steadily stronger, the management was efficient and satisfactory and business of the bank was increasing. It denied the statements of Mr. Machaffie that important matters were concealed from the board and that transactions in which Mr. Haney and his friends were interested personally were becoming frequent. It emphasized the reliability and the capacity of the new men appointed to the board, one of whom was Mr. H. J. Daley, later president of the bank.

Directors Known to Him.

Sir Thomas dwelt on the efforts that he had made to arrive at a correct undestanding of the large loans which had been the subject of uneasiness among the western directors. The loan to Pellatt and Pellatt he had regarded as somewhat unsatisfactory because the collateral was not sufficiently liquid. He had given instructions that this loan should be decreased. This firm he claimed, was a large borrower on collateral from other banks and he had no idea that it was in any danger of insolvency. He mentioned that a number of the directors of the bank had been known to him personally, and he had during the period of his ministry no reason to regard them with suspicion.

Declined Counsel.

At the outset, he stated, that in Toronto he had been informed by Commissioner McKeown that he (Sir Thomas) had the privilege of being represented by counsel. He did not propose to take advantage of this privilege, however, but would conduct his own case. He did not know whether or not it was necessary for him to prove the letter which were read by Mr. Roberts (formerly the private secretary of Sir Thomas) at the first sitting.

The record seemed to be clear that the letters read were from the official files of the department.

Sir Thomas directed attention to the confidential memorandum submitted by James Fisher, on behalf of the western directors. This memorandum had been marked "confidential."

"I told Mr. Fisher that if he left the memorandum with me I would decline to regard it as confidential," said Sir Thomas. "After considering the matter he left it with me."

Called for Report

On January 24, 1916, Sir Thomas wrote to Gen. Mason, general manager, stating that he had received a

Dynamite Checked Mining Town Fire

CHIPMAN, N. B., April 25. —(Canadian Press).—Half a dozen buildings, including four stores, were destroyed at Minto, the centre of New Brunswick's coal mining area, Thursday, in a fire which was only stopped from spreading further when the Post Office building was dynamited after it had been enveloped in flames and it was seen it could not be saved.

The fire started in the office of Dr. H. S. Lawson, destroyed his house, garage and barn, and the stores of Hugh Kearney, Kilburn & Smith, Dominic De Carlo and George Cole.

The loss was about $40,000 and the insurance is comparatively light.

SAYS JAPANESE COAL WAS USED

Member of the Commons Alleges Canadian Government Ships Fueled By Japanese Labor — Chinese As Sailors.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Alleged purchases of Japanese coal for Canadian Government ships on the Pacific; Chinese labor for ships of Canadian registry on the Atlantic—both were the subject of questioning in the House of Commons Thursday.

A. W. Neill, Independent member Comox-Alberni, declared that he had it on the testimony of an eye witness that a very considerable portion of the coal supplied to Canadian Government Merchant Marine boats on the Pacific in 1921, 1922 and 1923, was obtained and supplied in Japan, mined by women and children.

Mr. Neill brought up the matter by asking whether the answer given by the Government to a question he put recently should not be amended. The answer, said Mr. Neill, gave the impression that only British Columbia coal had been used.

Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, promised investigation.

Then J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Centre Winnipeg, cited press despatches that 49 Chinese had arrived in Halifax under bond from Canton via the Suez to work as sailors, stewards, etc., on ships of Canadian registry to take the place of Nova Scotians.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, also promised investigation and a statement later.

Rogers Imperial Gas Well Out of Control.

CALGARY, Alta., April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Attempts to further develop the Rogers-Imperial Oil well near Couts which blew in as a giant gasser on Tuesday, resulted in an increased flow of gas yesterday which blew a ton and a half of drilling tools nearly eighty feet over the casinghead. The daily gas flow is estimated at more than twenty million cubic feet and the well is temporarily out of control.

Exodus of Canadians Won't Be Investigated.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—It is not the intention of the government to appoint a special committee of the house to investigate the exodus of Canadian citizens to the United States, Hon. James A. Robb, acting Minster of Finance, stated in the House of Commons Thursday afternoon in reply to a question by T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto).

ARMAND LAVERGNE HAS AN INTERESTING SPEECH

QUEBEC, April 25. — (Canadian Press).—Armand Lavergne, K.C., who attended the Monty Fauteux banquet in Montreal a few weeks ago, at which he expressed his admiration for Hon. Arthur Meighen, has accepted an invitation to attend a banquet to be tendered on Monday next to Mr. Arthur Sauve, leader of the Provincial Conservative Opposition. It is understood that he will be invited to speak, and interesting declarations are expected to be made in connection with Provincial politics.

LABOR PROGRAM ALL HUMBUG TO WELSH LIBERAL

Lloyd George Doubts Ramsay MacDonald's Extended Tenure of Office — Labor Party's Ideas Bases On Overthrow of Private Enterprise For Communistic State.

PRAYER CHANGES.

LONDON, April 25. Canadian Press Cable. — Further criticism of the Labor Government was made by Lloyd George on Thursday afternoon in a speech at a crowded meeting at Llandudno, Wales, and the former Premier declared that with patience, steady work and indomitable courage, the United Liberal Party ultimately would win its way back to power.

Premier MacDonald had said he was going to remain in office for three or four years in order to carry out the Labor Party's ideas, Lloyd George said, but he must know that this kind of talk was humbug. The Labor Party's ideas were to overthrow the existing system of private enterprise and private property and to substitute therefor national enterprises and communal property.

Government a Coalition.

Did Premier MacDonald really mean that he was going to carry out such a programme in the next two or three years, Lloyd George asked. If not, what did he mean? The premier had said he did not like coalitions, said Lloyd George, but if the present government, including Lords Chelmsford, Parmoor and Haldane, was not a coalition, what was it?

Continuing, the former Premier said the Liberals were placed between two extreme parties, and it was difficult to fight on two fronts, but they must do it. The need for Liberalism never was greater than at the present time. Europe had grown tired of the idealism which followed the war, and despairingly was falling back on materialism.

Lloyd George said the old idealistic prayer "Thy kingdom come," had passed to the material supplication, "Give us this day our daily bread." Liberalism, he declared, stood for both the ideal and the essential and material.

MORE PETITIONS ON CHURCH UNION

Submitted to House of Commons—Some Have Been Irregular — Must First Be Scanned.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—A number of further petitions in connection with church union, some for and some against, were presented in the House of Commons Thursday by Paul Mercier, Liberal, Westmount-St. Henri, by Gen. Ross, Conservative, Kingston, and by Herbert Marler, Liberal, St. Lawrence-St. George. Some of these petitions were from Methodists and others from Presbyterians. After they had been presented, the Speaker stated that he had been advised by the officers of the House that a number of the petitions being presented on this subject were irregular, and he suggested that members should communicate with the officers of the House before presenting them in order to ensure that they complied with the rules.

Seven C.N.R. Hotels Operated at a Loss

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—The ten hotels operated in Canada in connection with the Canadian National Railways operated last year at a total deficit of $175,475, it was shown in a return tabled in the House of Commons Thursday. Operating revenue totalled $1,776,226 and expenditure totalled $1,951,701.

Only the Grand Beach, Manitoba, the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, and the Prince Arthur in Port Arthur show a profit. Of the balance the Fort Garry in Winnipeg shows the largest deficit, $140,416.

SENTENCE OF LASH IS NOT REMITTED

Suspended In Montreal Bank Bandit's Case During Time Appeal May Be Entered.

OTTAWA, April 25 (Canadian Press). — Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, stated in the House yesterday that the lashes to which Raoul Bauchamp, Montreal bank bandit, was sentenced, have not been remitted.

Mr. Lapointe pointed out that provision had been made for appeal in certain cases, including those in which there was a sentence of the lash, and instructions had been sent to all wardens that such sentences were not to be carried out during the delay in which an appeal might be lodged.

The message sent in the case of Beauchamp was only a reiteration or confirmation of these instructions.

The Beauchamp sentence either with regard to the lash or in any other particular had not been remitted, and if any application were made for clemency it would be dealt with in the ordinary way.

Customers Unaware of Restaurant's Holdup.

MONTREAL, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Police and detectives late last night had made no arrest in the case of the lone bandit who yesterday walked into an uptown restaurant, held up the cashier at the point of his revolver and took from the till around $150 in cash. There were a number of customers in the cafe at the time, but none of them noticed that a hold-up was in progress.

HOME BANK WAS BUILT ON SAND BUT NOT KNOWN

Sir Thomas White Says He Believed Favorable Report of Bank Presented to Him--Had Been Disturbed About Pammet Loan -- Criminal Charge Against Directors Next Monday.

TO SPEED TRIAL

OTTAWA, April 25. — The introduction of an independent auditor into the Home Bank as suggested by the western directors of the institution, would unquestionably have resulted in the failure of the bank.

This was the opinion of Sir Thos. White, former Finance Minister, expressed under cross-examination this morning.

Sir Thomas declared that he had believed the favorable reports on the general condition of the bank submitted to him by directors and others. When he retired from office it was with the distinct impression that the bank was doing well.

"Was doing well, or done well?" interjected W. T. Lee, depositors' counsel.

"I was under the impression that Mr. Daly had put in some of his own money, and that the bank was getting on well," was the reply.

Sir Thomas was examined by R. J. McLaughlin, one of the Home Bank Depositors' counsel. He admitted that he had found three large loans, those to the Prudential Trust, A. C. Frost, and Pellatt interests "disturbing," and stressed the efforts he had made to gather the fullest information in regard to these loans. He compared the Home Bank to the house which was built on quick-sand and which finally tumbled in. "But I didn't know of the quick sand," he insisted. He had seen no reason why the Pellatt loan should not be realized.

Trial on Monday.

In order that the trial of Home Bank directors and officials under indictment in connection with suspension of the institution last August may proceed witout delay, D. L. McCarthy, special Crown prosecutor, to-day decided to withdraw the charges under the Bank act for the present and proceed with the conspiracy charge before Mr. Justice Lennox in the criminal assizes here next Monday, says a Toronto despatch.

Mr. McCarthy announced his decision before Mr. Justice Wright in the Criminal Assizes Court in Toronto this afternoon, when the matter was before His Lordship.

Following the presentation of argument by counsel, Mr. Justice Wright declared that he thought the trial of the accused under two indictments, conspiracy to defraud and with making false returns to the Dominion Government, should be separate and directed that the charge of conspiracy be traversed to the Fall Assizes.

MANSE STABLES RAZED BY FIRE

Methodist Parsonage at Bobcaygeon Also Damaged—Short Circuit In Barn Believed the Cause.

LINDSAY, April 25.—The village of Bobcaygeon had a fire scare Wednesday night at the midnight hour when the stables at the Methodist parsonage were completey destroyed and considerable damage done to the house.

Rev. Mr. Hie, the pastor, while in his study, was startled by a cracking sound, and on looking out the window, found the whole structure in flames. He was able to move his car from the burning building, but all the other contents, including twenty-one pure bred Wyandotte hens, eight baby chicks, half ton hay, cutter, etc., were lost.

The volunteer fire brigade did excellent work in saving the parsonage and it was necessary to cut a hole in the roof to fight the flames. Considerable damage was done the furniture in its hasty removal. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a short circuit, the stable being electrically lighted.

ADVOCATE OF ILLEGAL WARFARE WAS KILLED

BERNE, April 24. — (Canadian Press).—Dr. Karl Helfferich, eminent German financial authority, and his aunt were among those killed in the collision of two express trains near Bellinzona yesterday.

He was stopping at a private villa of his father-in-law on Lake Maggiore and was booked to begin a series of campaign speeches in Germany Wednesday night, in aid of National ist cause.

Dr. Helfferich held many important posts, including at various times, positions of Ambassador to Russia, Secretary of Interior, Vice Chancellor and Director of Deutsche Bank. In January, 1915, during the war he became a minister of the treasury and was in charge of the German war loans. After the war, as a member of the Reichstag, he consistently opposed any government whose policy it was to pay war reparations.

He was one of those who advocated and promoted Germany's illegal methods of warfare. He was a strong supporter of the ruthless submarine.

An Evil Spirit

Rudolf Havenstein, late president of Reichsbank, Hugo Stinnes, industrial leader, and Dr. Karl Helfferich, ex-minister of the treasury, all of whom have died within the past five months, are designated as the "three evil spirits of Germany" by Curt Geyer, communist member of the Reichstag, in a scathing volume which made its appearance on the very day Helfferich lost his life in a train wreck, says a Berlin dispatch.

NATURE AT HER BEST.

Those who appreciate nature at her best and revel in a wealth of variegated scenery, will find the route travelled by the Canadian National Railways between Toronto and Vancouver, one of never-to-be-forgotten beauty.

First through the inimitable lake region of Northern Ontario, skirting many placid, mirror-like lakes pocketed between tree-clad hills, catching a fleeting glimpse of many portentious, rock-strewn little waterways, dashing madly towards the quiet level of the lakes below. From Winnipeg the fertile Prairie Provinces treat the traveller to a type of gently undulating scenery not to be seen in any other part of Canada.

The ever-changing scenery of the Canadian Rockies never grows wearisome, no matter how often it is viewed. Jasper Park, with its protected wild game and beauteous Mt. Edith Cavell; colossal Mt. Robson, gigantic, slow - moving glaciers, stretching from snow-clad peaks, are only a few of nature's wonders the traveller by the Canadian National Route sees before descending to the balmy climate of Vancouver and the Pacific Coast.

There are two Canadian National trains leave Toronto daily for the West. The National, carrying standard sleeping car and compartment observation car departs at 10.45 p.m. Steel equipped, the National is luxurious in every detail. A standard sleeping car connecting with the Continental Limited, the train de luxe of the Canadian National System, leaves Toronto every evening at 8.45.

Travellers to California or other points on the Pacific Coast usually take the famous scenic route through Canada because of its beauty. Excellent connections are made at Vancouver with both steamship and train.

23 PARTIES ON BALLOT IN GERMAN ELECTIONS

BERLIN, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Although the balloting for the new Reichstag is only 10 days off, the situation continues to be one of utter confusion, due to the fact that 23 parties are listed on the official ballot, of which only 10 are to be taken seriously.

The Nationalists are demanding rejection of the experts' report, the return of prisoners taken by the French in the Ruhr and the scrapping of the Versailles Treaty, while the Socialists, Clericals and Democrats are waging a fight on the question of salvaging Germany's internal and foreign situation with the aid of the experts' recommendations. In this they are being given the negative support of Foreign Minister Stresemann's Peoples Party, which is inclined to support them in an effort to collect a Reichstag which will yield a working coalition in favor of putting the experts' proposals into prompt and active execution.

None of the old party leaders is willing to hazard a guess on the prospects in store for the respective parties, although all concede obvious gains to the Nationalists and Communists, some pre-election estimates placing the number of seats which will probably be captured by Ludendorff and the old Nationalist parties at 130.

WOODSWORTH

peg, Centre) said that while the budget would be of benefit to the west it did not go far enough. The budget had been apparently balanced at a heavy cost of reducing such expenditures as the Department of Health. The necessities of life were still being taxed with the result that unemployment and migration to the United States were still grave problems.

Mr. Woodsworth spoke of the "economic conquest of Canada" by American industries. What was the advantage to Canada while the profits of these industries went to the United States and the wages of the Canadian laborer were forced down. The bulk of Canada's war debt was held outside this country. Some day Canada would have to face a new method for the handling of the debt. Privilege, property and precedent ruled in Canada.

Mr. Woodsworth said that the world no longer recognized absolute ownership of capital. Its disposition was a matter for all citizens to consider and have a say in. With reference to foreign relations, he thought that the changes of government and the rapid evolution of political ideas in Europe was of more importance to Canadains to-day than the changes in the tariff.

A Labor Amendment

Mr. Woodsworth prefaced introduction of his amendment to the Budget with the remark that the Labor group of two members frequently had to support principles introduced by the larger groups in the House though such principles were not strictly in accord with their ideas. He ventured to bring in an amendment to the Budget because he believed many members, especially amongst the Progressives were willing to go a long way in Labor's direction if its proposals seemed practictal way.

He then moved, seconded by J. T. Shaw, (Independent, West Calgary) the following amendment:

"That whilst the Budget proposals would seem to indicate the recognition by the Government of the necessity for a fiscal policy designed to encourage industries based upon development of the natural resources of the country, and to afford some alleviation of the financial burden, bearing upon the people;

"And whereas the condition of such industries and the position of the consumers in general is such as to demand relief;

"Therefore be it resolved that the best interests of Canada will be served by an immediate and substantial reduction in the tariff on the necessaries of life including foodstuffs, clothing and building materials;

"And further, that the loss of revenue, if any, which might result from such reduction in customs duties should be made good by;

"(a) The readjustment and extension of the Income Tax to bear more heavily on unearned incomes;

"(b) By a direct tax on unimproved land values, including all natural resources;

Amendment Altered

During the dinner recess Mr. Woodsworth's amendment which the Speaker said could not be accepted as originally drafted because it contained proposals for taxation, was redrafted. The first part of the amendment, as read by the Speaker to the House was unchanged, but the latter part was altered to read as follows:

"And further it is desirable (a) that the income tax should be so readjusted as to bear more heavily on unearned incomes;

"(b) That unimproved land values including all natural resources should not be exempt from taxation;

"(c) That a graduated Inheritance Tax on large estates should be considered."

Quebec Not Alarmed

H. A. Lavigueur (Liberal, Quebec County) said the people of Quebec were not alarmed about the Budget but had found the remarks thereon of the Minister of the Interior (Hon. Charles Stewart) disturbing. Emphasizing the fact that Mr. Stewart represented a Quebec constituency, Mr. Lavigueur read from Mr. Stewart's speech a reference to Sir Henry Drayton's fear that this Budget would meant "death knell of protection' 'about which Mr. Stewart said that he hoped the present Budget indictated further progress towards low tariff on some essential articles. Mr. Lavigueur hoped there would be no further reduction in the duty on boots and shoes. Rather the Government should remove the remaining sales tax on boots and shoes and add it to imported boots and shoes. He was in favor of higher tariff on British footwear.

Rt. Hon. Artheur Meighen asked if Mr. Lavigueur thought eighteen per cent. too low on boots and shoes, was he prepared to support the Government's policy that ten per cent. was too high on agricultural implements?

The member for Quebec replied that he did not think the principle was the same. The one was designed to benefit agriculture, the other was a measure of protection for manufacturers who must compete with outside trade. This was greeted with laughter from the Conservative benches.

Quebec, said Mr. Lavigueur had nothing to complain about in the Budget as it stands but hoped that the Government would consider essential industries in Canada before proceeding with further cuts in the tariff.

GERMAN PROMISES

would flounder in tumult and impotence.

Next in importance was the task of restoring national finances and bringing back to life and normal conditions the devastated regions. The question of religious congtegations must be settled also in conformity with Waldeck-Rousseau's plans. With regard to social questions there was much to be done, such as encouraging thrift and increasing production, so as to reduce the cost of living, augumenting the population and fighting tuberculosis, alcoholism and other scourges so as to restore convalescent France to a vigorous health.

Ten Operators of Radio on Trains

OTTAWA, April 25—(Canadian Press)—The Canadian National Railway employs twenty-one persons in its radio department, including ten operators on trains.

Some of them are citizens of the United States and 13.1 per cent of its equipment is American made, the balance being made in Canada.

In answer to a question the Minister of Railways stated yesterday afternoon, that it had been necessary to draw on the United States for experts and some part of the equipment because the United States is in advance of Canada in radio development. It was expected that later on it would be able to secure all its equipment in Canada.

THE EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS MET

The Elementary Department Elected Mrs. L. L. Greene, the Retiring President, a Member of the Executive for This Year.

TORONTO, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—The sessions of the Ontario Educational Associations and its affiliated societies were concluded yesterday at the University of Toronto Buildings. In the afternoon the elementary department elected Charles E. Dakins of Cobalt and re-elected Chas. G. Fraser of Toronto secretary-treasurer. Mrs. L. L. Greene, Attercliffe, the retiring president, was elected a member of the executive for this year. Mrs. Greene spoke of the work in elementary schools, criticizing the present carriculum and some of the proposals being made to change it. She said that the abolition of home work in schools would create a spoon fed pupil. Ordinary school teachers, she declared, were expected to be specialists in the impossible because of an impossible carriculum. Miss Mary Adair, of Philadelphia, spoke of the kindergarten as the foundation of the public school, and said that in this day of jazz the proper idea was to stress sanity with the young children.

COMMISSION MEETING

NEW YORK, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—The first meeting of the St. Lawrence Waterways Commission named by President Coolidge to consider the feasibility of the St. Lawrence development project with the Canadian commission was held here last night behind closed doors.

No details of the meeting called by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and attended by eight members of the commission were made public. No date for a future meeting was set. It is understood that army engineers who are investigating the possibilities of the project will have to make their report before the commission can take definite action.

GERMAN LEADER DIED IN WRECK

Dr. Karl Helfferich, Confidant of Former Emperor, Remained Monarchist to Last.

BERLIN, April 25. — (Canadian Press).—The Berlin Nationalist newspapers yesterday mourned Dr. Karl Helfferich, Nationalist leader, who was killed in Wednesday's railway accident in Switzerland, as one of Germany's greatest men, and one who might have regenerated a new Germany.

The Democratic and Socialist press on the other hand considers that he used his great and undoubted ability and gifts to the detriment of his country, and charges that his tenure as Finance Minister during the war was catastrophic, due to his policy of raising successive war loans by promising the German people that the enemy would eventually pay.

Dr. Helfferich was a close confidant of former Emperor William, and remained a monarchist to the last. He always claimed that he was the originator of the rentenmark and was theerfore the saviour of Germany.

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Dear Sirs:

For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time.

I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day.

The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will now relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine.

Yours for success,
William Firth, Jr.

(Address on Request.)

Eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. The flavor is delicious. Try it in the recipes on every package. Made in Toronto, Canada. Sold by all grocers.

NO CONFIDENCE VOTE.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 25. — (Canadian Press).—A want of confidence vote was carried against the Warren Government in the Newfoundland Legislature late yesterday by a vote of 16 to 15.

BOARD OF BANK

memorandum and letters "officially" from James Fisher, who was representing the western directors. Sir Thomas called for a report on the loans mentioned in the Fisher memorandum. This was entirely in accord with the bank act, Section 113, explained Sir Thomas, which states that the Minister of Finance could call for such report at any time. On January 26, the minister wrote to Sydney Jones, auditor of the Home Bank, and ordered him to make an additional report on the loans. This too was done under provisions of the bank act which states that the minister may direct any auditor he may select to investigate a bank's affairs.

Sir Thomas then wrote to Mr. Mason asking that the returns be made as soon as possible. It was not true, as the petition of the depositors stated ,that the matter had merely been referred to Mr. Lash, said Sir Thomas. "Mr. Lash neved acted for me and never received one cent. Mr. Lash was merely asked to look into the matter. I did not know any one who could do it better."

Urge dSecurity

In an interview with Mr. Haney and Mr. Lash, Sir Thomas said he urged the directors to get further security on the Pellatt loan, which seemed to be weak. Mr. Lash was to report to the minister and Mr. Haney was to consult with Mr. Lash regarding the bank's affairs.

Sir Thomas stated that he had laid down his policy in regard to the bank in a letter dated February 21, 1916. Writing to James Fisher he had said: "It should be my policy to give the reorganized board every opportunity to place the institution on a sound basis provided that this, in my judgment, is going to be possible."

"They had reorganized the board," explained Sir Thomas. They were going to get rid of James Mason and Mr. Haney was to be placed in charge, he explained.

Sir Thomas said, however, that he did not think the reorganization of the board was sufficient to clear up the charges made by the western directors.

He had insisted on reports being furnished by the bank, which had been on the file of the department since received. He had also furnished with information in regard to the doubtful accounts which seemed correct.

Avoiding Publicity

Sir Thomas quoted from a letter from Z. A. Lash in which the latter had said that if the Canadian Bankers Association was asked to interfere, the situation of the bank would become public property. This, Mr. Lash said, he was anxious to avoid. Sir Thomas had written Mr. Fisher that he would defer action until after March 16, when Messrs. Crerar and Haney, who had gone out to examine the British Columbia timber limits held as security for the Frost account returned. Then he would probably ask for an investigation by the association.

Mr. Fisher had written that he quite realized the "delicacy" of the situation and that his clients were satisfied matters were in good hands.

Mr. Lash wrote to the minister on March 20, 1916, giving information regarding the reorganization of the Home Bank Board. Mr. Haney was elected president, Mr. McHaffie brought from Winnipeg to assist him, the Pellatt securities were approved and the new board was anxious for permission to carry on. Mr. Crerar sent a letter to Sir Thomas on March 20, 1916, regarding the new changes .The western directors would now be able to get the information they sought about the business of the bank.

Confidence in Crerar

"I had entire confidence in Mr. Crerar and the western directors who had brought the accounts to my attention," said Sir Thomas. "At that time I had a knowledge of only those three loans that needed investigation."

Mr. Haney wrote to the minister on June 14, 1916, saying that the loans were improved and the board was in harmony.

"I had confidence in the reorganized board," said Sir Thomas. "Even if losses occurred on one or two of the loans they would not effect the capital of the bank.

"Mr. Haney was known to me as a prominent contractor. He was reputed to be a man of good means." He had served with Sir Thomas on the board of the Toronto General Hospital. The western directors all agreed on the selection of Mr. Haney. "I know nothing against him to my personal knowledge." Sir Thomas knew nothing whatever against either Gen. Mason or Cooper Mason.

Board Denies Charges

Sir Thomas read the full report of a meeting of the board of directors of the bank in which absolute denial was made of Mr. McHaffie charges. This report, which had been submitted to him by Mr. Haney, president of the bank, was already before the commissioner. It had been sent to him, said Sir Thomas, on October 29, 1918.

"I desire to swear that I believed that testimony made on behalf of a board of directors, many of whom I knew," said Sir Thomas.

Speaking of the new directors who were members of the reorganized board, he said that R. P. Gough was highly respected and in good standing. He had not known Ambrose O'Brien, but knew the firm of M. J. O'Brien, of which he was a member, well. He had known Casey Wood since he was a boy.

After reeciving Mr. Raney's report he had concluded that Mr. McHaffie's complaints were the results of a quarrel between him and Mr. Haney. A number of complaints from persons connected with banks were on file in the department, and the course pursued was to refer them to the board of the institution concerned.

Trent River Man Has Passed Away.

TRENT RIVER, April 25. — Death has claimed another one of the older and highly respected residents of this district in the person of Mr. Sam Doupe, after a lingering illness of about four months. He was twice married and leaves to mourn his loss a devoted wife, two sons, Bert of the province of Alberta and Thomas who resides on the homestead, also an adopted daughter (Millie) Mrs. Tom Brown of Seymour West.

The funeral service was held at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. O. Seymour, pastor. Interment at Maple Grove Cemetery.

Snowstorm.

Another snow storm visited here Monday night, covering the ground but fast disappeared when a heavy rain fell afterwards.

FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1924.

THE RED TRIANGLE.

The annual campaign on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. is announced as an event of the first week in May.

Despite the most businesslike and provident management, the institution is not upon a self-sustaining basis, although by economy and careful planning it has been possible to reduce the amount needed from the citizens generally to much less than half of what it used to be.

It is an old story to tell of how well the community is served by the Y.M.C.A.

Without its activities hundreds of boys and young men would be lost for amusement and health-giving recreation, and for the help in other ways the association offers.

It is a rallying place for young Peterborough, and it is difficult to imagine how the city would get along without such an institution.

These facts are generally recognized, and to the credit of the city be it said that the Y.M.C.A. has never had to ask in vain.

CURB CRUISERS.

The death of a young girl in Toronto as the result of falling or being thrown from a motor car, the occupants of which fled, leaving her on the pavement, has started an agitation against the individuals who are called in the vernacular "curb cruisers."

In other words, motorists who make a practice of trying to induce women to enter their cars.

There are some in Peterborough, but the chances are that most of them are of the same type as that described by the Toronto police, as cruising around, picking up women who are ready and willing, even waiting to be picked up.

Queen City detectives and constables who have been investigating the matter declare that women who go on their way without giving the motorists any encouragement are seldom molested, and that is probably true not only in Toronto but here.

"I believe that 90 per cent. of the girls who are picked up in strange autos are looking for that sort of thing," declares one inspector.

As for the other ten per cent. some kind friend should enlighten them as to the risk they undertake in trusting themselves to the chivalry and honour of unknown men whose principal asset is a motor car.

MAKE IT A RECORD-BREAKER.

It is, of course, that already insofar as its exhibits and its entertainment features are concerned.

There is more to see, more to hear, more to instruct and more to amuse than in any previous Motor Show, thanks to the co-operation of automotive dealers and other firms and of various community organizations which have thrown the enthusiasm and energy of their members behind the annual event.

It is for the rest of us to make the show a record-breaker financially as well.

Tonight is the wind-up.

The biggest programme of the show is ready—every department will be at its best.

Let the attendance and the receipts tonight reach a new level.

Then in the summer when you see a bus-load of cheering, happy, sun-burned little children homeward bound each evening from a long, glorious day at the Jackson Park camp you'll be able to say to yourself that you helped to bring to those youngsters happiness and a fair chance to grow healthy and strong.

You'll have a good time while you're doing it, and you'll feel better when you realize how much is done with the funds that your attendance will have helped to create.

Follow the crowd to the Armouries tonight.

"WHETHER THEY KNOW IT OR NOT."

For several years past the leading banks have called attention in their annual statements to the imperative need of a check being put on all bodies having the power to tax. The Montreal Board of Trade has now taken up the matter, and is distributing a bulletin which is well calculated to arouse public alarm. As between 1913 and 1923, it is pointed out that, so far as the citizens of Montreal are concerned, the combined Federal, Provincial and municipal debt has grown from $241 to $612 per head. A family of five now owe $3,060, and, as the bulletin points out, "whether they know it or not, they are being taxed for it in high prices."

"Whether they know it or not," very clearly states the situation. Too many people are disposed to take it for granted that, simply because they do not pay taxes directly, they escape entirely. This is sheer self-deception. They do pay. High rents and high prices for everything, are the positive results of high taxes; and this means that the tenants pay rather than the landlord. The bulletin of the Montreal Board of Trade puts the case very sharply and succinctly as follows:

"Part of every dollar you spend goes to pay interest on the public debt, and the bigger the debt grows the more of your money it will take away from you.

"These large debts are the result of years of public spending beyond our means and borrowing the money to do it. We could not help that during the war, but the war ended more than five years ago and we are still doing it.

"The Governments and the Municipal Councils do the borrowing and the spending, and often get poor value for the money; but the people do the paying back, and you will have to do your share.

"Sooner or later this reckless borrowing and spending must end, and the sooner the better; but only the electors can stop it.

"If you want your public affairs managed as sensible men manage their private affairs, getting good value for what they spend and doing without things they cannot afford; if you want the cost of living to come down, so that you will have for yourself more of what you earn; the remedy is in your own hands. At elections—Dominion, Provincial or municipal—see to it that the men you vote for understand what you want, and make sure that they will support the policy of reducing the public debt."

If this advice is regarded as urgently necessary for the people of Montreal, it has even a deeper meaning for the citizens of Ottawa; for the debt of Ontario and the debt of this city are relatively larger than is the debt of Quebec or the debt of Montreal. Quebec is not far behind Ontario in population, yet the capital liability of that Province is less than half that of the latter. Montreal, with a population of 700,000 in round figures, has a debt of $148,000,000, or $211 per capita. Ottawa, with 116,000, has a debt at the present time of $25,000,000, or $214. The point which seems to call for emphasis is that in both instances the debt is so high as to constitute an unjustifiable burden on the people. It is the rapid growth of the liability which is terrifying. As the Montreal Board of Trade puts it, "sooner or later this reckless borrowing and spending must end, and the sooner the better." It will not end, however, until the people who are bearing the load assert effective resistance at the polls.—Ottawa Journal.

SHAKESPEARE AND ST. GEORGE.

Three hundred and sixty years ago today the gods who weave the destinies of nations placed a red thread in their shuttle to mark the coming into the world of William Shakespeare, the poet-patriot of England. It seems scarcely possible that it was by mere chance that the man who was to play so important a part in moulding the destiny of his country should have first seen the light on St. George's Day, the patronal festival of his country.

The vision of Empire was still darkly veiled in the days when Shakespeare was writing his matchless verse, but it would be a calumny on the courageous adventurers and sea captains of the Elizabethan age to limit their hopes and ideals to a mere quest for gold and the riches of the Indies.

While Shakespeare transports us into a land of sheer delight and dazzles us with the brilliance of his genius and the richness of his coloring, yet he was too skilled a craftsman to lose sight of the dominant theme that runs through his music. Over and over again Shakespeare teaches the great lesson that a house divided against itself cannot stand and that no nation can exercise the full strength of its powers if it is torn by warring factions and harrassed by the greed and selfishness of rival parties.

Shakespeare paints three great Englishmen among his multitude of characters. In King John he gives us Falconbridge, the illegitimate son of Richard Coeur de Lion, a "John Bull in the guise of a mediaeval knight," as a great Shakespearean scholar has called him. He has equipped him with great strength and a racy English humor, the former that we may admire him and the latter that we may also love him. His is not the gay wit of the cavalier Mercutio nor the wide-mouthed and turbulent humor of the inimitable Falsaff, but the bubbling forth of blunt animal spirits, the humor of the man who can look the whole world in the face unafraid. Youthful in his insolence and robust in his fearlessness, the very strength of the man makes him tower above the weakling John.

Harry Hotspur is not so stern a patriot since his aims are selfish and personal; yet no character that the great singer of England ever drew displays more clearly and sympathetically that sensitive individual honor for which the English race is proudly famed. Hotspur always "played the game." What contrasts there are in this modern Achilles with a touch of Hector. Now sombre and brooding, now tortured with jealousy of that other Harry, loving with a burning passion, but never revealing the light of that flame, brave but tender, strong and kind, blessed above all with the simplicity of a child.

Yet it is on yet another Englishman, Henry V., that the great craftsman lavishes all his love and all his skill. Henry has all the qualities of the fighting man and an unchallengeable faith in the endurance, the courage and the prowess of his countrymen. The gay wantonness of youth is sloughed; and, as Henry, he is every inch a King. He is of such stuff as Raleigh was made of and he had the spirit of Drake, who "singed the Spanish beard." None knew better than Henry that in times of crisis leadership is the greatest national asset and that cohesion and union of those who speak the tongue which Shakespeare spoke is a lever that can move the world.

It was in the breast of England that Shakespeare was suckled; his songs are the hymnal of St. George. His stirring lines have spurred men to nobler effort, have inspired millions of his countrymen to more devoted service, and have emblazoned one of her proudest names on the heraldic arms of England.—Montreal Star.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 25 (Canadian Press). — The wheat market was fairly active again yesterday, with a good volume of business being worked, but shortly after the opening, when prices advanced about 1-2c considerable offerings came out and the values fell away, the closing quotations showing a loss of 3-8c for May and 1-4c for July and October.

Exporters were active in May spreading it with July at 2 3-8 to 2 1-4 difference, and were in the market for July against sales of October at 3-4c difference. There was also some spreading between here and Chicago.

Seaboard advices reported Wednesday's sales at 750,000 bushels, largely Manitobas, with ocean freight booked for 800,000 to 1,000,000 bushels for May shipment to London.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, April 25 (Canadian Press). — Cattle, receipts 11,000; slow; beef steers and fat she stock generally 15c to 25c lower; good and choice heavy steers dull; best matured steers at noon, $11.25; bulk fed steers and yearlings, $8.50 to $10.25; bulk fat cows, $5.00 to $7.00; fat heifers largely 6.25 to $8.00; canners and cutters dull; weak to 10c lower; bulls, 10c to 15c off; most bolognas $4.40 to $4.65; veal calves 25c to 50c lower; good and choice handyweights to packers mostly $8.00 to $8.50; light weights down to $7.00 and below; stockers and feeders were steady.

Hogs, receipts 31,000; uneven, mostly 5 cents lower than Wednesday's average, bulk and good choice 250 to 325 pound butchers, $7.25 to $7.50; best grade 170 to 225 pound averages, $6.85 to $7.00; good and choice 140 to 150 pound weight mostly $6.60 to $7.00, bulk packing sows, $6.80 to 6.85; bulk better strong weights, $5.75 to $6.25; estimated holdover, 17,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 25 (Canadian Press). — Although wheat buying yesterday was stimulated as a result of the McNary-Haugen Bill being reported favourably from the House gains that ensued were more than Agriculture Committee, the price offset later when the Caraway Bill to prohibit trading in futures was placed by the Senate.

The wheat market closed unsettled at 3-8c to 1-4c net lower to a shade advance, May $1.07 1-4 to $1.07 1-2, and July $1.04 1-2 to $1.04 1-2 to 5-8.

Corn finished 3-8c to 1-2c down, oats at a shade to 1-4c up, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 2 cents.

LLOYD GEORGE ATTACKS MACDONALD IN SPEECH

LLANDUDNO, Wales, April 24 (British United Press). — David Lloyd-George delivered an attack on Premier Ramsay Maconald in the course of a speech here to-day.

"MacDonald says he will remain in office three or four years, and will carry out Labour, not Liberal or Conservative ideas," said the former Premier.

"He must know that such talk is humbug. Labour ideas are overthrowing the presence of private enterprise and private property, and substituting therefor national enterprise and communal property."

GERMAN PROMISES ARE WORTHLESS TO FRENCH AS SETTLEMENT BASIS

"What We Have We'll Hold," Is Poincare's Attitude In Paraphrase — France Will Cling to Solid Guarantees, Seeking General Settlement--Distrustful of German Intentions.

An Election Address.

PARIS, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Premier Poincare, in an election speech delivered at a banquet of the Republican Federation last night, answered the reproach that he had neglected home politics, by setting forth at length the proposed programme of the new Chamber in the way of social and economic legislation.

"At the same time," he added, "I must repeat that the new Chamber, just as the one whose mandate is about to expire, will, above all, have to cast its eyes beyond the frontiers to safeguard France's rights and consolidate the peace of the world."

Foreign Policy.

The Premier then proceeded to define the guiding principles of his foreign policy, and continued:

"We shall study the new economic regime which the Treaty of Versailles obliges us to negotiate at an early date with Germany herself to obtain reparations and guarantees of safety without giving anyone a pretext to misrepresent our peaceful intentions, and not let slip the opportunity offered us by our success in the Ruhr, by the report of the experts and by the preliminary decision of the Reparation Commission. In a word, we shall seek to accomplish a general settlement, but not exchange solid guarantees for mere German promises, the insincerity of which, according to past experience, does not inspire confidence, and not rely blindly in advance on a debtor which has done nothing up to the present to discharge his obligations."

"We shall make it to his interest to pay the debt in the hope of ending certain coercive measures, and not take illusions for certainties, and persevere in our conciliatory spirit without sacrificing prudence. All this will be the task not only of the morrow, but a long, patient, thankless work of several years."

Avoids Extremists.

With respect to home politics, M. Poincare declared himself moderate, in the sense that Gambetta, Waldeck-Rousseau and Jules Ferry understood the word. He would have nothing to do with the extremists of either side. He announced that the first task of the new Chamber must be to revise parliamentary methods and rules and regulations which warped them; otherwise it

The gross earnings of the C.N.R. from Jan. 1 to April 21, 1924 have been $68,876,403 being an increase of $1,333,327.21 as compared with the corresponding period of 1923.

CAMPBELLFORD MAN OBJECTS TO HOLIDAY

Mr. Kerr Thinks Friday More Suitable Than Thursday For Half-Holiday.

Campbellford, Ont.
April 23, 1924.

Dear Editor:—

I beg your indulgence for space, to address the Merchants of Campbellford in regard to this decision of closing the stores at Thursday noon.

The petition altering the day was circulated and signed by a number of merchants with whom I have since discussed the matter, who apparently signed it without fully considering the possibilities of its being detrimental to business.

Now here is the business situation as it is at present. There is not a business man in town, in fact in any other town who at present is not keenly feeling the universal business depression, and has been for some time. Why not then stay open to do business when it is to be done? It is logical to suppose that we want prosperity in Campbellford. Then we must do business with the public when the public want to do it. Most assuredly it is in the middle of the week, that the number of commercial travellers, transients and men having business come to town, and not at the week-end. Our experience in this business, our registers show Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday usually capacity house, while on Friday all are preparing to return to home or business centres for the week-end.

Then again Saturday is generally the shopping day for farmers. Why not utilize Friday afternoon as some of our industrious merchants have done in the past by preparing an attractive display for the Saturday shopper. If we must have a half-holiday by all means let us stick to Friday afternoon. For some time Campbellford has been congratulated on a sensible choice of a day, by the travelling public, as it does not conflict with anyone's plans and gives all adequate time to do their respective business and return to their homes for Sunday.

It has been mentioned that I have been looking only to myself and my own interest, this can hardly be called fair. Here is a situation insofar as I am concerned. The hotel business lives by the travelling public and must endeavour to meet their demands. This is service; for which they pay, and have the right to expect.

We have spent thousands of dollars recently to make our hotel more modern, comfortable and attractive, so that those who visit your town will find it a pleasure to stay here. We keep a large staff and pay them good wages, in order to give service. Those girls in turn spend their wages in your stores for clothes, etc. On our busy days our grocery, meat and vegetable, fruit, incidental bills all contribute to your stores.

At present our staff of seven is carried to practically to do business on three days a week, which is some burden. If Thursday closing is carried out means only two days a week capacity business. Now we are crowded for room doing business on three days this has always been a difficult situation to meet, but could not be prevented on account of Campbellfords' location. People coming from distance cannot reach here before Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Friday morning start to work back.

Now, as the situation looks, practically all must arrive on Tuesday and Wednesday in order to do business in which they will not be able to find hotel accomodation. Those who cannot make here on Tuesday and Wednesday will not come into town to do business, as some merchants claim they are too busy on the morning of the half-holiday to talk business with travellers. This creates a situation with us of carrying a high priced staff, seven days to do only two day's business which is an impossibility.

Therefore it means a closing of hotel dining rooms working a great inconvenience on the travelling public and who in a short time will be avoiding this town whenever possible.

Once more calling your attention that we have been accused of self-interest, would say that at any time by closing our dining-room accomodation we would be money in; with a great deal less work and bother, but, as a good hotel dining-room is one of the requisites of a small town, where eating facilities are limited, we have endeavoured to hold up our end for good business.

The arguments advanced for the change of closing are these people have been known to leave town Friday afternoon to shop in Peterboro and Belleville, surely this is a poor reason as no one, but merchants can take advantage of this day and no one would accuse them of shopping elsewhere.

(2) That the Campbellford Cloth Co., pay Friday morning and by remaining open Friday afternoon merchants, would get more of their money ,this is quite absurd, as all employees go back to work Friday afternoon, naturally, they shop and pay bills on Saturday.

(3 Also; the argument has been advanced that Wednesday night being late closing very few come in on Thursday to shop, this line of reasoning does not seem very sound as Thursday is one of the biggest live stock shipping days of the week; alo has been Cheese-Board day for years; whent twenty-five to thirty leading farmers of the district meet to sell cheese. This necessitates banks being open to take care of this business, whereas on Friday afternoon all banks are closed.

What are we to deduct then from Thursday closing, are we going to deliberately close up our town in face of business?

This suggestion has been made by several intelligent men, why not, in view of the present depression of business, that instead of closing at all, the town remain open, soliciting business till times become normal again?

But, if a half-holiday must be had, what is the matter with Friday afternoon as formerly? It is usually quiet any way and the surrounding district is acquainted with its being Campbellford's half-holiday.

In regards to eleven months closing, it is too utterly absurb to be discussed, when the other surrounding towns are wide open looking for business (except in the midsummer months).

In view of the above facts, we would like to know from some of the employers, who pay salaries, and who signed this under protest, and others who did not sign it at all, what is going to be done now? We understand some merchants propose to keep open on Thursday anyway.

Sincerely,
ST. LAWRENCE HALL,
Jas. Kerr.

BRING CZECHO SLOVAKS FOR NORTHERN QUEBEC

QUEBEC, April 24. — Canadian Press. — If the negotiations now under way between the Rev. Abbe Casgrain, Roman Catholic Chaplain of the Dominion Immigration Department and the Provincial Government are completed to the satisfaction of the chaplain, some of the outlying districts of the province of Quebec, especially the Abitibi region and the adjacent vicinity, will receive during the coming summer a large influx of Czecho-Slovaks.

SCHOOL SOCIAL IN HASTINGS CHURCH

Churches Are Active and Spring Road Work Has Started.

HASTINGS, April 25.—The annual Sunday School social and concert was held in the school room of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening. A large crowd was present which was greatly appreciated by the workers.

Supper was served from six until eight o'clock from tables which were abundantly laden. Flowers in vases and potted flowers decorated the centre of the tables.

The opening chorus was given by a number of little girls and was entitled "A Little Sunbeam." A recitation, "His Reward" was given by Francis Kennedy. Little Isabelle Fowlds sang very sweetly, "Jesus Loves Me". A recitation "When Mother Was a Little Girl" by Jessie Whitred was next, followed by another recitation by Madeline Dodd "Grandma's Letter." Jimmie Moore also recited "When I am a Man." A dialogue was then brought on the title of which was "Waiting for the Dector." This was given by five boys and seven girls, who were, Dorothy Kerr, office assistant; Myrtle West, George Dainard, Evelyn Graham, Annie Spooner, Nicholas Dainard, Lillie Dodd, Audrey Doonan, Jean Baker, Vivian Kerr, Charlie Graham and Kenneth Doonan.

A chorus, "Bright Daffodils" was sung by eight girls. Velda Munsey recited "A Summer Fairy" and Marjorie Dodd recited "Jack and Jill." A reading was given by Everett Whitred and Ruth Thompson recited, "My Cat." Keith Munsey recited a nursery rhyme.

Dialogue, "A Social Difficulty" in two acts was presented by Misses Norma Anderson, Beryl Hill, Mary Spooner, Helen Wood and Mr. "Bill" Doughty. Lillie Dodd and Madeline Dodd sang very sweetly "Welcome, Welcome Spring."

Reading, "A Nasty place to wash your feet," Grace Lewis. Reading "The Sleeping Princess," Jessie Whitred. Recitations, Velda and Ketha Munsey. Dialogue, "The Capable Servant", the parts taken by Fred Richardson, Russel Learmonth, Everette Whitred.

The chairman called Reverend Mr. Pippen for a few remarks and the closing chorus "Good Night" was given by nine girls.

So plentiful were the refreshments that enough is left over to have a small social on Thursday evening which will help to make the present proceeds even larger.

Epworth League.

The Epworth League held its weekly meeting in the school room of the Methodist Church on Monday evening. Mrs. C. Whitred the president being in charge. The singing of a hymn and prayer opened the meeting. The Scripture lesson was read by Mildred Wellman.

Final arrangements were made regarding a play which is to be given by the young people of the Norwood Church in the Opera House, Hastings on Monday evening next. The title of the play is "The Young Country School Ma'am", to be put on under the auspices of the Epworth League.

After the business a programme was given, Mrs. L. E. Kelly and Mrs. G. Faux sang a duet and the topic "Easter Joys" was given by Mrs. B. F. Doxsee, Misses Carrie and Ona Doxsee played an instrumental duet. Miss Bessie Hinton gave a reading and the meeting closed with singing and Mizpah prayer.

Grader At Work.

The new road grader which was recently purchased by the town is now working on the roads and streets in the village prior to the spring road work and getting the streets in readiness for oiling.

COURIER RIDES TO WASHINGTON

BELLEVILLE, April 24.— (Canadian Press). — Abjuring trains, motor cars, aeroplanes and other swift methods of travel, Miss Gwendolyn Lazier, all round athlete and daughter of one of this city's oldest families, started to-day on a six hundred mile horse back ride to Washington, D.C.

The fair equestrienne is a courier with the greetings of good will from the mayor of this Canadian city to the President of the Untied States. Her long ride is significant of the amity which prevails between the Dominion of Canada and the Republic to the Souht.

Miss Lazier will ride to Kingston, Ont., and cross the boundary at Cape Vincent, N.Y., proceeding via Watertown, Schenectady, Albany, New York and Philadelphia to Washington. Mayors of all these cities and intervening towns have offered to extend to the young courier and her escort all the courtesies of old pioneer days.

Mothers, Show This to Your Daughters.

OMAHA, Neb., April 25.—(United Press). —Fifty dollars a year is all a girl needs to spend on her clothes, Miss Jessie Towne, dean of girls at Central High School, told the parent-teacher association here.

"A recent survey at Central High School showed that a majority of the girls dress for $50 a year or less," said Miss Towne. "Some may spend $500 a year on their clothes, but that is no excuse for sensible girls to be extravagant."

Miss Towne defended the modern "flapper."

"Flappers are no different from young girls at the time when our grandmothers were dancing the Virginia reel," said Miss Towne. "Conditions have changed, however. The great need now is for greater companionship between girls and their mothers."

Fried Apple Pie

(Really a turnover cooked in the French way)

2 cupfuls flour
1 teaspoonful baking powder
1 teaspoonful salt
2 tablespoonfuls Crisco
1 egg yolk
4 tablespoonfuls sugar
½ cupful milk

Sift baking powder and salt with flour. Work in Crisco with finger-tips. Combine egg, sugar, milk and stir into flour mixture. Roll out on well floured board to ¼-inch thick. Cut into rounds about 4 or 5 inches in diameter. Spread half circle with stiff apple sauce, well seasoned with cinnamon and nutmeg. Fold over other half of crust, fastening edges well with fork.

Fry in deep Crisco heated to 360 degrees Fahrenheit, or until an inch square of bread browns in 60 seconds. Drain on paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

While Sunlight Works

YOU have more leisure hours on wash day if you use Sunlight Soap. Away downstairs in the wash tub this wonderful soap will do the labour. You rub the things with Sunlight—you put them to soak—and then its penetrating, cleansing ingredients search through and through the fibres, loosening even the hardest dirt or the oldest grease stains completely. No wash board rubbing, no boiling, no hard work. Then, with rinsing, the dirt runs away and your clothes are ready for the line, purified and snowy clean.

Wash day should not take your labour—only Sunlight's gentle strength.

MACHAFFIE TO TESTIFY REGARDING HOME BANK

STRATFORD, April 24. — W. A. Machaffie, of this city, formerly assistant to the president of the Home Bank, and who is to appear before the Royal Commission in Ottawa, investigating the collapse of the bank left for the captial this morning.

He intimated to-day that he had no cut and dried evidence to give the commission. He had not been asked to bring papers of any kind with him. He will tell what he remembers of the warnings given the Dominion government of the condition of the Home Bank previous to the year of 1918, when he was officially connected with the bank.

Mr. Machaffie inferred that his resignation from the institution was caused by his pressing for the correction of alleged irregulaities.

SONS OF ENGLAND DO IMPORTANT WORK FOR EMPIRE'S SOLIDARITY

Mr. M. E. Maybee, M.P. Urges Changing Slogan "Canada for the Canadians" to "Canada for the Empire" -- British Have Mission of Peace to World.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, April 24. — M. E. Maybee, M.P. for Northumberland in an address at the annual dinner of the Sons of England Society held in celebration of the anniversary of their patron saint, that to the members of that organization he looked as an important factor in preserving the unity of the British Empire and in fighting the propaganda of secession and other economic errors that are being promulgated in Canada today as never before in its history.

Speaking to the toast, "Canada" Mr. Maybee started out with complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green of the New Durham Hotel, where the dinner was held, on the splendid banquet which they had provided and served so well, this being only one of many occasions on which he had partaken of similar festivities in that hotel.

"I appreciate your organization highly," he continued, because of your patriotic sentiments. Patriotism is needed in Canada to-day to offset the revolutionary propaganda which is being spread in the country. An envoy from Russia who came here was really a preacher of communism and discord. Only this week a member of the I.W.W. from the United States speaking in Toronto made a fiery address. He is on parole from prison in his own country.

"I hope your society will continue to do the good work in which it has been so long engaged. We must cooperate on National, not sectional lines. We must be true to the ideals that were set up by the fathers of confederation and if we cannot have uniformity we can at least have unity among the different races and sections of the country."

"Canada For the Empire"

Mr. Maybee continuing said that the slogan "Canada for the Canadians" should be changed to "Canada for the Empire." This country cannot afford to lose the protection of the Motherland. British connection is worth while, not alone for the protection which it gives us but because too, of Britain's mission of peace and good will to the world.

Quoting the famous declaration of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, "A British subject I was born and a British subject I will die," Mr Maybee said amid heartly applause from his hearers, that he could not believe that the Canadian people would throw down the institutions that are the results of centuries of evolution.

Englishmen Always Welcome

Col. F. D. Boggs, mayor of Cobourg, who was one of the guests of the evening, speaking to the toast, "Our Town," said Cobourg was always ready to welcome Englishmen as residents, the more that came the better. Englishmen the world over have done a wonderful work. When 200,000 French troops in the late war threatened to lay down their arms Lloyd George was sent for and so inspired them that they resolved to and that was what won the war and saved the world.

The Colonel said that the greatest disaster that could happen to Canada would be the severance of the bonds which bind it to the Empire. It is incumbent upon all Englishmen to help fight the propaganda that is being spread in the country by alienists. They must take up the work that was begun but left unfinished by the men who sleep today on the fields of Flanders.

Other Speakers

The adresses were limited to three minutes each. Other speakers on the programme were: J .W. Wilkinson, who spoke on "Our Order" and who referred to the peaceful revolution in Britain by which the Labor party was placed in power, the new Government being given a fair trial; T. J. Stenhouse whose subject was "The Land of Our Adoption."

Musical selections were furnished by G. E. Fisher who acted as accompanist for all the vocal numbers by W. Marshall and the Society's quartette the members of which are G. Page, F. Friend, J. Christie and D. Hill.

The Society

The Cobourg Sons of England Society at present has 65 members. Twenty-five of its young men, or 25 per cent of the total number on the roll at that time, enlisted for service overseas and three of these lost their lives in active service.

The officers are: R. Austin, past president; R. Higginson, president, who presided at the banquet; W. Raynor, vice president; W. Perry, secretary; A. F. Hall, treasurer and P. Dennis, chaplain. The invited guests of the evening were: M. E. Maybee M.P. Mayor Boggs, T. J. Stenhouse. Dr. F. P. Lloyd, E. J. Wormington and J. W. Wilkinson. Every one of the 60 or more banquetters, wore a red rose, the National emblem of the country in which the majority of them were born.

Presented With Jewels.

Landlord Green, who is a member of the society, has for years entertained the members at their annual celebration and his efforts to provide for their comfort are heartily appreciated. As one of the guests put it, last night's spread was expertly prepared, admirably served, and enthusiastically consumed.

During the evening Mr. Green, on behalf of the society, presented Past President Austen and Secretary Perry with handsome medals in recoguition of their work in the interests of the organisation. Both gentlemen made short addresses expressing appreciation of the honour that had been done them. Mr. Perry has held the position of secretary continuously for the past 12 years.

A number of residents of Campbellford, including Reeve Charles H. Davidson, had been invited, but for some reason they failed to arrive, and another who was unable to be present was ex-Warden H. B. Phillips of Brighton.

Wars of the Roses.

Every good Englishman is posted in the history, especially the war records, of his country, and can tell all about the Wars of the Roses, when the opposing houses, the Yorks and the Lancasters, were distinguished respectively by the wearing of white and red roses. At the banquet last night there were lineal descendants of both parties, and this fact was made the subject of considerable good natured badinage. It seems that the opposing factions each had a trade mark, the different figures in which are given an impromptu translation by the others.

That of the Yorks was a flea, a fly, a magpie, and a flitch of bacon. Ask a Lancaster man the significance of these terms, and he will tell you that a flea bites, a fly is expert in flight, a magpie chatters, and a flitch of bacon is no good unless properly hung.

The trade mark of the Lancaster if history—or is it tradition?—is to be relied on, was a clock, which the Yorks say, is always on the tick, a duck which gobbles up everything in sight, a drum, useful only for making a noise, and a drain pipe, worthless until put under the ground.

YOUNG WOMAN INVADED HOME AND KILLED MAN

CHICAGO, April 24. — Miss Wanda Stopa, formerly of Detroti, accompanied by a man, invaded the country home of Y. M. Smith, an advertising man, to-day shot and killed Henry Manning, a caretaker, and fired two shots at Smith's wife.

Smith declared Miss Stopa, with whom he said he formerly was friendly, according to the state attorney, had demanded that he divorce his wife and marry her.

PASSENGERS CONVEYED FROM DISTRESSED VESSEL

EUREKA, Calif., April 24 (Canadian Press). — The transfer of the passengers from the Admiral liner Ruth Alexander, in distress off Trinidad Head, north of here, to the H. F. Alexander, of the same line, began at sunrise.

The H. F. Alexander arrived alongside last night.

GODARD GUILTY ASSAULT HELD FOR MURDER TRIAL

TORONTO, April 24. — Harold Godard was to-day found guilty of assaulting Miss May Duncan at her home on Ridout treet last January. He will appear in the assizes to-morrow for sentence.

The Grand Jury have returned a true bill against Godard on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Martha Crooks, on Jan 25th. The trial is traversed to the fall assizes.

BALL MEETING AT WARKWORTH

Will Be Seven Teams in the Northumberland League--The Schedule

(By a Staff Reporter).

WARKWORTH, April 25.—There will be seven teams in the Northumberland County Baseball League this season: Brighton, Campbellford, Colborne, Hastings, Orland, Roseneath and Warkworth, Harwood and Trenton, both in the organization last year, having decided to drop out. There was a good attendance from the various clubs interested at the annual meeting of the League, which was held in the Community Hall here yesterday, at which the chair was occupied by J. W. Dixon, president. Each club was allowed one vote, and the accredited delegates, or those who voted, were: Gordon Lapp, Brighton; W. Wellman, Hastings; Frank Wilson, Colborne; C. W. Varcoe, Roseneath; J. H. Belford, Orland; C. H. Davidson, Campbellford; Kory Zufelt, Warkworth.

The Clarke Cup.

The first business disposed of was the formal awarding of the handsome silver cup offered by Sam. Clarke, M.L.A., to the team winning the championship, the trophy to be put up for competition every season, and over which a controversy arose in 1923. Trenton won the championship last year, but S. D. Dudley, the trustee of the cup, ruled that it could not go to Trenton as that town is not in Northumberland County. Trustee Dudley handed over the trophy to Warkworth, that team having finished second, and which for that reason be regarded as the county champions. President Dixon, manager of the Warkworths, refused to accept the trophy until the question had been passed upon at a League meeting.

There was a difference of opinion among the delegates yesterday, Mr. Davidson and others contending that as Trenton had been taken into the League, and had finished first, the cup should go to that town. On motion of Messrs. Lapp and Varcoe, however, it was unanimously agreed to endorse the action of Trustee Dudley and to recognize his authority to dispose of the cup every year.

It was explained to the delegates that Mr. Clarke had donated the cup at the request of Mr. Dudley, who for that reason was the trustee, as representing the donor. The club winning the cup each year will be required to carry insurance upon it.

League Has Balance.

Secretary-Treasurer Mulhall reported a balance of $38.29. The constitution was amended to carry this as a League fund instead of dividing it among the clubs.

Officers Elected.

When the election of officers was taken up, Sam. Clarke, M.L.A., was again made honorary president. Dr. McKee and Mr. Hall moved that H. B. Phillips of Brighton, ex-Warden of the Counties of Northumberland and Durham, be president.

Messrs. Vracoe and Wilson offered the name of Dr. McKee. Mr. Wellman nominated Mr. Davidson but the latter declared before the motion could be seconded, Dr. McKee's was then elected unanimously.

Dr. Armstrong of Roseneath was elected vice president on motion of Messrs. Davey and Lapp, after Mr. Davey had declined to stand.

On motion of Messrs. Mulhall and Hall Gordon Lapp was made secretary-treasurer. This official and the president have always been chosen from the same town as a matter of convenience. The new president is one of the best players on the Brighton team and his election will be popular. Dr. Armstrong is also an active player and Mr. Lapp is an ardent supporter of the game, able to render it substantial assistance by virtue of his journalistic position. In the choice of officers yesterday as in all other business matters taken up the utmost harmony prevailed and the prospects are bright for a successful season.

The executive committee will consist of President McKee, Secretary Lapp and the following representatives of the six other clubs: C. W. Varcoe for Roseneath, W. Wellman for Hastings, C. H. Davidson, for Campbellford, Fred Smith for Colborne, J. H. Belford for Orland and Kory Zufelt Warkworth.

Stick to the O.B.A.

It was decided to retain membership in the O.B.A. On motion of Messrs. Varcoe and Davidson it was agreed that the seasons' schedule consist of 12 games for each team, six at home and six in other towns, the winners of the championship to play off with leaders in other leagues if they elect to do so.

No charge is to be made in the system of umpiring, a suggestion for the engagement of neutral arbiters being rejected as calling for too heavy an outlay. In every game the visitors will supply the umpire on balls and strikes and the home team the one who officiates on the bases.

The annual fee remains the same $10 in addition to which each club must file with the secretary a marked cheque for $15 as a guarantee that the team will finish the season.

Concession to Campbellford

In every town or village in the league with the exception of Campbellford, weekly half holiday falls on Wednesday, the day on which all scheduled games are played Campbellford's holiday is on Thursday but the factories do not close until 5 p.m. In order to give the employees of industrial plants a change to attend the ball games, the Campbellford contests will be, special permission of the league, started at 4.30 instead of the league hour, 3.30 p.m.

Delegate Wellman was in favor of imposing a penalty of $5 upon any team that failed to appear within 30 minutes after the regulation hour for the game to be called but a motion to this effect failed to receive support.

The matter of organizing a Junior League for the development of youthful players was discussed and this was left to the consideration of the several clubs.

The Schedule.

The evening session was devoted to drawing up the schedule, but this work was at the time of adjournment completed only for the first four weeks of the season, which opens on May 21 and closes August 29. Secretary Lapp will finish this intricate task, his arrangement to be subject to approval by the clubs. The schedule so far as agreed upon is as follows:

June 4—Brighton at Warkworth; Roseneath at Campbellford; Orland at Colborne; Hastings a bye.

June 11—Colborne at Brighton; Campbellford at Orland; Warkworth at Hastings; Roseneath a bye.

Ex-President Dixon Retires.

Baseball in Northumberland County has lost an ardent and successful supporter in the retirement of ex-President J. W. Dixon, who announces that he is through with the game. Mr. Dixon has managed the Warkworth Veterans since their organization as a baseball team and their entry to the County League. In 1921 his team played off for second place with Brighton, but lost out after a hard fight. Last year he piloted them to second place. Mr. Dixon's success was fittingly recognized at the League's annual meeting in 1923, when he was elected to the presidency, from which he retired yesterday.

The Warkworth team will hold a meeting on Wednesday evening of next week to organize for the season. They have been assured of support from all classes of the residents, who are anxious to have the village hold its place on the baseball map.

Now With Belleville.

Archie Zufelt, who pitched the Warkworths to within sight of the championship last year, has joined the Belleville G. T. team in the Central Ontario League, and his friends here believe that in new and faster company he will be able to hold his own.

WHITE CREPE.

APSLEY WOMAN MOVES TO CITY

Mrs. Richard Hales and Son Leave Old Homestead On Burleigh Road to Live in Peterboro — Heavy Storm Monday Night.

APSLEY, April 23.—A very pleasing event took place on Tuesday at Mrs. Richard Hale's, Burleigh Road, when a few friends assembled to bid her and her son, Everett, good bye and God speed. Mrs. Hales is leaving the old homstead to reside in Peterborough, and her removal will be a distinct loss to the community, the Hales family always being held in high esteem. She was a staunch supporter of the Methodist Church, and her place will be hard to fill. She and her son were presented with a purse of money subscribed by friends of both the Anglican and Methodist Churches, and a address suitably worded to the occasion. The address was read by the Rev. E. McTavish, while Mrs. W. Lean made the presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lean were the hosts of a very pleasant dance whice was held in the Parish Room on Easter Monday evening. In spite of the heavy snowstorm, a big crowd assembled, four sets for the square dancing going most of the time. Joe Northey, of Haultain, provided the music for the sets. A dainty lunch was served at midnight in the Apsley House. Among those coming from a distance were notices Miss Payne, Burleigh; Miss Herr, Clauncarde; Miss Washburn, Methuen; Misses Stella and Mabel Northey, Haultain; Clinton Matthews, Will Church, Theo Wilson, Haultain; Misses Dolly and Tilly Church, Haultain.

Easter Sunday was observed at St. George's Church with morning and evening services. At the evening service the choir rendered most ably the anthem, "O grave where is thy victory," by Stults, the recitative being sung by E. L. Spence, and the soprano solo by Miss Marjorie Spence. In addition to these services, the rector also conducted special services at St. Stephen's, Chandos, and St. Paul's, Lasswade.

Holy Week was observed by services at St. George's every evening, all being well attended.

The sale of stock, implements and household effects, held at Mrs. R. Hales' on Monday, drew a large crowd, with correspondingly good prices.

"Late Easter, late Spring," seems to have some truth in it. A terrific snowstorm and blizzard hit Apsley on Monday evening, five inches of snow falling in a few hours. As a consequence, the roads, which were just beginning to dry up, are now as bad as ever.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tucker, of Sudbury, are the guests for a few days, of the former's parents.

Messrs. Tom and Harry Tanner returned on Monday after spending a week with the former's daughter, Mrs. Glen Nichols, at Chatham.

Mr. E. L. Spence, of Sarnia, spent the Easter holiday at the parsonage.

A bunch of invalids, comprising John Coones, Will Staples, Stewart Brown, Tom Wilson, journeyed to Peterborough last week to see specialists.

NO EXCUSE FOR DEAF MEMBERS TO STAY HOME

NORFOLK, Neb., April 25.—(United Press).—Members of the Grace Lutheran Church here find it hard to make an excuse for missing sermons because the pastor, Rev. Fred. C. Brandhorst, is willing to call on the latest inventions to keep his congregation active.

Several of the older people of the church began to miss services. Rev. Brandhorst inquired, and was told they couldn't hear the sermons—special earphones were placed in their pews and connected with the pulpit.

One member of the congregation became invalidated and for that reason was forced to miss services. The next Sunday a special wire had been installed from the pulpit to her sickroom and she was able to hear the services.

C.N.R. Hotel Scribe In Paris Cost $2,733,693.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—The payment made by the Canadian National Railway for the Hotel Scribe, Paris, was $2,733,693, including cost of property, taxes imposts and removal of tenants, stated Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in reply to a question from Sir Henry Drayton. The directors of this company, which holds the title, are S. G. Archibald, Arthur Vanson, F. A. Young, Major Graham Bell and H. B. Harding. The taxes paid in connection with the transfer from Aronivici were $62,153, while during the year 1923, the taxes payable in connection with the hotel were $10,939.

WHY HE COULDN'T PAY

There are all kinds of excuses for not paying a bill, good and bad, but one of the most comprehensive that has ever come to the attention of the editor of "Hammer and Tongs" is the following, picked up some where by our friend, Mr. A. C. Jacobs of Fremont, O'hio:

"For the following reasons I am unable t, send you a check. I have been held up, held down, sand-bagged, walked on, sat down, flatened out and squeezed—first by an income tax, the excess profits tax, war loans, war bonds, war savings certificates, the automobile tax and every society and organization that the inventive mind of man can invent to extract what I may or may not have in my possession.

"Also the Red Cross, the Children's Home, the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., the Salvation Army, the Belgian Relief, the Australian Relief, the Black Cross, the Double Cross and every hospital in the country. The Government has governed my business so that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, inspected, examined and re-examined, informed, required and commanded so that I do not know who I am, where I am or why I am here at all.

"All that I know is that I am supposed to be an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire and hope, and because I will not sell all I have and go out and beg, borrow and steal money to give away, I am discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked at, lied to, lied about, held up, hung up, robbed and so near ruined that the only reason I am hanging on to life is to see what will happen next."

Omemee Correspondence

OMEMEE, April 24.—The sale of farm stock and implements, the property of Mr. Dave Deyell, took place on Thursday last, and in spite of unfavorabble weather, there was an exceedingly large crowd of enthusiastic bidders. Practically everything brought a high price for a spring sale. Mr. and Mrs. Deyell and family moved into their home in the village on Monday, where in future Mr. Deyell will be employed by the Watchman Warder, Lindsay.

A Good Concert.

The cold wet weather of Easter Monday was the means of keeping many away from the splendid entertainment furnished under the auspices of the Women's Guild of Christ Church.

The entertainment was one of keen enjoyment to those privileged to be present. Miss Jessie Butt, contralto, soloist, was heard to good advantage in a varied program of classical as well as Scotch and Irish selections.

Duncan Cowan was at his best and elicited rounds of applause in every number. Special mention should be made of his monologues, which were in a more serious vein, also the Scotch and Irish duets.

Wages at Camp Borden Have Been Reduced.

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—That there has been extensive reduction in wages and personnel at Camp Borden was stated in answer to a question in the House yesterday. In the formation of the Royal Canadian Air Force in April 1, pay of warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men was reduced in many cases and 86 of the personnel did not re-enlist, including medically unfit and "over age" men.

Monetary loss in buildings and equipment consequent on the two fires last year at Camp Borden was stated to be $260,000.

Cycling Far Easier than Walking

FRANK Jones used to complain about his feet getting so hot and achey from his long walks to and from work on the hard roads and pavements.

One day when he felt more tired, and his feet hurt him worse than usual, he happened to see a man go gliding by on a bicycle.

"Cycling is far easier than walking," said Frank to himself. And all day long while he was working that thought kept running through his mind.

That night, on the way home, he dropped into a C.C.M. dealer's and looked over the different C.C.M. models, choosing one that suited him in every way.

Since then Frank's feet have had a much easier time and he's quit complaining. In fact, he's boasting now about how fine and fresh he feels since he started Cycling.

He also tells how quickly and easily he Cycles to work and home again—how he saves the shoe leather he used to wear out on the hard cement walks—how he saves valuable time by Cycling instead of walking.

If you gave Frank a chance he would tell you all about the C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger—the wonderful power plant that responds to the slightest pressure on the pedals and makes the C.C.M. run so smoothly, quietly and easily.

He would show you the strong, powerful frames of English Seamless Tubing—the bright silvery nickeling that won't rust because it is done over copper—the sparkling enamel that is baked on over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand rain, snow and all kinds of weather—the new Gibson Pedal with its rust-proof aluminum frame—and the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake that coasts so easily, has such braking power, and is ounces lighter than the old-style side-arm type.

The C.C.M. dealer will, also, be glad to tell you all about the C.C.M. and to show you the new models—the Standard, the Special, the Sport model, the C.C.M. Flyer, the Curved Bar model.

Prices are $15 to $20 lower than the "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

NURSE CHAPPELLE SAYS TANLAC BRINGS MOST GRATIFYING RESULTS

Nurse With 15 Years' Experience Urges Use of Tanlac--Tells of Her Mother's Experience With World's Famous Tonic.

"I have direct and personal knowledge of so many cases where TANLAC has restored health and strength and helped weak, run-down people to get on their feet that I know it to be an unusual medicine," is the emphatic manner in which Mrs. M. E. Chappelle, Blue Mount and Thomas Ave., Wauwotosa, Wis., a practical nurse of fifteen years' experience, pays tribute to the famous treatment.

"Time and time again I have urged TANLAC'S use and it always brings the most gratifying results. My own mothers, now eighty years old, took TANLAC five years ago, and its has been her standby ever since. Nothing helps her as TANLAC does and she is as strong an advocate of the medicine as I am. Only recently, mother became generally run-down. Her stomach was disordered, her appetite utterly failed her, and she came near having a nervous breakdown. TANLAC gave her a vigorous appetite, corrected al complaints and left not only well and happy but so strong and active that she looks after the home and visits around, as well. And mother thinks the TANLAC Vegetable Pills are the greatest ever.

"In all my long years of experience as a nurse, I have never known the equal of TANLAC."

TANLAC is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Take TANLAC Vegetable Pills.

CHINA NOW HAS A LABOR UNION

By HENRY WOOD.

GENEVA, April 25.—(United Press).—A new law, authorizing and controlling the organization of labor unions, constitutes the latest indication of the industrial and social changes now going on in China, according to a statement just issued by the International Labor Bureau.

In conformity with its obligations as a member of the International Labor Bureau and Labor Conference, Cuba has just sent in a copy of its new law providing for organized labor.

The law, which grants workers in each line of industry the right to organize unions, grants also to the union the standing of a legal entity.

The Chinese unions are encouraged by the law to build up mutual assistance amongst members and to strive for an improvement in labor conditions, to provide for labor investigations, to make proposals to the Government for labor legislation, to reply to all questions asked by the Government and to establish branches throughout the entire republic.

The law requires only ten signatures in order to secure a Governmental authorization for the organization of a union.

The Government also retains the right to dissolve a trade union if its takes action against the present Government; if it disturbs the public peace; if it endangers the normal flow of life of a community or if it is likely to obstruct communication or inflict injury on the nation or society.

According to organized labor experts at the International Labor Bureau this new law places China in the front ranks of those nations who have legislated in behalf of organized labor.

SEARCHING SOUTH SEAS FOR ORIGIN POLYNESIAN RACE

Edwin H. Bryan Searching For a Slender Thread of Evidence to Add to the Knowledge Necessary to Determine the Origin of This Race.

By LORIN TARR GILL.

HONOLULU, April 25.—(United Press).—Down in the South Seas, among the coral-fringed islets of the Central Pacific, Edwin H. Bryan, jr., assistant entomologist with the Bernice P. Bishop Museum of Honolulu, is searching for a slender thread of evidence which will add to the knowledge necessary to determine the origin of the Polynesian race.

Aboard the 75-ton schooner France, in company with the scientists of the Whitney South Sea expedition, the young man has visited the Danger Islands, has travelled southeast from them to the Island of Nassau, northwest to the Phoenix group, and south again to the Union Islands, from which point he will return to Pago Pago, Samoa, where plans will be completed for a visit to British Fiji and Tonga.

The Danger Islands, three small atolls with their surrounding reefs, 700 miles distant from Rarotonga, were mis-named, over 100 years ago, by Commodore Lord Byron. Out of the track of the hurricanes, they lie in a calm where vessels may anchor in safety the greater part of the year. Koko and Ratoe, the northernmost, are about 20 feet high, and are well covered with cocoanut growth. They are inhabited by a simple, earnest, contented people who, since the slaving ships from the coast of Peru ceased their depredations many years ago, have increased in number to about 500, and whose principal occupations are the gathering of cocoanut and, from the bottom of the lagoon, pearl shell and beche-de-mer.

Nassau, about forty miles distant, is two miles in length, with deep water all around.

Each of the archipelagoes near the heart of Polynesia—each low-lying, ring-shaped reef encircling its placid lagoon—carries in its present-day land fauna, plants and insects, its land-shells and its relics of a departed race, indisputable proof of the age-old inhabitation of animals and man—the slow advance of a primitive, copper-skinned people across the trackless waters of Oceania.

In that region lies the evidence which, if the history of the primordial races of the Pacific is to be more than a collection of expanded notes, must be gathered together in this generation.

When the data is co-ordinated—when a fuller knowledge of the culture of the early Pacific races is obtained—the Bishop Museum will be, not only much nearer to the solution of the problem of the origin and migration of the Polynesians, but will be enabled to aid in the rehabilitation of the lying Pacific peoples of today.

MEN! TAKE THIS HOME TREATMENT; REGAIN STRENGTH

Remember how strong you used to be; how steady your nerves were; how your vitality responded to every call you made upon it? Then do not be discouraged even though you are now weak in body and your nerve power seems exhausted. You know that you can pull through to success and happiness just as soon as you can win back your old time vigor and confidence in yourself.

If your body has failed you and you have sacrificed your vitality by overwork or nervous strain, stop worrying and build yourself up again. There is a safe home treatment waiting for you. In twelve days you will feel returning strength.

Start to create red blood that will go pulsing through your veins with the throb of life power. Nourish your nerves which are the driving force of body vitality. Give to your system the elements it must have in abundance to restore you—extracts of beef and malt for strength; iron and maganese to form red blood; glycerophosphates to aid nerve restoration.

Get from your druggist today a generous size bottle of Wincarnis, the restorative that contains these blood, nerve and tissue building elements. This Wincarnis home treatment costs less than ten cents a day. Take it for two weeks and you will know what it will mean to you when you regain your old time strength.

SAVE SPACE.

Much valuable space in a refrigerator may be wasted by not having food stored in compact containers. Wide topped bowls represent great waste because while they have a small base they project at the top. Fruit jars and straight-sided bowls economise space.

EDMONTON, Alberta.—By arrangements made by Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, a trial shipment of cows and steers will be made in the near future to Japan for the purpose of testing out the possibilities of market for Alberta's livestock in that country.

PEOPLE BOUND BY MANY LAWS

Can't Move Without the Authority of Lieutenant-Governor, Says Quebec Conservative Leader — An Infringement Upon Rights.

MONTREAL, April 25. — Speaking at the inauguration of the Liberal-Conservative Club at Outremont last night, Hon. Arthur Sauve, leader of the Quebec opposition, declared that the Provincial legislation was weakening the French-Canadian race by drawing it away a little at a time from its most sacred traditions.

Continuing, he said: "The laws of the past few years are based on a false prnciple, and the principles have been adopted despite objections on the part of the highest religious authorities of our province. Each clause of such laws is part of a clever chain. Some attack the right of the citizen, others the autonomy of municipalities; others the prerogatives of the representatives of the people. It is impossible to move now without authorization from the Lieutenant Governor in Council. By mean of this conduct our people have become discouraged. The laws in regard to public charities, regarding the Banque Nationale, regarding adoption, regarding companies, and the auditing of municipal affairs, are infringements upon what is proper, and against justice and the principles of sane administration."

Mr. Sauve referred to the trip to Toronto of Premier Taschereau and had no criticism of the eulogy the latter had made of Premier Ferguson. He feared however that if we weer invited by Mr. Meighen to attend a meeting to discuss the interests of the two provinces, he would be violently denounced by the provincial ministers in their press, and that occasion would also be taken to insult Mr. Meighen, "so that hatreds might be nourished and prejudices aroused, all for political benefit."

FIRST FLYING BOATS FOR NORTHERN PATROL

TORONTO, April 24 (Canadian Press). — Two flying boats were delivered at Toronto Bay this morning for the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests. They were flown from Montreal by the company which is selling them to the Government.

The Department of Lands and Forests will take possession to-morrow, and will start immediately trying pilots for the Government patrol service in Northern Ontario.

The two flying boats are the first of fourteen purchased by the Government.

As the machines arrive they will be sent to the various patrol stations in Northern Ontario with their crews.

Captain Maxwell is in charge of the service, and central stations are to be established in the North, and a large portion of that part of the Province will be patrolled, starting in a few weeks.

CRIME WAVES DUE TO INEFFICIENCY

Of the Modern Educational Methods in Respect to Mental Hygiene Said Dr. V. V. Anderson

TORONTO, April 24 (Canadian Press). — That the so-called crime waves largely are due to the inefficiency of modern educational methods in respect to mental hygiene, is the view of Dr. V. V. Anderson, of the United States National Committee on Mental Hygiene of New York, who told yesterday afternoon's session of the School Health and Physical Education Section of the Ontario Educational Association that the society is wasting millions of dollars annually in putting "repeaters" back into corrective institutions which would become less populous if money were spent in scientific prevention.

'We are still building hospitals and other corrective institutions at the foot of the cliff and ding practically nothing to guard the top of the precipice," he said.

Recent surveys in the United States had shown that four of five captured criminals were either mentally or physically incapacitated. And a great many cases of adult insanity showed their beginnings while individual is a child in the public school. What we have to learn is that we can wipe out this blot on society only by attacking its causes in the same way that we have attacked physical disease—that is by education.

HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who had awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor who is interested in Prudence. The latter has been falsely accused of stealing at Mrs. Vansittart's home, and has run away to New York. She is rescued from a burning building and carried away in an ambulance. Meanwhile, Virginia, uninvited pays Peter a call one night.

Next day Peter goes to New York on business, reads of Prudence's accident in the papers, and dashes off to the hospital where she has been taken.

Peter and Prudence discover that they love each other.

CHAPTER LIII

An Interruption

Like a flash, the thought of Bertram Traymore darted through the mind of Peter.

With all the honest contempt of every genuine, honorable nature, Peter despised the Tarmyores of this world. They preyed on women. They were liars.

Words, indeed, were feeble to describe such 'lounge-lizards', 'parlor-snakes'.

To the clean-cut mind of Peter, Traymore was a leech of the moist poisonous type.

But—did this unsophisticated little girl still cherish the interest in him that she had done?

Why was there such a hesitant look upon her face?

Then he remembered the recent strain she had come through, and a wave of self-reproach caught him. He cursed himself for a blundering fool.

"Don't look like that. I—I'm awfully sorry. Your nurse will give me no end of talking-to, if she knew the way I—I'd upset you." He gazed anxiously at the invalid. "I'm a selfish beast to come here and—and think only of myself—and the way I feel about you—and forget how weak you are—and everything."

Prudence tried to laugh again, but an odd lump had crept into her throat.

"I'm all right. A narrow escape wasn't it?"

Despite her valiant attempt at nonchalance, the tears were shimmering in her eyes now—tears of weakness and of happiness and a whole variety of emotions that mere man could never understand.

Why did he stand there, so far-off who should have been so near?

But for the very life of her, she couldn't put her wishes into words. Love made one shy and humble and distrustful of oneself, didn't it?

He drew a low chair near the bed, his fine eyes on her face, unsmiling, tensely serious.

Haltingly, she told him the story of the fire, and her own hair-raising experiences.

She tried to laugh over the adjective. "Hair-razing, it should be spelt." She passed a hand over her bobbed locks. "Nurse trimmed it a bit with the scissors just before you came. She—she was sure you would be coming—"

Then, with a vivid blush, Prudence realized how queer the last phrase must sound to him.

"You told her about me, then?"

"No. Oh no." She shook her head. Inwardly he thought:—

"She must have told the nurse about someone? Some man?"

Had she expected Traymore?

We are told that true love casts out doubt, but in real life, alas! It isn't always so.

Peter was human, with a man's power of loving, and a man's jealousy when he does set his heart idolatrously on woman.

Had it not been entirely the trouble at Winston Towers that had forced Prudence to leave home and run away, but had her flight been planned in order to meet Traymore up in town?

The thought was an unworthy one, but it persisted, torturingly, in Peter's mind.

Was she expecting Traymore at the hospital?

Did she love the fellow?

Had her recent surrender to his—Peter's—kiss been merely the instinct of an invalid to cling to a familiar hand, or was Prudence a coquette bent on collecting 'scalps', enjoying the shallow thrill of each new declaration?

Although he did not know it, Virginia's hints had sown the dangerous seeds of doubt . . .

"If you are expecting someone, then I'll go." He tried to make the phrase sound easy, but the words were stilted.

Prudence, with a quick surge of the heart, realized that he was jealous, and hastened to set his mind at rest.

"I'm only expecting my people. Father and mother. Nurse sent a wire to them. She said they would be in a terrible state if they heard about the fire, and maybe not knowing—"

Here she broke off. The part she had played in running off, like a coward, struck her forcibly, and she wondered what Peter could be thinking of her?

Had he heard that hateful story of the theft?

But if he loved her . . and he must love her, for never realizing such a thing, he had grown to mean so much to her! . . he surely couldn't credit such a calumny?

But she couldn't tell him of it. No! She would break down and cry, and thoroughly humiliate herself, were she to breach the painful subject.

"How did you find me out?" (She must say something, no matter what, for Peter was looking at her strangely, as though she were someone whom he scarcely knew!)

"I came up to town on business this morning. Then, in the street I bought an early edition of an evening paper, and read about the fire. When I saw your name, I couldn't believe my eyes! It mentioned you as having been badly hurt, but it didn't say in what hospital you were. The newsboy told me. Somehow or other, he'd found out."

Prudence's eyes widened.

"I've caused a terrible lot of trouble." Her lip trembled, rather like a child's who has done wrong. "I didn't mean to make a fuss. It was just that—that things got unbearable—oh, I can't explain it—and I was a coward, and—and ran away—"

"You didn't think of the feelings of your father and mother, and of those who—who love you?"

"I'm hateful! When you know everything, you won't—you won't—want to see me any more! And I—I couldn't bear that, Peter—honestly, I couldn't!"

She looked piteously up at him, eyes brimming over, and put out a hand to touch his coat.

Peter trembled with an emotion that was a queer mixture of protective love and passion, and a torturing doubt.

"Prudence, if you'll be square with me, I swear that nothing ever shall—"

The words were never finished, for at that moment the door opened, and Bertram Traymore walked into the room.

Successful Event Drew a Large Attendance.

MILLBROOK, Apr. 25.—The Easter dance held in the armouries under the auspices of the G.W.V.A., proved a successful social event, the attendance being as large as could be expected, considering the weather conditions. Good music was provided by Pollis' four-piece orchestra, every number being encored, keeping the floor constantly filled with devotees of the fox trot, waltz, etc., until the supper hour.

The refreshments were both dainty and satisfying, the service excellent, and afterwards dancing was resumed for an hour or two before the guests finally left for home. A number from outside points were among those present.

Some of those in attendance were: Colonel and Mrs. Earchman, of Carleton Place; Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, Keene; Misses Kathleen and Jean Thorndyke, May Byam, Phyllis Richards, Amy Brock, Theo McBride, Bonna Robinson, Dorothy Armstrong, Myrtle Russell, Thelma Spencer (Shanty Bay), Marjorie Sayles, Alex. Johnston, Kathleen Isbister, Edith Deyell, E. Wood, L. Hall (Peterboro'), Gertrude Harkness, Luella Shaw, E. Hutchison, Olive and Ella Elson, Messrs. Dr. Weatherhead (Toronto), Dr. H. Long (Peterboro'), E. A. Hill (Toronto), C. Wolfe, C. Larmer, B. Smith, G. Rorke, C. Haggerman, R. Deyell, Max Sloan, H. Murdoff, W. Davidson (Peterboro'), Dr. J. L. Stuart, Archie Johnston, Alex. Miller, D. Robinson, F. N. Alcorn, Aubrey Pallis, A. Thorne, H. B. Collins, J. N. McGill, F. Gray, C. Brown, and others.

STRAIGHT LINES.

The frock of printed crepe of this season is not draped and wrapped as it was last year, but follows the straight boyish lines that have captured Paris and consequently the rest of the fashionable world. Buttons and bands of plain material are the usual trimming.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, Apr. 25.—It is not often in any town that a centenarian is borne to the grave by six great-grandsons, but such was the case on Wednesday when the funeral took place of Mrs. Jane May, widow of the late Richard May of Hamilton Township and Cobourg. In January last, Mrs. May quietly celebrated at her home on Jarvis Street here, the 100th anniversary of her birth. Her life was made up of three periods, some twenty-five years in Cornwall, England, forty years on a farm in Hamilton Township and thirty-five years in Cobourg. Here, of late, since the infirmities of old age began to tell upon her, she has been tenderly cared for by her daughters. Mrs. Davey and Mrs. Richards, who resided with her. Mrs. May retained the use of her faculties in a wonderful way. She was an untiring seamstress and also devoted to the culture of flowers. When eighty-four years old she made an apron which was exhibited at Port Hope, Roseneath and other fairs and carried off prizes. She loved also to piece quilts and continued this work when well up in the nineties. She was able to help herself also until a short time before her passing. It is interesting to note that at the time that Mrs. May was born in Cornwall, England, there was only one house where now stands the city of Peterboro', so old records state. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tinney, and when grown to womanhood was married in Cornwall to the late Richard May. A few years later, with her parents, her brother John, her husband and a baby daughter, she left England on one of the slow-sailing vessels of those olden days, for Canada and Cobourg, the voyage taking several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Tinney took up residence in Cobourg, where Mr. Tinney began his trade as a tailor.

Mr. and Mrs. May went to a farm north of Baltimore in Hamilton Township, where they were engaged in agriculture until their removal to Cobourg, where Mr. May died about thirteen years ago. Of their family of four daughters and one son, there survive: Mrs. Wm. Dundas, Sr.; Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Davey of Cobourg. A daughter, Mrs. Reuben May, and a son, John May, predeceased her. Surviving also are twenty-one grandchildren, sixty-nine great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren.

The funeral took place this afternoon from her late residence, James Street, to the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Amos and Kenneth, McMann, Bruce, Horace and Whitney Davey, and Tweed Earls. The services were conducted by Rev. Canon Sawers.

Mrs. May's father, the late Henry Tinney, lived to be 97 years old.

The Late Wm. Thomas

A citizen who was highly esteemed, has passed away in the death of William Thomas, who was for many years a foreman and valued employee of the Cobourg Woollen Mills. He was born in Cornwall, England, and came to Cobourg where he has since resided, in 1867. He married Miss Linda Kirk, of Cobourg, who survives him, but leaves no family. Mr. Thomas is survived also by one sister, Mrs. Richard Tinney, Provincial Road West. He was a member of the Methodist Church and of the A.O.U.W.

Sudden Death

A very sudden death occurred at Colborne on Saturday evening when Mrs. James Bell, who had been out shopping and was usually well during the day, passed suddenly away. Miss Lizzie Bell resided with her mother and there are others of the family residing elsewhere. The funeral took place on Monday from her late residence. Interment was at the Union Cemetery at Colborne.

Celebrated 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Male, formerly of Colborne, celebrated the fifty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, an unusual event in the lives of most couples, at their home in Rochester, on Tuesday evening, and received congratulations from a large circle of friends. Their six children, three sons and three daughters, fifteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren were with them to participate in the happy event.

Floating Specks Before The Eyes Means Liver Trouble

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything seems to turn black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you can rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and clear away the accumulated mass of waste and poisonous matter from the system.

Mr. Chas. Ayland, Frankville, Ont., writes:—"I used to be awfully bothered with floating specks before my eyes, headaches and sickness to my stomach. I took just half a vial of your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and ever since I have felt as well as I ever did. Now I always keep them on hand."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GOOD SILK.

Good quality silk does not burn rapidly and leaves a black ash. Weighted or loaded silk flashes up, burns quickly and leaves behind a dull-red ash. When in doubt about the wearing quality of silk, try this test.

METHODIST MEET IN NEW ENGLAND.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 25.—(United Press).—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which will be held in May at Springfield, Mass., is expected to draw 850 delegates from all parts of the United States and forty-four foreign nations and territories. The conference will legislate for 4,774,500 members of the church in the world. Half the delegates are ministers and half laymen.

One subject for discussion at the forthcoming conference will be the union of the Methodist Episcopal Church with the Methodist Episcopal Church South. If the plan is accepted by the conference the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which normally meets in 1925, will probably be called in special session to consider the plan. Acceptance by that body will make the plan effective. Large sections of the membership of each of the two churches are in favor of unification.

Another question to be reviewed by the conference is the status of the Episcopacy. The entire system of Episcopal supervision will be considered.

The entire organization of the benevolent boards of the denomination is to be considered. Several plans have been discussed and a commission appointed to study the question. The general conference will decide whether the present ten highly specialized board will be combined into a single general board with many departments or left as they are.

TWO AVIATORS KILLED.

WASHINGTON, Ills., April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Two naval aviators, H. Green and H. R. Cruickshank were killed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station Thursday when their seaplane crashed into a tree from a height of 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple—way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

CLEAN PILLOWS

To clean pillows empty the feathers into a cheese-cloth bag and tie securely. Then wash in a big tub of strong white soapsuds to which ammonia has been added. Rinse in clear hot water twice and hang to drain and dry in the sun.

SCRATCHES

A scratch in furniture that goes no deeper than the varnish may be helped by holding a red hot poker an inch above it for the space of about half a minute, and rubbing well as soon as it cools with a mixture of alcohol, olive oil and vinegar in equal quantities.

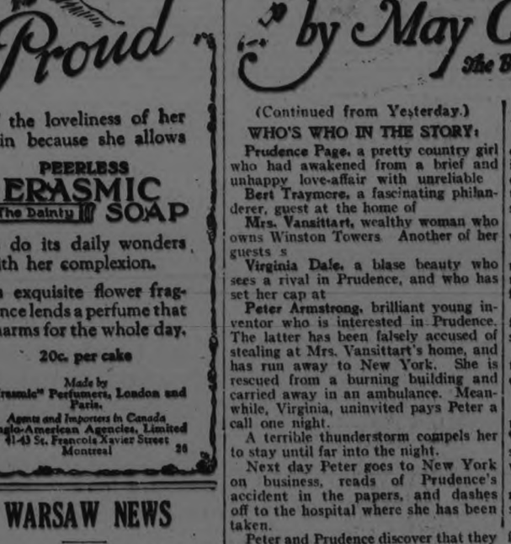
6 Daring Tests you should make before you buy any roofing

1. HEAT TEST: Lay sample of Vulcanite on hot radiator for 12 hours. See if it will melt or dry out.
2. ICE TEST: Lay sample on ice for 12 hours. Then pour boiling water on it. See if extreme of temperature affect it.
3. WATER TEST: Soak sample in water for 12 hours. See if, by weight, it absorbs any water.
4. ACID TEST: Immerse sample in hydrochloric acid. See if it is affected in any way.
5. FIRE TEST: Lay white-hot coal of fire on sample. See if it sets the roofing on fire.
6. "SCUFF" TEST: Lay sample on floor; scuff it hard with your shoe. See if any of the slate-surfacing will come off.



Distinctive Roofs—

Offering the Utmost in Protection

YOU'LL have a roof which will make your house stand out in a distinctive, yet decidedly attractive manner if it is covered with Vulcanite Hexagon Slabs. Finished in soft green, blue-black or Indian red, a deep-tile effect is produced, adding to the value as well as the appearance of your home.

Vulcanite Hexagon Slabs are unusually practical and economical as well. The patented design makes the slabs double thick everywhere. They are easy and economical to apply, because they space automatically, saving time and money. They make a fire-and-weather-resisting roof which is an enduring source of beauty and protection.

Read carefully the six daring tests listed here. These shingles are made to withstand them. See if any other roofing will.

Learn all about these sturdy, modern shingles which cost less in the end. Write for free sample and our free book on roofing.

Vulcanite Roofing is also made in Doubletite Slabs, Four-in-One Slabs, Self-Spacing Shingles, Jumbo Hexagon Slabs for re-roofing and in rolls. Approved by National Board of Fire Underwriters.

"The Finish that Endures"

Porch & Veranda Floor Paint

For Exterior and Interior Floors

Offset the Wear and Tear on Your Floors With Floglaze Porch and Veranda Floor Paint---

Long wear is the quality that makes an exterior and interior floor paint economical. To give that wearing quality it must have elasticity, toughness, hardness, and be waterproof.

Floglaze Porch and Veranda Floor Paint is made with our special scientifically treated oils, which are particularly adapted to long and hard wear. This treatment makes the paint elastic, tough, hard and waterproof, and causes it to self-level to a beautiful smooth finish.

"It wears on the floor—not off."

Floglaze, with its long-wearing qualities, requires the minimum of renewal. This is its real economy in saving paint, labor, and the trouble of tearing up the order of the home.

PROGRESSIVE MEMBER AT THE KIWANIS CLUB

Tells Why the Boys Will Not Stay on the Farm and Makes Plea for Unity and Co-operation

Mr. T. E. Ross M.P., for North Simcoe and a member of the Progressive party at Ottawa gave some interesting sidelights on the budget at to-day's luncheon of the Peterboro Kiwanis Club. Mr. Ross who is a personal friends of Kiwanian Joseph Wearing was the speaker of the day and while his remarks were chiefly confined to an exposition of the farmers' position in the great struggle for existence he favoured the gathering with a reference to the Federal budget which he intimated was designed to lower the cost of living for all classes. As a member of the Progressive group in the Dominion House, Mr. Ross said he would not do anything that would injure industry as the country needed industries. "The farmers," said Mr. Ross, "are interdependent and could not get along without industory. The speaker said he was not a high tariff man but was willing to give whatever protection was required to protect industry. On the other hand he was not willing to be a party to granting such protection to industry as to enable them to make excessive profits for shareholders. The reduction that was made on implements will not mean much to the farmer, said Mr. Ross. What we did want is a reduction in the cost of living. The Massey Harris Company of Toronto, The International Company of Orillia, were among the implement mnufacturers who have said that they will be able to go on and do business as implement manufacturers.

After the Budget was announced, said Mr. Ross ,Senator Bennett met me in the lobby and said, "Ross you had better not go near Orillia or they will skin you alive." When I was home for the Easter vacation, a representative of the Tudhope Company drove out sixteen miles to my home to see me and I told him the story. The representative assured me that I would be just as welcome in Orillia as Senator Bennett any time.

Character Building

The future of our country lies in the Kiwanis motto "we build". We are building character and in doing it are building Canada as a nation. We need unity, harmony and co-operation between the urbanites and ruralities. We have our own problems and in that respect we are not different from anybody else. The shortage of help is one of the most serious difficulties we have to face. The boys will not stay on the farm. I do not think our educational system is to blame. One reason for this difficulty is that the boy on the farm sees the boy in the town getting more money for the time and energy invested. The speaker said he was one of a family of five boys and was the only boy to remain on the farm. From the standpoint of material and money any one of the other four could buy him out many times over, Farmers, said Mr. Ross, pay high wages although those who live in the city do not think so. The wages are high compared with what the farmer receives for his produce. The laborer is worthy of his hire and the man who pays a good wage can expect to get a good return in service. Another handicap to the farmer is the shortage of conveniences. In the city the housewife simply has to turn a button. The farmer cannot enjoy the blessings of hydro power because of the high cost of transmission. The same applies to many other things, said Mr. Ross in conclusion.

Need Leadership

Dr. Frederick Taylor, circulating manager for the Canadian Annual Review and who is interested in educational work was among to-day's guests and favored the club with a brief address on Canada's needs one of which was leadership. Dr. Taylor deplored the fact that there were no Macdonalds or Mowats today and said this was an age of reconstruction. He was impressed with the possibilities of Peterboro and said that if we would progress politically, economically or any other way it would be by our behaviour.

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, representing the Peterboro Health Association thanked the Kiwanis club for their interest in the Motor Show and the work of the Health Association which was all linked up together.

Dr. G. S. Cameron, also representing the Peterboro Health Association spoke in similar view and commended the Kiwanians for their splendid efforts to help make the show a success. To-day's booster was Kiwanian Jack Chadwick of the Canadian Woollens Company and the prize-winners were Kiwanians Hugh Nevin, Jack Green and Charlie Cook as usual.

Kiwnian Chadwick in no uncertain terms said that local industries would be more prosperous if local merchants bought Canadian made goods instead of filling their shelves with goods from every country in the world except Canada.

Mr. Harold Snelgrove contributed two solos that were appreciated, and Kiwanian Martin Chenhall officiated at the piano.

Kiwanian George Henderson invited the members of the Club to inspect the new substation this afternoon and evening, and said the juice would be turned on at midnight tonight, after which it would not be safe for inspection.

Mr. C. L. Giffen, of Toronto, representing the Canadian Nashua Paper Company, was a guest at to-day's luncheon.

A vote of thanks to the speakers was moved by Kiwanian Wells Fraser and Kiwanian Joseph Wearing.

EARLY ENGLISH ELECTION IS LIKELY THIS SUMMER

LONDON, April 25. — (Canadian Press).—An early general election is looked for by Sidney Webb, President of the Board of Trade, who says an appeal to the country by the Labor Government is quite likely to be made this summer.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people wh enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

CHURCH UNION HEARING OPENS NEXT WEDNESDAY

OTTAWA, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Wednesday next has been set for the opening of hearings upon the Church Union Bill. This decision was reached at the Private Bills Committee of the Commons this morning without discussion. It is the intention to ask the House of Commons for permission to sit during the sessions of the Chamber, and, if necessary, the committee will sit all day both Wednesday and Thursday. The committee approved this arrangement on the suggestion of Chairman McGivern, who said that this plan had been arrived at after consulting both advocates and opponents of the measure.

MONTHLY SOCIAL OF G.W.V.A. HELD THUR.

The regular monthly social of the G.W.V.A. was held last evening in the Veterans' Hall, when 250 veterans and their friends spent an enjoyable evening. The chair was taken by Comrades Major Sutton and Winterbottom. A splendid programme was rendered by the following artists: Mrs. R. Scholey, Comrade Japp, Comrade Keller, Miss Grace Davis, Miss Shurety, Comrade T. Williams. At the conclusion of the concert refreshments were served, after which the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. The next social will be held on Friday, May 23rd. This will be the last one of the season, but will be resumed again in September next. The officers and members of the committee desire to thank all the artists who took part in the socials, to the Ladies' Auxiliary who served the refreshments, and especially Comrade H. Lewis, who so ably presided at the piano.

WHITE, CREAM LACE.

White or cream lace this season is most frequently made up over a black satin foundation, while the black lace gown is mounted on a slip of flesh-colored satin.

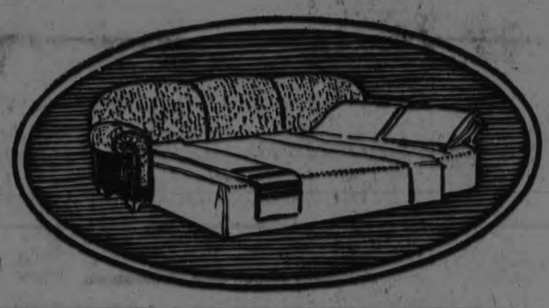
KROEHLER Chesterfields have Inward Goodness with Outward Beauty

IN any piece of furniture carrying the "Kroehler Made" label you will find inward goodness worthy of outward beauty. In upholstered furniture, the quality of materials and workmanship beneath the upholstery determines the kind of service you may expect. On a Chesterfield and accompanying chairs the name "KROEHLER" is your assurance of long life and satisfying service, as well as the utmost in comfort and distinctive beauty.

Kroehler designers evolve Chesterfield styles of strikingly beautiful lines and proportions. Superb coverings in rich but subdued colors and wide variety of fabrics give surpassing loveliness to match the luxurious repose of a deep-seated Kroehler Chesterfield.

And you know that beneath are those hidden niceties of workmanship and material that are the secret of the lasting quality of Kroehler Furniture —frames of kiln-dried hardwood, yielding yet sagless seat springs, backs of the soft, pillow spring type, and the very finest of new, sanitary filling materials.



Many Styles and Prices

Furniture builders trained to the Kroehler standard of painstaking construction produce Chesterfield Suites in a pleasing variety of styles, to grace any home and suit every purse. And the same guaranteed quality is found in Kroehler Davenport Beds, likewise made in a wide range of overstuffed and period designs.

The Kroehler Davenport Bed is Canada's supreme two-purpose furniture. It introduces unsuspected economies into home furnishing. The saving of space, fuel and rent is added, with no subtraction of elegance or comfort. By day as a real davenport, and by night as a real bed, a "Kroehler" imparts an atmosphere of hospitality and relaxation in any home, small or great.

The Chesterfield Suite shown here (No. 317) is typical of the Kroehler over-stuffed line. This suite is also obtainable with Davenport Bed (No. 1317). Leading furniture dealers are proud to show the whole range of "Kroehler Made" Furniture.

MOTORIST HAS ONLY TO LOOK AT THREE PLACES IF HIS ENGINE STALLS

Ignition, Carburetion or Mechanical Trouble Are Source of Motor's Failure —Sudden Stop Generally Due to Ignition—Cause of Loss of Power.

SYMPTOMS DIFFER.

By CLYDE H. PRALT.

"The engine in my car has stopped; I can't get it started. What is the matter?" This is a question about automobiles asked more often than all the other questions combined.

The general principles of the gasoline engine have undergone but little change throughout its entire commercial history, the principal advancement being more along the lines of reliability and excellent economical service than in general fundamental principles. It is, however, still a piece of machinery and many times annoying to the driver by unexpectedly stopping, then refusing to start again when there seems to be, to the amateur at least, nothing wrong.

There are three places in general to look for trouble in case the engine does not run properly or refuses to start. The first is in the ignition system, the second carburetion, and the third mechanical trouble. An experienced driver can usually tell from the performance of the engine before stopping in which one of the three places the trouble may be found.

If the engine stops suddenly, it usually means that the fault is in the ignition system. On the other hand, if it stops by first beginning to lose power and gradually dying down, or pops back through the carburetor several times before stopping, the trouble is most likely in the carburetion. Ignition system troubles are often complicated for an inexperienced person, although often it is simply due to a loose wire which may be easily located if you have made some previous study of the wiring system and known in a general way the places to which the ignition wires should be attached. Ordinarily there should be no loose wire ends, which means that if you find a loose wire hanging beneath the hood it is disconnected from somewhere and should be replaced on some binding post, and if you are familiar enough with the wires you will be able to replace it and thus overcome the trouble.

Go Over Wiring Often.

The binding post nuts are usually loosened some time before they fall off and thus you can often prevent trouble by going over the wiring system occasionally and trying these nuts with your fingers to see that they are all tight. Neither pliers nor wrenches should be used on any of the wire connections aside from the storage battery connections as the parts to which the wires are fastened are usually very light and you will certainly make trouble for yourself by using the heavier tools by which you can easily break the binding posts or their connections.

In case you are not getting any spark in the spark plugs, try turning on the light switch and see if the head lamps burn. If they do not, it probably means that there is a loose connection at one of the storage battery posts or on the connection between the ground wire from the storage battery and the frame of the car. If the lights are bright but go out entirely when you step on the starter, it means that the trouble is caused by a loose connection at the battery terminal.

By tightening the battery connections or often tapping the connections lightly with a small wrench or hammer, enough of a connection will usually be made so that the starter will work. It is well worth while for every driver to spend considerable time studying the instruction book in regard to the wiring system of his particular car and then in case of trouble on the road he will be in better shape to locate and also remedy it.

Sometimes the ignition trouble is caused by mechanical difficulties, such as failure of the breaker points to either open or close or a broken motor brush in the distributor, but as a general thing it is usually caused by loose connection on one of the wires.

Foul Spark Plugs.

If the engine runs with a regular skip, the trouble is usually a dirty or broken spark plug and by shorting the different plugs one at a time with a screw-driver or other piece of metal, you will detect the one which is missing because when you short this one it will make no difference in the running of the motor while if you short a plug which is firing regularly, the engine immediately slows down a little as the plug which you are shorting will stop firing.

When you have found the plug which is not working properly, remove this from the engine, and if it is filled with carbon clean it out with some waste and a knife blade, or a small stick and waste, unless it be a two-piece plug, in which case you can remove the porcelain from the shell and wipe it off with a piece of waste. Do not use sandpaper or emery cloth on the porcelain as it will scratch the surface and cause it to break or to immediately carbon up again on being put back into the engine.

After you have cleaned the porcelain and reassembled the plug, make sure that the points are the proper distance apart, whish is .025 of an inch for most motors. It is well for every driver to have a spark plug gauge with which to test these points before putting the plug back into the engine.

The Gasoline Line.

In case the trouble seems to be in the gasoline system, first look to see if there is plenty of gasoline in the supply tank, and if so, then open the gasoline drain valve on the carburetor and allow the gasoline to run for a few seconds to see if it runs through to the carburetor freely. If there be no drain on the carburetor, remove the gasoline pipe line from the carburetor and see if the gasoline runs out there freely. In case it does not run, it is possible that the shut-off valve at the tank has worked around and closed of itself, and if not, it is possible that dirt has worked down into the tank and plugged up the line.

The easiest way to clean this temporarily is to blow back through the gasoline pipe and force the dirt away from the opening of the tank. This does not happen very often, but in case it does, it is very hard for the amateur either to discover the trouble or remedy it.

Mechanical troubles which may develop include the sticking of the valves, breaking the valve springs, valve tappet adjustments working loose, or the actual breaking of some part of the engine. These are things which fortunately do not occur very often as they can usually be repaired only by an experienced mechanic. If any particular engine starts hard all the time or often has to to be primed, it means that the carburetor choke is not working properly. This, fortunately is a trouble which can be easily remedied by a good repairman.

Many drivers do not care to make their own repairs, but oftentimes small parts will work out of adjustment when you are a long way from help, and a little knowledge at such times may save you an immense amount of trouble so that it is worth while to spend a considerable time over the instruction book and learn how to make the minor adjustments aside from the regular repair work.

HER CHILDREN HAD WHOOPING COUGH

This is one of the most dangerous diseases of children. It starts with fever and cough. The cough is at first short and sharp, but gradually increases in severity and occurs in sudden spasms, vomiting follows, and sometimes there is nose bleed; the child turns livid in the face, the eyes appear as if they would burst from their sockets, and suffocation seems emminent till relief is brought on by the "whoop."

Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucous and phelgm and in this way ease the racking cough, and in a short time make is disappear.

Mrs. L. Ambrose, Sarnia, Ont., writes:—"My little ones were both sick with whooping cough. I read where Dr. Wood 's Norway Pine Syrup was good, and I only used two bottles and they were better. I had chronic bronchitis for three years and tried everything until, finally, I got 'Dr Wood's'. I would not be without this remedy."

Violin solo, Melody in F (Beekenstein), Mr. Hector Munroe, (Miss Barbara Foote accompanying). Piano solo, Waltz, Chopin, op. 64. No. 2, Miss Barbara Foote. Song, The Floral Dance, Miss Lois Pearce, (Miss Cuffe accompanying). Piano solo, Miss Lois Cuffe. Song, The Little Damzel, Miss Evelyn Scott. Piano solo, Kamenir-Ostrim (Beekenstein), Miss Barbara Foote.

Miss Pearce, as well as the citizens of Norwood, have good reason to be poud of the young folk who took part.

MOTOR INDUSTRY ONE OF BIGGEST IN THE COUNTRY.

While One of the Youngest It Is the Fastest Growing —General Motors Built 50,000 in 1923 — Need Economical Transportation.

Although the automobile industry in Canada has hardly reached its twentieth birthday, it ranks second in volume of all commercial enterprises. The industry is just in its infancy. Due to the fact that we have a large stretch of country with comparatively small population, the need for economical methods of transportation is very great. The automobile to-day furnishes the most economical method of quick transportation and the demand for good automobiles is destined to increase for some years to come. Greater prosperity and aggressive good roads programme are needed to speed up demand.

How large a factor Canada really is in the production of automobiles is not generally known to any except to those intimately connected with Canada, Limited, which is Canada's premie automobile manufacturer, built over 50,000 motor cars in 1923. Of these 50,000, 27,000 were exported to British and foreign countries, which helps greatly to swing the trade balance Canada's way. The value of the Canadian exports in 1923 was almost $34,000,000.

An Old Industry.

The motor car industry is hardly out of its teens, but the vehicle industry is as old as the Dominion itself. In Canada, McLaughlin vehicles, whether motor-driven or horse-drawn, have been known to the Canadian public since the third year of confederation. Robert McLaughlin built carriages in 1869. More, he built a national business reaching into every corner of Canada. In this successful carriage business at Oshawa were trained R. S. and G. W. McLaughlin. In 1907, the McLaughlin Motor Car Co. Limited, was formed and a contract made for the manufacturing of Buick cars in Canada. The comparatively new idea in vehicles—the motor car— came to Canada sponsored by McLaughlin, and from the first, McLaughlin-Bucik was looked upon as "Canada's standard cars."

Through the vicissitudes of the early automobile days, when each year brought new cars to replace the ones that faded from view, McLaughlin-Buick came to stand for stability —a reliable car, with a well-known firm back of it. Gradually the sales of carriages were replaced by the sales of automobiles, and in 1915 the old carriage factory was converted into an automobile plant for the manufacture of Chevrolet cars. The new venture gained quick impetus from the success of the well-established McLaughlin-Buick.

There are 850 General Motors dealers in Canada, 40 per cent of whom distribute the McLaughlin-Buick. These dealers work under the supervision of twelve factory branches in important centres of population from St. John to Vancouver.

The McLaughlin-Buick in Canada came as a natural inheritance of the McLaughlin carriage, which still remains a standard and a tribute to its builder throughout the Dominion

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Salvation Army Plan Special Meetings—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25.—The Salvation Army officers here are making preparations for their special services on Friday night in the Methodist Church. Commissioner Sowton, who has been abroad for several years in the work, will give the address of the evening. The choir of the Methodist Church will be present, and the Northumberland Regiment band will also be present and will play during the evening. Colonel Adby will be with the Army staff and will give some special music.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Davidson, Frank Street. After the devotional part, Rev. W. Elliott, pastor of the church, took the chair, and after a few opening remarks, proceeded with the election of officers for the coming year. The following are the officers elected:—President, Mrs. J. A. Irwin; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Stone; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. F. J. Smith; secretary, Mrs. C. B. Williams; treasurer, Mrs. C. Davidson; pianist, Mrs. C. W. Turner; assistant pianist, Mrs. R. Melville; parsonage committee—Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Stone, Mrs. J. A. Frederick, and Mrs. Payne. The visiting committee and the collectors of last year were re-appointed. Rev. W. Elliott congratulated the ladies on the splendid work they had done during the past year. The total amount raised for the year was $1,626. A beautiful silver baptism cup was and presented to the church for baptismal services.

The new president then took the chair and took up the new work for the year. It was decided to have a garden party and the date fixed was June 13, 1924.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Williams. On motion of Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. Williams, a vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Stone for her splendid work as president for the past two years. About twenty ladies were present at the meeting.

Mrs. Elmer Craig and children, of Brighton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Plumpton, Inkerman Street, during the holidays.

Mr. A. G. Willoughby, of the Bank of Montreal Staff at Napanee, visited at his mother's for Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arkles and daughter, Mrs. Denike, of Warkworth, spent Wednesday in town.

Mr. Harold Copperthwaite, of Wallaceburg, spent Easter with his mother Mrs. Coppefthwaite, Grand Road.

Mr. William Brady has gone to Hamilton to live. He has secured a position there.

Mr. Bernard Curran, of the Bank of Montreal staff, has been transferred to Trenton.

Miss K. Ferris, of the High School staff, is spending her holidays in Ottawa with her sister, Mrs. J. Kern.

Miss Allison Moffat, daughter of Mr. T. E. Moffat, late principal of the High School here, is spending her holidays with Miss Muriel Kingston, Frank Street.

Mr. S. Chessell, who has been spending the Easter holidays with Mrs. Chessell, on Palliser Street, returned to his duties at Ernestown on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell and son, Mr. Walter Mitchell, motored to Toronto for Easter to visit their daughter, Mrs. Harold Hillyer. They returned on Tuesday, and Mrs. Hillyer returned with them to spend some time here.

Miss Roxy entertained a few girls on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Allison Moffatt and Lily McDonald, who are visitors in town. After enjoying a pleasant time with games and contests, a dainty tea was served.

Mrs. F. F. Long and two children, who have been visiting Mr. Long's mother in Peterboro, returned home on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mabel Hay, of the Normal School staff in Toronto, who spent Easter at her home in Campbellford, has returned to Toronto to attend the O. E. A.

Miss Grace Payne, who has been visiting Mrs. Walker in Toronto, and Miss Marion Moore in Hamilton, returned to her home on Frank Street on Thursdry night.

Mrs. T. H. Mills, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Malcolm, for nearly three weeks, left on Thursday to visit in Lindsay and Toronto before going to her new home in Galt.

Mr. Fred Burgar, of Toronto, was in town Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Nelly M. Turner, teacher at Parry Sound Public School, who spent the Easter holidays at her home on Queen Street, left for Parry Sound on Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Clarke, of the construction department of the Hydro, Toronto, motored down to Campbellford on Wednesday, and while in town were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malcolm, Sebastapool Street. They returned home on Thursday afternoon.

BLUNDERS

WHY IS THIS WRONG?

When mail is allowed to accumulate in offices until closing time, it not only places an additional burden on the postal service, but is apt to miss important early afternoon train dispatches. This often causes a whole day's delay in delivery. Mail should be posted as soon as it is ready, and at frequent periods of the day.

GOING TO GOTHAM? TRY THIS.

On and after April 27, Torontonians will have the opportunity of travelling to New York City on a train which besides affording typical "Canadian National" equipment and service, will cover the route in fast time, via Canadian National-Lehigh Valley Railways. The new train will leave Toronto daily at 5.30 p.m. and land its passengers at the magnificent and centrally located Pennsylvania depot at 8.26 a.m., the next morning.

Besides the usual sleeping car equipment, there will be a drawing room-compartment car and exceptional dining car service.

The return trip should of course be made on the corresponding New York-Toronto train, which will leave the metropolis daily at 6.15 p.m., arriving Toronto 8.53 a.m.

TO GIVE BAND CONCERT SUNDAY EVENING NEXT.

By permission of Lieut.-Colonel F. Bradburn, the band of the Peterboro Rangers will give a special concert in the Grand Opera House on Sunday evening next. In response to repeated requests, the band will give several numbers that have been played during the season, including the Musical Switch, containing selections from various operas.

The following artists have kindly consented to assist in the programme—Mrs. Ernest Kitney, contralto; Mr. A. Lee, tenor, and Mr. R. Stephenson, late basso soloist, of Yorkminster Cathedral, England. Mr. R. J. Devey will again act as accompanist. There will be a silver collection to defray expenses.

ANOTHER BIG CROWD AT THE MOTOR SHOW

Over Twelve Hundred People Passed Through the Gates Last Evening—Many Fine Attractions.

Last night saw another big crowd in the Armouries building for the Motor Show. Over twelve hundred people passed the portals and patronized the various events that keep things going at a rapid pace. An item on the previous evening's programme, which was very much missed last night, was the presence of the jolly group of minstrels who added so much to the color and gaiety of the scene on the opening night. It was felt that Alex. Dick and his fellow-Kiwanians were doing much more to forward the success of the Motor Show when they appeared, as on the first evening, in the minstrel regalia and entertained the crowd immensely, than when they arrived in sedate garments and pink rose boutonnieres, as they did last evening, to patronize the various booths.

The many attractions had a fine attendance last night. The entrance to the dance hall was blocked, as usual, by the crowd eager to get in and join the dancers; the Rotary-Kiwanis, midway upstairs, had a large and hilarious audience, with the Art exhibit receiving special attention; the tearoom was well filled during the afternoon and evening for the excellent supper and afternoon tea served; and the various booths did a flourishing business. The Symphony Orchestra, led by Prof. Gliddon, had a very bright programme, that commenced with a gay march, "The Belle of New York," and included the lovely strains of "In a Monastery Garden," and the superb overture, "Fidelio." In the upper recreation room of the eastern gallery the 57th Regimental Chapter I.O.D.E. had charge of card tables, where bridge was played during the afternoon and evening. There was a good attendance during both sessions, prizes in the afternoon going to Miss Nina Davidson and Mrs. D. Walker, with consolation awards to Mrs. E. H. Wood and Mrs. R. Hinton. Last evening, bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Carmen and Mr. A. Dickenson. The committee in charge of the card-room includes Mesdames E. H. Howson, C. E. Jamieson, H. Foote and Miss M. Rush.

The Peterboro Rangers Band played near the Armouries last evening, and there was also an open-air entertainment, in films, projected on a screen placed on the Armouries' eastern wall, showing educational, industrial and agricultural pictures provided by the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph and the Provincial Motion Picture Bureau, under the operation of the Ford Motor Company, whose representative has been showing these films at Millbrook and Norwood during the week, and was brought here by Mr. Duffus for last night's show. The pictures had a pleased audience of small urchins, who seemed quite in accord with the sentiments expressed in the film entitled "Keep the Boy down on the Farm."

In the west-end section of the building, there is an interesting exhibit on view from the Provincial Department of Public Highways, showing different types of road materials and literature describing the same. In one corner is the small section devoted to the Peterboro branch of the Ontario Motor League, where are shown its literature and maps and road guides, with Mr. Leon Frazer in charge.

Exhibit of Cars.

The automobile dealers, whose co-operation and enthusiasm have so much to do every year with the success of the Motor Show and the furtherance of the good work which lies behind its organization, deserve a great deal of credit for the part they play in making the annual event successful and interesting. As a busy time of year, they give a great deal of care and attention to getting their cars ready, placing them and answering all the inquiries that come from every side during the three days. Although some of the dealers declare that the Motor Show does not help their business materially, and is brought on at a bad time for placing orders, the more optimistic-minded say that the big exhibit affords people a chance to make comparisons and accumulate information which results in placing of orders later on.

The display of cars, large and small, this year is especially good. Andrew Brown & Company are showing nine cars, four of the Oldsmobile type; the Olds Six, new this year' a touring model and two coupes, and five of the McLaughlin Buicks, a Sport 53, a big touring car in a very handsome finish of fawn color, with grey trim; a five-passenger sedan; a four-passenger coupe; and a Master Six, 2445; a special car with a dark grey body and four-wheeled brakes. Rich maroon and a dark blue finish the coupe and the sedan. "The past month has been the busiest in eight years," is the cheerful announcement of Mr. Brown.

A next-door neighbour to the Brown cars is Mr. J. P. Palkinghorn, who has agencies for the Willys-Knight and the Overland cars. Here is a good-looking sedan 91 and a 91 touring car, in dark finishes, and the Little Champion four-passenger coach, a neat, compact little car, with particularly attractive trimmings in its leatherette cover and steel trim, with inner facilities for sleeping arrangements for touring parties. Mr. F. L. Roy has bought the Little Champion car shown here, making his ninth Overland purchase.

The Gillespie Garage is showing the Maxwell make and a big Chrysler Six, the five-passenger phaeton with four-wheeled hydraulic brakes that had its birth at the Maxwell Motor company's works in Windsor, on the first day of this year, and that "has made a big hit at the Chicago and New York Shows." Other Maxwell cars here are the Club sedan, the four-passenger coupe, and the standard touring model.

The Ford people, with Mr. J. J. Duffus in charge, have a variety of motor vehicles, ranging all the way from the little Fordson tractor for power farming purposes, to the big, luxurious Lincoln and the commonsense little new 1924 coupe, "at the lowest price in history," the new Ford Tudor coach, the Ford touring car, and the Fordor, with an aluminum body, and "nearly a hundred pounds lighter that the average sedan."

Mr. F. C. Weber has the Studebaker and the Packard cars, the latter "America's most envied car," with its beautiful blue finish and stream lines, in coupe and touring models, the coupe showing the latest touches in its encased tobacco-holders and its special rear interior arrangements for disposing of golf paraphernalia. The Studebaker cars are a Light Six and two touring specials.

The Brewer Motor Sales' showing includes the Hudson, Reo, and Essex makes, with a Hudson sedan in bark blue finish and a new type of body, the small-paned windows giving it a very special appearance and making for convenience inside and out. The Hudson coach is another good-looking model, and there is a Reo sport and touring car, and an Essex six-cylinder coach.

The Howson Garage shows a five-passenger sedan, a four-passenger coupe, a regular touring car, and a roadster in the Chevrolet make.

W. J. Hamilton, agent for the New Gray Dort, is showing three cars, featuring a sports model, a six-cylinder sedan and a regular touring model.

In the far section, enclosed at the end of the big hall, are three separate showings. J. E. A. Fitzgerald has the Star and the Durant, the former in a special sedan, in the dark blue finish which is so popular this year, with the interior in grey velours and disc wheels, a special touring model in radio blue, and a standard touring. The Durant cars are a sedan, a coupe and a special touring.

The Hupmobile, which has not yet been definitely consigned to any agency in the city, is a bran new arrival in Peterboro. A blue standard touring and new club sedan are shown, the latter a five-passenger Model with disc wheels, in attractive lines and finish.

KNITTED COATS.

Long knitted coats for summer come in white and in all the vivid sport shades. They are perfectly straight as to line but some have wide scarfs and others fasten closely about the throat.

CORINTHIAN CHAPTER VISITED IN TORONTO

Fraternal Visit to King Solomon Chapter Was Most Enjoyable Event--Old Friends Met.

The officers and companions of Corinthian Chapter journeyed to Toronto on Thursday night and made a fraternal visit to King Solomon's Chapter. The following companions were in the party, which left here on the 3.50 C.P.R. train, occupying a special coach: First Principal R. L. Dobbin, D. D. Brown, W. D. Campbell, W. A. Logan, W. H. Henry, R. H. Ross, G. D. Mann, J. H. Miller, R. J. Mitchell, I. O. M. Wilson, W. H. Lytle, C. B. Adair, R. Cotton, R. T. Medd, M. R. Turner, G. L. Hay, J. W. Fraser, F. Hills, E. Reuiter, J. A. Jeffries, Chas. Lacheur, C. S. Brown, L. Deyman, R. Bestard, H. Rose, W. A. Greenslade, W. C. Frost, H. Foster, G. Davies, J. A. Smith, T. P. Hooper, Mayor J. J. Turner, Aldermen I. W. Meyers, M. R. Turner, Walter Stocker and R. N. Jones and others.

Arriving at the Masonic Temple, the local companions conferred the Royal Arch Degree, after which a splendid banquet was served. Right Excellent Companion Adair was presented with a full set of regalia in honor of his being elected to the office of Grand Superintendent of this district, and His Worship Mayor Turner presented King Solomon's Chapter, on behalf of Corinthian Chapter, with a handsome gold triangle to commemorate the event.

The entertainment provided by the Toronto companions was bountiful, and lacked no feature that would conduce to the comfort of their visitors. Several members of the local Chapter now resident in Toronto took the opportunity of welcoming their old friends. Among these were Companions Chas. E. Sisson W. A. Brundrette, H. Elphick, G. A. Salked, T. H. Gillespie and others.

The pleasant and efficient co-operation of the C. P. Railway officials also helped very materially in the general enjoyment.

Mrs. Gertrude White

IF YOU ARE NOT WELL HERE IS YOUR KEY TO HEALTH!

Hattonford, Alta. — "Being run-down after the 'flu' I was in a weakened condition, had dizzy spells and shortness of breath, followed by faintness. The middle age period made things seem as though I'd never feel well again, but I was determined not to give up. Hearing of Dr. Pierce's famous Golden Medical Discovery I sent for a bottle, followed the directions, and soon felt less tired and faint, and finally I got back to my normal state. I have thanked God many times for the restoration of my health so I could remain with my family, and I gladly recommend this Discovery of Dr. Pierce's for it is so pure, and worth a trial to any one who is run-down."—Mrs. Gertrude White, Crystal Springs Farm.

Golden Medical Discovery is put up in Dr. Pierce's Labratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., and sold by all druggists in both tablets and liquid. Send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package of tablets.

Write Dr. Pierce, Prest. Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y., for medical advice.

"PEP" AT THE ROYAL.

The big production, "Divorce," at the Royal is one of the big pictures that has been in Peterborough this season. We wish also to call attention to the excellent shorter subjects on same programme. It is seldom that we enjoyed comedy mort than "Family Life." It is filled with hearty laughs and unexpected stunts. A short Western subject is about the swiftest action drama we have seen. It never lets up from title to fade out. William Duncan in the "Steel Trail," keeps up the pace set by former chapters, and an Educational subject, "Quail Hunting," rounds out a really excellent programme that should play to capacity houses for the balance of the week. —FAN-FAN.

WALTER NEWTON FOR PRO. RANKS

Lou Marsh Speaks Highly of Opponent For Willie Buff.

Walter Newton, who meets Willie Buff at the P.A.A.A. boxing show on Monday night, is soon to join the professional ranks. Of the Newton-Miller bout at Toronto on Wednesday, Lou Marsh says:

"The real tidbit of the evening, the tilt between Charlie Miller, the ex-Toronto lightweight, who holds the Michigan state title, and Walter Newton, ex-Canadian lightweight champion, who is now lightweight champion of the Central States, was all that was anticipated — a real battle. It went four rounds before Newton secured the award of the judges. Miller, by clean, two-handed boxing, had a margin in the first two rounds, and had the Newton party worried. In the third round Newton rushed to close quarters and beat Miller in the infighting. One judge gave the bout to Newton right there, while the other called it a draw. The referee voted for Miller and sent the boys an extra round. In the extra round Miller landed the first two punches, good clean rips in the jaw, but Newton bored in and, flailing away at close quarters, forced Miller to break ground all the way. Newton undoubtedly won the extra round by plenty, but there were many good critics in the audience who figured that the bout was Miller's at the end of the third round. A ten-round bout between this pair would be a great pro attraction. Both intend to turn pro. after the Olympic trials—if not sooner.

BUFF AND CUTT WIN THREE BOUTS EACH

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 25. — (Canadian Press). — Willie Buff, amateur champion, won three bouts here last night. Buff knocked out Chick Plunkett in the second round and defeated Joe Sweet and Johnny Martin each in three-round decisions. Billie Cutt knocked out Russell in the second round and knocked out Jack Little in the first round, and also easily won over Louie Politi in three rounds. Buff's amateur record now is 153 victories in 156 starts.

AT THE CAPITOL

NO SHOW AT CAPITOL TO-NIGHT

Due to the fact that Sir George Foster will address the Chamber of Commerce in the Capitol Theatre this evening, there will be no showing of "The Fighting Coward" at the Capitol to-night. The full picture program will be presented as usual Saturday matinee and night.

Six McQuade Kiddies, is big act at Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The six McQuade Kiddies, musical prodigies, in a big program of singig, comedy and dancing numbers will be the vaudeville attraction at the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Those who enjoyed "The Covered Waggon," the big picture dealing with prairie schooner days, will like another James Cruze production, "The Fighting Coward," the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for this week end, which opened yesterday and will be shown again to-morrow afternoon and evening. The Cruze touch is apparent in this interesting picture, with its clear photography and the human atmosphere that this producer injects into his pictures.

Staged in the glorious days of the South ,the pre-war era when gentleman and ladies flourished on sunny verandahs while the blacks toiled in the cotton fields, when the overseers carried whips to enforce their commands, and pretty maidens languished in flowing skirts and delicate ring lets, the story has some excellent delineations of the manners and customs and dresses of those romantic days. At Magnolia ,a plantation on the Mississippi river, lived the Rumfords, with their wards, Elvira and Lucy. Tom was the youngest son, a pursuer of butterflies by day and reader of poetry. His was a mild peaceable spirit, and he shrank from the warlike tone of the times and the blusterings manners of his comrades. The picture illustrates in vivid fashion the transformation of the shrinking youth to the gallant "Cunnel Blake," the terror of the river, the gambler and the reputed killer whose name caused cheeks to blanch With his rusty companion "General Orlando Jackson, tall and dark, with a patch over one eye, the young ruffler ruled for years, his sway extending from one end of the river to the other. Meanwhile, at Magnolia, Lucy read poetry and her sister, Elvira, married the swaggering over seer of the plantation. How Tom came back to his old home and succeeded in humiliating those who had thrown him out makes some exciting intervals. A rival for Lucy's hands is beaten so badly at cards that he is forced to return home in a "wench's" gown, his captor pursing him with ferocious intent.

There is a good comedy and the usual excellent short reels.

AT THE REGENT

"BOSTON BLACKIE" WAS A REAL CHARACTER

He Was Discovered by Jack Boyle, Author of "Through the Dark," in San Francisco Disaster.

If it has not been for the historic fire which wrapped the old San Francisco in disaster in April, 1906, the famous "Boston Blackie" stories, written by Jack Boyle, former newspaper man, and upon which the new Cosmopolitan picture, "Through the Dark," is founded, probably never would have been written.

The role which Forrest Stanley plays in "Through the Dark," a picturization of Boyle's story, "The Daughter of Mother McGinn," featuring Colleen Moore, is patterned after a real character, encountered by Boyle during the tragic days in 1906, when desolation swept old Frisco. Boyle was covering the disaster for the San Francisco Examiner when, in the midst of ruins, he spotted a strange trio.

A man seated with two tiny children.

He was improvising a doll from a strip of cloth. As he fashioned his crude toy, the hand of a three-year-old girl clutched his coat. At his feet, a five-year-old boy played with a wooden soldier that he had salvaged from the debris.

Boyle knew the man to be the most expert safe cracker in the country, but one against whom the police had nothing to warrant his arrest. With safes wide open and the unguarded treasures of the city's unfortunate populace beckoning to looters, this notorious safe robber was lightening the burden of two waifs.

It was this strange sight that led Boyle to speak to the man. Boyle learned that the crook had taken the children, orphaned by the fire, under his wing, and was amusing them to keep their minds off the tragedy which had befallen them. As the days went by Boyle and the crook became well acquainted. It was from this man that Boyle learned many of the facts of crookdom thus he later weaved into his famoat "Boston Blackie" stories. This man is also the original of the role in which Forrest Stanley appears in "Through the Dark" which opened at the Regent Theatre last night. Colleen Moore is featured in the role of the daughter of Mother McGinn.

AT THE GRAND

Containing a real plot, and produced after the style of the most pretentious offering, the next attraction at the Grand Theatre should have little trouble in finding immediate acclaim and favor. The play, which is an original musical comedy in two acts and two scenes, bears the title of "Barney Google and Spark Plug," and is based on the celebrated cartoons of Billy De Beck of the same name. Barney and his famous steed need little introduction to local patrons of the theatre. Their adventures and excruciatingly funny antics have been exploited through the medium of the comic section of the various leading dailies throughout the country for years. They have made millions of persons laugh and helped in driving dull care to the four winds, besides serving as a national institution of screams, humor and happiness. In its stage form, basing deductions on the success wherever the contribuyion has so far been presented, this latest medium of hilarity and mirth should prove one of the events of the year. At any rate, it has the services of some of the best known artists in the business, along with a champion beauty chorus of twenty pert, captivating and fascinating young women who know how to wear expensive and gorgeous gowns and frocks with becoming grace and dignity. Original melodies, surprises, and other exceptional features are promised. Barney Google and Spark Plug come to the Grand Theatre to-morrow, April 26. Matinee at 2.30 and evening at 8.15.

SCENE IN "BARNEY GOOGLE," AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SATURDAY, APRIL 26TH, MATINEE AND EVENING.

AT THE ROYAL

"DIVORCE."

Striking at the root of most marital troubles, a growing apart of couples through different interests, "Divorce," Jane Novak's latest screen offering, directed by Chester Bennett, reached the local screens yesterday, with its showing at the Royal Theatre.

Besides being convincing narration of the experiences of a young couple whose affairs threaten to go on the rocks when a sudden accession of comparative wealth causes the husband to seek more expensive diversions, it is also drama of the first water, clean, clear-cut and compelling. Jane Novak impresses, by her playing of the young wife whose deep love for her husband and an abounding faith that she will be able to win back his wavering affections cause her to remain unresponsive to the insinuations of acquaintances and the arguments of relatives, that she give up her spouse as a bad job. How she wins back his entire devotion, and reestablishes her home on the firm foundation of understanding and unwavering love with the aid of their young son offers striking evidence that wives or husbands can sidetrack the divorce court if they will have faith in the final outcome and adopt such an attitude and use such measures as does the heroine of 'Divorce.'

John Bowers appears as the young husband and Master Philippe de Lacy as the young son. Others of prominence in the cast are James Corrigan, Edythe Chapman, Margaret Livingston, Freeman Wood and George Fisher.

BALL PRACTICE FOR TOMORROW

The Peterboro Central League team will practice at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. All players who have signed certificates and any other who wish to try out with the Petes are expected to be out. The team will play St. Michaels' College here a week from to-morrow and every opportunity to work-out must be used.

C.G.E. PRACTICE

The C.G.E. intermediate team will worko-ut to-morrow at 2.30 o'clock on their own ground at the C.G.E. All members and players wishing a try-out are invited.

A. PRIMEAU,
Manager.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MEETING

The committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting to be held this evening in the Capitol Theatre, when Sir George Foster will speak on the League of Nations, wish it understood that this meeting is open to all citizens of the city. There is no admission charge, and everyone interested in the League of Nations Society should make a point of attending.

SEVEN PITCHERS WERE USED IN TORONTO GAME

Thirty-Four Hits at Reading With the Leafs Getting Eighteen of Them to Win—Rochester Lose Their First Game In One Big Inning at Baltimore.

READING, April 24. — Toronto defeated Reading here to-day by a score of 11 to 8, in a free hitting game. Three pitchers worked for the winners and four for the losers. Hoblitzell, who hit safely six times Wednesday, ran his streak up to eight consecutive safeties before grounding out. Score:

Reading .. ..122020100— 8 16 6

Doyle, Reynolds, Lynch and Vincent; Lambke, Tuero, Judd, Martin and Haley.

BALTIMORE, April 24. — Baltimore evened the series ith Rochester to-day, winning the second game, 7 to 4. The Orioles had one big inning, the third, in which they scored all their runs. Parnham was effective until the fifth, when he wobbled, and Jackson replaced him. The latter was invincible, allowing only two hits, and fanning four men. The score:

Baltimore .. ..(1700000x—7 10 0

Crowder, Peterson and Lake; Jackson, Parnham and Greenac.

YOUNG NEWARK STAR.

NEWARK, April 24. — By defeating Syracuse to-day, 7 to 3, the Newark Bears to-day won their second straight game from the Stars. Ellis pitched great ball for the Bears. Rabbit Whitman, 20 year old outfielder, starred for Newark at bat, and in the field. He got two hits a homer in the first inning with a man on, and a single in the seventh, scoring two men. He made a circus catch of Swansboro's hit in the sixth. The score:

Newark .. ..20001121x—7 8 1

Montgomery, Barnes, Ward and Mitze, McKee; Ellis and Devine.

VICTORY AT LAST.

JERSEY CITY, April 24. — Jersey City broke into the winning column for the first time this season, coming through with a victory in the second clash with Buffalo this afternoon, 10 to 6. Manager Walsh of Jersey City, purchased Second Baseman Miller from the Newark Club yesterday, and Miller's presence in the Skeeters' line-up had much to do with his team's success to-day. Nick Carter, recently obtained by the Skeeters from the Kansas City Club, made his first start in the box today and won his game despite his liberality in allowing safe hits. The score:

Buffalo .. ..11100012O— 6 11 6
Jersey City .. ..52001020x—10 11 1

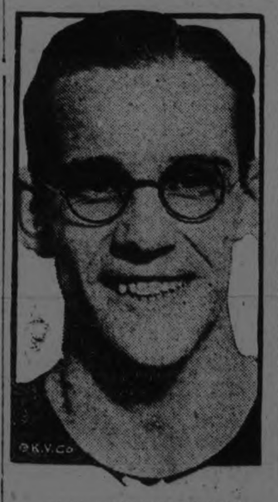
Werre, Price, Reddy and McAvoy; Hill; Carter and Freitag.

At least Jose Capablanca, beaten in the world's chess championship, did not blame it on the stymie.

Now If Harry Thaw had attempted to take a bite out of a panther's leg or something like that we'd say his sanity might well be questioned.

We don't know whether Sisler is seeing double any more or not, but he's getting twice as many hits as he used to.

FLYING SWEDE SETS RECORD.



CARL CHRISTIERSSON

Running as a member of the Newark A.C., Carl Christeirsson, former Swedish champion, set a new record for the 60-yard indoor hurdles, doing the distance in 7.3-5 seconds. The former record was held by Fred Kelly at eight seconds flat.

DETROIT WINS FROM INDIANS

Five Pitchers Sacrificed to Tyger Hitters—Yankees Bunched Their Blows Against Boston.

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—(American) —Cleveland could do little with Stoner to-day and Detroit won, 8 to 2. Cleveland used five pitchers. Detroit took the lead in the second when, with two on, Stoner hit a home run. Score:

Detroit ....031 100 210 —8 13 1
Cleveland . . .000 020 000—2 9 2

Stoner and Bassler; Edwards, Smith, Edmonson, Morton, Leysen and Myatt.

Dugan Brilliant

NEW YORK, April 24.—(American)—The New York Americans defeated Boston again to-day, by a score of 6 to 3. Shawkey yielded only one bit for six innings but was hit hard at the finish. The Yankees bunched their hits to good advantage in the second and eighth innings. Joe Dugan's all-round playing featured. He drove a home run into the left field bleachers with two on base in the second inning, and in the same inning made a brilliant one-handed catch of a low drive by O'Neill, resulting in an unassisted double play The score:

Boston ....000 000 120—3 6 2

Picinich, Ferguson, Fullerton, and O'Neill; Shawkey and Hoffman, Bengough.

Won in Ninth

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—Two singles, a walk and a sacrifice gave Chicago the winning run in the ninth inning to-day, the White Sox defeating the Browns, 5 to 4. Vangilder started well for the locals but had to be relieved in the fifth after the bases had been filled. Score:

Chicago .... 000 120 011—5 10 1
St. Louis.. .. 100 011 100—4 11 2

Scored on Period Ball

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.— A passed ball by Catcher Bruggy in the ninth inning allowed Rice to score from third and gave Washington a 4 to 3 victory over Philadelphia to-day. The home team tied the score in the sixth when Hauser hit a home run over the right field wall with Dykes on first. It was his second homer in two days. The score:

Washington .. 021 000 001—4 8 1
Philadelphia.. 000 102 000—3 3 2

Martina and Ruel; Ogden, Walberg, Burns and Perkins, Bruggy.

DODGERS LOSE HOME OPENING

Pirates' Rally In Ninth Failed to Overtake Cincinnati's Lead--Hornsby Scores Fourth Home Run.

BROOKLYN, N.Y. April 24. — Brooklyn opened its home season today by losing to New York, 7 to 4, before 22,000 fans. Four hits off Ruether, a fumble by Johnny Jones, a sacrifice and a sacrifice fly gave New York four runs in the second inning.

Nehf was relieved by Ryan in the third after walking two batters and hitting one. Jackson bounced a home run into the left field bleachers in the sixth inning when Wheat misjudged his long fly. Score:

Brooklyn .... 002 000 011—4 8 3

Nehf, Ryan and Snyder; Ruether and Deberry.

Hubbell a Factor

BOSTON, April 24. — Hubbell's pitching, fielding and batting for Philadelphia were big factors in the Phillies' 7 to 0 win over the Boston Braves here to-day. Hubbell banged out two doubles, made six assists, and one putout, and scored twice in addition to holding the Braves to seven hits. Ford fielded brilliantly and Williams hit two doubles. Score

Boston.. .... .000 000 000—0 7 1

Close at Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh, 5 to 4, today in a close game which opened the home season for the Pirates. Donohue and Meadows pitched the complete game for both teams, although the latter was hit hard. The Pirates staged a rally in the last inning, but it fell one run short of extending the game to extra innings. Score:

Cincinnati .. .021 100 010—5 15 0
Pittsburgh .. .000 000 202—4 9 0

Donohue and Hargrave; Meadows and Schmidt.

Hornsby's Fourth Homer

CHICAGO, April 24.—(National)—Ray Blade's fumble of Grime's fly, coming between singles by Adams and Friberg, gave Chicago a 5 to 4 victory over St. Louis to-day. Elmer Jacobs, Seattle recruit, held the visitors to four hits, two of which were home runs by Blades and Hornsby. The latter's was his fourth of the season and came with two men on. Score:

St. Louis .... 003 000 100—4 4 3
Chicago .. ....010 010 012—5 9 2

NEWTON-BUFF BOUT FEATURE

Fans Have Chance to See Olympic Aspirant In Action Next Monday Night.

The interest aroused among boxing fans by the announcement that Walter Newton of Chicago has been secured as an opponent for Willie Buff of Rochester at the G.W.V.A. arena next Monday night promises to pack the hall. This engagement has doubtless been made possible by the cordial relations between the Peterborough and Toronto St. Helen's boxing clubs, and every follower of the game realizes that it should be the feature event of the season.

Buff is already well known to the local fight fans, and Newton has been through here several times playing lacrosse. At that time he held the Canadian, Ontario and Toronto lightweight title. His victory over Charlie Miller of Detroit, also a former Ontario and Toronto champion, in an extra round at Toronto Wednesday night is an earnest of his local appearance. Miller won his last fourteen bouts in Detroit, among his opponents being the Pittsburgh champion, while Newton has won the majority of the contests he has engaged in at Chicago where he is a member of the Illinois Athletic Club. Either boxers should have an excellent chance at the Olympic games. Newton was on the 1920 Olympic team as a featherweight. Following the Olympic games they will likely enter professional ranks.

FIRPO WEAKENS ON RETIREMENT

Challenged Romero, the Chilean Heavyweight, to a Fight In the United States—Attached Condition.

NEW YORK, April 25 (Canadian Press). — The first weakening of the chains of retirement with which Luis Firpo has bound himself was seen yesterday by ring followers when the Argentine suddenly broke his silence to hurl a challenge at Quintin Romero, his Chilian rival, and claimant of the South American title, for a match in the United States.

Firpo, according to cable despatches from Beunos Ayres, attached the condition that Romero must forego all other matches in the meantime, but this was promptly rejected by Tex Rickard, who has signed the Chilian in a 12-round bout with Floyd Johnson at Madison Square Garden on 9th May.

Romero-Johnson match will go through, the promoter declared, but added that he stood ready to pit Firpo against the Chilian if the latter is victorious over Johnson.

Should this be acceptable to Firpo, Rickard asserted, the logical arrangement would be to match the Firpo-Romero victor with Harry Wills, the negro contender, to determine an opponent for Jack Dempsey in a title bout next September.

BIG HANDICAP TOURNAMENT RECEIVING MANY ENTRIES

The big five-pin handicap tournament which is being held at Solomon's Alleys starting next Thursday is receiving many entries. Two teams are assured from the Brinton Carpet and the Western Clock and the Canadian Packing have entered a team. Many entries have been received in the singles and doubles and the bowlers are now lining up their partners for the doubles.

Bowlers are reminded that the entry list closes on Monday, so it is advisable to get your entry blank at Solomon's Alleys and make your entry at once. The bowlers are assured of a great prize list and prizes will be cash. Every bowler has a fair chance of winning as each player receives a handicap according to his average.

NEXT WEEK'S BOWLING AT SOLOMON'S ALLEYS

Monday — Crescents vs Lawn Bowlers.

Tuesday—Belmont Club vs De-Laval.

Thursday—High Rollers vs C.G.E.

stand at Alexandra Park that everything would be in readiness for the opening ball games on May 24th and Oshawa will this year set pretty as having one of the best seating arrangements of any city in the Central Ontario Baseball League.

Cobourg Sentinel Star of last week says:—"Several of last year's players on Cobourg's senior C.O.B.L. team have been signed up by Peterboro, which club will apply to the Ontario Baseball Association for playing certificates. Those who have applied for certificates to play with Peterboro are Norman Derry, Bruce Thompson and W. P. Skitch." Bylaw No. 14 of the Central Ontario League constitution reads: "Players residing in a village or town under five thousand population where there is no organized amateur baseball may play in the nearest affiliated league to their home, within a radius of (20) miles, unless he has in good faith registered with a club that was nearest his home town prior to the organization of any new association or league that might affiliate, then, in such case, said player is privileged to complete the season with the club holding his certificate in good faith."

One month from next Wednesday or on May 21st "Umps" Sullivan of Kingston and Allen of Port Hope will yell play ball at Kingston the eastern terminus of the Central Ontario Baseball League with Oshawa visiting the Limestone City; while Hallinan of Toronto and Boundy of Cobourg will do the same at Belleville when Peterborough goes to the Quinte City. Boundy of Cobourg, and Collings of Belleville will perform at the Peterboro opening game on May 24th when Manager Daly's Kingston paper champions go up against the Swanston-Heckman crew and on the same date Hallinan and Thorne of Toronto will call 'em at the opening game in Oshawa with President Duff's representatives from Belleville visiting the motor city.

Lloyd Chambers, the right hand slab adtist and Reginald Mills, short stop who once claimed Lindsay as their residence and migrated to Bowmanville to play baseball with the hosiery town team in the Central Ontario League have attached their autographs on the dotted lines of the Toronto Industrial Baseball League for the coming summer months. Both boys made good playing hockey with the Goodyear Tire Club the past winter and are now going to show their wares around the skinned base line and from their records around the local diamonds they are sure of berths in the city Association.

Bill Dear once with Port Hope, last year with Bowmanville is reported to have signed up with the Kelly and Springfield Tire Co. team in the Toronto Industrial Baseball League.

Oshawa Central League team has signed a boy by the name of Ward who hails from Peterboro and are giving the Liftlocker a chance to make the outfield. Ward was on the receiving end of the Williams Piano Works indoor baseball team and handles himself enough like a good prospect to be given a chance If this boy can hit the hard outdoor apple in any comparison to the slamming he gave the raised seamed sphere in the armouries, the local team's batting average should shoot upwards.

Possibly you noticed that Eddie Collins, who was traded to New York ,Boston and Washington during the winter, started the season at second for the White Sox?

Maybe Nick Altrock's fame as a Washington comedian would be even greater if he didn't have to compete with those congressmen all the time.

Some Baseball Comment

OSHAWA, April 25.—Oshawa Central Leaguers had their first outdoor workout on the diamond at Alexandra Park on Wednesday evening with Walter Fair, Reg. Fair, Mickey Murray, S. Morrison, Roddick, and a couple intermediates chasing fly balls around the field while "You Know Me Al" Tyson had the heavers going through light workouts on the side lines. The playing field has all the appearance of being ready for the visit of the Osler's of Hampden Park League of Toronto on Saturday afternoon next when motor town fans will have their first chance of looking over some of the new prospects, and as the Toronto team's management have written Secretary Frank G. Chester that they are bringing their full list of players for the game, rookies of both clubs will likely get a chance to show what they have.

Umpire Frank J. Hallinan of Toronto who will call 'em in the Central Ontario League the coming season has written the motor town management asking for the privilege of umpiring the game in Oshawa on Saturday. Frank evidently intends to have his eyes on the ball for the opening of the season and is anxious for a little preliminary workout.

The Secretary of Central Ontario League mailed out to clubs the fifty dollar bonds, required by by-law No. 2 of the league's constitution on Wednesday of this week and they will be returnable to Secretary properly filled out before certificates will be countersigned. In the same mail a revised copy of the constitution, schedule of games, umpires allotte dfor season, umpires' mileage and total amount umpires' can collect from clubs, umpires addresses and club secretaries were forwarded to President M. P. Duff at Belleville for his approval.

Figuring out the mileage that will be paid to umpires of the Central Ontario League during the coming season it amounts to 6,148 miles—Belleville has to pay for 2,072; Peterborough 1,786; Kingston 1,360 and Oshawa 930—which amounts to in cash nearly $1,000.

Also included in the book is a photo of the Oshawa Motors team, champions of the Durham and Ontario Intermediate League.

The Oshawa Church League is entering the junior and intermediate series of the O.B.A.A. and acting Secretary J. Walsh of the Ontario body writes President Nott of the Durham and Ontario as follows:—"I have a request for affiliation from the Oshawa Church League Baseball Association. They propose operating teams in the Junior and Intermediate series. While the Junior affiliation would appear to be in order, I am writing you regarding the Intermediate to ascertain if their affiliation would conflict with the teams operating in your league. As you are aware, the constitution protects the territorial rights of all leagues under our jurisdiction and no new affiliation can be accepted before meeting with the approval of the executive. No doubt the teams playing in this league will be strictly Church teams and I would be pleased to have your opinion to place before the Executive." The reply was favorable to the Church League as it is developing machine for other teams in Oshawa.

HELEN WILLS MAY FIND CLIMATIC CONDITIONS A BAR TO VICTORY IN MATCH WITH SUZANE

What Promises to Be the Outstanding Tennis Event of the Year Will Be the International Battle Between Helen Wills (Left) the California Miss, and Suzanne Lenglen (Right).

BY JOE WILLIAMS.

The dear ladies—heaven bless 'em and dress 'em—promise to monopolize the grandstand hurrahs in international tennis this summer.

On the masculine side, the Olympics and the Wimbledon championship abroad, lacking the genius of Tilden, Johnston, Williams and possibly other American formidables, will be nothing more than a tea and cookie attraction.

Whereas the one impending duel between Helen Wills, sensational California school maiden, and Suzanne Lenglen, sophisticated lady of Parisian boulevards, forecasts fight and fire in sufficient quantities to lift the feminine program high above the commonplace.

What will be the outcome of this match, if we may ask, my dear Watson?

Lenglen is indisputably one of the greatest tennis players of all time, and this despite a physical frailty which cuts deep into her vitality and imposes a grave hazard on overexuberance.

She's a Relentless Opponent.

In action the French girl combines the agility of a cricket and the alertness of a fox. She has all the strokes known to the game, a flawless technique and a native shrewdness that has lost nothing through added experience.

What's more, Lenglen is a relentless crusade. To her the white-barred tennis turf is a battleground, where opponents—especially internationalists—battle to death. She courts patronizing smile of indulgence, and gives none.

Young Helen Wills, however, is not likely to be frightened into defeat either by Lenglen's stern attitude or illustrious record. Those who saw her overwhelm Molla Mallory in the national championship at Forest Hills last summer are confident of her poise and nerve control.

Climatic Conditions A Handicap?

They are confident, too, that she has the game to give the French girl an interesting fight. Her one weakness is in her serve, and this is not particularly serious. She is better fitted as to endurance to carry the fight over a long stretch and is just as fast if not faster.

But what part will atmospheric conditions play? That is more important than you might suppose. It seems to affect women more than men. American women seldom win their matches abroad, yet against the same opponents here they win without great effort.

The invasion of the English women last summer is a case in point. Katherine McKane, the star, had beaten Mrs. Mallory and others easily at home. She and her compatriots were favorites to win here, yet they were put to an exquisite rout by the Americans.

This shows the "atmospheric condition" thing works both ways. It is probably something more than a myth, though not easily explained, and may stand out as the most rugged barrier in Miss Wills' drive against the Lenglen honors.

FIRPO WILL FIGHT ON ROMERO'S TAUNT

Chilean Threw Charge of Cowardice at Argentine --Challenge Accepted.

BUENOS AIRES, April 24—(Canadian Press).—Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight, who recently declared his intention of retiring from the ring, announced today that he was willing to fight Quintin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, in the United States, provided Romero fought no other boxer previously to their meeting.

Firpo's decision was prompted by a taunt of Romero that the Argentine was afraid of him.

"I can't stand that," he said. "But he must fight no one else until he meets me. I want to be the first to knock him out."

DUNN MAKES STAR OF COLLEGIAN IN FIRST YEAR OUT

BALTIMORE, April 25.—Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles says in Clayton Sheedy he has the most promising first baseman that ever came under his direction.

That must be sad news to President Clarke Griffith of the Washington Nationals, for Dunn literally grabbed Sheedy from under Griffith's nose.

Last season Sheedy captained the Georgetown University baseball club. Georgetown is a suburb of Washington. Under Sheedy, Georgetown had a great year, losing only to Holy Cross.

At the close of the college season Sheedy joined Baltimore and when he got a chance to show his worth, jumped into the limelight with a bang.

He finished on top in fielding with .996, the best average of any of the International first sackers.

Sheedy played in only 34 games last year, but if he can continue his great work the first base berth will be a cinch for him.

As Pinch Hitter Bentley at Best

Despite the fact that Jack Bentley of the New York Giants is the most unorthodox batsman in the National League, he is one of the major's most consistent hitters.

Last season Bentley led the National League in batting with a mark of .427. In the world series he also was high man with a .600 average.

During the National League season Bentley was used 20 times as a pinch hitter and came through on 10 occasions with a base hit.

A mark of .500 as a pinch hitter over the entire season is some record. Few big leaguers have ever approached it.

In the world series Bentley equalled the feat. Going to bat twice in a pinch, he made one hit, for a .500 average.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

By BILLY EVANS

Questions.

1. If the two captains are unable to agree on certain ground rules, what happens?
2. Can a batsman step out of the box after the pitcher has gotten into his position on the rubber ready to pitch?
3. With a runner on first, the batsman singles to right and the runner on first tries for third. With two umpires working, who gives the decision at third?

Answers.

1. The umpires makes the ground rules, if the two captains are unabble to reach a decision.
2. He is not supposed to, but conditions often arise that make it necessary. He should appeal to the umpire, who will always call time if the pitcher has not started his delivery.
3. The umpire working at the plate should give the decision at third.

QUESTIONS

1. What is construed as a wild pitch?
2. If the pitcher strikes out the batter, but he reaches first base because of a wild pitch or failure on the part of the catcher to hold the ball, is he credited with a strikeout?
3. Player hits safely and reaches third base on his drive but fails to touch second and is called out. How it the hit scored?

ANSWERS

1. A wild pitch is a legally delivered ball, so high, low or wide of the plate that the catcher is unable to stop it, and thereby permits a batsman to reach first or a runner to advance.
2. The pitcher is credited with a strikeout, regardless of whether or not the batsman is retired.
3. Batsman merely is credited with a single since technically he never reached second, due to his failure to touch that base.

—But that won't make any difference if you had a FORDSON TRACTOR.

—Nine seasons out of ten the early sowing produces the best crop.

—DON'T FORGET that last year the people who had finished seeding prior to the big rain had by far the best crops.

—Who knows but what there may be a break in the weather this year.

—WE CAN FIX IT FOR YOU. Buy a FORDSON, and get through early.

You don't need ALL the Money—We can FIX that for you, too.

TRINITY CHOIR CONCERT.
At the Trinity Choir Concert being held next Monday night, in addition to the vocal and instrumental numbers, which will be of a very high order, Miss Jessie Irving of Hamilton, the talented elocutionist, will be heard in some of her choice selections. Her programme this season is an entirely new and delightful one and by it Miss Irving has already won the approval of various committees and large audiences who have had the pleasure of listening to her.

The general verdict is: 'Always an artist,' 'Schooled in her craft,' 'An ardent worker,' 'A careful delineator of her parts,' 'Miss Irving's is the power to make her audience partners in the joys as well as the sorrows of the characters she portrays.'

Amongst her numbers the following are some worthy of mention. 'The Patchwork Quilt,' etc., with musical setting, 'The Lady Demonstrator,' 'The Club House Tea,' and 'The Ways of Other Days.' These are new and original character studies, in which Miss Irving turns the searchlight on all strata of society, much to the amusement of her audience.

Don't miss this event of the season. A very enjoyable evening awaits you on Monday, April 28. See advts. for particulars.

WEDDING BELLS

NANCARROW—PHILLIPS.
A wedding of local interest took place at Trinity Methodist Church, Toronto, yesterday, when Violet Adelaide Phillips became the bride of Robert F. L. Nancarrow. Miss Phillips is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Phillips, former residents of Peterboro, who removed to Toronto about four years ago, and is well-known in the city. Attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Marjorie Phillips, and the brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Norman Nancarrow.

GORMAN—SCOTT.
A quiet wedding was solemnised at St. Peter's Rectory, by Rev. P. Costello on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, when Gertrude Mabel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Scott, 235 George Street, became the bride of James Gorman, son of Mrs. Gorman and the late James Gorman, of Peterborough.

The bride was charmingly attired in grey canton crepe, caught at the side with a pearl medallion. Her hat shoes and stockings matched her frock, her wrap was of navy tricotine, and sh carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Florence Gorman and Mr. Austin Gorman acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's partnts, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gorman left for a honeymoon in Toronto and Detroit. On their return they will reside in Peterborough. The young people, who have a large circle of friends, were recipients of numerous beautiful gifts.

Society

Among the Peterboro friends of the bride who attended the wedding of Miss Violet Phillips, formerly of Peterboro, in Toronto yesterday, were the Misses Hazel Crowe, Robina Hardwick, Phyllis Hood, Betty Smith and Gertrude Hood.

Mrs. Ed. Flaherty, 666 Downie Street, has returned home after a month's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Vincent Clancy, Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Warne have returned home after spending the winter in California.

Mrs. Bert Watt, Mrs. Wm. Hartley and Mrs. P. Fuller have gone to Oshawa to-day, to participate in a celebration by the Sunshine Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., of that city. The three local ladies were present at the institution of Sunshine Lodge three years ago.

Mrs. Katherine Sheehan, of Rochester, N. Y., is in the city, where she has been attending the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thos. Tobin.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCormack, of Mount Pleasant, is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Coughlin, East City.

C. R. Hopkins, this year's graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, is in the city for the Motor Show, and is the guest of his cousin, Mrs. H. Roberts, Downie Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Hartley and two children, of Oshawa, are visiting Mr. Hartley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hartley, Charlotte Street.

GODARD GIVEN SENTENCE OF TEN YEARS IN GOAL

TORONTO, April 25. — Harold M. Godard, who was convicted yesterday on a charge of maiming with intent to wound Miss Mary Duncan in January last, was this morning sentenced to 10 years in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Mr. Justice Wright. Justice Wright said it was exceedingly difficult to sentence a returned soldier.

SHORTAGE WAS NEARLY $9,000 AUDITORS SAY

Investigation Into Accounts o Provincial Secretary's Department Continues -- Suspended Clerk Testified.

COMMENT WITHELD

TORONTO, April 25.—(Canadian Press).—Premier Ferguson states this morning that following the auditors' investigation into the accounts of the Provincial secretary's department that the shortage discovered amounted to nearly $9,000. To date a loss of $8,100 has been discovered while a few other items are to be inspected.

E. V. Donnelly and Harold Thomas two clerks of the department are under suspension.

Premier Ferguson would make no comment when asked what steps were being taken to recover the missing money. Harold Thomas, one of the clerks was before the Provincial Secretary and Col. W. H. Price, yesterday. Both officials refused to make any comment on the appearance of the suspended clerk.

WHITE WOULDN'T HAVE PERMITTED BANK COLLAPSE

Former Federal Finance Minister Declared He Would Have Instructed the Canadian Bankers' Association to Assume Home Bank Affairs If Insolvent.

WOULD HAVE OBEYED

OTTAWA, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—"If I had believed that the Home Bank was in danger of insolvency, I would have gone to the Canadian Bankers' Association and told them to take it over," declared Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, before the Home Bank Commission Friday afternoon. Sir Thomas was being examined by R. J. McLaughlin, one of the Home Bank depositors' counsel, when he made the statement. Sir Thomas was firm in his declaration that he would not have allowed the bank to fail.

With the war in progress, the failure of a bank was to be avoided if at all possible and the utmost pressure would have been used on the Canadian Bankers' Association to prevent the Home, or any other bank going to the wall. Sir Thomas hazarded the opinion that the Association would have taken over the bank because, he remarked, it did not often disobey the Minister of Finance.

No Personal Influence.

Cross-examination of the former Minister, did not result in the discovery of any new evidence of importance. Sir Thomas was plied with questions by Mr. McLaughlin, W. T. J. Lee, another of the depositors' counsel, and by Eugene Lafleur, representing the Dominion government.

Could have Go Truth.

Mr. Lafleur referred to several instances where if the Minister of Finance had not been willing to accept the word of the president of the bank for the statements, the truth of the bank's affairs might have been known. If the Minister had sent in a competent auditor the facts as known to-day would have been discovered then, said Mr. Lafleur.

"Probably," said Sir Thomas.

In reference to statements from Mr. Haney to the Minister of Finance, Mr. Lafleur asked Sir Thomas to admit that he was being deceived in letter after letter.

Sir Thomas was not prepared to swear to what he did not know. The statements might not have been false to the man who made them.

Mr. Lafleur—"You got statements that were false because you got them from the inside."

Sir Thomas—"Probably so."

Sir Thomas objected to the form of some of Mr. Lafleur's questions, especially in view of the fact that he (Sir Thomas) was not represented by counsel.

Mr. W. T. Lee—"Is that our fault?"

Sir Thomas—"No, but I am a private citizen. Do you think I can afford to pay four or five hundred dollars a day for counsel to represent me?"

Mr. Lee—"Have you applied to the government for counsel?"

Sir Thomas—"I haven't—and will not."

Political Tinge.

He went on to say that the Prime Minister had referred to him (Sir Thomas) as a political opponent and had stated that a charge had been made against him. When the inquiry was enlarged this charge would presumably be made against Sir Henry Drayton and Mr. Fielding. In view of this fact it seemed as if counsel should have been provided.

Mr. Lafleur assured Sir Thomas that he was not playing politics.

Sir Thomas—"I should assume that you are not; I observe however a certain animus in your manner, more than your words, which I think is due to the fact that you are government counsel."

Sir Thomas in answer to Mr. Lee, declared that his decision not to investigate was in no way influenced by his personal relations with Mr. Lash, General Mason or others connected with the bank.

Minister's Confidence.

He had implicit confidence in Mr. Lash and he had believed in Mr. Haney.

Mr. Lee asked if "danger signals" created suspicion in the Minister's mind.

Sir Thomas replied by saying that the duties of the Minister arose under the Bank Act. It was for the Minister to selet a special auditor to ask the board for a report, or to do nothing.

Mr. Lee—"What are the people of Canada paying the Minister of Finance and his staff for?"

Sir Thomas—"If you had been in that office from 1914 to 1919 you wouldn't ask me that question."

Ottawa Girl Died Of Black Smallpox

OTTAWA, April 26. — The first fatality from smallpox in Ottawa this year occurred Thursday night when Miss Loretta Ladouceur, 19, of Aylmer, Que. succumbed in the Isolation Hospital here from black smallpox. She was first sent to the General Hospital before the seriousness of her complaint was diagnosed and as a result the public ward of that hospital has been quarantined. Miss Ladouceur's mother is at present also suffering from the disease at her home in Aylmer. At present there are only seven smallpox cases in the city isolation hospital. They are all of a mild type.

RUSSIANS WILL KEEP PROPERTY

Government Will Never Change Communistic Code, Says Leader of Delegation Replying to British Bankers.

LONDON, April 26. — (Canadian Press).—Christian Rakovsky, head of the Russian delegation to the Anglo-Russian conference being held here, declared himself yesterday well satisfied with the progress of the conference, and hopeful of a favorable issue to the negotiations.

He referred to the manifesto issued by a number of leading London bankers April 13, in which they set forth conditions under which they believed Russia's credit could be restored, and said he was surprised that the manifesto bore the signatures of bankers doing a big business with Russia, with whom they were on the best of terms, and who had every opportunity to learn that trade and credit operations with Russia "are very good business indeed."

Alluding to the fact that the manifesto demanded the re-establishment of private property and the abolition of a monopoly of foreign trade, he said:

"This is demanding a change in our code. Our answer is a categorical 'never'."

THE WEATHER.

The cool nights prevailing for the past ten days have retarded growth. Nightly the thermometer has gone down to from 30 to 35 degrees, and in the daytime rose to from 50 to 55 degrees. This Saturday morning the barometer is standing at a higher mark than it has for many months past. This means that the air is unusually dense and heavy, and that what is known as a high-pressure area (usually accompanied by fine weather) is now passing over. Citizens who have aneroid barometers and wish to have them set correctly by comparison alongside a standard mercurial instrument, may do so without cost.—W. P.

AMERICAN GOLD STARTS GERMAN TRADE REVIVAL

Business Channels, Closed Since Collapse of German Currency, Are Re-opened By Unlimited Credit Provided By Syndicate of United States Financiers.

FOR SCHACT'S BANK.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Canadian Press). — Establishment of unlimited credit facilities by United States bankers for the new German gold rediscount bank, organized by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, was announced Friday by the International Acceptance Bank of New York. An initial advance of $5,000,000 has been made, re-opening trade channels between the United States and Germany, which virtually have been closed since the collapse of the German currency.

Extension of the credit marks the first actual participation of United States capital in the economic rehabilitation of Germany. Funds will be used to rediscount German two-name trade bills, issued in dollars and payable in the United States. No restrictions were placed on the amount of money which might be drawn for this purpose because it was expected the temporary need would be removed within a year or two by the consolidation of the Schacht institution with the gold bank proposed in the Dawes plan.

CROWN MAY PLAN BANKERS' TRIAL

If Charges Laid Under the Bank Act Are Withdrawn -- Conspiracy Charges May Be Proceeded With Immediately.

TORONTO, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—There is a strong possibility that the crown may circumvent the decision given by Justice Wright yesterday postponing the trial of the Home Bank Directors on conspiracy charges until the fall assizes by withdrawing the other charges laid under the bank act which are the subject of appeal before the Privy Council. D. L. McCarthy, K.C. special prosecutor for the Crown stated last night that no definite decision in regard to Justice Wright's postponement rulings had been reached but the fact remained this postponement had been made on the ground that hearing of the conspiracy charges at the present time would prejudice the appeal before the Privy Council over the right of trial before a county judge on charges under the Bank Act. He further stated that in the event of the crown deciding to withdraw the Bank Act charges before next Monday, the ruling of Mr. Justice Wright would be automatically nullified. Mr. McCarthy emphasized however, that the withdrawal of the charges under the Bank Act which were that of making fraudulent returns to the Dominion Government was as yet only a possibility. The Crown were nevertheless anxious to proceed with out further delay with the charges against the directors of Conspiracy to defraud the public.

Canadian Wheat Surmounts Tariff

WINNIPEG, Man., April 26. —More Canadian wheat is going to United States millers from the head of the lakes this year than ever before, in spite of the forty cent duty imposed recently, according to local grain officials.

Minneapolis, Duluth, Chicago and Buffalo mills have contracts aggregating fourteen million bushels now registered at the head of the lakes, while a single concern has contracts for delivery of seven million bushels during May.

Exporters here assert that the increased tariff designed against Canadian wheat has been quite ineffective.

Postal Strike By Observing Rules

PARIS, April 26.—A novel form of May Day strike, including the wholesale reading of postcards entrusted to them, is proposed for next week by disgruntled French postal employees in an effort to obtain an increase of 1,800 francs annually in their wages as a high cost of living allowance.

The clerks plan to observe the postoffice rules to the letter, weighing all letters, examining every stamp and reading all postcards because the regulations prescribe that insults and threats to the recipients must not be written on the cards.

This zealous sabotage, if carried out, would paralyze the already none-too-fast postal service. The authorities, however, are confident of the failure of the strike and will discharge summarily any over-anxious letter weighers or car perusers.

BOBBED BANDIT IS NOW IN GAOL

But Her Mind is Still on "Big Cash Money" as She Expressed It.

NEW YORK, April 26. — Cecil Cooney, the brazen bandit with bobbed hair, has quit banditry now that she's in jail, but her mind is still on "big cash money," as she expressed it.

County Judge Martin announced that he would appoint a commission of alienists to examine her husband's mentality. The man's relatives told him that Eddie Cooney died fifteen years ago in an insane asylum.

"Well—that's good."

That was all that Celia would say when told of that action. Informed that possibly sentence on her might be delayed, or that there was a chance that she would be examined also, she merely shrugged her shoulders.

"There's a man downstairs offering $75 to take a picture of you—"

"Big Cash Money."

Celia listened to that a moment, and murmured something about 'big cash money.' Then—

"Aw, tell him to beat it."

Celia pondered a moment and said:

The sister, the first relative that the girl has had to call on her, waited patiently. At last she was ushered into the woman's section.

After a kiss had been exchanged Celia took stock of the lacey underthings and a pair of gorgeous silk hose. But a nightie was missing and the jail doesn't supply them.

"That doesn't matter — but, oh, gee! look at these stockings. They are great."

Celia retired to a corner of her cell and made several quick changes. In the next cell a woman who had been brought in the night before intoxicated, and who had kept Celia awake, glared through the bars. Celia turned a disdainful shoulder to her. The women muttered something.

The girl's patience was becoming exhausted. Once during the morning she sobbed just a bit and by afternoon her customary nouchalance was breaking. Once one of the thirty women in her section called out:

"Say, dearie, won't you sing us a song?"

But Celia was too busy reading a marvellous tale of crime in a detective story magaine which a reporter had given her. She confessed:

"Gee, how I love 'em."

County Judge Vause commented on that trait of the twenty-year-old woman:

"There is no doubt in my mind that this sort of cheap reading was a contributing factor in the criminal act of this woman."

Said Warden Honecke, penologist, who has observed many strange types behind the bars:

"The girl is a product of poverty. I think a desire for fine things inspired her to join her husband in robberies."

Back in her cell Celia had finished her story and was recapitulating the results of her life of crime:

"Let's see, about $900 since 5th January—and it's all gone. Oh, gosh!"

Celia resumed her magazine reading.

THE WORLD MOVES.

GRANADA, Spain, April 26. — The earth is still moving about the village of Monachil, carrying everything in its path and in many instances swallowing up entire olive groves and houses. Eminent scientists who have been attracted to the spot say that the movement of the earth is gradual, but hardly perceptible to the eye.

AMENDMENT TO BUDGET TANGLES PROCEDURE IN PARLIAMENT'S DEBATE

Hon. Arthur Meighen Questions Validity of Woodsworth Amendment to Budget, Contending That It Was Defective In Form and Had Actually Not Been Moved By the Labor Member Himself — Conservative Amendment One of the Briefest—Calls For Tariff Stability.

SPEAKER RESERVES DECISION

OTTAWA, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—House debate on the Budget yesterday suddenly developed a strange tangle of procedure. It saw a Conservative amendment proposed hard on the heels of the Labor amendment of Thursday and eventual adjournment of the debate till Monday when Speaker Lemieux will give his decision. And in the meantime the House turned from discussion of tariffs to that of supply for the Department of Agriculture.

The trouble arose from the amendment previously proposed by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Centre Winnipeg. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Leader of the Opposition, raised the point yesterday that the Woodsworth amendment was out of order, mainly on the ground that, as moved by Mr. Woodsworth, it called for the imposition of a tax. There was a difference between the amendment proposed by Mr. Woodsworth in his speech and the one subsequently read by the chair in that a positive proposal for a tax had been changed into a suggestion that such a tax might be desirable. Mr. Meighen took the ground that the amendment as read by the chair had not been moved by a member at all.

Conformed to Rules

To this Mr. Woodsworth replied that, following his speech, Speaker Lemieux had suggested to him that the change in his amendment would bring it more in harmony with the rules of the House. Therefore, the terms of the amendment had been changed. As to its original terms, Mr. Woodsworth claimed that they were identical with an amendment moved by Robert Forke, Progressive leader, last session which had been accepted.

Thereupon Speaker Lemieux announced that he would reserve his decision till Monday.

Then came the Conservative Amendment. Scarcely had the House passed from the point of order on the Woodsworth motion when A. J. Doucet (Conservative, Kent N.B.) moved from Conservative ranks what is probably the shortest Budget amendment on record.

It declares that "this House is of the opinion that the welfare of Canada requires a consistently maintained protective policy."

Deputy Speaker Gordon was now in the chair. He held decision as the acceptability or otherwise of this amendment over to Monday likewise.

Mr. Meighen's Point

Rising to a point of order, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen said that the amendment to the budget now before the house was out of order for several reasons. It had never been moved by a member, Mr. Woodsworth had moved an amendment yesterday and spoken to it.

But the one read from the chair, and therefore the one which the House was supposed to be discussing had never been moved by a member. It differed in several phrases from that moved by Mr. Woodsworth. Probably the changes made by officers of the House had been made in good faith to bring Mr. Woodsworth in line with proper precedure but they were sufficient to change a positive proposal for taxation into a suggestion that such change might be desirable.

Motion by Minister

In any case, said Mr. Meighen, all parliamentary rules provided that a private member could not move for the imposition of a tax, except it be a substitution or equivalent of a tax proposal at that moment being discussed by the House. The House was actually discussing at present the motion of a Minister that the House go into ways and means to consider Budget proposals. The House was not yet in committee. For these and several other reasons Mr. Meighen thought Mr. Woodsworth's amendment was out of order.

Mr. Woodsworth said that he thought it was strange that Mr. Meighen had given him no notice of his intention to raise this point of order.

"The hon. gentleman gave me no notice that he proposed to move the amendment,' interjected Mr. Meighen amid much laughter.

Surprised at Lecture

Mr. Woodsworth replied that he was under no obligation to give notice of his intention to the leader of one of the parties of the House. He expressed surprise at the lecture read him by Mr. Meighen, suggesting that there had been something "underhand" about the changing of the amendment. The suggestion had been made to him by the Speaker that the amendment might be changed so as to bring it more in harmony with the rules of the House and he had concented to that course of action. As to the resolution as he had originally proposed it, it followed the exact terms of an amendment moved by the progressive leader, Mr. Forke, last year which provided for "the adjustment and extension of the income tax to bear more heavily on unearned incomes.

"It would be very serious," Mr. Woodsworth added, "if private members were not to be allowed to introduce resolutions dealing with the underlying principle sof taxation. It would reduce them to impudence. He suggested that the debate on the subject should be adjourned.

Hon. Charles Marcil (Liberal, Bonaventure) a former Speaker of the House, expressed the opinion that Mr. Woodsworth's position was weakened by the fact that he had withdrawn his amendment and changed it without the consent of the House.

"Is there any record that I withdrew my motion?" asked Mr. Woodsworth. He suggested that "the scroll" be produced but nobody took up his challenge.

Would Ignore Rules

J. T. Shaw (Independent, Calgary West) who seconded the Woodsworth amendment said he did not share Mr. Meighen's extreme veneration for rules that had come to us from the dim and distant past. If the suggestion made two years ago, that an amendment might be moved to the Budget by the leader of any party, had been accepted, Mr. Meighen would not now be in his present difficulty. Mr. Shaw suggested that "chagrin" at his present position had a good deal to do with Mr. Meighen's attitude.

There was some applause at this rally but Mr. Meighen suggested that Mr. Shaw might better discuss the question before the House.

Mr. Shaw then raised the point that if the Speaker held part of the Woodsworth amendment to be irregular, the remainder of it would still be in order. He suggested that in such a case the resolution would close with a declaration in favor of a reduction in taxation on food stuffs clothing and building materials.

The Speaker then reserved the decision until Monday.

Doucet's Speech

A. J. Doucet (Conservative, Kent, N.S.), said that he represented an agricultural, fishing and lumbering constituency, but that he failed to see that the reductions in the tariff made by the Budget would be of much benefit.

Mr. Doucet found much unrest amongst the agricultural classes of Canada. He wished to distinguish between the 'people who had been mining the soil for years" and the genuine agricultural classes who were engaged in mixed farming. Amongst these latter, he said there was much dissatisfaction with the policy which brought increasing quantities of vegetables and dairy produce from other countries, and caused a steady decrease in the number of farms which were being worked in the Maritime provinces.

There should be also, said Mr. Doucet, some means of developing the coal industry of Canada and keeping at home Canadian money spent for American coal.

The reason that the Canadian National Railways showed a deficit in their operations in the Atlantic Region, was because the system was over-manned according to the mileage in operation.

Fiscal Stability

"Fiscal stability," declared Mr. Doucet, "was what the agricultural classes of Canada needed. He therefore moved, seconded by J. A. Mackelvie (Conservative, Yale), an amendment declaring "that the welfare of Canada requires a consistently maintained protective policy."

In view of the fact that the Speaker was to give a decision on the Woodsworth amendment of Monday, Deputy Speaker Gordon said he would leave the question of the acceptance of the present amendment to be decided at the same time.

The debate was then adjourned, until Monday on the motion of J. G. Robichaud (Liberal, Gloucester).

The House rose for dinner, Premier King announcing that this evening the estimates of the Department of Agriculture would be taken up.

Nova Scotia Adopts Church Union Bill

HALIFAX, N.S. April 26.—In spite of the opposition of a small group, the church union bill was passed by the committee of the whole house without amendment at Friday afternoon's session of the Nova Scotia Legislature. While the members divided on several amendments moved to certain sections, the bill itself was adopted without division.

Two members of the Government and seven others stood against the bill as reported up by the committee, Hon. D. A. Cameron, Provincial Secretary, leading the antis. Their best showing was when the House divided 18 to 9 against a motion to amend Part 2 of the bill to the effect, substantially that non-concurring congregation vote themselves and property into the union instead of being "deemed' in with the alternative of voting themselves out.

MURDERER'S AXE HACKED COUPLE

Bodies of Farmer and Wife Near Fort Francis In Northern Ontario Found By Neighbor—Horribly Slashed.

FORT FRANCIS, Ont., April 26.—John Sward, 60 years old, and his wife, were the victims of a brutal murder believed to have been perpetrated with axe, according to reports received from Stratton, Ont., in which district the old couple had lived for many years. The news of the crime was transmitted by Jos. Vicnaw, a neighbor of the slain couple, and the provincial police accompanied by the coroner have left for the scene of the crime.

Vicnaw spent Wednesday evening with the Swards, when he returned the next morning to assist with some chores he stumbled across the body of the farmer lying beneath a horse blanket about 30 feet from the dwelling. Hurrying into the house, Vicnaw found the mutilated body of Mrs. Sward lying on the bed. The bodies of both victims were horribly bruised and slashing indicated that an axe or a similar weapon had been used. Robbery has been advanced as the only theory for the crime.

AERIAL SALOONS.

LONDON, April 26.—Each of the passenger airplanes operating between Manchester and Belfast is said to carry a slot machine from which passengers can withdraw a small bottle of whiskey, one of soda water and a glass, all for 2 shillings 6 pence. Authorities are trying to figure out when it will be legal to operate the device—whether in the air or on the ground.

Heavy Frost Recorded In Okanagan Valley.

LOTS OF LIFE LOCAL MARKET THIS MORNING

Blind Fiddler Played Touching Melodies While Vendors Barked Their Wares—Fowl Scarce.

PRICES HOLD FIRM

There was plenty of movement and life on the farmers' market this morning. The miscellaneous throng centred about the auctioneer, who among other things, had several horses to dispose of. One young, sturdy animal brought $140.00.

There was a patent medicine vendor, with a recommended cure for various disorders, the peanut man in a spotless white cart, and a lingering reminiscence of winter in several loads of wood.

A few roots and some apples, with Russets at 50 cents, Ontarios at 40 a dzen. Fowl was 31 and 33 cents a were on sale.

Maple Syrup was 60 cents a quart, or $2.25 a gallon.

There were little pigs in crates, at $8.00 and $10.00 a pair, and some industrious black Anconas were laying eggs in their big crate. "Pay you right from the start," said the owner, selling the birds at $1.00 a piece.

A controversy between the small boy owner and his audience was going on over the ancestry of his small collie pups, the little lad maintaining that they were Scotch thoroughbreds, his opponents standing for an Irish birth. The small, enticing little things were $3.00 each.

Potatoes were fairly plentiful, selling at 40 cents a peck and $2.00 a bag. The fish man had fresh halibut, and an enormous 90-pound salmon trout, also the speckly whitefish, while Lake Ontario mullet across the way had a brisk sale.

In the basket section, a centre of interest was the big box holding fuzzy Barred Rock chicks, at 20 cents apiece. One small birdling was intent on seeing the world, and had to be recovered from exploring expeditions with alarming frequency. The vendor of prime milk-fed fowl had bought the lot.

Dairy produce was plentiful. Butter was selling for 33 and 35 cents a pound, and eggs at 21 to 23 cents cents, and Ben Davis at 1.25 a bag, pound, and not very plentiful.

Cream was 30 cents a pint. There were butter beans for seed at 15 cents a measure, and little green plants of the iris, the bergamot, and the lily at 10 and 15 cents apiece.

Horse-radish was 25 cents a bottle. One little girl, desirous of adding to her mite box money, had gathered mayflowers, and a neighbour was selling them for her at 10 cents a bunch.

"Eggs for hatching" were 15 for $1.00, and duck eggs were 8 and 10 cents each.

Financial News and Views

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

Mining News.

Strength and activity on Indian yesterday said to be due to new interests undertaking financing and management of mine following Engineer Davis' report. Indian is said to be a good mine badly managed. Reconstruction of entire board probable. Looks to be the best purchase on the list. Keeley ore reserves and McIntyre's statement of earnings make them outstanding purchases.

Tough Oakes has completed shaft sinking. Station will be competed next week. High grade ore reported for entire distance. Expect ore shoot on number 11 very soon. Mine said to have ore reserve for three years. Officials are very pleased with last six months' operations.

PETER'S SAFETY VAULT BOXES BEING GUARDED

TORONTO, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Hon. Peter Smith's safety deposit boxes in the Bank of Montreal at Stratford are under guard of officers of the Provincial Police from headquarters in Toronto.

A Stratford despatch last night said that three Toronto officers are there with instructions to await orders from their superiors in this city. The message also said that the officers in Toronto are guarding the safety boxes here.

From the day that A. E. Nash, expert accountant, made his report on the joint account of the Hon. Peter Smith and Mrs. Smith at the Bank of Toronto, Stratford officers have been searching for the bonds, the coupons from which were cashed. One estimate placed the value of these bonds at about $67,000.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Surrogate Court of the County of Peterborough.

In the matter of the Estate of ROBERT HENRY BLACKWELL late of the Township of Douro, in the County of Peterborough, Farmer, Deceased:

NOTICE IS HERBY GIVEN, pursuant to R. S. O. 1914, Chapter 121, Section 56, that all Creditors and others having claims against the Estate of the said ROBERT HENRY BLACKWELL, Deceased, who died on or about the Nineteenth day of February, 1924, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid on or before the 20th day of May, 1924, to the undersigned solicitor for the Executor of the said Estate, their names and addresses and full description and particulars in writing of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them, duly verified by Statutory Declaration.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the said 20th day of May, 1924, the Executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the Estate among the parties entitled therto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have had notice and the said Executor will not be liable for the said Assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

CAMPBELLFORD'S NEW SCHOOL OPEN MONDAY

High School Students Have Moved Their Books Into Modern Building Just Completed — Menie Farmers Apply For Hydro Power — Cheese Board's First Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, Apr. 26.—When the schools reopen on Monday after the Easter vacation, the students of the High School will occupy the new building, and the primary department formerly housed in an old residence on one corner of the grounds, will be moved into the old High School. Under the new arrangement there will be three primary departments and as many teachers, instead of two as formerly.

Students were busy all day yesterday moving their effects into the new building which has been completed, with the main part of the furniture and equipment in place. Architect S. B. Coon, of Toronto, was here Thursday and with the members of the property committee looked over the building. Although the work throughout was pronounced satisfactory there are some formalities to be observed before the building is finally accepted.

A cement walk, 12 feet wide, is being constructed from the main entrance to connect with the sidewalk on Ranney Street. A number of man are at work cleaning up the grounds and uprooting some of the trees and shrubs. The improvements so far made add greatly to the appearance of the building.

A large number of citizens visited the new school and the arrangements give parents, students and teachers alike entire satisfaction.

Hydro Extensions

Twelve farmers met Thursday evening at the residence of William Rannie on the fifth concession near Menie for the purpose of closing negotiations with the Hydro Commission to extend the system to their premises. An engineer from the Commission looked over the ground last week and told the farmers that if three customers to the mile could be obtained the question of extending the transmission line would be considered. No guarantee, however, could be given that the work of extension would begin before August.

Every farmer at the meeting signed an agreement to become a patron of the system if the extension is made and this means that practically all of those residing on the fifth concession are included.

There is a transmission line at present from Campbellford along the sixth concession to Burnbrae and from that point it runs as far east as the residence of Alex. Hume who is a patron of the system. From that point the line is built along the town line to the farms of George Hay and Charles Milne. The proposed new line will start from there and be carried westward.

Under the Act passed at the recent session of the Legislature a percentage of the cost of extending the Hydro system in rural sections will be paid by the government.

The new line will pass through Menie and electric energy will be used to operate the large cheese factory at that place.

Cheese Board Meets

The first meeting of the cheese board for the season was held Thursday afternoon but there was no cheese offered for sale. The factories in the district have only recently started up and the cheese already made has not aged sufficiently, according to the regulation which prevail this year, to be marketable.

The question of the board carrying on this year is still in doubt but this will be settled at the annual meeting to be held on May 5th. A number of the factories formerly affiliated, have decided during the winter to sell in future through the co-operative association, but there are still a few who have not done so and these may decide to adhere to the old methods.

Sunday Night Concert

The Northumberland Regimental Band will give another of their popular Sunday evening concerts in the Regent Theatre at 8.30 tomorrow night. The members, since their last concert, have been putting in two nights a week of band practice and the programme put on Sunday night, every number being new, is the best yet offered at any of these entertainments. Major J. M. Bygott will preside and the usual silver collection will be taken up.

Special features will be vocal selections by Carl Maguire, Herb. Leonard and a quartette composed of Miss Brunelle and the Messrs. Brunelle, and a euphonium solo, "Old Black Joe," by Sergt. George T. Salter, who is prepared to demonstrate to the satisfaction of skeptical bandsmen in Peterborough who have raised the issue that the popular negro melody can be correctly rendered on that particular kind of instrument.

RED FOX.

Red fox is being combined extensively this season with light colors and with silk fabrics. A three-piece costume of black satin shows a coat banded with it and an overtunic of georgette the same color of the fur.

Yes, They're Quadruplets

Here they are again, those quadruplets of St. John, N.B., Canada. This picture was taken when they were three months old. They are Edith May, Louise, Lyda Christine and John Douglas, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Mahaney.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

BOLSHEVISM.

To the Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—We are all aware of the determined hostility of organized labor to the Reds. Very many people are at a loss apparently to understand why the Ramsay McDonald Government in Britain and Samuel Gompers, the head of labor on this Continent, are so violently opposed to a system which proposes, as it appears, to do away with the control of industry by capital and substitute for it the control not only of industry but of the state and everything in it by the mass of the people. The reason is this: Bolshevism, like prohibition, is based on the doctrine or principle that what the majority considers best for the benefit of the state must be allowed to prevail over all so-called private or minority rights. In other words, that everything, including private property and the very body and soul of individuals, no longer belongs as formerly to the latter, but to the state. This means that the working man's private property and rights are at the disposal of the state, at the mercy of those in control of the state; that not a single thing about a working man's little home, including even his family, in his as against the demands of the powers which control the state. It means that not one farmer would own even as much as a ll de of grass on his farm—all is the property of the state.

At present, of course, private property and private rights are absolutely distinct from, and often absolutely opposed to, public rights, and only in extreme cases, and that, too, with ample compensation, is the public right allowed to interfere with the private individual in his private affairs. With his well-defined and agreed-upon relations to the state it is, of course, another matter. The state or municipality has its rights also, but they are legal and never natural. They are rights which individuals agreed to surrender for their common convenience, and no more. But Bolshevism and prohibition which, when it relates to everything and not liquor alone, is the sword and buckler, the mighty weapon of Bolshevism—laugh at all private rights and ignore them. Now, why does labor fear that? Why does it officially, as in the U. S., declare itself opposed to prohibition and Bolshevism? Because once you introduce the new modern doctrine that a man is no longer a man and a woman a woman, but both are simply units belonging to the state, they become the victims of a system of control which if they did not oppose they would have consented to, and since the powerful are always in control and since even the mass must be led by a leader, they would be in the control of a leader and right back where the Assyrians where the ancient Egyptians and all other nations in which the individual had no status. It was slavery. That was what slavery was. It was the ownership of the individual by the ruler or by the clique of rulers (see Drury Government for example) in control.

Without a check upon this monstrous doctrine which is entirely opposed to that of nature and of God the world would crumble and be prostrate under the police or a standing army. What would the fact that even the majority, composed largely of women, complained? They would be laughted at.

Labor sees all this, and when its opportunity arose recently in Britain it took stock of conditions which it was now, for the first time, actually face to face with—and it refused to overthrow the right to private property and to private liberty. Prohibition, so far as it refers to liquor, is a mere bagatelle, but once you recognize the principle it will take the bloodiest of all wars, a revolution, to beat it back from making the mass of the people a mass of slaves. That is why labor opposes it.

J. H. BURNHAM.

To the Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—Mr. Burnham says that I am making a mistake in believing that God meant prohibition when He said, "Thou shalt not eat of the fruit of the tree." Now, Sir, I claim that the result proves that He did mean it, for He immediately drove them out of the Garden and prevented their return; but the serpent had done his work and persuaded Eve, saying that God did not mean what He said, and that is just what Mr. B. is trying to do today. Then, again, he has forgotten that Jesus Christ is much more modern than the Creator, and since His coming He has not only saved those that believe in Him, but has made them co-workers with Him for the salvation of others. Now, Sir, we claim that prohibition of alcoholic liquor has been a great help along that line to thousands of people, and we hope for its continuance for the benefit of thousands more. I believe that it is the duty of all people and nations to pass such laws as will tend to carry out not only the word but the spirit of God's commandments. Therefore, we are seeking to keep our country free from something that has always been, and always will be, a curse to all who use it.

Mr. B. asks me to point out to him where God has prohibited the making of anything. I don't think it is anywhere, and for an answer I would ask him to read the second commandment; also Exodus 20 and 23 of the same chapter.

Of course, Mr. B. will say that has nothing to do with drinking. I think it has, and all other forms of evil as well. Then he says that God in nature has made forty thousand kinds of alcohol, and I have no doubt of it. But why did not man leave it as God made it in nature where it would have been good and not evil? Now, I have no doubt but Mr. B. will say that men have the right to convert the good things in nature to their own use, either for good or evil. Why not give us the same right when we seek to do only good?

Mr. B. says that we have permission to drink alcohol, but must not get drunk. Would be kindly tell me where it can be found?

Now, Sir, in closing, let me say that, although I have lived a long time, that I still hope to live long enough to see the time when we as a Province and every other Province of our fair Dominion will be able to prohibit not only the sale but also the manufacture of alcoholic liquor within our boundaries.

Gratefully yours,
A. A.

You Cannot Hide Your Fat

Overfatness is the one misfortune you cannot hide from yourself or from those around you. If too thin, your dressmaker or tailor can supply the deficiencies, but the overfat carry a burden they can not conceal. There is one sure way to reduce your weight surely and quickly. The harmless Marmola Prescription, which changes the fatty tissues and fat-producing foods to solid flesh and energy, helps the general health and digestion, permits you to eat substantial food, and leaves the skin clear and smooth. This famous prescription is now condensed into tablet form. Each tablet contains an exact dose of the same harmless ingredients that made the original prescription capable of reducing the overfat body steadily and easily without the slightest ill effects. Take but one tablet after each meal and at bedtime until the normal weight is reached and the bodily health completely restored. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription tablets or send one dollar to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., the price the world over, and you will receive enough to start you well on the road to slimness and happiness.

EGGS TOO CHEAP.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., April 26. — Farmers in this region no longer take time from their planting to gather eggs. "Hen fruit" has become so cheap that when the quotation dropped to 10 cents a dozen, farmers began giving away their eggs to truck drivers if they would gather them.

WHITE WAY VS. RADIO.

EL PASO, Tex., April 26.—Local radio fans aren't particular whether El Paso has a gay white way, but they do not want their wireless messages to be hampered by the installment of new arc lights. They have induced the City Council to postpone receiving bids for the lights at least until summer.

OTTAWA SHOULD SPEAK.

Newspapers all over Canada are expressing the opinion frequently offered by the Examiner that Canada should re-assure her veterans of the war and the wives and dependents of the men who failed to come back that the bonus now being paid to them in recognition of the high cost of living will be made a permanent addition to their pensions.

Even should living costs drop to a pre-war level the total that would be arrived at by increasing the present pension by permanently adding the bonus would be none too large, and the Examiner is confident that the people of this country, no matter how anxious they are to have the Government put into effect economics, have no desire to save at the expense of the war sufferers.

Those in receipt of war pensions should be given an early assurance that they need have no anxiety as to the future, and that assurance should take the form of an announcement that henceforth their pensions will be increased by the sum now paid as a bonus.

Such an announcement would relieve the worries of many disabled soldiers and many war widows, who under the present conditions have no guarantee that the bonus will not be dropped at any time, leaving them to struggle along on inadequate pensions.

A USEFUL BOOKLET.

The local Fish and Game Protective Association has issued a very neat little booklet which in its four pages contains much useful information as to the game laws, the objects of the association and some of its activities since its organization.

These booklets will be widely distributed, and citizens who wish to mail copies to their friends are invited to secure them from officers of the association.

Among the useful bits of advice that are featured are the following, which the Examiner commends to the thoughtful attention of its readers:

Fish spawn only once each year. One fish killed in spawning time means thousands lost.

You cannot take fish in the closed season and have your sport catching them in the open season.

Protect your own interests by helping the association protect the fish.

Protect the forests; be sure your camp-fire is out.

This is all timely and important counsel, and it is hoped will have its effect upon people who in the past have been careless in regard to these matters.

As the Examiner pointed out a day or two ago, there is an illegal trade in game fish at this season of the year that reflects little credit upon the good sense of our people.

For a chance to obtain a fish now they are apparently willing to kill all chances of getting many more later on, and this short-sighted policy is encouraging the illegimate activities of many other people who would drop the game as unprofitable if there was not a ready market for their wares.

SAVING THE FORESTS.

By royal proclamation next week is set apart in Canada as "Save the Forest Week," the object, of course, being to interest the people of this country in the importance of doing everything within their power to prevent forest fires.

It is a matter of record that more timber is burned up in Canada each year than the axes and saws of the lumbermen have felled in decades.

The monetary loss of these forest fires has been estimated at nearly fifteen million dollars a year for the last five years.

That is a serious loss in itself, and it is made more serious by the fact that our timber resources are becoming exhausted.

If we go on burning our forest wealth every year in this fashion the end of the road is almost in sight.

And the worst feature of it all is that three out of four of these fires could be prevented with ordinary care.

Sheer lack of thought starts most of them on their destructive career.

A lighted match tossed away, a still burning cigarette dropped among the dead leaves, a camp-fire carelessly left burning, a "slash" fire that gets beyond the control of some settler and the fire fiend is in full career.

Everybody knows the results—thousands of acres of valuable timber destroyed—but worse than that, in many cases, the homes of settlers, even northland villages and towns engulfed, loss of life, property destruction, ruin and devastation on every hand.

All because somebody did not think.

Next week's campaign is designed to make Canadians more careful—and there is no one who should not be interested.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE AND TAXATION.

In his notable address before the American Associated Press in New York yesterday President Calvin Coolidge said two things that are exceptionally applicable to Canada. They were:

1. "The law of service demands strong resistance against the most determined assaults upon the public treasury by minority groups of one kind or another, and organizations, sometimes almost nation-wide in their ramifications."

2. "The same law requires the adoption of a sound method of taxation; the success of the Government does not lie in wringing all the revenue it can from the people, but in making their burden as light and as fairly distributed as possible."

The Canadian treasury has been altogether too vulnerable to the assaults of minority groups, says the Ottawa Journal. A clamorous organization, a well directed propaganda, a shower of the kind of petitions that anybody will sign, a few deputations to Ottawa, a few timid ministers who mistake sectional clamor for public opinion, and the walls around the Treasury fall as easily as the walls of Jericho fell before the trumpets of the sraelites. It has been almost ever thus in the past; and it is thus today. The clamor for the Hudson Bay Railway, which, supported only by a small minority of our people, has yet gouged the Treasury for 25 millions and threatens to grouge it for 50 millions more, is an illustrious case in point.

In Canada, too, the success of Governments has been too frequently measured by their capacity to wring revenue from the people. In England, in pre-war days, a Chancellor of the Exchequer whose revenue exceeded his needs by a few million pounds would have been almost hounded from office. In Canada, on the contrary, a big surplus was looked upon as a boon—the public never seemed to realize that this surplus really meant that their pockets had been fleeced of just that too much money. In recent years the position has grown worse. Our politicians have not looked for surpluses; but they have based their budgets not upon what the people could afford to pay but upon what they could be made to pay. It does not seem to have ever occurred to them that expenditure should be kept within the orbit of a taxation that did not impoverish individuals or reard development; the idea seems to have been to go on in reckless expenditure, taxing the public to the extreme limit to pay the bills, and borrowing to make up the balance.

THE LESSON OF THE HOME BANK.

Through the maze of evidence given before the McKeown Royal Commission in Toronto on Tuesday one thing stands out like a mountain peak. That thing is that between 1916 and 1923 the management of the Home Bank was in the hands of men who were either fools or knaves, and that because the Dominion Department of Finance contained no means of detecting or preventing the folly or the knavery, the fools or the knaves were allowed to drag the bank into an abyss of ruin. Just consider this evidence of Mr. G. T. Clarkson, the liquidator of the bank:

Mr. Clarkson said that in 1915 the Home Bank reported $276,940 to the Government as profits which were never earned. In 1916 the bank reported $133,406 earnings while there was $210,000 interest reported in this credit which was not collected. In 1917 there were earnings of $142,000 reported, although interest to the amount of $205,000 was not collected. In 1918 there was $228,963 shown as profit, although the actual profit was $167,857. There was a discrepancy also in 1919.

In 1920 the amount of profits shown by the bank in its report was $268,895. Mr. Clarkson discovered that they should have been reported at $205,760, which would include some unauthorized writing up of interest and real estate.

"In 1921," declared Mr. Clarkson, "they padded the profits by $155,000. That year," continued the witness, there was a write up of $238,000 on uncollectable interest. The actual profits were $60,271, so that the uncollectable interest written up amounted to four times the real profits."

"So that in that year they padded the profits in all about $400,000 at a time when they were reporting to Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, that everything was all right?" asked Mr. McLaughlin.

"Yes," said the liquidator.

"In 1922 the bank reported a profit of $275,000, while there was an actual loss of $156,000," said Mr. Clarkson.

"The profits that year were padded by nearly a million dollars?" asked Mr. McLaughlin.

"I would say $800,000, as they wrote off $200,000," replied Mr. Clarkson.

And a little later on, Mr. Clarkson, summing up, said:

"The affairs of the bank got worse from 1916 until the time of its collapse." Under examination he said that in the account with the Pellatt interests there might be $800,000 collected, and if things did not turn out right only $200,000 would be collected for the Home Bank. The total amount of the loans advanced to the Pellatt interests was not given. The range of the yearly returns to the Dominion Government were in error from $60,000 to $800,000.

Would a separate Government audit (Government inspection) have discovered these misrepresentations? Hear Mr. Clarkson again:

Eugene Lafleur, K.C., asked if there had been a separate audit made would the Minister of Finance have found out anything. Mr. Clarkson said that conditions far from satisfactory would have been found. Mr. Clarkson said that an auditor then would have found that the loans to the New Orleans Railway were bad.

"As a matter of fact it seemed to be worse then than it is today," said Mr. Clarkson.

What is the moral of all this? The moral, unquestionably, is that an overwhelming case is made out for Government inspection of banks. The Journal, in the past, was not overly enthusiastic about such a reform. It believed that there were difficulties in the way, and that the cost and trouble of such a system would be out of proportion to the good that would result. But people, after all, must be taught by experience; and the facts in connection with the Home Bank are so clear, the case made out for inspection so compelling, that it is impossible to continue opposing it.

Hardly a doubt exists, but that independent inspetion of the Home Bank from 1916 onwards would have saved it from collapse. Under such inspection competent investigators would have detected the wild-cat schemes which the Home Bank took under its wing. They would have been able to compel the directors to set their house in order. They would have prevented the false returns which bamboozled the Finance Department and lured depositors into a false sense of security. They could have stopped the nightmare of fantastic financing which finally brought down the bank with a crash.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Labour group in the Ottawa House may be small, but the Woodsworth amendment shows that it is big enough to make things awkward for the other fellows.

Andrew Pepall's denial of a split in the bond transaction would have had more force if it had been delivered before the Public Accounts Committee rather than in California.

It is explained now that there has been no remission of the lashes to which a Montreal bank bandit was sentenced. The punishment has merely been held up until after the expiry of the time for appeal. If that explanation had been made in the first place the Solicitor-General would have escaped a good many harsh words.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 25.—For almost the first time this year the packers were competitors with the exporters this week for the choice heavy steers. Prices for several loads of these made 9 cents a pound, and other ran from $8.60 a cwt. up to $9. Dressed beef prices at Boston and New York left an opening which could be filled from here despite the duty and other charges, which run over 4 cents a pound dressed. Top steers are quoted as high as $12.50 a cwt. in Chicago, and this has assisted the market here. Exporters are not keen on paying over $8.50 a cwt. owing to the condition of the Old Country market, and were not put out much because of this new demand.

The best medium weight steers and on occasions heifers sold at $8 a cwt., and none of quality went below $7.50 a cwt. Handy weights kept in close contact, but one of the nicest mixed loads of these sold on Tuesday at $7.15 a cwt. Good butchers were around $7, and mediums sold at $6.50.

Common butchers were only to be had at $5.75 and $6.00 a cwt.

The demand for butchers cows was quite keen all week and supplies were not fully available until Wednesday. Choice fat cows for Kosher purposes and export brought $6.25 and $6.50 a cwt.; good cows were $5.25 to $5.75 and mediums cows were $4.75 a cwt. Cows only out of the cutter class were good for $3.75 a cwt. Bulls did not sell well but the exporters cleaned up quite a number on Wednesday at 4¼ to 5¼ cents a pound. Few baby beefs are now coming in and these are selling from $8.00 to $9.00 a cwt.

Farmers are somewhat slow in taking on feeders and stockers owing to what are regarded as high prices, but there were few of these left in the hands of the specialists at the week end. Good 1000 lb. feeders command $6.50 a cwt. and light breedy stockers are selling at $5.50 and $5.75. A few common stockers sold during the week below $5.00 a cwt.

Choice calves continue firm in price with a market around 12 cents a pound. Good medium calves sell at 10 cents and the commonest of the daries not better than 5 cents.

Last year's lambs and light choice sheep are in too limited supply and are looked for right along. Clipped yearlings sell up to 14½ cents and choice 125 to 150 lb. sheep at 9 cents a pound. Spring lambs have a market from $14 to $15 for the best and poorly nutured ones sell as low at $8.

Hogs advance 25 cents a cwt. this week, but the packers do not take kindly to the increase and will try to get the quote back to $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b. if supplies begin to show any big volume.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, April 26 (Canadian Press). — The market remains steady. Liberal supplies are coming forward and a fair business on improved demand from grocers and other dealers. It is reported that in New York arrivals of eggs are large but not at all excessive for the season and the statistics of receipts and accumulations indicate that local distribution as a whole is holding up relatively better than last year after Easter.

Toronto easy, obbing specials 30, extras 28, firsts 26, seconds 23.

Montreal active demand due to excellent quality. Jobbing specials 33, extras 30, firsts 27, seconds 25.

Winnipeg retailing extras 25 to 30, firsts 25 to 28, seconds 23 to 25.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Trade in cash grain on the local market was quiet yesterday. There were no special features in the flour market. The millfeed market was unchanged and trade in rolled oats was slow. Business in baled hay was quiet. A fair trade continues in eggs and the potato market was dull. Butter prices show an advance of 1-2 cent per pound. A stronger feeling developed in the cheese market, and prices were marked up 1-2 cent per pound.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday:

Demand 4.4488
Cables 4.4525

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK.

WNNIPEG, Man., April 26 (Canadian Press). — Arrivals: 415 cattle and calves, 640 hogs, and no sheep.

The cattle market opened under a comparatively light volume of offerings and clearances were effected at steady prices. No quotations.

The hog market remained unchanged with thick smooths at $7.00 and select bacons $7.70.

NAPANEE CHEESE.

NAPANEE, Ont., April 26 (Canadian Press). — At the opening meeting of the cheese board yesterday there were 425 cheeses boarded; all sold at 14 cents. At this date last year 245 boxes were offered and sold at 16 1-2 cents per pound.

FARM PRODUCTS CHEAP.

MONTREAL, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Butter and eggs brought what were said to be the lowest prices for a decade on the Bonsecours market here yesterday. Butter was 35 cents a pound and eggs were available at 28 cents a dozen, with anticipation of still lower prices since country dealers are buying at 24 cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Cold weather over Canada and the Dakotas did a good deal yesterday to lift wheat prices here, and so, too, did uncertainty over proposed legislation at Washington.

The closing in the wheat market was firm, 5-8c to 7-8c net higher, May $1.03 1-4 to $1.03 3-8, and July $1.05 1-4 to 3-8 to $1.05 3-8, with corn 3-8 to 1-2 to 3-4 up, oats showing 1-8c to 1-4c to 3-8c gain, and provisions at 5c to 15 decline.

WED ON TOSS OF COIN.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 26.—James O'Neill, 26, and Miss Cecile Marie Harrison, 23, flipped up a coin. Heads—they would get married. Tails—the single life forever. It came up heads. "So here we are," the young people told Recorder Finch when they came to get their license.

AMAZING RESULTS IN GOOD HEALTH FROM THE FRUIT TREATMENT

Well Known Resident of Portland, Maine

Mr. Otis M. Bryant, of 49 Anderson Street, is most enthusiastic about this famous fruit medicine. He writes "I was troubled with Constipation ever since I can remember; as a result, I have suffered from distressing headaches and pain in my left side. I tried many and various remedies for the Headaches and Constipation, without receiving relief. About four months ago, I began the use of "Fruit-a-tives." Since then, I have been free of Headaches, bowels regular, no pain in my side. After the use of several boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," I feel justified in pronouncing them a remedy of true and exceptional merit."

Intensified Fruit Juices in the Form of "Fruit-a-tives" Promptly Relieves Many Diseases

You have always known that Fruit is healthful. Doctors say "eat more fruit." Experts on food and diet urge the eating of fruit. But—fresh fruit is expensive—and there is only a very small quantity of the medicinal or healing principle in fruit.

Now, a 50c. box of "Fruit-a-tives" contains all the medicinal principle of dozens of oranges and apples and pounds of figs and prunes.

By the wonderful discovery of a well known physician, it is possible to obtain the medicinal properties of the fresh juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes concentrated and intensified in a small tablet, with tonics added.

This is "Fruit-a-tives"—the Fruit Treatment—the quick, pleasant, inexpensive way to make you well and keep you well.

Seems Almost a Miracle

Just read this letter from Mrs. Clara Sloat, Perth Junction, N.B.

"For many years I was a great sufferer from Indigestion, Constipation and Chronic Rheumatism. My stomach was weak and gave me constant distress, while the Rheumatism in my joints made me almost a cripple. Physicians and their medicines did me no good. Finally, I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and at once this wonderful fruit medicine seemed to help me. Soon the Constipation and Indigestion were relieved and the Rheumatism began to go away and, in a few months, entirely disappeared."

Thanks To "Fruit-a-tives," Am Once More Well

Mrs. Honore Valiquette, 1133 Notre Dame St. West, Montreal, is deeply grateful to this famous fruit medicine. She says, "I wish I could tell every sufferer in the world what "Fruit-a-tives" have done for me. For three years, I was much troubled by Bad Headaches, Nervous Dyspepsia and Liver Trouble. Then I commenced taking "Fruit-a-tives." Very soon my condition improved, and now, thanks to these wonderful tablets, I am once more entirely well."

Take "Fruit-a-tives" and get well. 25c and 50c a box, at all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

CHATELAINE OF 10 DOWNING ST. VISITING QUEEN

TREASURES SHOWN.

LONDON, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—Ishbel MacDonald, student of domestic economics at London University, and, incidentally, daughter of Britain's Labor Premier, will have the opportunity of observing Queen Mary's housekeeping methods this week-end when she accompanies her father to Windsor Castle on their first private and personal visit to Their Majesties.

This afternoon, while the Premier runs over to the big football match at Wembley with the King, Queen Mary will show Ishbel through the ancient castle, crowded with fabulous treasures in the form of tapestries, china and plate, the latter including the famous "gold pantry" estimated to be worth £2,000,000 sterling.

American Guests.

At eight this evening United States Ambassador Kellogg and Mrs. Kellogg will call around for dinner, which will be served the guests at small tables, instead of the popular conception of a royal dinner — great boards of terrifying length, surrounded by solemn-faced guests.

After dinner, Their Majesties will lead the way to the suite of drawing-rooms where Queen Victoria used to stand on her little royal rug and hold her prim and proper after-dinner courts. There will be a little music, a little general conversation, and royalty and their guests will be off to bed with the promise of a late Sunday sleep if they want it, for there is no general breakfast table rule at Windsor.

Band on Terrace.

The Premier and his daughter will have their porridge in their private apartments Sunday morning, but will be expected to be present at a special religious ceremony to be held in St. George's Chapel by the Archbishop of Canterbury. After luncheon, if it does not rain, the King will show Premier MacDonald his gardens, a band will play on the terrace which was Queen Victoria's favorite promenade, and the town folks of Windsor will be admitted to the castle grounds.

FIND JUNGLE CITY.

LONDON, April 26.—The ruins of a great city of the first Mayan empire, lying miles inland in the uninhabitable jungle of British Honduras, have been discovered by an expedition of American and British explorers backed by a London syndicate. A massive pyramid 300 feet high was among the ruins.

Health and good looks
—the reward of internal cleanliness

HEALTH and good looks go hand in hand. If you do not keep clean internally, your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks, and insomnia—each of which sapsyour health and vitality. Soon much more serious conditions follow.

Good Looks Throughout Life If You Keep Clean Internally

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation.

Physicians Favor Lubrication

The lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is not a laxative and cannot gripe. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Cleanliness Demands More Than Bathing

Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

LANSDOWNE LODGE HAD ENJOYABLE SOCIAL TO MARK ST. GEORGE'S DAY

Rev. Dr. Taylor of Toronto Was Visiting Speaker—Mayor Turner Presided—Splendid Musical Programme.

Illustrated Lecture.

Wednesday, April 23rd, St. George's Day, was celebrated in fitting manner by a very enjoyable social evening held under the auspices of the Lansdowne Lodge of the Sons of England, in their Hunter Street hall. Despite the attractions of the Motor Show and other festivities, there was a good attendance. Visiting speakers were: Rev. Dr. Taylor of Toronto, one of the Supreme Lodge officers of the Sons of England Society in Canada, and Rev. Maurice R. Kingsford, curate at St. John's Church, who gave a very interesting address, illustrated with slides, showing the Sinking of the German Navy after their Surrender to the British Fleet. His Worship, Mayor J. J. Turner, occupied the chair, and opened the meeting with a few appropriate remarks regarding the celebration of St. George's Day. He also announced the passing of the Canadian General Electric by-law by a large majority, and took the opportunity to congratulate the epople of Peterborough on their enterprise in this regard.

Rev. Dr. Taylor spoke briefly but entertainingly on the significance of the day, the work of the Sons of England Societies, and his own endeavors among boys and as a member of the Juvenile Court of Toronto.

A musical programme provided much enjoyment throughout the evening, and included instrumental selections by Messrs. J. Parkins, S. Parkins, and R. J. Devey; vocal solos by Messrs. Devey, A. J. Hayter, Godwin, Stevenson, the latter also giving a humorous reading, and Mrs. J. Woolgar, whose vocal solos were greeted with much applause, and who was presented by the committee in charge with a bouquet of roses. Mr. Devey acted as accompanist throughout the evening. At the conclusion of the programme, a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, speakers, artists and general assistants of the evening, was voiced by Mr. W. G. Shiner, and responded to in appropriate terms.

Mr. Chairman and Sons and Daughters of England:

I consider it a great honor, a privilege and an opportunity to speak to you on St. George's Day. I feel that I do not come among you altogether as a stranger, my grandfather having been president of the St. George's Society, and my father, among patriot societies, president of the "Overseas Club," and of the "Canadian Defence League"—a Dominion-wide organization which did splendid work before the war, arousing people to the need of being prepared to defend their country and empire from foreign aggression—and their warnings and encouragements were vitally necessary, as the late German war showed.

Patriotic societies like the Sons of England today, to my mind, have an even greater function to fulfil to keep alive the spirit of patriotism and of voluntary service. I quote Sir Clifford Sifton, himself no scaremonger, as saying that there has been a great war at least every ten years for the last three thousand years. People say they are tired of wars—they always have been, but, if we put our heads in the sand, like an ostrich, and ruminate pious wishes, our country and Empire, instead of sleep, will receive the perpetual repose of obliteration and oblivion.

The British Empire does not want war with anyone. From a merely utilitarian standpoint, why should we? We own one-quarter of the globe and have more than we really need already. But, if we lay ourselves open to it, there are seeds in the world for many future wars. Spain wants Gibraltar, everybody wants Egypt, Russia spent a whole generation preparing to advance on India and has been only temporarily diverted, four hundred million odd Chinese want to settle in Australia, with its four millions. We cannot count on the yellow races tolerating exclusion bills forever. The United States wants the West Indies, and every year we pride ourselves that Canada becomes a country more worth having. Remember Champ Clark! Remember Naboth's vineyard. It is folly and madness to allow our volunteer militia to fall into decay. At present, every unit in the country is under strength. Every unit in Peterborough needs recruits, an Empire relying on voluntary service will not quickly take the aggressive. On the other hand, if the people, especially the youth of the country, shoulder their responsibilities of service, the likelihood of foreign aggression becomes more remote.

The League of Nations can do wonders; but remember that the League of Nations is not a new idea. It was one of the favorite hobbies of the Czar Alexander during the Napoleonic Wars. The British Empire is a de facto League of Nations, and a bird in the hand's worth two in the bush. There is always lethargy after a great war, a feeling of exhaustion and apathy. Gladstone said, "Peace at any price," and remember the fate of Chinese Gordon? A much greater Englishman, said, "Fear God and keep your powder dry." Is it too much to ask the youth of the country to give up eighteen nights a year for three years by joining the Peterborough Rangers or whatever unit is nearest at hand? Our country is worth it.

Immigration Policy

There is another matter of prime importance to us as Sons and Daughters of England, and that is that we believe that a British Dominion should be people with those of British birth. There are at present in Great Britain two million men and women out of work. At a conservative estimate, fifty per cent. of these would be willing to come to Canada and of these a very large percentage would make good on the land.

As a matter of fact, the assertion that British settlers do not practically always make good in the end is a libel, and the idea arose from a few ne'er-do-we'ls who spoilt the British good name for everyone else. A French-Canadian Minister of Justice, M. Lapointe, magnanimously pointed out the other day that the three premiers of the western provinces were all English-born Canadians who had made good. But the Federal or Dominion immigration policy, owing to their hands being tied by circumstances, has nearly always been abortive, banal or at its best supine.

Thousands of foreigners are brought in who do not hold our standards and the country is so much the worse off, for after all, the most important element in the national composition of a country is the people who live in it. We only want, therefore, people with British traditions and British ideals. Perhaps for the Dominion Government this is too much to expect, no matter what government is in power. But the Province of Ontario is in a different position. This Province is, and always has been, British by descent and sentiment in a pre-eminent degree. But now we appear to be asleep at the switch. The map shows how New Ontario is the connecting link between the east and the west. A great part is a barren waste; but there are 16,000,000 acres of good land in the "clay belt," which self-interest and patriotism alike proclaim should be settled with British people. At present, this all-important connecting link, or buckle, or whatever one likes to call it, is being taken up by foreigners, or those who do not speak English. Organizations like the Sons of England can be of invaluable service by directing public opinion and by urging the Ontario Government to pursue a sound, progressive, British immigration policy, and remember, that as Ontario represents one-third of the population of Canada and one-half of its wealth, if we keep this province a solid British phalanx, the rest of Canada cannot easily deviate from rectitude very far. Ontario is in the fortunate position of being able to dictate its own immigration policy. Let us, therefore, see to it that only those can settle who can at least speak English, and of whose loyalty we can be assured. The late war showed us decisively that in time of real crisis, only those of British extraction can be relied on to play the game. For the rest, considered at their best, interment camps are an expensive luxury.

The Rev. Mr. Kingsford then gave an address, illustrated with slides, showing the Surrender of the German Navy, which has already, on a previous occasion, been fully described in these columns. It is an interesting review, copiously illustrated, of the circumstances surrounding the sinking of the enemy's ships after the dramatic surrender to the British fleet, and was the subject of much interest to the spectators.

PAINFUL SCIATICA AND NEURALGIA

People think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve of the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease is the same, and the remedy to be effective ,must be the same. The pain, whether it takes the form of sciatica or whethe it affects the face and head, is caused by starved nerves. The blood, which normally carries nourishment to the nerves, for some reason no longer does so and the excruciating pain you fell is the cry of the starved nerves for food. The reason why the blood fails to properly nourish the nerves is usually because the blood itself is weak and thin

When you build up the impoverished blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, you are attacking sciatica, neuralgia and kindred diseases at the root. As proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind we give the statement of Mrs. Marion Bell, Port Elgin, Ont., who says:—"Some years ago I was attacked with sciatica in my leg and hip. The pain was excruciating and finally I was forced to go to bed. Apparently all the doctor could do was to give me drugs to dull the pain, as otherwise I found no relief. I had been in bed with the trouble for eight weeks when a lady who came to see me said that she had had a similar attack, and had only found relief through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided at once to try this medicine, and before I had taken more than three boxes I found relief. I continued the use of the pills and under the treatment the pain left me. I was able to walk again, and have not since had the least return of the trouble. I feel that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been of such great benefit to me that I strongly urge similar sufferers to give them a fair trial."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockpille, Ont.

BELLEVILLE-PETERBORO ENGINEER QUITS TO-DAY

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25.—Mr. H. Lavoie, engineer on the Peterborough-Bellville branch of the C.N.R. made his last run over the line yesterday, when he passed through here at the throttle of the engine hauling the mail train and headed for Belleville. If Mr. Lavoie, who goes on the superannuation list, had worked until October, he would have completed an even fifty years of continuous service. He started as a wiper at Stratford when a mere boy, but soon worked his way up to the head of his particular branch of the service. It is over 40 years since he was transferred to the Peterborough-Belleville branch to take the way freight. For over 20 years he has been on the engine of the mail train, and in all his long service has never been in anything more serious than what railroad men class as minor accidents.

Mr. Lavoie's home is in Belleville. He is 67 years old and was eligible for superannuation at 65, but at his own request was granted an extension of two years.

Warsaw Correspondence

WARSAW, Apr. 26.—After the service Sunday evening, several people noticed reflections in the sky from the moon, such as Sundays are from the sun. Some saw a bright one to the south, then one to the north, later on the two opposite sides. The northern lights were showing slightly, and some thought it might be that, but it was different. Miss Barry is spending the holiday with her sister, Mrs. Weir, at the parsonage.

Mrs. James Hawthorne and little Jean spent Easter in Toronto.

Mrs. Wm. C. Lloyd and two younger children are spending a week visiting relatives in Burnbrae and Campbellford.

Mrs. Johnson and children, Coehill, and Miss Elsie MacIlvena, Peterboro', are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James MacIlvena.

Miss Laura Bowen spent the week-end and holiday in Belleville.

Robert Hill arrived from the West today.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, Peterboro', are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crowe.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson went to Toronto this morning.

Miss Lena Lonsberry is home for a few days.

Mrs. A. F. Choate spent last week in Toronto visiting her son Richard, visiting millinery warehouses, and laying in supplies.

The Sunday services in all four churches were well attended. There were special Easter services in each. Communion was observed in the Presbyterian and Anglican Churches.

Next Sunday morning, Pastor Chorley will preach in his own church, and the Presbyterians will unite with him in the service. In the afternoon he will take charge of the Cotersloe services.

On the evening of May 4th, Communion will be observed in the Methodist Church.

There was no evening service in the Presbyterian Church, Warsaw. Mr. Atkinson attended a special missionary service in Cotersloe.

THE CAMPBELLFORD CHALLENGE ACCEPTED BY WARKWORTH

WARKWORTH, April 25.—Percy Township accepts the challenge and will send a tug-of-war team to the celebration in Campbellford on May 24rd, to try conclusions with the Burnbrae breakers of ropes and records. The team that carried off the honors at Roseneath Fair last fall was composed of men from Percy who were selected from the crowd just before the match, and who had had no previous training. There is plenty of material to chose from in village and township, some of those mentioned for a place on the team being Harold Skinkle, Dan and George Carr, Elmer Oliver, Fred Grills, Ernest Anderson, George Patridge, Ed. Sequire, William Cornelius, and C. Copperthwaite.

To Hold Field Day.

The directors of the Agricultural Society will have a meeting on Saturday evening to decide whether to hold their annual field day on June 3rd or on the following day. The final decision will depend upon whether the date first mentioned, which is the King's birthday, is to be generally observed as a holiday throughout the district.

Why does the Salvation Army make an annual Self-Denial appeal?

The Army in the Police Courts

In many Police Courts, Salvation Army Officers are on duty ready to help those who have no one to befriend them. Very often prisoners are remanded to the Army's care and are salvaged from the ranks of human failures.

The Army in Prison and Reformatory

Our penal institutions are visited regularly by Salvation Army Officers who interest themselves in the problems of the men and women incarcerated there. Many a person has been re-claimed to decent citizenship by their unselfish efforts.

The Army takes care of the Unmarried Mothers

Of 700 girls and women who sought the shelter of the Army Rescue Homes last year, 500 of them were "unmarried mothers". Stories without a parallel in human interest could be written on this phase of the work, suffice it to say that it is done with Christlike unselfishness.

The Army appeals to you because this work is costly

This "Social" work is only a part of the service the Army is giving to the community, but it is one of the most important of its branches. To carry on requires money, and the Army looks to its friends through the Annual Self-Denial Appeal for the necessary funds.

THE HAVELOCK PRESBYTERIANS GAVE BANQUET

$500.00 Was Needed to Pay Off the Mortgage on the Church While $557.10 Was Realized.

LARGE TURN OUT

HAVELOCK, Apr. 26.—For the purpose of raising the $500 mortgage off the manse, the Presbyterians of Havelock and vicinity had a silver tree and banquet, which was held in the town hall. The 'silver tree' is an innovation in this country, the idea having been taken from England. The members of the congregation sent envelopes to their personal friends and former members and adherents to the church. They requested these people to contribute a gift of money and to enclose with it their selected quotation. From Selkirk, Scotland, British Columbia, South Africa and London, England, donations came, bearing with them messages of fellowship and good-will. These were read to the audience as the gifts were counted. The following is a partial list of the contributions: Jack Roach, Toronto, $2; Archie McDonald, $2; T. Curtis, $2; Mrs. H. T. Stibbin, Long Island, $1; Mrs. J. Howe, $1; H. A. Jewett, Toronto, $2; Rev. Mr. McIlloy, $1; Mrs. J. Johnston, $1.25; W. H. Harper, $1; Mrs. Alex. Watson, $2; Mrs. A. Anderson, $2; Lorne Jack, $2; Mrs. Robt. Anderson, $2; Sherwood Scea, $10; John Squires, $1; Mr. and Mrs. D. Burgess, $5; Wm. Plunkett, $1; M. Breckenridge, $1; Jack Watson, $1; Willard Stillman, $2; H. F. McNichol, $10; Catherine Rose, $1; H. Sexsmith, $1; A. Buchanan, $1; James Paton, $2; Lena Warren, $2; Richard Lees, $2; Mr. and Mrs. D. Stark, $1; Clarence Spencer, $1; Alfred Spencer, $2; Peter Spencer, $1; Helen Spencer, $1; P. H. Johnston, $1; Mrs. J. A. Langstaffe, $1; S. T. Wilson, $10; Mr. and Mrs. R. McDonald, London, Ont., $10; Mabel Breckenridge, $1; E. Ferguson (Selkirk, Scotland), 10 shillings; Katie Anderson, $1; Mrs. Laing, $1; Mr. and Mrs. F. Breckenridge, $2; Walter Clarke, $2; George Rourke, $1; Edward Rourke, $2; V. Rourke, $2; Mr. and Mrs. Copp, $2; Allan E. Thompson, Toronto, $5; Mrs. Robt. Hart, $1; John Hunter, $5.

The proceeds from the silver tree amounted to $557.10. The banquet was started by the singing of "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," followed by a short prayer by Rev. Mr. McIlroy, the pastor. The tables were utilized to the fullest extent and it was necessary to set a second talbe.

The refreshments were extra good and plentiful, and soon everybody was enjoying a social time, while the "Board-Walk Orchestra" enlivened things with good music. The orchestra was a decided factor in the success of the entertainment. It consisted of the piano, two violins, the banjo and traps played by A. Laing, H. Sexsmith, F. Buchanan, J. Buchanan and R. Peters, respectively. Chief Magistrate Wm. Mathison presided very efficiently as chairman of the banquet. After a few fitting remarks by the chairman a violin and pinao duet, "Gates of the West," was well rendered by Dr. Thompson, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Helen. Following this item, the popular song, "When It's Night Time in Italy," was sung by Frank Buchanan and Leo. Aldritch. The unveiling of the silver tree then took place. Little Babe McNicholl (who looked very dainty) had this honour. At intervals throughout the remainder of the programme the contributions were opened and selections read.

The choir then sang the anthem, "Take Jesus With You Wherever You Go." The balance of the programme was as follows:

"It Ain't Gonna Rain no More," vocal duet, L. Aldritch, F. Budhanan. "Who's Sorry Now," vocal duet, Miss V. Rourke, Miss A. Martin. The address by the Anglican minister of Havelock, Rev. T. H. Stanley. Mr. Stanley said that he was glad that the Presbyterians were assimilating themselves to Anglican practices. He had reference to public functions held by denominations in the town hall as a means of financial aid. He termed the banquet "a pleasant gathering, where defeat is turned into victory.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster, speaking as clerk of the village, responded to a request to address the meeting. A second duet by Dr. Thompson and his daughter followed, "Shall We Meet Beyond the River," was sung at the banquet of one of the British Columbia donors, which was contained in a very fine letter accompanying the donation. Miss V. Rourke led the singing of this hymn. Frank Buchanan and Leo. Aldritch again sang.

The programme closed with Mr. McIlroy's address in which he expressed himself as proud to be a citizen of Havelock and community, and also to be pastor of the Presbyterian Church and to learn of the success of the 'silver tree' and banquet. He thanked everyone who were instrumental in the success of the event for both their practical help and good wishes.

Owing to the over-abundance of eatables, a sale of home-made cooking was announced to take place the following morning.

THE WHEAT FARMERS TO RAISE LIVESTOCK

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 26. — Wheat farmers of the great northwest are going into the dairy business!

Hard hit by losses of the last three years, they have decided to recoup by turning over large tracts of their land to raising livestock.

This trend toward dairy farming has been apparent for several years in the Red River valley of northwestern Minnesota. Now it is spreading throughout the great northwest. It is being encouraged by the railroads and farm banks there, and is even looking toward financial encouragement from the Government.

The Coulter bill, drawn up by President Coulter of the College of Agriculture of North Dakota, would make available to wheat farmers $50,000,000 in loans for the purchase of livestock.

But many aren't waiting for assistance. They are going right ahead to share in the profits of dairy farming, to make up for the losses they incurred in past years from raising wheat.

A BEWDLEY TRAPPING CASE HEARD TUESDAY

The Plaintiff, Nelson Guyatt Charged the Defendants, Walter McClung and W. Kennedy with Trespassing

COBOURG, Apr. 25.—Judgment was reserved in the Bewdley trapping case, which came up in that village on Tuesday before Magistrate Floyd. The complainant, Nelson Guyatt, charged the defendants, Messrs. Walter McClung and W. Kennedy, with trespassing on his premises, contrary to the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act. The case had been adjourned from a previous hearing. The evidence as to the alleged trapping was put in, and Magistrate Floyd received judgment in order to allow the counsel in the case to put in written argument. Mr. Archie Cochrane appeared for Nelson Guyatt, F. D. Boggs, K.C., for Mr. McClung, and Mr. Frost, of Lindsay, for Mr. Kennedy.

Wine Stolen In Berlin Was 113 Years of Age.

BERLIN, April 26.—(Associated Press).—The theft recently of a lot of Rhine wine of the vintage of 1811 created more of a sensation and excitement than usually attend a diamond robbery or murder. The wine belonged to a wealthy family, which formerly owned its own vineyards, and had been handed down for generations.

Rewards were offered for the return of even part of the wine and detectives assigned to the case took up the watch at antique shops.

GASOLINE DANGEROUS.

TRADE REPORT FOR THE WEEK

Conditions Are Improving In Some Sections of the Country.

Winnipeg, Man., April 26. The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, states:

St. John. — Wholesale trade fairly good. Slight improvement is noted in retail business. Cold and stormy weather has been some handicap. Collections fair.

Montreal. — Generally speaking business somewhat quiet though improvement is noted in certain lines noted. A decided improvement is anticipated in seasonal lines shortly.

Toronto. — There has been a slight easing off in the wholesale trade during the past week. In retail lines the Easter sales are holding up fairly well. A large volume of goods turned over. This should create a stimulus to the wholesale trade. Collections show a slight improvement.

Winnipeg. — No particular change is noted in either wholesale or retail trade. The weather during the past week has been unfavorable and has had a retarding effect.

Regina. — Wholesale trade is reported very quiet. Retail trade also is reported as being stagnant, but improvement is anticipated in the near future. Collections are slow.

Saskatoon. — Wholesale and retail trade remains without much change.

Calgary. — The past week has witnessed a noticeable slackening off of business. This is accounted for by adverse weather conditions and is regarded as only temporary. Collections are fair to good.

Edmonton. — General trade conditions are fair, although not as brisk as expected. Colections fairly good in the country districts.

Vancouver. — A steady improvement is still noted in practically all lines of wholesale and retail trade. Much better than the same period in 1923. Collections holding fair.

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 26.—Indications already point to the coming summer season for tourist guests in Cobourg being a successful one.

Mrs. W. Nimick, of Pittsburg, daughter of Mr. Herman Griffin, has rented the Sebbutt Cottage for the summer.

Mrs. C. W. Kerr has rented her large residence on Ontario Street to an American lady for the summer season.

Mrs. Burwash has leased, through Mrs. George Armour, her residence on College Street to Mr. Larston Gifford of Toronto.

Mrs. Bakewell, of Pittsburg, formerly Miss Donnelly, a daughter of the late Charles Donnelly, of Pittsburg and Cobourg, has leased Mr. Frank Hess's large residence, "Heathcote." Mr. Hess and Miss Hess will occupy "Villa May," another East-end summer home, this year.

Negotiations are going on for the leasing of a number of other summer homes.

Mrs. Fleming and family, of Toronto, who have been in the South for the winter, are expected to return here for the summer season.

Sales of Real Estate in Cobourg and Township.

Mr. Hugh Gorman has purchased some lots on William Street from the estate of the late Bernard McAllister. This is one of the old properties of the town.

Mrs. Annie L. Bassinger has sold a house on Division Street, North, to John R. Rysack.

Martha J. Kidd has sold a part of lot 1, con. 6, South Monaghan, to James O. Pue.

The executors of the David Boswell estate have sold a house on Perry Street to H. I. Spence.

Other Changes of Homes.

Mr. R. H. McGregor, who resides on the former Sargent farm, near Centreton, and who was deeply bereaved a few weeks ago by the death of a son, has had a sale of his effects and is removing to Castleton with his family.

Mr. C. Stone, who was residing at Colbourne, has removed to Smithfield.

Mr. Fred Burley, Smithfield, had a sale last week, and has gone to Rochester.

Mr. Herbert Minor has moved from Oak Heights to the Goheen farm, near Norham.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Snider have moved from Frankford to a house on the Belleville Road. With his brother, Mr. William Snider, he will work his father's farm there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McColl have gone from Wooler to Presque Ile Point for the summer season, where Mr. McColl has resumed his duties at the foghorn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson and family have moved to Coe Hill to Mr. Wilson Stoneburg's farm at the Carrying Place.

Death of Andrew Young.

The funeral of Mr. Andrew Young took place at Colbourne on Friday from the home of Mr. Thomas Donnelly to the Colbourne Union Cemetery. Mr. Young passed away the Wednesday morning previous, after only a day's illness. He was a war veteran, having gone overseas with the 13th Northumberland Battalion. He was honorably discharged from the army in 1919. Mr. Young leaves a widow and family of young children, with whom much sympathy is felt.

Presentation at Hilton.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hare assembled at their home at Hilton and presented them with some pieces of flat silver before the removal of their host and hostess to Brighton. There were about forty friends present, and several, by brief addresses, wished Mr. and Mrs. Hare happiness in their new home, and expressed regret because of their removal from the vicinity.

Missionary Addresses.

Recently, at Enniskillen, the Women's Missionary Society gave an "At Home" to the ladies of the congregation. Mrs. Morgan gave an address that was listened to with much interest. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Morgan, returned Missionary from China, gave a very able address on his work there.

Transferred to Darlington.

Issued County Court Writ.

Nathaniel Enoch Merriam, of Harwood, is stated to have issued a County Court writ against Charles Calcutt and Corrie Calcutt to recover possession of the portion of a lot in the village of Harwood upon which the defendants have two boathouses.

Death of Mrs. Percy Stone.

Mr. Percy Stone, a former well-known resident of Cobourg, has been sadly bereaved by the death of his wife, who passed away at their home in Toronto at the age of 39 years. Mrs. Stone, who was also for a time resident ent of Cobourg, both before and after her marriage, leaves a family of young children.

Miss Lenore Forbes returned to Peterboro yesterday evening after having spent the Easter recess with friends in the district.

MINISTERIAL MEETING WAS HELD ON TUESDAY

COBOURG, April 25.—The Central Northumberland and Durham Ministerial Association met on Tuesday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Horwood, Camborne. The address was given by Rev. H. A. Bunt, Canton, and the theme was the Brotherhood of the Old Testament. The discussion was opened by Rev. A. R. Walsh, Roseneath.

The following resolution was passed by the Association:

First — Whereas the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches in Canada each following its own constitutional procedure, have agreed together to unite to form one denomination, and whereas these churches are asking the Parliament of Canada for the legislation necessary to enable them to carry out their purposes, now, therefore, we, the members of the Central Northumberland and Durham Association in regular meeting assembled do hereby unanimously express our firm belief in the principle of religious liberty and the consequent right of these churches to determine their constitution and the method by which they shall carry on the work they believe entrusted to them by God.

Second—We do urge our representations in the Dominion Government to give their hearty support to the bill now before Parliament in this matter.

MADAME KEMAL "LEAPED" LONG BEFORE LEAP YEAR

New Turkish President and His Wife Delight in Breaking Rules—Her Terrifying Social Dictatorship

THE latest story from Turkey says that Madame Kemal "leaped" before leap year. Louise Bryant, who not long ago visited the Bolsheviki, has now been calling on Kemal Pasha, and this is her conclusion. But orthodox Turks have been shocked so often lately by the new dictator of Turkey and his wife that a little thing like mistaking leap year is nothing here nor there.

Mme. Kemal, like her husband, takes a delight in breaking rules, and she usually does. But she does not ask that rules be broken for other women. It would be as ridiculous to call her a feminist, says Mrs. Bryant, as to call her husband a democrat. Both are individualists believing in great privileges for themselves.

Kemal's marriage came as a surprise, even to his closest friends, because Kemal, aside from his friendship with his mother, showed no interest in women except when he went on an occasional disreputable soldier's "spree," which greatly shocked the orthodox Turks, who care very greatly for family life.

Then the future Mme. Kemal "leaped." Certainly when Kemal entered Smyrna, matrimony was far from his thoughts. After having taken the town he established headquarters in one of the largest houses, a place which happened to belong to an Englishman. A few days later

First President and "First Lady" of Turkey

LATIFEH HANUM, now the "First Lady" of what was the old Ottoman Empire is seen here with Kemal Pasha, unanimously elected first president of the new Republic. While she wears the Turkish costume, she is so occidentalized that she appears unveiled.

Latifoh Hanoum, daughter of the richest merchant in Smyrna, called upon him.

Kemal was astonished to have a Turkish lady do such an unconventional act and more astonished at what she came to say. It was, she told him, unbefitting the saviour of Turkey and head of the victorious army to lodge himself in the house of an Englishman. Her own house was finer and larger and she came to offer it to him. Kemal accepted the offer, and a few days later married his hostess.

Turkish marriage ceremonies are elaborate and so curious as to seem almost absurdly comical to a European. Kemal and his wife, with their extraordinary individualism, abolished all the frills. They simply walked into the Mullah's office, answered the necessary questions and walked out again married! Another shock for the orthodox.

Madame Kemal is something of a business woman. When her father was obliged to flee from Smyrna during the Greek occupation, she used to go to the office every morning and keep things in order. One of the bitterest criticisms against Kemal by his political enemies is that on one of the visits of Latifeh's father to Angora, after the marriage, Kemal granted him three large concessions in Smyrna.

Even in violence of temper Madame Kemal is a match for her husband. Recently one of the American correspondents in Angora, wanting to win favor with the wife of the pasha that she might help him to get an interview with her husband, sent her an over-enthusiastic article about the wonderful qualities of Turkish women. But the first lady of Turkey is hard to please. One sentence angered her, and she tore up the manuscript, threw it on the floor and stamped on it.

She knows everything that goes on in the government and as much gossip as the censor. Many of the officials are unmarried. She rules them with a sort of terrifying social dictatorship. If they get letters or telegrams she knows it before they do. Occasionally they are invited to dinner at Chankai. Then she begins: "Who is that lady who is sending you telegrams?" Likely as not, it is some purely business affair, such as a request for permission to leave the country, and the official, fearing a scandal, has to resort to sending his reply by hand through some passenger going to Constantinople.

The noted Turkish women, like Halideh Hanoum, and the leading feminists, either are openly at outs with Madame Kemal or find the atmosphere of Angora so cold that they shun the capital.

POSER FOR MISS BONDFIELD

THE new parliamentary secretary for labor, Miss Margaret Bondfield, M.P., was in early life a school teacher.

One of her best stories relates to this period. A child brought a note from her mother asking teacher to excuse her elder sister being absent from school.

"She has had to take some fizzic," the missive concluded, "and she ain't feeling well."

"All right!" said the teacher. Then added playfully: "F-i-z-z-i-c doesn't spell physic, you know."

"Well, what does it spell, then?" asked the child.

Teacher gave it up.

KING DISCOVERS BEAM IN HIS OWN COSTUME

THE King is not at all averse to an occasional leg-pull. A member of the Labor cabinet called at Buckingham Palace recently and his Majesty commented humorously on a slight discrepancy in his costume. The minister was aghast and looked down at his legs, wondering whether he ought to be in knee-breeches. But on looking up again he was greatly relieved to see the King fingering his own tie—the color of which was a violent red!

From Miner's Cottage to Imposing Palace Prank of Fortune Has Carried "Jamie" Brown

Appointment Without Parallel in British History — Wife Just Gasped When She Heard the News — Miner and Mill Girl, After Two Weeks in Palace of the Scottish Kings, Will Return to Their Humble Cottage.

KNOWN all over the Scottish lowlands and among the miners throughout Great Britain as "Jamie Brown," the member of parliament for South Ayrshire is destined to go down to history as a man who, after working for twenty-nine years in the pit, was sent to represent the King as the lord high commissioner to the Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

This entails his residence in Holyrood Palace, the holding of levees, a mounted escort of cavalry wherever he goes, a state coach, and the right to a royal salute of guns on ceremonial occasions during his tenure of office.

His appointment is without parallel in British history, and as this office had been regarded for 243 years as the special prerogative of the aristocracy, many people have become curious to know something of Mr. James Brown's career and personality.

At the age of twelve he began work in the coal mines at Annbank-by-Ayr, and in 1904 became a full-time miners' agent of the Ayrshire miners' union. Later he became secretary to the national union of Scottish mine workers, and in 1918 was elected member of parliament for his present constituency, after twice unsuccessfully fighting North Ayrshire.

It is typical of Mr. Brown's steady character that throughout his success in life he has lived in the same miner's cottage, of two rooms and a kitchen. His wife was a mill girl, and now she will be curtsied to by peeresses and the highest ladies of Scotland and addressed as her grace.

A sincerely religious man, Mr. Brown has for thirty-five years been superintendent of the local Sunday school, is an elder of the Scottish church, and for some time was a member of the assembly. "The kirk," he has said, "has made me what I am, for in the kirk I learned my lessons as a youth and as a man, and there I debated as a member of the literary society."

Practical and forceful, though kindly in disposition, he is regarded as a skilled negotiator during times of trouble.

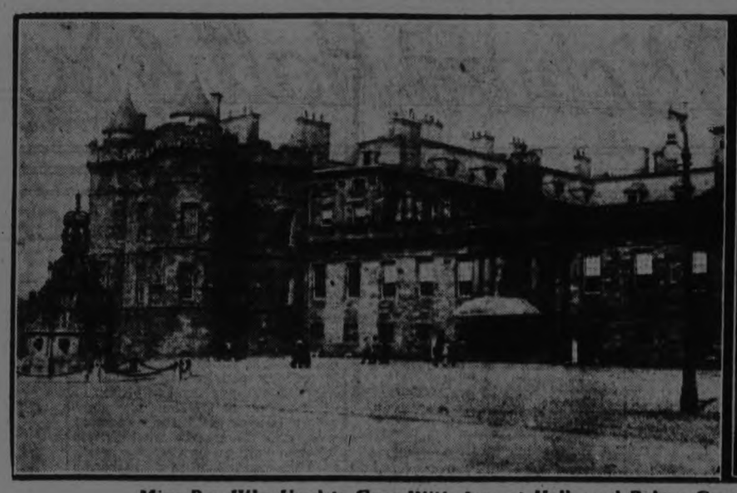
Mr. Brown is proud of his appointment. "As a wee laddie," he says, "I used to be taken over to Holyrood Palace and would look with awe at the ancient home of the Stuarts, never dreaming that one day I'd come to live there.

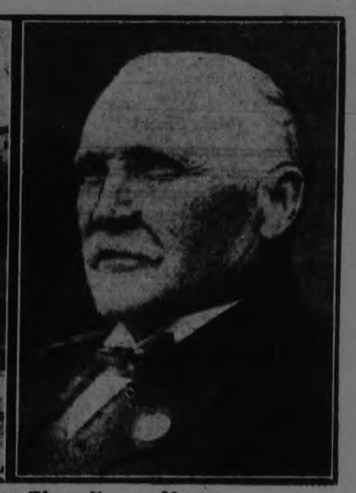
"It's a wonderful change for us all. My wife cannot quite realize it yet. When I told her about the office she just gasped—that's all. Now she's beginning to rise to it.

"I'll just be Jamie Brown and keep on living in my miner's cottage of two rooms and a kitchen. The home in the mining village was good enough for me to take a bride to thirty-five years ago, and it's good enough for us now. We've lived there ever since we were married."

This is the man who in May will leave his $50 cottage to take up residence in the King's name as lord high commissioner, in the state apartments of the palace of the Scottish kings.

The office carries with it a salary of $10,000 a year, and during the ten or fourteen days of the annual assembly the most brilliant court is kept. The new lord high commissioner is to maintain all the old dignities, ceremonies and traditions, and then, after his royal fortnight in Edinburgh, return to his village home and his pit friends.





Mine Boy Who Used to Gaze With Awe at Hollyrood Palace Goes There Now as Master

ABOVE, at the LEFT, is shown the imposing Holyrood Palace, now the residence of James Brown, Labor M.P. Brown started as a miner and soon became identified with Laborite political affairs, he was elected to parliament from South Ayrshire and, more recently, was elected as lord high commissioner to the general assembly of the Church of Scotland. Mr. Brown is shown at the RIGHT. The office he holds is one that for two and a half centuries has been held by a member of Scottish nobility and his high appointment is generally accepted as one of the greatest strides made by Laborite leaders. As a boy, Brown used to be taken by his parents to see the great palace, and would look with awe at this home of the ancient Stuarts. It was beyond any imagination he had to dream that he would ever go to live there one day.

Weight of MacDonald's Books Caused Floor to Collapse

Furniture Movers Piled Too Many in the Middle of An Upstairs' Room — New British Premier is Ardent Book Lover—Has Thousands of Volumes, Weighing Several Tons.

THERE is a delightful anecdote about the new prime minister of Great Britain. At a certain dinner-party during the war a well-intentioned lady sat beside him at table. She was charmed by his conversation and his courtly air, and before they parted she could not help sympathizing with him because he had the same name as "that dreadful member of parliament, Ramsay MacDonald." The story is told by "Iconoclast" in his—or should it be "her"?—most interesting and able study of Mr. MacDonald, which, by some extraordinary stroke of divination or good luck, was published just before the recent general election under the title of "The Man of To-morrow."

All that myth of the burly, unkempt, wild-eyed MacDonald, of course, has been buried in the dust-bins long ago. Mr. MacDonald largely owes his success and distinction in politics to an "all-round" endowment, physical, mental and spiritual, such as given to few men.

"No prime minister of recent times has been better read," says Gilbert Thomas in the English Bookman. Into his two houses at Hampstead and Lossiemouth he has collected thousands of volumes, weighing several tons. Once, when he was changing residences, the furniture-removers piled so great a weight of books in the middle of an upstairs room, instead of placing them round the sides, that the floor collapsed!

And Mr. MacDonald has not merely collected books; he has read them all and made them thoroughly his own. He is best read in history, political economy, and philosophy, but he is a keen lover also of creative literature. His enthusiasm for Milton, Scott and Burns, and for the ballads and folk songs and—not least—the Puritan writers of his own land, knows no bounds; while his intimate knowledge of the Bible is constantly revealing itself. Among "periods" his chief love is the eighteenth century, while, among modern writers, he has a special affection for Thomas Hardy, with whom he recently stayed for a few days.

Nor is Mr. MacDonald only a great reader. He is also a bibliophile. He is never happier than when poring over a "secondhand" catalogue; and, since his work has taken him repeatedly into all parts of the kingdom, there are few secondhand bookshops of any merit with which he is not intimately acquainted. He has, moreover, all the true bibliophile's concern for the proper handling of books, and I once heard him lament the fact that he could seldom secure a maid who knew how to remove a volume from its shelf, for dusting purposes, without damaging the binding.

And if Mr. MacDonald is one of the best read of recent premiers, he has more writings to his credit than almost any other prime minister in our annals. Having once addressed envelopes for a living, he made his first real start in life as a journalist; and he has been a prolific writer ever since. Most of his books have, necessarily, been largely political, though he once wrote short stories under the pen-name of "James Ramsay," while in Ethel Margaret MacDonald he has given us a memoir of that splendid woman, his wife, that is a model of skill and good taste. It has been described by Mr. Masterman as "one of the most moving short biographies in the language." Even his political volumes bear evidence of having been written by one who is a rare combination of philosopher, poet and scientist; while most of his writings, political and otherwise, are shot through with that gleam of religious mysticism which makes Mr. MacDonald an aloof, though not a lonely, figure.

Mr. MacDonald has collected materials for a book on John Knox which he hopes some day to write. Another volume that we should like from him, when release from political duties brings opportunity, is his autobiography.

Not only would he have a fascinating story to tell, full of personal, historical and social interest, but he has all the qualities that would enable him to make it at the same time a real contribution to literature.

AFTER TEN YEARS

THE famous chess champion, Capablanca, tells how regularly for the space of twenty years or so two business men in Vienna met every day at the Schnitzelplatz Cafe for luncheon, and after the dishes were cleared away they would indulge in a game of chess. And every day for ten years a young man, a stranger to both players, would draw up a chair and watch them in silence.

Finally, one day one of the old gentlemen failed to make an appearance, and after waiting a decent length of time the other turned to the young man who sat waiting for the game to begin, speaking to him for the first time since he had been a spectator:

"My partner may not appear to-day. Would you care to play with me?"

"Sorry," the young man replied, "but I don't know the game!"

CALL FOR THE DEACONS

A LITTLE daughter of Mr. E. H. Deacon, of Toronto, though Methodist, attended a morning service at Bloor street Baptist Church recently along with an aunt.

Giving out the notices, Rev. W. A. Cameron said:

"At the conclusion of the service I would like to meet the deacons for a few minutes."

At the close of the service, the little girl said to her aunt:

"I suppose I had better go up, but I wish the rest of the family were here."

These New Modern Novels

"I HOPE that's a nice book for you to read, darling," said a conscientious mother to her engrossed schoolgirl daughter.

"Oh, yes, mummy," said Miss Thirteen. "It's a lovely book, but I don't think you would like it. It's so sad at the end."

"How is it sad, darling?"

"Well, she dies, and he has to go back to his wife."—Tit-Bits.

McKendrick's Hoodoo Is Australian Bunny

Colonel Was in Best of High Spirits Until He Caught Sight of Gough's Specialty

COL. McKENDRICK, the newly appointed harbor commissioner of Toronto, tells a good story of a dinner experience in France. It seems that something went wrong with the commissariat, and for nearly two weeks meals consisted chiefly of Australian rabbit, of which there were great quantities shipped into France during the war.

Anyone who knows anything about the army can imagine what a meal there would be without skilly and bully beef. However, this went on for nearly two weeks, when, Oh Joy! the colonel received an invitation for dinner from Commandant Gough.

Here would be a welcome change from the now tiresome and monotonous rabbit dinners.

The colonel was feeling especially good towards the world and looked forward with considerable pleasure to a real meal and change of diet. He made careful preparations for the visit, commiserating with his staff, who would have to stay on the job and eat rabbit.

When he arrived at the commandant's hut there were the usual greetings and other preliminaries while the colonel waited impatiently for dinner. Soon, however, they were seated around the table, where good stories were going the rounds and experiences were regaled with relish as the meal progressed. Suddenly a queer look flashed across the colonel's face, for to his disgust and chagrin there was being brought to the table as a special "piece de resistance," supplied by the commandant as a special treat to some of his staff—Australian rabbit.

The colonel does not state what he said to the commandant in thanking him for the dinner.

General Scared Squaw By Threatening Bath

GENERAL SIR ARCHIBALD MACDONNELL has found himself on occasion in as ticklish situations as that recently precipitated by his irrepressible cadets, and has emerged by dint of no less masterly generalship.

As commissioner of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police it was once his duty to try an Indian for murder. The prisoner had been haled out of the far north together with a woman, the only witness of the crime. But to the dismay of the prosecution the squaw, who had given a straightforward account of the occurrence at two preliminary investigations, now stubbornly refused to say a word. She had told them twice, that was enough. There she stood, dirty and unkempt, and defied all the threats and coaxings of that imposing assembly.

Gen. Sir A. Macdonald

"Look here, Teshtage," said the commissioner, not unkindly, though in desperation, "if you don't tell I'll have to send you to the big prison at Regina."

She considered it a while.

"All right. Plenty eat. Plenty warm. I no tell."

"But you know what they'll do to you there. They'll cut your hair off short like a man's."

That staggered her. They might as well scalp her and be done with it. But she answered faintly, "I no tell."

"And do you see this piece of paper? I'll write on it and tell them every Saturday to give you a bath. Scrub you all over with soap!"

"No, no," she wailed. "I tell. I tell you everything!"

THOUGHT TOWN TIGHTWAD WAS PERPETRATING HOAX

W. A. Fraser Had Task to Pacify Irate Traveler Whose Book He Threw Out the Window

LIKE many another Canadian author, there was a time when W. A. Fraser felt that his books were not being bought quite so freely as he would have liked by his fellow townsmen. Now that his fame is no longer circumscribed by national boundaries, he has no cause to complain, but not so many years ago it gave him a real thrill to see one of his books in the hands of an acquaintance.

On his way to Toronto on a business trip one summer, Fraser was amazed to see the town tightwad, a doctor, reading his latest novel on the train. The author watched in fascinated silence for a time, then ventured to ask the doctor what he thought of the story.

"It's simply great, Fraser," was the reply. "I had no idea you could do such fine work. . . . Excuse me, will you, I'm so darned interested in the story I hate to stop even to congratulate you."

A couple of hours later the doctor reached his destination. As the train was pulling out Fraser noticed the book lying on the seat, and, opening the window, tossed it to his admirer, who shook his head and shouted something which the author could not make out.

Soon another passenger, who had shared seats with the doctor, but spent all his time in the smoking car, came in and looked around, then said, somewhat irritably:

"I left a book her a few hours ago. Anybody seen it?"

Up spoke an acidulated female:

"That man picked it up and threw it out of the window!" pointing an accusing finger at Fraser.

"Say! What the devil do you mean by that, sir?" snarled the newcomer. "I'll let you know I prized that book highly—it was W. A. Fraser's best work."

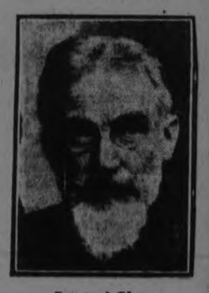
It took Fraser a long time to pacify the irate traveler, who insisted upon convincing proofs that he was really talking to the author of his cherished volume. On these being forthcoming, his resentment died down, and he was at last able to see the comical side of the incident, which did not turn out so very badly for him, as a few days later he received another copy of the volume, duly autographed by the author.

ONLY MARRIAGE TEACHES MAN TO SAY 'I DON'T KNOW'

"Wives are Always Asking Questions" George Bernard Shaw Explains to an Actor

THE mere volume of authentic repartee of George Bernard Shaw in any year would be proof enough that he is the wittiest man alive to-day.

One of his latest shafts has to do with the rehearsals of the famous playwright's "Saint Joan," his interpretation of Joan of Arc, acclaimed by the critics of London and New York. It shows how whimsical G. B. Shaw is at rehearsals.



Bernard Shaw

"Twinkling," was the way one member of the London "Saint Joan" company describes it. He gave an example of an instance he overheard. In the course of his part, one of Shayle Gardner's lines is, "I don't know," and the actor's intonation did not quite satisfy the author. "Are you married?" Shaw asked. "No," replied Gardner. "Well," said G.B.S., "if you were married, you'd know how to say that line—wives are always asking questions." Doubtless Gardner was able to get the line right without resorting to the desperate remedy suggested by the dramatist.

"The one entirely honest speaker I have met is Mr. Bernard Shaw," says Cyril Scott, in his new volume of recollections, "My Years of Indiscretion." He once said to me: 'I was in the middle of a speech when suddenly I quite forgot what I was saying, and had to ask someone in the front row. There was a roar of laughter, but after that I felt the audience even more with me than before."

TAKING NO CHANCES

HIMSELF an enthusiastic big game hunter, Lord Dewar delights to tell the story of a Manchester business man who paid a visit to a planter friend in Uganda, who was a keen sportsman.

Not without considerable misgiving the visitor allowed himself to be prevailed upon to go lion hunting. His first night in the jungle was a sleepless one.

Next morning the two friends started out early, and had gone but a short distance when they came upon fresh tracks which the enthusiastic sportsman identified as being those of a full-grown lion.

"Tell you what we had better do," said the Manchester man brightly. "You go ahead and see where he went, and I'll go back and see where he came from!"

CONSENTS TO USE QUAINT TELEGRAPHIC ADDRESS

LOUIS NAPOLEON PARKER, the well-known dramatist, now making holiday in Italy, has a quaint telegraphic address for so active an individual—"Somnolent." When he was asked how it came about, he explained that when he suggested the word "Nap," a contraction of his second name, the post office authorities raised certain objections, and suggested "Somnolent" as an alternative. Being an obliging person, with a sense of humor, he agreed.

MOTORISTS INVITED BY PREMIER VENIOT TO ROAD CONGRESS

Splendid Opportunity to View Scenic Beauties of Maritimes.

FEDERAL AID.

The eleventh annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at St. Andrews by the Sea, New Brunswick, from 24 to June 27 inclusive, will provide an exceptional opportunity for motoring delegates to see the big advance that has been made in highway improvement in the Maritime Provinces. The Hon. P. J. Veniot, Premier of New Brunswick, has issued an invitation to the motorists of Canada to make the trip to St. Andrews by automobile, in the following letter sent to the officials of the Canadian Good Roads Association: "As the convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association will this year be held in St. Andrews by the Sea, New Brunswick, between June 24 and 27, I take pleasure in extending a cordial invitation to all delegates who anticipate attending this convention to motor to the Convention City, and I would especially invite them to do so by way of the all-Canadian highway between Montreal and St. Andrews. I have myself taken this trip on several occasions from Montreal to Quebec City thence on to Riviere du Loup to the town of Edmundston, N.B. This entire route was, last year, in first class condition. The route from Edmundston to the Convention city would be by way of Grand Falls to Woodstock, and on to Fredericton, thence to St. John and from St. John on to St. Andrews. This highway, which is entirely in the Province of New Brunswick, is also in first class condition. The beautiful scenery all along the St. John River from Edmundston to St. John is one which I am sure will be immensely enjoyed by you all. Hoping that a goodly number of the delegates to the Convention will avail themselves of the route above outlined to reach the convention city and enjoy the scenery through the Provinces of Quebec and New Brunswick, I am, Respectfully yours, P. J. Veniot, Premier." The officials of the Association are arranging an itinerary for those motoring to the convention details of which will be furnished later on.

The motoring delegates will by this trip also have brought home to them the international and interprovincial character of modern highways and will thus be able to participate more freely in the discussion of one of the most important topics to come before the convention—who should pay for the roads, with particular reference to the question of further federal aid. The Canada Highways Act, with its grant of $20,000 for the provinces spread over the last five years, came to an end last month, and strong representations have been made to the Dominion Government to continue the policy initiated in 1919, the necessity for which will be further emphasized at the St. Andrews convention. At the Hamilton Congress last year, Premier E. H. Armstrong, of Nova Scotia, spoke strongly on the subject of federal aid, maintaining that it did not infringe in any way on provincial rights under the B.N.A. Act, and argued that as it was the taxpayers of the whole country who provided the federal revenue, and that it was generally admitted that present-day traffic on the highways is more national and interprovincial than it was in years gone by, the Federal Government should set aside part of the national taxpayers' money for the betterment of highway transport facilities, with a view to encouraging production and stimulating trade and commerce.

The chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association, S. L. Squire, now Deputy Minister of Highways for Ontario, speaking at the annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association on the same subject maintained that those who benefitted by the roads should pay for them inasmuch as the use of roads is universal, then it was necessary that everybody who uses the roads should pay a fair share of the cost of construction and maintenance of them. Roads could be no longer considered as performing a simple and local function and the improvement of them has a national aspect. Mr. Squire pointed out that the Post Office Department, in its rural mail service and stage routes, used 120,000 miles of highways and it was in the general public interest that those roads should be in good condition so as to reduce the cost of transportation of the mails over them. He further argued that it was good spending millions for colonization and immigaration unless the settlers were given accommodation in roads so that they could get their produce to market. Good roads aided the development of the automible industry from which the Federal Government received a big and ever increasing revenue, and as good roads contributed to the wealth of the Dominion they should be contributed to by the Dominion Government, who should also do everything in their power to encourage inter-provincial good feeling, in which laudable object improved highways were a most important factor.

MAKE TIRES BY NEW PROCESSES

Perfect Web Without Cross Threads — Experiments Have Convinced Experts

To bring the milky sap or latex of the rubber tree two-thirds around the world and land it in tank cars at the factory, is one of the incidents in two new processes of building cord tires, now in full operation in Canada.

Back of his innovation is a story of experiments and road testing just to find an improved method of laying the cords in a tire, in order to assure complete uniformity of strain resistance, and to increase the mileage of the tire.

The usual method of laying cords is to weave a thread through them and then either to coat them with dissolved rubber or to force heated rubber into and between the cords by heavy rolls, or calendars, as they are called in the factory.

The cross threads being woven through the cords cause unevenness of the cords. In theory the cross threads are supposed to break and permit the cords to flatten side by side. But even when they do break the surrounding rubber holds them in their old position, some riding up on the others, causing friction and often internal heat. That is why even the most painstakingly built tire, with an inpeccable reputation, will sometimes blow out long before its full mileage has been achieved. Internal friction and heat not only wear the cords, but very rapidly deteriorate the rubber. How to web the cords together without the use of cross threads was the problem to be solved.

A curious fact was discovered. The microscope revealed that the particles of rubber in its natural solution, latex, the milky white sap of the rubber tree, were very much finer than dissolved crude rubber. The rubber particles in latex were found to be so much smaller and finer that it was believed they would penetrate the sea island fibres of the cords and thus form a web or union of all the cords. Experiments were made by drawing the cords closely together through a bath of latex, and over a heated drum on which they dried rapidly. The result was a perfect web without cross threads. The rubber was of greater purity, elasticity and tensile strength than had ever before been attained by dissolved or calendared crude rubber.

Cords webbed by this process lie absolutely flat and even and are perfectly insulated in the finely-textured latex rubber, so that friction and resulting heat are entirely eliminated. Thus has been solved one of the greatest problems cord tire builders had to overcome.

The use of latex naturally led to its uses for other parts of the tire body. The latex is sprayed into an evaporating chamber where all the natural liquids are driven off, leaving only the rubber solids which drop down in fine particles.

Road tests over a period of two years more than fulfilled the expectations of the experimenters and proved that tires built with web cords and sprayed rubber have greater durability and longer life than has been obtained by any process or method since the development of the cord tire itself, less than a decade ago.

PETERBORO NURSE WAS MADE VICE-PRESIDENT

WINDSOR, April 26.— The twenty-first annual meeting of the Ontario Graduate Nurses' Association came to a close here yesterday evening with the election of officers and selection of London as next year's convention city. The organization will hereafter be known as Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario.

The officers are: President, Miss Esther Cook, Toronto; Vice-President, Mrs. A. C. Joseph, London; Second Vice-President, Miss A. Davidson, Peterboro'; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Beatrice Ellis, Toronto. All these served last year, and were re-elected.

The Executive Committee will be Miss E. Jamieson, Toronto; Miss K. Mathieson, Toronto; Miss B. McArthur, Owen Sound; Miss C. Hardy, Hamilton; Mrs. R. Bilger, Kitchener; Miss H. Doerinter, Brantford; Mrs. W. J. Tighe, London.

BLACK-HAND WORK IN PETERBOROUGH

Citizens Subjected to Insulting Telephone and Written Messages--Methods of Would-Be Home Wreckers.

Telephone messages full of venom have been hurled from some unknown person in Peterborough into family circles with the object, apparently, of disrupting them, and at individuals with no other purpose evident than that of causing mental distress and worry. Founded for the most part on positive falsehood these vitriolic messages have sometimes just enough of truth in them to make them more effective in their malign purpose, putting the accused person in a position where the allegations are difficult to refute.

A well known young lady was called last Sunday by a man who represented himself as the Chief of Police, and charged the innocent girl with theft. "Take that money you stole from the purse in the Capitol theatre down to the police station at half-past six," the voice said. Without waiting for the time named, the young lady rushed to the police station to demand an explanation. There was no record of any call from there, no record of any theft, and no complaint had been made to any of the officers or men.

Who sent the message?

The young lady had been at the Capitol on Saturday night—the slim but truthful foundation on which the lying charge was founded. She had no enemies that she knew of—but a crowd of young fellows gathered near the theatre had ogled her as she passed. Did one of them think it a joke to torment the girl's mind with the ignominious charge?

Several Cases

A young couple, married last September, have been subjected to the attentions of a telephone blackhander for some months. When the husband was given extra jobs—he was on piece work and desirous of making all the money he could—this evil-minded home wrecker called the young wife to tell lying tales of her husband's escapades with other women. She told her husband, assurances were given of his faithfulness, and the incident forgotten. A few days later another call of a similar character was received, and again and again, until the telephone was removed.

A girl of twenty or thereabouts, engaged to a young man in business in the city, and looking forward to her wedding, was another victim. "S..... was at the show last night with a strange girl," the venomous voice said. Hours of mental distress followed until an opportunity to talk with the young man offered when he voluntarily told of taking a visiting member of his family to the theatre. Two or three days later the same voice conveyed a more serious insinuation, which was in turn refuted, and this kept up until the very day of the wedding.

Another case that is known of is that of a mother who was distracted by the messages that she received about her son, messages that were so far removed from truth that they could only have originated in a diseased mentality, or in the mind of a person inoculated with a spirit of Satanic origin. The stories were untruthful in the innuendos they conveyed, but there was enough of fact in them to cause a doubt even in the mind of a loving mother.

Use the Mails, Too.

Probably there is not a prominent man in the civic, fraternal, or business life of the city who has not at some time received calumnious letters from the same stamp of people who resort to the telephone to carry out their nefarious work. Some men in civic administration receive these letters regularly, and one man with whose character or work no official complaint has ever been made has a pigeon-hole in his desk filled with filthy writings from unknown hands. Wrapping paper, postcards, pieces of cardboard boxes, and all kinds of medium are used, and the messages are printed in an effort to avoid detection.

Do these telephone messages and these written insults emanate from one perverted mind in the community? Or are there several people with warped mentalities who deliberately attempt the wrecking of lives and the ruining of reputations?

CENTRAL ONTARIO SUN LIFE STAFF CONCLUDE TWO DAY CONVENTION

Banquet Last Evening Was a Fitting Conclusion to Annual Gathering of Insurance Fraternity—The Value of Insuran e.

The second annual banquet of the members of the Sun Life Assurance Company's staff representing the Central Ontario district with headquarters in Peterboro, was held last night in the Empress Hotel with Mr. J. F. H. Wallace, district manager, presiding. It was a happy and business like culmination to a two-day convention that judging by reports, was packed full of instructive lectures and discussions concerning insurance and its important place in the universe. Regret was expressed at the absence through illness of Mr. W. H. Hill whose long association with the Sun Life Company makes his presence desirable at any gathering of the Sun Life family. With Mr. Wallace in the chair there was no lost motion and last night's gathering dispersed at an early hour following an able and instructive address by Mr. George Harris, supervisor of field services.

Mr. Harris compared the early hazards of seagoing vessels with the present day structure of protection that is provided by insurance and spread over multitudes of people. Insurance has fostered and quickened intercourse between nations. Then we have land insurance, such as hail, building, automobile and numerous other forms. The man who builds a house with a lifetime of savings can by a trifling expenditure protect his property against loss Then follows sickness and life insurance which is the greatest of them all. It is a common saying that an insurance will is the only will that cannot be broken. To-day the amount of insurance in Canada is three billions spread over eight million people. This works out at about $1,650 for each family of four if it was equally divided but it is not. Hundreds of men carry vast amounts of insurance which leaves thousands of families unprotected.

Seeking from various sources a definition for insurance the speaker quoted one that appealed to him and which defined insurance as a great protecting arch the roof of which spreads over all the nations of the earth. To the man who when approached on the subject of insurance and who demanded cold facts and figures was presented the statement that each day of the year one thousand married men on this continent die without protection. One thousand died to-day another thousand will die to-morrow anod so on. Insurance can be defined as food and clothing for those who may be left alone in the world. To-day as much insurance is being paid out in the form of claims as was written fourteen or fifteen years ago.

To the Ladies

The toast to the ladies who were present was proposed by Mr. Fred Wells in a humorous speech and the toast to "Our Company" was proposed by Mr. Arnold Platt of Picton. Mr. Platt referred to the growth of the Sun Life and the mantle of protection it provided for the policy holders. It protects the young and old and its success is linked up with the prosperity of the Dominion. Insurance is the life blood of business to-day. In closing Mr. Platt referred to some of the master minds of the Company both past and present who have made the success of the company possible.

Mr. J. B. Mahon, of Montreal, assistant actuary, gave a word of advice to the new men in the company. Hard work and confidence were two essentials to success. The task of the new man to-day is made a great deal more easy by reason of outstanding position occupied by the Sun Life Company. The Company stands for the best that is in life insurance. Life insurance has become a public service, declared Mr. Mabon in conclusion.

Community singing and a review of the programme sheet that contained some good cartoon work were interesting features of the event.

FRENCH AVIATOR MADE BUCHAREST WITHOUT A STOP

The Flight is the First Leg of a Series of 1400 Mile Jump.

PARIS, Apr. 26 (United Press).—Lieut. Pelletier D'Oisy, who flew a French military plane from Villa Coublay airdrome here at dawn on Thursday, successfully completed a non-stop flight to Bucharest, it was officially admitted today.

The flight is the first leg of a series of 1,400 mile jump destined to take the airplane to Japan in world's record time and demonstrate France's supremacy in the air.

The air ministry, which now confirms exclusive United Press dispatches regarding what was to have been a secret long distance flight attempt, reports that Lieut. D'Oisy came down at Bucharest at 5 p.m. yesterday, having made the flight to the Roumanian capital, a distance of more than 1,300 miles in a little over 11 hours. It was the first Paris-Bucharest non-stop flight. When over Bavaria, the airman encountered terrific rain storms, but weathered them, on his way to Japan, D'Oisy plans to make only the briefest halts. He will attempt to sleep while flying, having his mechanic pilot the machine.

When the United Press reported its departure and plans for the Japan flight the air ministry at first disclaimed knowledge of the attempt.

Today, however, after it was learned that D'Oisy successfully had completed the first lap, the ministry officially announced his success.

The big Bregret carries enough gasoline to permit successive jumps of 1,400 miles. The second halt probably will be at Alepho, thence D'Oisy will fly to Bagdad Bender Abbas and follow the usual route across India to Rangoon Hong Kong, Shanghai, Pekin, Seoul and Tokio without special preparations having been made anywhere.

It is being carried out with typical French spirit of dash and disregard for danger. Lieut. D'Oisy carries no spare parts but has bananas, rum, chocolate and biscuit.

The flight is not an around the world effort, as it is planned to end it at Japan.

SAVED BABY'S LIFE

Mrs. Alfred Tranchemontagne, St. Michel des Saints, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent medicine. They saved baby's life and I can highly recommend them to all mothers." OWEN SOUND YOUTH SHOT HIMSELF ACCIDENTALLY

Owen Sound, Ont., April 25.—Carmen Cook, aged 17 years, of Meaford, was fatally wounded yesterday afternoon when a 22 calibre rifle accidentally discharged while it rested on his knee as he sat on a rock on the bank of Big Head River in company with Jean Kennedy, a girl friend. The bullet entered the abdomen and he died from internal hemorrhage about five hours later. With his wound bleeding profusely young Cook walked a mile for help. Dr. Eberhardt of Meaford was called and the boy was placed in a car to be taken to the hospital at Collingwood. When about four miles from the town the automobile was disabled with a broken axle and Cook succumbed shortly after.

CABINET FALLS IN ST. JOHN'S

Non - Confidence Vote Carried by Majority of One — Warren Applies For Dissolution.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Apr. 26 (Canadian Press).—The whole fabric of the Warren Government came tumbling down Thursday afternoon immediately after the opening of the local assembly. Members of the lower house had just returned from the legislative council chambers when Premier Warren rose in his place in the house and stated that he had but 17 men out of a total membership of 36 on his side. Immediately, Richard C. Ramm moved a resolution of non-confidence in the government. The motion was supported by the opposition who were there in force, except C. E. Hunt, who is absent from the country.

In addition, it was voted for by Sir Richard Squires, Captain J. Jones, A. M. Calpin and Ernest Simmons, who broke from the ranks of the government. The motion carried by a majority of one with Harvey Hall of the government force not present and A. W. Pickett, minister of public works, sick in hospital. Yeas polled 16 votes and nays 15.

It is understood that Premier Warren will wait on the governor at once and ask for dissolution and issuance of writs for a general election. Indications are at present that there will be a three-cornered fight with the present government party and the opposition party, maintaining an independent status while Sir Richard Squires supports, but does not lead, a third organization.

ELDERLY WOMAN DIED ON STREET

Lady Who Was Shabbily Dressed and Selling Matches on Bond Street London, Died From Starvation.

LONDON, Apr. 26 (United Press).—Everybody knows Bond Street, the most expensive shopping centre in the world, not excepting the Rue De Lapax and Fifth Avenue, and many who visited Bond Street knew the old, bedraggled woman who sold matches on one of the corners, against a background of shop windows ablaze with diamonds and furs.

And nearly every one supposed that the contrast of the dirty drab clothing and broken shoes against the brilliant costumes and birds of paradise was good for business and that the old lady was probably just a licensed mendicant with a comfortable bank roll somewhere back in Tooting or Wapping of Hackneywick.

But late Thursday, just as the shops were beginning to wish that madam would take the pekinges and let the clerks get home to their dinners, the aged woman match seller with a tray of unsold wares spilling in every direction, collapsed in the arms of the Hon. Mrs. Christian Lowther, who happened to be emerging from a nearby jeweler.

The old woman was dead before an ambulance arrived. She died of starvation.

BELLEVILLE COURIER STOPS AT PORT HOPE

COBOURG, April 25.—Cadet W. Allan Dempsey, the Prince Edward County boy, who volunteered to walk as a courier from Belleville to Toronto and convey the invitations from Mayor Nickel to the Mayor of Toronto and to the municipalities along the way, to attend the big N. E.L. celebration that is to be held in Belleville in June, left town yesterday afternoon for Port Hope. He arrived in Cobourg about 12.30 yesterday and was entertained at lunch. He left Belleville at 9.20 on Monday, and spent Monday night with friends in Brighton. Tuesday he walked to Colborne, and was entertained there that night. He expected to stay in Port Hope last night.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Means Discussed of Keeping Young People on the Farm.

MILLBROOK, Apr. 26.—The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas Church, held its April meeting on Easter Monday at the home of Mrs. C. McNeil. The president, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, occupied the chair and conducted the opening worship period.

The hymns used and the Scripture lesson were of an Easter character, as were also the prayers offered. Mrs. R. Whyte, the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Several items of correspondence received during the month were also read by Mrs. Whyte and fully discussed.

Mrs. Allen and Mrs. (Rev.) M. G. B. Williams were appointed delegates to the annual W. A. meeting held in Toronto on May 5th. The bale, containing bedding, clothing, towels, and other supplies for the Indian girl which the auxiliaries of the parish unite in supporting, was shipped early in April to Onion Lake, Alberta. Previously this bale was sent to the Blackfoot Home but a new girl has been chosen, an inmate of the mission school at Onion Lake. She is about thirteen years of age and the bale is valued at over $60.00.

Mrs. Williams read the chapter from the study book, "Japan in Transition," its contents proving most interesting. The May meeting will see this book completed and the delegates to the annual meeting will bring the new book, for study next fall and winter, home with them from Toronto.

The usual social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting, Mrs. McNeil serving delicious refreshments, and a hearty vote of thanks being tendered the hostess for her hindness. The May meeting will be held at Mrs. John Dawson's and will be the concluding gathering of the auxiliary until September.

Stay on Farm

The town hall was filled to capacity on Monday evening when the series of slides from the O. A. C., Guelph, intended to help solve the problem of keeping the young people on the farm, was shown, under the auspices of the Millbrook Farmers' Club.

The views, and the lecture which accompanied them, proved both educative and interesting. Various phases of modern methods of farming were shown, the evolution of the tractor from the plough used in primitive times attracting particular attention. A few comic films were shown on the screen to the especial delight of the many younger folk present, the front seats being pretty well filled with boys and girls.

It is evidently true, as a prominent speaker said: "We were founded as a nation of farmers, and in spite of the growth of our industrial life, it still remains true that our whole system of national life rests upon the farm; that the welfare of the whole community depends upon the welfare of the farmer."

Auxiliary Meeting

The April meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of Grace Presbyterian Church was held at the manse, Mrs. (Rev.) G. S. Gervan, presiding.

The attendance was most encouraging as the auxiliary has recently added a number of new members to the roll, and interest in the work is growing constantly.

The special feature of the meeting this month was the report of the World's Mission Conference lately held in Peterborough, given by Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan. The various sessions of the conference, and particularly the addresses by missionary workers from the home and foreign fields, and those by prominent ministers, were given with as much detail as time and circumstances would permit, by the delegates, and were a source of information and inspiration to the listeners.

Considerable time was spent in discussion of business items, means of increasing finances, provision for the bale sent annually to Vegreville, Sask., containing clothing, bedding, and other personal necessaries for the girl whom the auxiliary maintains, programmes for future meetings, etc., being among the matters receiving attention.

The study book was not taken up at this meeting, the time being devoted to the report instead. Mrs. L. S. Clarry kindly invited the auxiliary to hold the May meeting at her home. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed before the meeting closed.

Rev. Mr. Gervan dismissed the gathering with prayer.

Repeat Music

By special request the choir of the Methodist Church will repeat a number of selections from their programme of Easter music at the conclusion of the regular evening service on Sunday, April 27th. The selections will include:

Response (unaccompanied), "Risen Lord, we bow before Thee."

Anthem, "The Rays of Victory dawn." Ira B. Wilson.

Male Qaurtette, "The Eye of Faith," John J. Thomas. Messrs. W. H. Coombe, F. N. Alcorn, G. McDowell and V. Lambert.

Anthem, "Down in the Lilied Garden," Ira B. Wilson.

Mixed Quartette, "'Tis Midnight," Miss Ethel Richardson, Mrs. F. P. Johnston, Messrs. Coombe and G. A. Duncan.

Anthem, "Grave, where is thy victory?", Marie Hine.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Richards spent the Easter week-end in Toronto, guests of Mrs. Richards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Richards is remaining for a short visit before returning home.

Miss Marjorie Elgar, of Peterboro', is visiting Miss Eagleson this week.

Mrs. Williams, Sr., of Havelock, visited her son, Rev. M. G. B. Williams, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lord, and baby girl, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lord.

Miss Marjorie Smith, B.A., of the Collegiate Institute staff, Port Colborne, is spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith.

Miss M. Williams, of Toronto, is the guest of Rev. M. G. B. and Mrs. Williams, returning with them on their recent motor trip to and from the city.

Miss Mamie Collins, who has been visiting friends in Fergus, Kitchener, and Toronto, for the past month, has returned home.

Mr. Walter Collins, manager of the Bank of Commerce, Kitchener, and his son, Bobby, were guests of his mother, Mrs. T. B. Collins, over the Easter week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wellington Pickup, and two children, motored from Toronto on Good Friday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eakins over the Easter holiday.

The many friends of Mrs. H. Rea will regret to learn that she is quite ill with an attack of 'flu.

DISTRICT I.O.O.F. ELECTED OFFICERS

Arthur Vance of Millbrook Is District Deputy--Jewel For Richard Ford.

The members of Peterboro District I.O.O.F. met in the I.O.O.F. rooms on Wednesday night for the purpose of election of officers and other business.

Representatives were present from Millbrook, Lakefield, Havelock and Peterboro and Otonabee Lodges.

Arthur Vance, P.G. of Millbrook was elected District Deputy; Frank Merritt P.G., of Peterboro Lodge, secretary-treasurer, and R. J. Martin, P.G. and E.H. Bartlett, P.G., auditors for the ensuing term.

At the close of the meeting Past District Deputy Richard Ford, P.G. was presented with a District Deputy Jewel by the District Committee.

During Bro. Ford's term of office he has proved to be a most efficient officer and has given his time and efforts in a most unselfish manner in the interests of the various lodges of the district.

The presentation was made by the incoming District Deputy Arthur Vance assisted by Bro. E. H. Bartlett.

SMALL WOOLLEN TRADE.

BOSTON, April 26.—A slump has struck the New England woollen mills this spring. The spring business of the mills to date is estimated to have been about 40 per cent. of full mil capacity so far this season.

MUSKRAT SEASON ON SCUGOG RIVER GOOD

LINDSAY, April 25.—The muskrat season on the Scugog and Sturgeon Lake preserves, said to be among the best in the country, has come to a close. On the whole it has been a very successful one. Muskrat hunting has become a regular standard business, and scores of people are engaged at it each spring. The pelts are worth around $2.00 each, and $2.00 for a little rat is something to go after. Besides the several trappers who make this a spring trade, a good many farmers have also taken to trapping.

Ask to Hear an Orchestra Number

IF you would hear the greatest marvel of music, listen to a McLagan play a selection by one of the world-famous orchestras. Seventy, eighty or more instruments, each with an individual "voice" of its own, each playing its own notes—violins, flutes, clarinets, horns, harps, piano and all the rest—recorded by almost invisible indentations on a black wax disc!

What a tragedy when imperfect reproduction, false vibrations and needle noises add "blare" and jarring discord. What a triumph of acoustics when you hear a big orchestra through a McLagan!

Ask to see and hear the McLagan. It offers a choice of thirty models in the finest range of period designs in Canada.

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who had awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor who is interested in Prudence. The latter has been falsely accused of stealing at Mrs. Vansittart's home, and has run away to New York. She is rescued from a burning building and carried away in an ambulance. Meanwhile, Virginia, uninvited pays Peter a call one night.

A terrible thunderstorm compels her to stay until far into the night.

Next day Peter goes to New York on business, reads of Prudence's accident in the papers, and dashes off to the hospital where she has been taken.

Peter and Prudence discover that they love each other.

But the arrival of Bert Traymore makes Peter doubt her.

CHAPTER LIV

Two's Company

"A nice fright you've given us all, young lady!"

Traymore—the essence of debonair dandyism, a pink carnation in the buttonhole of his smart grey flannel suit—stepped up to the little hospital cot with all the ease and assurance of a visiting doctor.

"W-what brings you here?" stammered the invalid, eyes wide with astonishment not unmixed with chagrin. It was the very irony of fate that Traymore, of all people most unwanted at this crisis between herself and Peter, should sail into the room as though he owned the place and its occupant!

"A foolish question! You already know the answer, or——"—with a laugh, and a sudden brusque nod towards Armstrong, as though not till that very moment had Traymore seen the man——"if you don't, you ought to, oughtn't you?"

A tidal wave of red had flown to Prudence's cheeks. She was not strong enough, not sufficiently master of herself as yet, to cope with this insidious attack.

And an awful part was that a quite wrong impression was being conveyed to Peter . . and her brain wouldn't act quick enough to set it right.

Traymore had come right up to the bedside, with a professional manner that at any other time and in any other circumstances might have been amusing, lifted her right wrist and held her pulse between his fingers.

"Far too rapid! I say, nurse—"—this to the intensely interested young person who now opened the door and dubiously regarded her flushed patient—"I say, nurse, after all this young lady's been through, ought she to be allowed to have a crowd of visitors?"

Peter rose at once. He was furious with Traymore, but the fellow as too much of a puppy to waste anger on. And for Prudence's sake, he wouldn't let his temper master him.

The nurse laughed merrily at Traymore's protest.

"Meaning that two's company, but three's a crowd?" She cast a look at the tall, stalwart fellow whom hitherto she had considered the invalid's 'young man'. Was there a rivalry between him and this slim, dandified newcomer. Personally, she'd prefer the first one, as the manlier, but there was no accounting for the girls' tastes, and this girl was little more than a flapper, which was a notoriously foolish age.

"I'm going," said Peter briefly. "I'm quite in agreement with Mr. Traymore that Miss Page has had enough excitement, and should rest now."

Bert Traymore turned, still holding Prudence's wrist, and gave an amused laugh which yet contrived to have more than a touch of insolence about it.

"That's cool!" Then to Prudence: "You don't want me to run away the moment I've come all the way to town to see you, my dear?"

The tone was so possessive, so assured, that to the whole company it seemed to say:

"A man surely has a right to five minutes alone with his future wife."

Prudence lost her head. She couldn't bring herself to look at Peter, or to protest, but let Bert Traymore have his way.

Indeed, after the recent shock she had sustained, she was too weak for argument, or fight of any kind. The excitement of Peter's visit, and its climax, as now having its reaction, and for the very life of her, Prudence hadn't the strength or courage to beg Peter to remain, and dismiss Bert Traymore. She hadn't the diplomacy, the words.

They must fight it out between themselves . . .

If Peter loved her, then he wouldn't leave her to another, would he?

Little did she understand the heart of a sensitive, proud man.

Peter and the nurse went off, the latter assuring Traymore that he might only stay five minutes.

"Infernal cheek!" The moment the door had closed behind the others, Traymore sat down close to Prudence, not relinquishing her hand but trying to draw nearer to him. "Oh, I say, don't be so stand-offish. What's come over you. Shy, eh?"

"I—I hate when you—you—get familiar," the girl blurted out, nervously.

"Get familiar? What d'you mean? You used to be keen enough for me to kiss you. But I'd forgot for the moment—"—his voice changed from sharpness to a suave slinkiness that was equally distasteful to his hearer—"that you're not yourself, my dear! What a jolly narrow squeak you had, if what the papers say is true!"

This 'denouement,' and the memory of the fire, was too much for the invalid's equaminity, sorely disturbed as the arrival of this man had made it. She dragged her hand violently away from Traymore, and broke down, and wept.

"Oh, I say, stop it, like a darling! I'm a blundering fool! Here, lean on me—"

"No, go away! I—I don't want ever to see you again. You—you've only brought trouble—into my life—"

"Come, come!" Traymore put an arm about her shaking shoulder, bending his face down to her,swhich was hidden in her hands. He drew her hands away, mopping up the tears with his silk handkerchief.

Prudence was too weak for further protest. Indeed, everything in the little ward seemed vague and misty. Her head swam, and her vision was a blur.

In the midst of the queer fog that had come over her, was it her sick fancy, or did she see the door open, and behind the nurse glimpse Peter Armstrong's face and see it change from a great solicitude and love to a bewildered look of pain?

COULDN'T SLEEP HEART WAS BAD NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful fro the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have."

NEW SPARK PLUG ONCE IN A YEAR.

Frequent Renewals Often Result In Saving In Operating Costs.

Experiments by motorcar manufacturers have proved that it is actual waste and unfair to a motorcar to run it more than a year with the same set of spark plugs. Thousands of motorists have found that a new set of plugs after from 8 000 to 10000 miles not only makes better performance certain but actually saves enough in oil and gas to pay for the new spark plugs.

Other thousands, when they prepare their cars for another season of driving, will install a complete set of new spark plugs.

Why it is real economy to do this is easily understood when the part that spark plugs in play engine operation is definitely known.

In the engines used in motorcars to-day, the charge is fired in each cylinder at every other revolution of the crank shaft. This means that the spark plugs are called on to deliver the firing spark from 600 to 1,500 times per minute, according to the speed of the engine.

The temperature around the firing points runs from 600 degrees up to 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit, the average being around 1,300.

In most motors oil is being continuously splashed on and burned off the spark plug.

This tremendous heat and stress, due to the rapidly alternating compression and firing strokes, gradually affects the efficiency of the spark plug, no matter how well made it may be.

The spark plug will continue to fire and ignite the cylinder mixtures, but combustion is not nearly so complete.

INSURANCE IS A BREEDER OF CARELESSNESS

Joy Riders and Reckless Drivers Have Backing of Insurance Policy—Thefts of Cars Decrease Materially.

OWNERS LEARNING.

By C. L. R. MOSHER.

Insurance rates—which is to say insurance costs—continue to be a factor in the upkeep and maintenance of a motor car. Contrary to general impression, these rates are not fixed by a man or group of men who arbitrarily hit on o certain rate but are based entirely on "experience." When losses decrease, the rates are lowered; when over a period of time the loss ratio increases, the rates are revised upward.

In March, 1923, there was a general revision which, while it did not directly lower the rates, did work out a reduction of premium income for the insurance companies. It was essentially a territorial revision, and many cars which had previously been in what was known as Territory 1 were transferred to Territory 7, though their geographical location remained unaltered. On some cars this change resulted in a premium reduction of approximately 60 or 65 per cent. on some forms of coverage and 50 per cent. on others.

Experience has and always must be the governing factor in determining insurance rates. When the motoring public as a whole come to a realization of this fact it will govern itself accordingly, and the result will be a general reduction of the loss ratio—a "lower experience" on the part of the companies writing motor car insurance, and then will follow lower rates with the accruing benefits to motorists.

It is a curious fact that accidents occur much less frequently to uninsured motorists than to those who realize that no matter what happens they will not suffer pecuniary loss. It can almost be said that there are no joy riders and no reckless drivers who have not the backing of an insurance company. If this be true, and it so, it proves that there is an intentional disregard of the rights of others on the part of those who drive too fast in congested districts or on highways where intersecting roads offer every possibility for an accident. The man who carries no fire or theft insurance takes every other precaution against losing his car through conflagration or by having it stolen. He takes an interest in the condition of his wiring and never leaves his car without locking it—and even then worries lest some experienced thief may find a way to get away with the vehicle.

The cry that "rates are too high" can be heard pretty generally from the public, and from that viewpoint the rates are too high. But insurance companies tell another story. They claim, and honestly, that the rates are too low; that with the present loss ratio in certain territories, added to the overhead expense of doing business, there is nothing left. The companies call attention to the fact that a high-grade car carrying $4,000 fire insurance provides a premium of only $16 for this form of cover. Let a popular, high-grade public garage catch fire, and four or five of these cars are liable to be destroyed. Reduced to simple arithmetic, the insurance company has received $80, and for that will pay out $20,000, plus rent, light, wages, taxes and the host of other things which go into the melting pot of overhead expense; and the theft premium is less than that paid for fire.

The public, on the whole, has become more reasonable. The improvement is due almost entirely to education. Automobile insurance is a comparatively new thing. Motor car ownership is comparatively new. The responsibility of operating a motor car is comparatively new, but these things are not as new as they were, and experience has done much in teaching owners how to care for and operate that which easily can be changed from an asset to a liability.

Car Thefts Decreasing.

Thefts of cars have materially decreased during the past year. The action of insurance companies in adding a predetermined amount to the fixed premium, if cars were not equipped with a more or less efficient locking device, has had its influence on car manufacturers, with the result that most of the better grade cars have a well constructed lock; as a result, the premium income has been reduced, but the loss ratio also has reduced, and the insurance companies are making a better showing on this item. It is probable that in the not distant future the theft rate will be reduced.

The action of some States in refusing to issue a license for a car for which the owner cannot show the original bill of sale also has had its effect on the theft situation. In New Jersey, for instance, a license will not be given unless the original bill of sale is produced. As a result, many dealers in second-hand cars in New York lose opportunities to sell to residents of New Jersey because they cannot provide with the car the bill of sale given by the manufacturer to the original buyer.

Collison rates have been materially lowered during the past year. In certain territories the number of accidents have not decreased, nor has the cost of repairs been materially lowered, but other territories have shown marked improvement, and if traffic policemen and highway controls continue their efficient control of the motoring public, the results are bound to be reflected in a lessened number of accidents—and naturally the rates will be lowered. Collison insurance is the form of coverage which insures against damage sustained and differs from property damage, which is damage inflicted.

The losses reported to the companies under property damage have been numerous and costly; it is probable that these rates, which are now very low, will be increased. Take, for the purposes of comparison, a 1924 sedan used in New York City—the costliest territory—for pleasure only: Full collison coverage on the car, providing it is equipped with a front bumper, would be $270 per year. Property damage on the same car would be only $26.68 for the same period. This seems to be a great discrepancy, as it is bound to cost as much to repair the other fellow's car as to repair one's own. Few, indeed, are the accidents in which a collison is not a factor, and property damage virtually covers the damage inflicted to the other man's car, wagon, tree, lawn, fence, dog, baby carriage or other property.

Liability Insurance.

Liability coverage, that is, damage to persons, personal injury, legal or alleged liability for injuries to people, including the defense, court costs and payment of the verdicts, continues to be a fearful thing for companies writing this form of contract to contemplate. The number of accidents has increased during the past year; the number of reported fatalities is greater than ever before. The generosity of juries when giving away the other fellow's money has shown no abatement, and the result is a serious condition.

The responsibility for the high rates for liability coverage is about equally divided between joy riders and juries. The recklessness of the former brings about the opportunities for the latter to fatten the purses of the attorneys who take this class of cases on contingent fee. The bigger the verdict, the more the lawyer gets. The joy rider, if he carries adequate insurance coverage, suffers no monetary damage whatever—he is not punished nor is he deprived of anything that he has through the amount of the verdict.

Insurance adjusters report that there has been a decided improvement on the part of car owners in regard to their claims for losses. The value of a car has been and will continue to be a moot question. The owner is honest in his belief that his one or two year old car is worth as much to him as when he bought it, but he is forced to admit that its market value is considerably less. This is particularly true when the list price of the cars now made by the manufacturer is lower than when the car was bought. A decided change in the appearance of a new model seriously depreciates the resale price of cars of an earlier date. The percentage depreciation is vastly greater on cars of little general popularity than on those of widely known merit. All these are factors which must be considered, and there are many instances in the records of insurance companies where cars which sold for $5,000 could not find a purchaser at $500 two years later, although in appearance and in running qualities there was no visible depreciation.

Had Sore Back for Last Ten Years

Then Mr. Ed. Newton Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec man is one of the many who tell why he recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que., April 25.—(Special).—"I cannot recommend your Dodd's Kidney Pills enough. I had a terribly sore back for the last ten years, so I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used six boxes and found great relief. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all people who suffer with their back. I would never be without Dodd's Kidney Pills myself."

This statement comes from Mr. Ed. Newton, a well-known resident of this place. That Mr. Newton's trouble was caused by the kidneys is evidenced by the immediate relief he got.

Weak kidneys are not confined to grown people. They are too often found in children, sowing the seeds of future ills unless the kidneys are strengthened and put in condition to do their full work.

A REAR VIEW

The path behind your car is not the closed book you imagine it to be. In your wake one finds much that can be construed as a warning of trouble or expense you are going to suffer sooner or later.

Only those behind you can note the wobbly hind wheels of your car, the flat tires and the stiff springs. The man behind observes the smoke from your exhaust, a condition which may indicate too rich a mixture or an engine that has begun to pump oil. He is the one who notices your habit of spinning the wheels when you apply the brakes. At night he is the man who notices the sparks shooting from the exhaust—an indication of a carbon choked motor. And he is the party who smells the burning brakes.

PARKING STUNTS

Remember that the position of the rear wheels counts most in trying to "make" a parking space. Rear wheels do not track the front wheels, which explains why the rear of the car will be far away from the curb when the front end is placed exactly where you want it to be. The stunt in parking, and in "fine" steering around the garage or in a traffic tangle, is to first place the rear wheels where you want them; the front ones will follow easily enough.

SOMETHING ABOUT CARING FOR YOUR NEW SEASON AUTO

A thorough inspection of automobiles each week is advised by experts. This may appear unnecessary, but often results in the locating of minor difficulties which eventually might cause costly repairs.

A Tip For Starting

When using the choke for starting, try not to flood the cylinders with pure gasoline, so that no explosion can take place. Two complete revolutions of the engine with the choke rod out will charge every clyinder with gas. After that the longer the choke rod is out, the less chance of starting.

Cleaning Headlight Glass

Mud splashes on the headlight glass should be gently soaked off with plenty of warm water and a soft cloth or soft sponge. A few drops of household ammonia in the water will aid in thoroughly cleaning the glass, but the ammonia must not be allowed to get on the finish of the car.

To Avoid Collisions

When driving at a speed of 18 to 20 miles an hour, never permit the car to travel less than 50 feet back of the car ahead. At this distance sufficient space is allowed to stop in case the driver ahead should halt suddenly without a signal.

No Trouble When Removing Plug

When replacing a spark plug it is a good practice to make a paste of flaked graphite and cylinder oil and smear this on the threads of the plug. This will not only help to make the plug fit tight, but will prevent the plug and the metal of the cylinder from fusing together, due to the heat, so that the plug cannot be taken out again.

Thawing a Frozen Radiator

A frozen automobile radiator often can be thawed out in an emergency by reversing the fan and blowing the hot air surrounding the engine through the radiator framework. Loosen the nut that holds the fan arm in position and lower this arm sufficiently to permit the belt to be crossed. Then raise the arm until the belt is tight on the pullet and fasten it in place. When the engine is running the hot air will be blown against the radiator cells and any ice will soon be melted.

Wheels Must Run In Line

Wheel misalignment produces a tire abuse that has grown more rapidly probably than any other. Rims occasionally are responsible for a wobble which can be misconstrued as misatignment. The wheel itself can be in perfect alignment and yet the rim may not fit snugly on the wheel and the tire therefore wobbles. Frames become bent and sprung so th that the axles do not run parallel. This springing or bending may not even be noticeable, but it is none the less destructive. Rear as well as front bearings may become loosened and allow the wheels to spread and drag. In case of premature tread wear on a tire it is advisable to check up on all of these features of the car to prevent and recurrence.

Drain Oil Often

It is a good plan to drain off half a teacupful of oil every other night during winter operation while the engine is warm. In many instances it will be found that this oil contains water, which results from the "sweating" of the crankcase, due to rapid change of temperature. By draining it off, the possibility for it to emulsify with dirty oil, forming a sludge which clogs the oil screen and oil passage and stops the oil flow is eliminated. A high grade oil will not sludge or emulsify with water when it is clean; but in service all oils acquire dirt and sediment, which form an effective binder between the oil and the water under the beating action of the connecting rods. It is oil, plus dirt, plus water, plus agitation, which causes sludge; and sludge causes all kinds of engine troubles during the winter.

BALLOON TIRES FINDING FAVOR WITH MOTORIST

This New Equipment Has Outstanding Advantages and Change From Standard Is Not Difficult — Three Principles Involved

NEEDS LESS PRESSURE

Every motorist is now contemplating equipping his car with balloon tires. The advantages of this variety of tire so recently designed, have been proven in many ways, and some information regarding how the change from the standard to the new style may be made is included in a pamphlet recently issued.

The three principles underlying the balloon tire are—oversize, light flexible body, and low pressure inflation.

The essential difference between standard and balloon cords is lower air pressure and lighter body construction.

Where the standard cord carries from 60 to 65 pounds air pressure, sometimes higher, the balloon cord is inflated at from 20 to 40 pounds. In fact, it must always carry these low pressures to function with safety.

Where the number of plies in a large size standard cord is six or eight, the balloon cord has but four.

The principle of the balloon cord tire is this:

Generally speaking, that portion of the tread which rests on the road (the contact area) expressed in square pounds of air pressure inside the tire, give approximately the weight of the load the tire is carrying.

Following out this principle, if a 1,000-pound load is to be carried on a regular standard cord, and only 20 square inches of contact with the ground is obtainable on account of the limit of the "give" (vertical deflection) of the tire, an air pressure of 50 pounds per square inch is needed to carry the load.

On the other hand, if the area of road contact can be increased without exceeding the proper degree of vertical deflection, much less air pressure is required inside the tire.

For instance, if the area of road contact is increased from 20 to 40 square inches, an air pressure of 25 pounds to the square inch will carry the 1,000-pound load.

On account of greater sectional diameter, and more "give" in the tire, the balloon cord provides a greater area of road contact than the standard cord, hence it can carry the same load with less air pressure to the square inch inside the tire.

Thus a comparison of the balloon cord and standard cord resolves itself into a question of low-air pressure of high-air pressure.

It is perhaps well to point out here that in view of the fact that the minds of many automobile and tire engineers are working upon this subject there will no doubt be other sizes and approximations of balloon tires.

However, out of it all should come eventually two recognized groups of tire sizes, one for the new regular 20 and 21 balloon tire rims and another comprising the "interchangeable" balloon tires for present rims. The latter class may after a few years, become extinct.

The two recognized groups have already been standardized and a beginning made toward completing these two classes of tires along lines that will be followed by all tire makers.

To apply these tires to automobiles equipped with standard tires requires either new wheels or that present wheels be cut down and new rims applied.

Most manufacturers of wheels or rims are now in a position to supply either the new wheels or the rims and other parts for wheels that are to be cut down.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

The secrecy of long life is in the arteries. People who allow their arteries to become clogged up, causing high blood pressure, as a rule do not live long. "GAR-LIXIR" H.B.P. treatment is the great arterial purger. It softens the hardening walls and clears the clogged vessels and it is not long before the patient is conscious of returning good health as the heart begins to resume its normal action. "H.B.P." is now obtainable at BOND'S Drug Store; $2.00 per bottle with booklet of instructions.

Underestimate Distance When Driving at Night.

There is a noticeable tendency among drivers to leave too much room between cars when passing each other at night. The tendency to drive too close in daytime is carried to the other extreme at night. Much of this is due to the fact that a driver unconsciously allows for a full car width in the belief that the other car extends much farther out toward the centre of the road than is revealed by its headlights. A driver also is inclined to get as far away from the range of the other fellow's headlights as possible. It explains why so many cars land in the ditches at night.

AGED COW SETS MARK.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Grace Koningen, a Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the Montana State College of Agriculture, has set a new record for milk production by a cow 10 years old or over. In one year the champion produced 32,294.4 pounds of milk and 1051 pounds of butter fat. That is enough milk to fill a row of quart bottles one mile long.

MAY DAY OPENS Y. M. CAMPAIGN

Annual Call From Community Institution Issued

May Day, the first of the month, marks the rousing up of many activities, slumbering and held in abeyance during the winter. A grand moving day and a settler of rentals, and wage scales and jobs, and such like, and we all pay attention. So a share of this attention is modestly directed to the Annual Call on behalf of the local institution, the Y.M.C.A. —to quote in full, the Young Men's Christian Association— and institution, all over the world outstanding in its efforts, principles and work in the field of the growing Boy and the young Man.

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week will be the days on which the "Y," through its directors and friends, makes appeal for support. While, as the years have rolled on, the "Y" has become more and more as a self-supporting organization, through its internal activities, it does not gain sufficient to cover the cost and upkeep of its fiscal year, and must rely on its friends and supporters for additional assistance.

Hundreds of the contributors of to-day were the boys of a score or more of years ago. Having been bred, coached, striven with and enjoyed the privileges of the "Y," such men are the most earnest in supporting it.

In making the appeal, the directors are quite willing to show their faith by their works. Aside from the amount to be raised for the ensuing year, the directors, from amongst themselves, recently contributed, to cover the operating deficit of the last two years, $500.00, just as a starter, and are ready to add to this for the coming year. Mighty good work, and hearty support.

In support of the request for assistance, a financial statement has been prepared, and will further on be placed in print for the information of the Board and the Public. A few figures from this statement are here printed to show that, and to head off adverse criticism, the "Y" is endeavoring to hold up its end and to get closer and closer to the self-sustaining position which it hopes to do some day. Memberships brought in $3,432.20, rent from the dormitories $3,342.25, which merely shows that some people place a monetary value on the place where they sleep, as they or all should. Billiards and bowling took in $620.60. Other activities gained considerable sums, and which will be noted further on. Subscriptions $3,671.00, and this item is the one now sought to cover by the canvas next week. The amount asked for is $4,400, and which is approximately the average for the last ten years' period. So that practically ten thousand dollars has been raised within the institution, coming along as payment for services rendered. What these services are may be referred to next week, for such is the foundation, apart from the spiritual, moral, personal and enthusing influences which it is the function of the "Y" to radiate.

While the cost of operating the Association building, in all its several forms of helpfulness, has increased generally over fifty per cent. since 1915, the amount asked for in subscriptions from the citizens of Peterborough has not increased. Additional smounts in membership fees and internal revenue has made up the difference and thus taken care of it. The day was, mind you, when $10,000 was the least asked for. And it may be assured that the operating costs of the local "Y" are considerably lower than in most cities of the size of Peterborough, and the programme compares most favorably with that of any Association in Canada. The "Y" gives of the best within its means and revenue.

In making the canvas the captains of teams and the assisting members have been selected. All are men good and true. Appreciative and hopeful that the influence which they represent on behalf of the "Y" will appeal, despite the known iniquities, as we view them, of income taxes, sales taxes, fuel and rental costs, and the ever insistent demand for more money to meet these and other incumbrances. All are a part of our advancing civilization, and if we nurture and call for the one we must pay. Most men have been boys, and it is in the interest of the boy that the "Y" operates and functions.

DEATH BOUQUET MYSTERY IN STRANGE MURDER OF MRS. STONE

Flowers Believed to Have Been Sent By the Killer--Police Are Baffled By Mystery.

MRS. VERA STONE.

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—A death bouquet presented the most tangible clew in the mystery murder of Vera Stone, attractive policeman's widow who was strangled, police assume, by one of scores of suitors who had more or less casually wooed her within the past year.

Did the slayer of Vera Stone intend to say it with flowers?

If sent by the killer, were they a macabre portent of his plan, or part of an occult rite devised of deadly jealousy?

The flowers were potted lilies, annonymously sent from a public stand to Vera Stone's apartment on the evening preceding the murder. Chaste resurrection lilies. She had placed them on a stand near her bed. They nodded above her battered, garroted body when a sister made the grewsome find. A strange, white, symbolical clew, police believe, to the identity of the man who slew the woman he loved.

Thirty days before the death date, Mrs. Stone had received a written warning, signed "Bill," adjuring her to "Be careful, I will be back in a month." The floral gift arrived as the allotted period was expiring. And a few hours later, apartment neighbors testified, Vera Stone was shrieking from her room "Bill—you are killing me!"

Under the lilies, with the corpse, lay three scarlet little address books. In them the names of some 300 men, from high social levels to more modest stations, investigators assert. Among those inscribed in the red roster of Vera Stone's acquaintanceship, there were a dozen or more "Bills." The homicide squad said it might require weeks to complete a systematic check-up on the list.

To most of these men, business men and professional, police officers, taxi drivers and those unidentified by calling, the pretty young widow was known as Mae Lyn, a name she had adopted after the death of her husband.

With the new name, acquaintances assert, had come a changed attitude toward life, a pendulum swing from grief, an inclination toward more gaiety. Mae Lyn became the object of competitive interest among scores of men. Most of them, police declare, were content to accept her as an agreeable companion of the hour, their names and phone numbers inscribed in the little scarlet covered roster.

One man, however, officers say Mrs. Stone [illegible] deep affection. He was unlike the others. He refused to join her [illegible] tes, tried to dissuade her from her [illegible]

He told her he would rather see her dead than indulge the mode of life he disapproved. This man's name, she did not reveal to her confidantes. She spoke of his earnestness with a sort of dreadful respect.

Was he, "who would rather see her dead," the man who sent her the white resurrection lilies as a reminder, or for a symbol above the pale throat so soon to have its encircling purple welt?

"The man who loved her best is the man who killed Vera Stone." Such is the consensus of most of the officials raveling at the mystery, although other conjectures based on meager clews were also being followed—that she may have been victim of a fiend, or of underworldlings who believed her an informant of police.

Murder enigmas, once they are solved, usually fall into a few typical patterns of motive and manipulation. And so may this one. But at least the resurrection lilies, mysteriously provided as a death corsage, will remain a macabre oddity, whether they prove of special significance or merely a symbolical coincidence in the killing of Vera Stone.

Five-Act Play In St. Luke's Parish.

In St. Luke's parish hall, on Thursday evening, the young people of the church put on a very pleasant entertainment, attended by a capacity audience of over two hundred people. The feature of the evening was a five-act play entitled "Unacquainted with Work," given under the direction of Mr. H. Devey, with a fine supporting cast.

"Unacquainted with Work" is a laughable comedy which deals with the adventures of a young and unenergetic man, who gets in arrears with his board bill. Most of the scenes are enacted in the sitting-room of a small-town hotel, where the landlord threatens the young fellow with legal action, on account of his failure to pay up promptly. The young man appeals to his rich Aunt Aramantha, who offers to relieve his financial distress, on condition that he marry within thirty days' time.

The hero makes a manful attempt to fulfill the obligations imposed on him, and gets into a number of embarassing situations. He becomes desperate when he fails to win the lady of his choice and proposes in turn to a negro cook, a travelling book agent, a scrub-woman and a fat Irish chambermaid. They refuse him in turn, but later, instigated by the villain of the piece, a pettifogging lawyer, they all bring breach of promise suits against him. A variety of circumstances leads to a cheerful ending.

The plot was well brought out by the young people of the cast, and the humor kept the audience entertained from first to last. Members of the cast included: Miss Queenie Hope, as the heroine, Elsie Andrews; Gordon Manice in the principal male role of Charlie Chester; Harry Moore, as the landlord, Jacob Sharp; Mrs. H. Moore as Biddy McMullen, the Irish maid; Miss L. Bridgewater as the lady book agent, Andromeda Applewood; Victor Sedgwick as the lawyer, Billy Briefless; Percy Lindley as the bell hop who added much humor of the piece; Miss Zoe Doyle as the negro cook; Cecil Hope as the detective, and also, in a dual role that included a representation of the scrub woman; Mrs. Wm. Hepburn as Aunt Aramantha Artichoke and Bert Lindley as Mike Murphy, prizefighter.

Between acts, Mr. W. Thompson, the church organist, gave some enjoyable instrumental music, and in the intermission between the third and fourth acts, Rev. Mr. Bousfield made the presentation to St. Luke's bowling team, victorious in the Church League bowling games, of the silver cup won by them in the recent series. St. Luke's team includes Gordon Manicee, Stanley Curtis, Floyd Curtis, Frank Patterson, Archie Hood and J. L. Wyatt.

The young people have been extended an invitation to repeat their performance in Westwood in the near future.

Separate School Pupils Practice.

The little boys and girls of the Separate schools of St. Peter's and the Sacred Heart parishes are busily engaged just now in practice for their participation in an event which takes place in Toronto on May 7th and 8th, when an International Congress of the Society of St. Gregory of America, in Sacred Music, will be held. This is the first Congress of Liturgical Music ever held in Ontario, and has the patronage of the members of the episcopate of the province, as well as His Grace, the reverend Archbishop of Toronto.

A Pontifical High Mass in St. Michael's Cathedral on the opening day will be accompanied by Gregorian music, sung by two thousand children in unison, in which the seventy or more children from Peterboro will take part. Seminarians and Boy Choirs will also unite in the rendition of a liturgical Mass, and one of the most interesting features will be the demonstration to be given by the famous group of girls from the Annunciation Church, in New York, who have been students for some years of the Ward method of vocal tuition.

Papers to be read at the Convention cover such topics as "Sacred and Secular Music," "How to Organize Liturgical Choirs," "The Accompaniment to Gregorian Chant," "The Music Publisher and Church Music Reform," and "The Characteristics of Sacred Music."

A Grand Sacred Concert, by individual and massed choirs, will be given in Massey Music Hall, on the evening of May 7th.

Why You Need a Tonic In the Springtime

NO SEASON of the year is welcomed like the Spring.

The Winter is always too long. The warm weather is always too slow in coming.

Gradually the heat of the sun increases, the buds swell and burst and all Nature is aroused to new life and vigor.

But we do not often feel our best in the Spring. It is in fact the season of greatest mortality.

The accumulation of poisons in the system as the result of sedentary, indoor life and artificial foods of winter; the undermining effects of winter colds; the strain of sudden changing temperature; all these effect a climax in the Spring.

Hence the tired feelings, the brain fag, the lack of energy and the nervous troubles which weigh us down at the very season of the year when all Nature out of doors is arousing to new life.

In the spring as at no other time does the human system require assistance. Then it is that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proves a friend indeed.

The blood has become thin and watery. The nerves are starved. The whole vital machinery of the body has become slowed down.

But a few weeks use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will work wonders. Not in any miraculous way. But simply and naturally by supplying to the human system the elements from which rich, red, life-giving blood is created.

Many thousands have found out how to avoid the fatigue and discomfort of Spring by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 60 pills 60 cents at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS STRIKINGLY DESCRIBED BY SIR GEORGE FOSTER

Prevents War, Settles International Disputes, Retrieves Fallen Nations and Stabilizes the World —Scathing Indictment of War As Unnecessary and Barbaric.

MAKES FOR PEACE.

Sir George E. Foster, G.C.M.G., addressed a large gathering of citizens in the Capitol Theatre last night under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, on "The League of Nations: Its Organization, Work, and Aims." He was entertained at a dinner in the Empress Hotel, with the following guests present:—Mayor J. J. Turner; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.; J. Wells Fraser, president of the Chamber of Commerce; H. G. Richardson, secretary of the League of Nations Society in Canada; His Honor Judge Huycke; Roland Denne; W. R. Morris, F. E. Kerr, K.C.; C. A. Ackerman; and Leon Frazer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. After his address in the Capitol, Sir George visited the Motor Show, where he gave a short address.

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce in charge of arrangements for the visit of the distinguished guest consisted of Messrs. Vanstone, Kerr, Denne and Ackerman. Mr. Ackerman was chairman.

His Worship Mayor Turner presided at the public meeting and J. Wells Fraser at the dinner.

The happy manner of the distinguished speaker captivated his audience, and his fluent language maintained interest throughout his address.

"There are three questions to be asked and answered," he said. They are: (1) What is the League of Nations? (2) How is it constituted?; (3) What is it that the League has done, and what is it doing?

There never before was anything in the world like the League of Nations. It is an innovation; it is a revolution in the methods of conducting international relations and settling international disputes. It takes a long time for it to permeate the minds of the people of the world, and it is only four years old.

It sprang out of the War, having its birthplace in the Peace Conference. When in January, 1919, the representatives of all the allied and neutral nations met in Paris to settle the terms of peace, it did not settle down to an immediate arrangement of peace terms.

How it Originated

The very first thing it did was to appoint a committee to prepare a scheme for a society of the nations of the world for the purpose of making it certain, if possible, that there never again should be a war such as had just been passed through. The committee consisted of nineteen men, and it proceeded to draw up the scheme. These nineteen were probably the smartest men in the world. They were men of undoubted ability—men who had been foremost in the councils of the nations before the war and during the war. They were not fanatics or soft-brained enthusiasts. The eleven or twelve neutral nations were invited to collaborate, and after three months and three days, the final report was brought in and accepted, and is what we know as "The Covenant of the League of Nations." It was not a scheme concocted in a night.

The Peace Conference was inspired to this objective by the great object lesson that was seared on the hearts of the members. Out of a lack of agreement between Austria and Serbia had grown the greatest war of all history. They had gone through the war and the lessons were still with them.

Their reasons were the ten millions of strong virile men, the flower of the nations who lie in the dust of the battlefields; the twenty millions of casualties that were caused in the four years' war. Men went into the field whole and came out brain wracked, hurt in limb, and spiritually, physically and morally wrecked. They are in your homes, workshops, and factories, but they are still casualties, and will be till they die.

Count must also be taken of the millions upon millions of victims of that great war through malnutrition, famine, and diseases of all kinds that stalk in the wake of war.

The thought of these things was the impelling force behind the conference that sought an effective safeguard fo the peace of the world.

That League and that covenant became a part of the treaties made with the enemy nations. It is the first article of every treaty of peace.

Overcoming a Habit

The League has had innumerable difficulties to contend with. War is a habit of 6000 years. There has been no other means of settling differences between the nations beside the arbitrament of war. They call out their armies and navies and butcher and kill all they can. That is the old 6000 years old method. The League of Nations says "bind yourselves one with another so that when a dispute arises you will submit it to arbitration and settle your differences in a method not costly or disagreeable, but peaceable and honorable."

"When your line fence is disputed by your neighbour," Sir George said, "do you get your friends to furbish their old flintlocks and engage in a dispute as a result of which the man with the strongest force sets the fence where he wants it? No; you take it to the courts, which decide equitably."

The League of Nations is just one step up from the courts of the country—from the national to the international.

No man can be so unreasonable as to say in one, two or three years: "You haven't made this a success, and it's no use." A child can't be expected to do what he can only do when he is a man.

There are some people who do not know the League of Nations is in existence and functioning. If there are any such in Peterboro ask them to consider. When the League was put into force it had fourteen signatures. It i now four years after that time, and to-day there are fifty-four nations of the world joined under the flag of the League of Nations. (Applause.) They are nations which have watched its progress and think it is to their advantage to belong to the world league.

They include more than three-quarters of the earth's surface and of its population.

The annual budget is raised by the nations that belong to the League. The requisition is taken to the parliaments and passed. It is unthinkable that they would pay unless they thought it was to their advantage. Not a nation that joined the League has left it.

Its Constitution

The League of Nations functions for 54 nations. There were in the war five great powers. Each one has a representation in the council of the League of Nations. As the United States has not yet entered the League, it has no representative. The body of the League elects six members to the council which is a sort of executive which carries out the work and policies of the League when the League is not in session. It meets in various centres and has had 28 different sessions, occupying from six to fifteen days each. The council cannot pass any primary measures of importance and put them into effect unless all the members are agreed. They have had twelve hundred measures brought up and decided. The idea in making the unanimity of the members necessary was prompted by the desire to have behind every decision the full power of the League to combat the influence of 6,000 years. Not one of the 1200 measures has failed for lack of unanimity. (Applause.)

The League is constituted of a delegated body, three members from each nation in the League. They have only one vote for three members, to be given by the chairman. Each nation has the same voting power and representation. That does not seem reasonable from some viewpoints. The representation on the floor of the assembly is the same from Uruguay as from Britain or France. The League is built on national equality.

In the assembly they cannot pass any primary measure unless the whole delegation is favorable. There have been four meetings with a multitude of questions of importance decided without a single failure for lack of unanimity. The League severs itself from every bond of creed or language or politics, and its high ideal of honor brings every man to his best in a forum where the world's interest is discussed.

In the hall where the League meets, sacred in history because of the liberties maintained there—the galleries were filled with representatives of the press of the world, two or three hundred of them, and everyone knew that whatever that assembly did the world was listening in, and it would be broadcasted to the ends of the world. That gives the reason why these unanimous things are brought about. The underlying thought is, "we must agree somehow."

At the Conference

Sir George Foster took his audience on a word trip to Geneva to the meeting of the League of Nations where 125 people, representing all nations in the League, speaking 42 languages, and of several shades of color, gathered.

Heckling was unknown, and order was perfect. Every speaker was required to hand his name to the secretary to be called upon in his turn. He had to rise and walk down a long aisle before the eyes of 350 newspaper representatives with telegraphs and telephones to spread his words to all the nations. take two steps onto the dais; and turn to face forty-two nations of the world; This had a deterrent effect on long-winded speakers and made the members consider seriously before embarking on a speech. "It is a hint," Sir Groege said, "for legislators nearer home."

"Taking the whole conference through I did not hear a single discourteous interjection from the floor of the house."

Achievements of League

It would take hours to tell the good the League has done, Sir George said, and he hoped only to whet the desires of his audience to learn for themselves.

The first year was given over to organization of the League. At the end of 1920 it was a practical working organization and was ready for its second year as an effectual unctioning body.

Constantly the resolutions and instructions of the League are being carried out by a secretariat. The subjects dealt with are technical and the secretariat must be the best that can be assembled. One of the duties of the League is to take a nation just falling over the brink of economic destruction and bring it back to stable ground. There must be economic and financial experts, whose words will carry weight. Diplomatic matters must be handled by the highest qualified men in the world. Epidemics must be fought by experts.

The secretariat numbers about 300, made up from 25 nations, who have made the work of the League uniformly successful.

The League is interested in the heal th of the world and of nations. Diseases know no national limits, and all the world is interested in the best way of combating disease. The League draws together all nation members to fight unitedly the ravages of epidemics with science and legislation.

Narcotic drugs that sap the soul are introduced into countries by devious methods. The League has taken the matter under its care and with the 54 members and the United States and Germany is conducting a campaign against narcotics.

The white slave trade is being battled against by the world of nations to corral at its source the great instrument of deterioration of the races.

Five incipient wars have been stopped by the League of Nations. (Applause.) "Any one of those disputes would have led to war between at least two nations and when you start war in Europe, God alone knows where it will stop."

An international tribunal has been set up—the dream of the greatest men of past ages. It has been two years in operation; its justices are fifteen in number, dislocated from the countries from which they come. They take up disputes between the nations and dispassionately give their judgments.

As an instance, the speaker cited the case of Poland and Czecho Slovakia who disputed a boundary and submitted it to the League for settlement. That would have caused war under the old regime.

The sources of warfare are now being eliminated and disputes submitted to the arbitrament of the League of Nations.

Austria Was Saved

Not long ago Austria was just about plunging over the brink of economic and financial disruption. She came to the League of Nations when the great powers were unable to help. In six weeks the League of Nations presented a plan and in less than a year and a half Austria has a stable exchange and has brought her budget to a balance. Austria is a rejuvenated country and its chancellor of the exchequer gave his testimony to the inestimable good received from the League. Hungary has now applied for the same help.

The business of the businessman in Peterboro' is affected by the conditions of every country in the world. The League of Nations appeals to the business man as well as on humanitarian lines.

Sir George urged the citizens to keep up interest in the League by becoming members of the League of Nations Society. The League can only be a success in the world through having the support of the men and women of the world.

"Think what a difference it would make to your tax bill," he said, "if that two billions and a half of war debt had not been added to the liability of the country! The League of Nations is the means to avoid future wars.

Judge Huycke

His Honor Judge Huycke moved the vote of thanks to the speaker. In a happy speech he pictured Sir George's political achievements and his work during the war.

The public respected and revered and loved him, he said.

"I welcome not only the man but I appreciate the message he brought. He has pointed out a ray of hope that we may never have another war such as has robbed us of some of those whom we loved the best and dearest."

His Honor urged the audience as representative of Peterboro' to join with the League of Nations Society.

J. Wells Fraser seconded the motion, which was heartily accorded.

Latest Way

Ah, here's a new way of carrying it. But, alas, prohibition agents are on to it—in Minneapolis, at least. And Jennie McGregor, whose innovation it was, isn't smuggling in any more. A big fur cape was worn to hide the "life preserver."

STRONGER SANDSTONE.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Sandstone may soon become the competitor of granite for the distinction of being one of the strongest of building materials. Tests made at the United States Bureau of Standards show that by soaking sandstone for several hours in melted sulphur and then cooling it off, the strength of the stone is increased from 200 to 300 per cent.

10 TO 20 YEARS LIKELY FATE OF BOBBED BANDIT

Will Be Sentenced With Husband Next Tuesday—Girl Broke Down in Cell But Quickly Recovered—Poised Facing Probable Long Term.

Worried By Stockings.

NEW YORK, April 26.—"Say—if you want to talk to me, let me see the color of your money."

That was the first and the last thing that Celia Cooney, the twenty-year-old bandit with black bobbed hair, said to reporters when she was taken to Raymond Street Jail.

Celia and her husband Eddie had just pleaded guilty before County Judge Martin on a charge of first degree robbery. But facing a prospective ten or twenty years in prison didn't worry her—at the time.

"Nothing doing—I don't care to talk; leave me alone."

Celia turned aside and faced Warden Honecke as she was being booked.

Corrects Her 'Pedigree.'

"Say, Warden, they tell me we're going to be sentenced next Tuesday. That'll be a big day, eh? I betcha there'll be a crowd there to see us."

Then Celia gave her pedigree with quite an air of nonchalance.

"Occupation?"

Celia crossed one silk-stockinged ankle over another one, pondered a moment and answered:

"Oh, laundry worker, I guess. Bandit—anything you say—but I'm not a bandit now."

She leaned over the clerk's shoulder to see his report.

A mischievous light coming into her eyes, she added:

"That's right—ex-laundry worker."

Breaks Into Tears.

Her husband Eddie was as surly as usual. A "good-by, Eddie," and a "so long, kid," and the girl and the man were parted, each starting toward their respective cells.

A moment later Celia was locked in the women's division. Just for a moment she stood there, hesitant, then threw herself on the plain cot. This girl, who confesses to ten robberies, and who more than once scared the wits out of men she was robbing, suddenly began to cry—for the first time since her arrest in Jacksonville, Fla., several days ago.

The tears flowed uninterruptedly. Then, as suddenly as she had begun to weep the tears disappeared Wiping her eyes with the back of her hand, she said, aloud:

"Gee, no use doing that—and there's a long, long trail ahead."

Celia arose, smiled at the matron and did a short dance in her cell.

Something about her shoe attracted her. Raising one foot high, she peered at it.

"Granny—that heel's run down. Better get a new pair before next Tuesday."

In the meantime, Eddie Cooney was sitting in his cell, moodily smoking a cigarette. No dance steps for him. He was realizing that his day of payment was near. Finishing his cigarette he threw himself on the cot and pretended to sleep.

It had been an exciting day for the pair—almost a monotony of excitement. Both awoke at dawn in the Poplar Street station, where each had slept the night through without removing their clothes.

Then came the inevitable line-up, when fifty masked detectives in that upstairs room peered at the two of them as they stood side by side, with backs to the wall. Both enjoyed the novelty of it.

Victims of "Lineup."

Then the door opened and in came thirteen victims who identified the girl and her husband as the bandits who had despoiled them. A fourteenth man, Richard Hink, proprietor of a grocery store at No. 267 Brooklyn Avenue, who was robbed of $250 on last January 12, could identify neither one.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Weiss, whose drug store at No. 371 Sumner Avenue was robbed by the couple on the night of March 5, while 130 policemen were drilling in an armoury across the street. Weiss accused the pair:

You folks took $35 from me."

Cooney's sullen face turned red:

"Taint so—we only got $17 from you—don't care what you say."

"You robbed me of $130 on February 2. Haven't forgot that, have you?"

Celia Cooney feigned great surprise.

"You know we only got $60."

Her husband added:

"And we got that $60 out of the cash register, too—not your pants pockets."

The two of them laughed heartily when Abraham Fishbein, a grocer of No. 341 Albany Avenue, squinted at Celia, and began:

"Yessum—you're the lady that robbed me. You wanted some red herrings. I was getting you some nice ones out of a barrel and you—and you jabbed me with a pistol. I jumped and shouted, I did.

"Why, woman, you nearly scared me to death. You folks got $18 from my cash register."

Cooney looked quickly at his wife. She flicked an eye-lash at him, and for the first time Cooney didn't try to bring the figure down.

Apologizes to Mazio.

Nathan Mazio, assistant cashier of the National Biscuit Company's Brooklyn plant, who was shot in an attempted hold-up by Cooney on April 1, next appeared.

"Yes—that's the girl. I recognize her all right."

A smile flashed over Mrs. Cooney's face, and she said, repentantly:

"Oh, I'm awfully sorry you were shot—honest, I am."

Following these identifications they were taken to the office of District-Attorney Dodd, and from there to court. As they stepped toward the bar, two attorneys—John Schevrein and Samuel Leibowits—stepped beside the prisoners. Said Schevrein:

"Your Honor, we represent these two. They desire to enter pleas of not guilty to a charge of first degree robbery in connection with the hold-up of the Bohack chain store at No. 320 Lafayette Avenue on February, when it is alleged that $250 was taken."

District-Attorney Dodd said the couple had told him they were not represented by counsel.

Both Decline Counsel.

When Judge Martin asked the prisoners if they had counsel, Leibowits interrupted:

"Cooney may plead guilty if he so desires, but this girl has a good defense."

He than indicated that such defense would be that of a victim of temporary insanity due to her condition.

Celia, fingering a button on her sealskin cloak, which covered her very soiled grey dress, whispered to Eddie. Then she spoke, rather quietly:

"We have no lawyers—don't want any, Judge."

Cooney hesitated, and the word "guilty" came in a half murmer from his lips.

"They plead guilty, your honor."

A clerk announced that. Judge Martin announced:

"Very well. I remand you to the Raymond Street Jail until Tuesday for sentence."

BAD BLOOD PIMPLES AND BOILES
Banished By
Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

IRISH BOUNDARY MAY CAUSE SERIOUS CRISIS

DUBLIN, April 26. — The collapse of the Irish Boundary Conference in London was anticipated here as no basis of agreement had ever been put forward. The government it is understood, will press now for the immediate establishment of a boundary commission and the appointment of a British representative.

It is contended here that the commission can function even in the absence of an Ulster representative but if the British law authorities rule otherwise the British government will be asked to introduce and have passed immediately the necessary supplemental legislation which it is urged must be supported by all the British statesmen who were parties to the Anglo-Irish treaty.

Opinion in the Dail Eireann is strong in pressing for full observance of the treaty, and the ministers are anxious to give this opinion effect.

Old Man Escapes Jail Term For Refuge Home

SARNIA, Ont., April 26.—(Canadian Press).—Conditional upon his admittance to a home for the aged, sentence has been suspended by Magistrate C. S. Woodrow on Joseph John Ridout, aged 76, of Watford, who recently pleaded guilty to a serious charge. The disposition of this case caused considerable worry to the court as well as to prosecuting and defence counsel, and at a recent sitting of the court a move by defence counsel to change the plea was denied by the Magistrate. Reports of mental tests failed to furnish sufficient grounds for his admission to an institute of that nature, and officials were in somewhat of a quandry as it was felt a jail sentence at his age might have a serious effect on his health.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont. —"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that litttle book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARVEY MILLIGAN, Sydenham, Ontario.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother. G

AN INNOVATION ON THE CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

Lunch Counter Service Between Toronto and Winnipeg.

For the convenience of its patrons the Canadian National Railways are now operating Colonist cars equipped with lunch counters, on "The National" between Toronto and Winnipeg, leaving Toronto 10.45 p.m. daily, arriving Winnipeg 4.10 p.m. the third day, and from Winnipeg to Toronto, leaving Winnipeg 12.30 p.m. daily, arriving Toronto 7.20 a.m. the third day. Hot tea and coffee and Bovril, sandwiches, pies, jam, milk, bread, butter, baked beans, etc., may be purchased at the lunch counter at any time during the day.

This service is, of course, in addition to the regular dining car service operated on the above-mentioned trains.

WANT NEW CEILING.

NEW YORK, April 26. — The Grand Central Terminal probably will get a new sky. A leaky roof has left patches of black, white and green in the present sky. So the directors of the New York Central Railway are considering designs for a new arrangement of the stars, which are painted on an expanse of ceiling two blocks in area.

But that was years ago, before the present advance in paint making science.

To-day, the best paint is made under the supervision of experts, according to scientific formulæ. It is mixed and ground by powerful machinery, and is put up in liquid form in hermetically sealed cans, and reaches the home owner all ready for use.

THOUGHTS IN A LIBRARY

(By F. M. DELA FOSSE)

I have set myself to the task of writing this article much in the spirit of the being who, weary and ill at ease, seated herself (or himself) at the organ and allowed her fingers to wander idly over the noisy keys. There is only one feeling in my mind and that is that I want to write about books. It cannot be a hard matter, with all sorts and sizes of volumes and loose documents facing me, so, without more ado, I will concentrate on five or six whose faded covers and obsolete forms of print proclaim them as remnants of a past era.

They are a shabby-looking lot, but dirty habiliments do not necessarily imply the possession of dirty minds. Was not Lord Grey of Falloden only a few weeks ago mistaken for a tramp by some friends of his who came upon him in the New Forest? He had been on a jaunt of six miles for no other purpose than of wading in a pond in order to observe the actions of a certain bird, and his friends failed to recognize him in his old clothes.

The first volume to be taken in hand is entitled "The Young Man's Best Companion." Its contents are varied and range from instruction in simple arithmetic to precepts for the leading of a pious life. The cures for ailments and diseases that are provided in the section devoted to medicine are interesting. Bleeding was the sovereign specific for most prevailing ailments, and pills were frequently made up of such diabolical ingredients that one wonders how the mind of man could have thought of them. A perusal of a few of the cures makes one feel very much like the worm depicted by Punch as crawling out of the pages of "An Englishwoman's Love Letters," and with a look of anguish on its face, exclaiming, "This book makes me sick." Anyone who has read "An Englishwoman's Love Letters," a copy of which we have in the Library, will appreciate the humour of the artist.

The next book has a title that takes up most of the page. It is "The Dying Speeches and Behavior of the Several State Prisoners That Have Been Executed the Last 300 Years." It provides a fine insight into the modes of punishment meted out in early times, and deals with such varied characters as Charles I. and that ferocious pirate, Captain Kidd. But, interesting as it is, it is lacking in humor and is not the sort of book to put in the hands of a person suffering from melancholy.

The next volume turns out to be "The Dramatic Works of Sir Richard Steele, Knt." There are four plays in this book, but what interests one more than the plays is a prologue composed by Joseph Addison for the play of "The Tender Husband." It is an old saying that Jupiter sometimes nods. Addison must have been in the toils of one of his periodical fits of bibulosity when he penned the following lines:

"Rough country Knights are found of every Shire,
Of every Fashion gentle Fops appear;
And Punks of different characters we meet,
As frequent on the stage as in the pit;
Our modern wits are forc'd to pick and cull,
And here and there, by chance, glean up a Fool."

It is interesting to find that the word "punk" was known even so far back as in Addison's time. It is only one more instance to show that some of our slang terms deserve at least the respect that should be accorded to old age. Only a few months ago I came upon the term "making no bones of it" in Gascoigne's "The Steele Glas," a poem written nearly four hundred years ago.

Well, old books, lack of time and space both forbid further delving into your contents. Science and art have progressed somewhat since the days when you spelt the latest thing in knowledge and literature. You have your days of usefulness still before you, for, although mankind may be prone to ridicule what you set forth with so much ease and assurance, you can still teach him a lesson by leaving him to judge how far he has advanced or retrograded along the path that leads to better living and thinking.

Lord Birkenhead lately came forward as a champion of our own times over those of the 18th century. He had been stirred to this by the statement that the 18th century was the golden age of cool deliberation and sound argument, and he replied that he couldn't see any "dazzling brilliance in the men of that day unless it was in their immense and incredible consumption of alcohol."

The 18th century was not an age of idealism, but it was an age of very practical common-sense, and if it made its blunders it erred in common with every century that had preceded it. Have the centuries that have succeeded shown any marked superiority save that accruing from the advance of science that calls for frenzied jubilation on the mountain-top?

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE FROGGIE'S ESCAPE

Soon he reached the pond.

Nancy and Nick crawled through the little hole in Doofunny Land that ended in the old stump in the meadow.

Right ahead of them hopped the frog that the fairy had changed. A few minutes before he had been a cotton frog with green tissue paper skin and wire toes. Now he was a real live frog from head to foot, and he was making for the pond where he had always wanted to live.

"Kerchug! Chugalug! Chugalorum! Klunk!", he kept saying over and over again, trying every new word that came into his head. "I never could do that before. How handsome my voice is!"

Soon he reached the pond and stood for a minute looking down into the muddy water.

"At last," he gurgled, "I can dive, and swim, and splash, and toast myself in the sun, and catch flies! Horray!"

With that he gave one wild leap and dived head first into the water. Wuzz all about him!

"All right," agreed Nick, "come on."

Just then they saw a brownish figure long and slim and furry slip close to the edge of the water as silently as a shadow. There it waited.

The Twins waited, too, for they knew exactly who it was. They had seen him before, and they knew that he liked frogs—to eat! It was Marty Mink.

But her voice frightened the mink. He crawled out of the water on the opposite side of the pond and sneaked off into the grass.

At that minute the little green frog poked up his head. "What's wrong?" he croaked. "What did you scream for? You made me awfully nervous."

"The mink was after you," said Nancy. "He nearly got you, and if he had he'd have eaten you at one bite."

"Minks!" trembled the froggie. "I never heard of such things. Do they actually eat frogs? I never knew anything ate frogs except Ducks."

"Oho!" shouted Nick. "That shows you don't know much. Didn't you know that minks and weasels and owls and martens and nearly all the wild creatures just love frogs. And that you're never safe a minute."

"No, no, no, no, no!" croaked the frog. "I never knew that. I thought that all they had to do was to enjoy themselves. Oh, do take me back to Doofunny Land and have the fairy turn me back into a nice cotton frog again. Nothing ever hurt me and I was very happy.

The Twins picked him up.

I'll tell you another time what happened then.

KIWANIS HOLD BOOSTER'S DAY

Cooperate With Merchants of Ingersoll In Three-Day Effort For Bigger Business.

INGERSOLL, Ont., April 26.—(Canadian Press). — The Ingersoll Kiwanis, responsible for the three big business booster days now being carried out by local merchants, yesterday entertained the Reeves and Deputy Reeves and councillors of North and West Oxford, Bereham, West Nissouri, North Dorchester and East Nissouri at their luncheon here Friday, and made it a banner event in creating more intimate relations between town and country. President George Sutherland was in charge of the meeting, which was addressed by E. Roy Sayles, manager and treasurer of the Canadian Weekly Newspapermen's Association, who was here in connection with a meeting of the Oxford-Norfolk Newspaper and Commercial Printers. Thursday's business was beyond all expectations. Yesterday there was also a splendid business throughout the business section.

FABLES ON HEALTH

CLEAN MEDICINE CHEST.

The contents of Johnny Mann's pocket offered inuariable opportunity for a curtain lecture from the well-meaning Mr. Mann of Anytown.

Tumbling out the assorted articles upon the table Mr. Mann would comment upon the rusted pieces of spike and nail, the crumbs of dirt, the mud-encrusted marbles, the broken-bladed knives, dirt-laden string and whatnot.

But when Mrs. Mann, in the midst of her spring cleaning, asked Mr. Mann about cleaning out the contents of the medicine chest he announced that, "Not one thing must be touched!"

"Why," he would protest, "you never know what you may need. There's prescriptions that cost us good money."

Which raises the question. What is in your medicine chest? Too many people, like Mr. Mann, let old prescriptions stand until the contents have lost most of their value.

Medicines have been lying around the chest until the possessor has all but forgotten what they are for.

Unless your physician has ordered certain medicines on hand, CLEAN OUT YOUR MEDICINE CHEST. There is little reason why any chest need contain anything more than a little baking soda, a gargle or mouth wash, some light cathastic salts and a little eye water—that is, if a drug store is handy.

In any event take the poisonous disinfectants out of the medicine case, particularly if there are children in the family.

The Studebaker Light-Six Touring

Your Next Car

Will be this Light-Six, if you learn the truth

When you buy a car in this class, here are some things you should know.

Studebaker is the largest builder of quality cars in the world. It builds 150,000 yearly.

It builds in model factories, modernly equipped. It has spent $38,000,000 in the past five years on new-day plants and machinery.

By quantity and up-to-dateness it saves large sums per car. A car like this Light-Six, built under ordinary conditions, would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

11.4% less to run

This extra quality shows in lower operating costs. This was proved by an audited test made on 329 cars running up to 25,000 miles. The Studebaker Light-Six costs 11.4% less to operate than the average of its rivals. This includes depreciation. The saving was nearly one cent per mile.

This car in its chassis represents the best we know. In steels and workmanship it is identical with the costliest cars we build.

Each steel formula has been proved best for its purpose by years of tests. On some we pay 15% premium to makers to get them exactly right.

The car is designed and built under an engineering department which costs us $500,000 yearly.

Each car in the building gets 32,000 tests and inspections.

It has more Timken bearings than any rival car within $1,500 of its price.

The crankshafts are machined on all surfaces, as was done with the Liberty Airplane Motors. This to secure perfect balance.

There are scores of extra values, including genuine leather cushions ten inches deep, unusual equipment, beautiful finish.

An honored name

The name Studebaker has for 72 years stood for quality and class. Now there are $90,000,000 of assets behind it, all staked on fulfilling those ancient traditions.

People are learning of these extra values. The trend toward Studebakers has become a sensation. Sales have almost trebled in three years. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Don't buy a fine car without learning what Studebaker offers. You will be amazed when you make comparisons.

THE PERIL OF NARCOTICS

(By Captain Richmond P. Hobson)

APPLYING THE REMEDY

The International Narcotic Education Association, of which I am president, is taking no part in the making or enforcing of laws or in the salvage of addicts.

It undertakes to get the truth about narcotic drugs through the best channels of research and experimentation.

It has organized research activities in Europe, America and Asia, and now has the co-operation of many universities on these contigents.

It has this truth prepared by the best educational experts. Its bulletins are intended to be used by teachers in schools, and to be read in homes and by the public at large.

The association takes the truth about narcotics to society through all available agencies, particularly utilizing existing educational systems. Its current program is to reach, through the authorities and teachers, with instruction about the peril of narcotics, the 24,000,000 young people in the schools and colleges of America, and to place bulletins, as far as practicable, in all the homes of the land.

For the safety of the home, the nation, the race, the truth about narcotics must become known.

"Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

There is at least one way in which law can be of immediate and vital value in the campaign in which the International Narcotic Education Association has taken the lead. State legislatures, by enacting new school laws or amending those already existing, can provide for adequate instruction concerning narcotics in the schools of their several states.

The schools have not functioned in this regard because of the inadequacy of state laws in this connection.

At the present time Arizona, Delaware, Tennessee, and West Virginia have no laws requiring that the facts concerning narcotic be taught in the public school.

Twenty-seven other states have such indefinite laws that it is not at all certain whether any instruction is required about any other narcotic than alcohol.

What about your state?

Throughout the nation, the need is urgent, the peril is pressing. It is a matter of patriotic duty to bring the truth about narcotics home to the people, and particularly to the children, who are in the greatest danger, and with whom rests the future of our country, or civilization itself.

Dull Spotted Teeth Bleached White Quick—Safe Way

To whiten dull, yellowish, stained teeth all you need now do is brush teeth with a few drops of a mild, harmless liquid—then use a special paste—and watch stains disappear. This method is called Bleachodent Combination. The liquid softens the stains—the paste not only gently removes them, but prevents formation of new stains. Fine for removing green stains from children's teeth. No effect on the enamel—its mild ingredients are intended to act only on surface stains. Bleachodent Combination is the formula of a group of prominent dentists who used Bleachodent on their own teeth for four years with highly beneficial results before offering it to the public. Millions of teeth have been whitened this new safe way. For the sake of your teeth, and to avoid disappointment, always insist on Bleachodent Combination, the SAFE treatment, and avoid cheap liquid imitations which may do serious damage. MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Insist upon a statement from an appraisal company as to the actual value of the underlying security before buying new issues.

Many enjoyed a hearty laugh over the work of a clever stock salesman who recently sold millions of dollars' worth of stock in a Central American oil company. The salesman assured investors that the company owned wells, refineries, pipe lines and tank steamers. They took his unsupported word for it and bought.

When the bubble burst stockholders found they owned stock in nothing but an alligator swamp.

If these investors had demanded a copy of an appraisal company's certificate before buying they would have saved their money.

Investors are frequently purchasing securities in companies whose properties are in distant places. Sellers of fake stocks and bonds work on this fact, knowing the average investor cannot go to inspect the properties.

BEER DISTRIBUTER IN MONTREAL TO THOUSANDS.

MONTREAL, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—A crowd estimated at twenty-five thousand people, stormed the doors of a local brewery here last night, where each person calling was given a bottle of beer to take home, and each was served with a free glass of beer. The police reserves had to be called out to prevent trouble. The crowd included women with children in their arms, aged and decrepit, persons on crutches, and from all walks of life. Thousands of persons lost their hats, hundreds had their clothes torn, while many lost coats and vests.

THREE DIED WITHIN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

HUNTSVILLE, April 26.—(Canadian Press). — Within forty-eight hours three members of the Wilgress family have died of pneumonia. George H. Wilgress, barrister, passed away yesterday morning, the last to succumb. Last week Mr. and Mrs. Wilgress and Mr. Glascott, a cousin of Mrs. Wilgress, who was living with them, were all stricken with pneumonia. Mrs. Wilgress died Wednesday, Mr. Glascott Thursday and Mr. Wilgress yesterday morning.

It took the United States 41 years and four months to produce its first billion barrels of petroleum.

Drugs Have Never Cured Constipation

Internal Bathing the Only Permanent Remedy

It is a surprising fact to note the number of persons who persist in taking drugs of various kinds for constipation and go on year after year, gradually becoming worse all the time.

The system is continually becoming poisoned, not only with the poisonous waste which accumulates in the intestines, but the drugs themselves become absorbed, until the system becomes weakened, resistance to disease is lessened, the blood becomes thin and poisoned, you therefore become liable to any disease that is prevalent.

You take cold easily, digestion becomes troublesome, heart becomes weakened, rheumatism or neuritis sets in, then sleepless nights, and kidneys become affected. In other words, you shorten your life and lose the pleasure of real health and the joy of living.

Internal bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade has restored thousands to perfect health.

It completely removes constipation, keeps the system clean so that the blood circulates through a healthy colon. Soon the blood becomes purified again and you feel just like a different person. That elastic step soon returns, and you feel that you have something yet to live for.

Now this is not fiction, it is the experience of thousands who have pulled themselves out of the drug and medicine rut and used their own common sense. The J. B. L. Cascade is the perfected invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, for Internal Bathing. His theory is: Keep the blood pure and you will be well. A jeweller of Cobalt wrote us the other day saying: "Before getting the J. B. L. Cascade our doctor's bills were over $300.00 each year, and since receiving the Cascade two years ago have not had a doctor in the house. We all use it."

If you want to be healthy all the time get a J. B. L. Cascade and Bath Internally. Send for Booklet, "The What, the Why, the Way of Internal Bathing." It is free, and you will learn many facts about yourself and the way to be well all the time. Write for Booklet to-day. Address, Tyrrell's Hygenic Institute, 163 College St., Toronto.

This booklet may be obtained also at Warne Drug Co.

BIG OPIUM SEIZURE.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 26.—(Canadian Press).—Customs officers have made another big opium seizure. On the Empress of Russia, concealed between the lining of a cabin and a steel bulk head they found 284 tins of opium valued at $17,000. No arrests have been made.

WHY IS THIS WRONG?

The return address should be placed in the upper left hand corner of the address side of all mail matter. This facilitates its prompt return to the sender, if it is found to be undeliverable. Postal employees are glad that the habit of writing return addresses on the back of envelopes is becoming less prevalent.

Calomel is Greatest Medicine in The World

Cleans and Tones Up the Whole System

Your liver is poisoning the whole system, causing a tired feeling in the morning, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble, etc. There is only one drug known that acts directly upon the liver, and that is calomel. Because so many people object to the ordinary calomel, it is now put up in a new form, called Tanol Calomel Tablets, which act with a gentle movement of the bowels and no salts or seidlitz powders are needed to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. Get a few of these Tanol Calomel Tablets from the druggist and they will make you feel 100 per cent. better. For sale at Weber's Drug Store, Charlotte street. m.g tf ttish Team Defeated By enn. State's Crack Quartette — Hamilton Collegiate Second In Their Event — Track Sports Carnival.

CAMBRIDGE RUNNERS LOST IN RELAY RACE

PHILADELPHIA, April 26. — British athletes at the University of Pennsylvania's Relay Carnival went down to defeat in the first day's events on Thursday afternoon. Hamilton Collegiate Institute, Canadian representatives at the Carnival, ran second to Huntington High School of Boston, in the interscholastic medley relay, when Christie fell twice after the start of the first relay. The Canadian team finished 50 yards behind Huntington.

British collegians were beaten in the other two international events when Eric Liddell, Edinburgh University student who holds the British sprint championship, was conquered in a spectacular 220 yard dash by Louis Clarke, of John-Hopkins, while Cambridge University's quarter finished third in the sprint medley relay championship, which was won by Pennsylvania State College's fliers with Georgetown second.

4000 Athletes.

Attracting more than 4000 track and field stars from over 600 schools and colleges, the 1924 carnival shatters all entry records in the 30 years of the event's history, and takes rank in competitive importance as second only to the Olympics. A crowd of close to 25,000 attended the meet.

Despite a stiff breeze that swept diagonally across the field and slowed up some of the performances, brilliant feats were recorded in many of the outstanding events. Only one record fell however, and that occurred in the South Atlantic Intercollegiate A.A., one mile relay championship when Virginia, due to a brilliant quarter mile in 49 3-5 by Bohannan, anchor man, lowered its own mark from 3:23:59 to 3:21:25.

West Keeps Crown.

West retained the crown of all round champion by defeating a classy field in the five events that make up the Pentathlon programme. The sturdy Washington and Jefferson negro emerged from the gruelling all-afternoon grind with the low total of 13 points, nine less than his nearest rival, Harry Friola, of Chicago, who won a close fight for second honors.

Liddell Won Heat.

Cambridge, never seriously threatened in the sprint medley race, in which the English Collegians sought to duplicate the winning feat of Oxford in this event last year. Penn. State, with Helffrich and Enck, stars of their world's record two-mile team which also is expected to be the main United States defense against the British invasion in to-day's principal feature, led all the way. Helffrich spirted into a ten yard advantage on the first leg and at the tape Enck anchor man, had a lead of 20 yards over Herlihay, of Georgetown, who was eight yards in advance of Lowe, Cambridge runner. Lowe made a gallant bid to move up and did succeed in passing the Naval Academy to gain the third place but he had a hopeless task in chasing the flying leaders. Liddell, Scotch sprinter, after winning his heat impressively, lost a close battle to Clarke in the special furlong dash which developed into a duel between these two cracks. The Briton got off in front but his opponent caught him at the half-way mark and broke the tape a yard in the lead after fighting off Liddell's final challenge.

BOXERS COMING OVER WEEK-END

Newton and Buff Headliners With Cutt and Jordan Also Feature Bouts Monday Night.

Willie Buff, considered to be the peer of amateur lightweight boxers and Billy Cutt his protege, both of Rochester, N.Y., will arrive here at noon on Sunday, and Walter Newton, of Chicago the Illinois State lightweight, champion will come to Peterborough at noon on Monday, so that local boxing fans need not fear a last minute announcement of a punctured card for Monday night. Furthermore the fans are assured that the Newton-Buff tussle will be a decision affair and as such is bound to be a hummer from the moment these clever champions face each other to the last second of the bout. It will be their first meeting in the ring.

Joe Jordon who gets another chance at Billy Cutt finished his hard training last night when he paired up with Lorne Coombe for three fierce rounds. The Jordon who will master Cutt on Monday night will be a much-improved boxer, and he will enter the ring with all kinds of confidence. It will be a great bout.

Last night the boxing committee had twenty entries for the City Boxing Championships and more in sight. At least two of the classes have as many as five entries, and there is great enthusiasm among the candidates for city titles. These contests will open on Monday night and be concluded on Tuesday night along with special bouts to be announced from the ring.

A section of seats will be reserved for ladies and their escorts on Monday night.

LAWN BOWLERS TAKE THREE FROM HIGH ROLLERS

Last night at Solomon's Alleys the Lawn Bowlers took three straight from the High Rollers. Extra good rolling featured this clash, four of the Lawn Bowlers rolling over 500. They would likely have had five men over 500 had they not had the dummy for two games.

Solomon was high man of the evening with a nice score of 603. He also had the high single of 235.

NEW LEADER BOOSTS GAME.

CHARLES C. RYAN

KENOSHA, Wis., April 26.—Charles C. Ryan, modest local dentist, and genuine booster of the ten-pin game, is basking in the sport calcium throughout the country as the result of his recent election to the presidency of the American Bowling Congress.

Ryan succeeds Elmer C. Dyer, Toledo, who served the national body the past year. The new bowling ruler has long been affiliated with the sport and is widely known in Wisconsin. He's a great booster for bowling.

OSHAWA STAND HAS 18 BOXES

Seating Accommodation For 1,500 and Probably 2,000 With Standing Room—Ready For May 24.

OSHAWA, Apri 26. — By May 24th, the official opening date for baseball in Oshawa, possibly before, the new grand stand, built by the Parks Board, at Alexandra Park, will be ready for occupancy and will provide seating accommodation for over 1500 fans, who will no doubt throng the park on Victoria Day. The contractor, W. J. Holland, said to-day that the stand would possibly handle a greater number than 1500, and with standing room would maybe reach 2000. The seats have not been numbered so that actual figures are not available.

Situated on what might be called the side line of first base the stand provides for 18 boxes about 6 feet from the ground, one of which, it is expected, will be fitted for press purposes, and rising behind these are 15 tier of seats, the first being about 7½ feet from the base, with a steady rise that will permit a full view of all play in the inner and outfield field, seven aisles with entrances to the stand in front of each and from the front of the stand will provide for the rapid filling and discharge of the crowd.

The structure is to be painted a stone color and will give an improved appearance to the athletic field, as well as provide a long felt want.

The stand is an epoch in the history of sports in the city, and those responsible for the erection of this steel structure are to be complimented.

ENGLAND'S TEAM

LONDON, April 25.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The English Association Football players to meet France in Paris May 17th will be as follows:

CINCINNATI MOVE UP WHEN NEW YORK LOSE

McGraw Young Star Recruit Loses to Vance of Brooklyn In Pitching Duel—Home Runs Are Plentiful Around Big Circuit.

PITTSBURGH, April 26 (Canadian Press).— After obtaining a lead of one run, Pittsburgh's defence collapsed and Cincinnati won from the Pirates, 10 to 4. Morrison was hit hard and timely, while Lugue was effective in the pinches with the exception of the sixth inning. A double steal of the home plate and second base by Traynor and Barnhart respectively, featured the game. Hargrave and Grimm knocked out homers, each scoring a run ahead of him. The score:

Cincinnati	012000025	10	13 0
Pittsburgh	000004000	4	11 0

Lubue and Hargrave; Morrison and Gooch.

DECISION REVERSED.

BROOKLYN, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Vance reversed the result of his recent pitchers' duel with Dean when he beat the New York Giants yesterday, 3 to 2. The Brooklyn strikeout king fanned nine batters. Meusel's home run drive with one on gave New York the lead in the sixth, but Neis won for Brooklyn with a similar drive in the seventh with Vance on base. The score:

New York	000002000	2	10 1
Brooklyn	0100020x	3	7 1

Dean and Snyder; Vance and Deberry.

ONE BAD INNINGS.

CHICAGO, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Wildness by Jess Haines in the first inning, coupled with Bell's error and Hartnett's home run, gave Chicago a commanding lead and enabled them to defeat St. Louis 7 to 5 yesterday. After the first inning Haines pitched a game while Aldridge, who was in hot water from the start, was railroaded by Wheeler, who held the visitors safe. The score:

St. Louis	013010000	5	13 1
Chicag	60001000x	7	6 1

Haies and Neibergall; Aldridge, Wheeler and Hartnett.

HUSTLERS OUT OF TOP PLACE

Drop Second Game of the Series to Baltimore — Toronto Lose a Free-Hitting Game to Reading

BALTIMORE, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Baltimore defeated Rochester here yesterday 9 to 7. Ogden was wild and ineffective, but Henderson held the Hustlers safe. The score:

Rochester	500001001	7	10 3
Baltimore	50111100x	9	8 4

Moore, Beall, and Lake; Ogden, Henderson and Cobb.

DYE IN LIMELIGHT.

JERSEY CITY, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Although they outbatted their rivals by 17 hits against 12, Jersey City was nosed out by a score of 12 to 11 in yesterday's game with Buffalo. The visitors got off to a five-run lead by scoring six runs from two passes, four hits and an error in the second frame. Dye for the visitors hit a home run. The score:

Buffalo	160013010	12	12 2
Jersey City	202010204	11	17 3

Williams, Lepard and McAvoy; Nossett, Hanson, Leplant, and Freitag.

NEWARK'S THIRD.

NEWARK, N.J., April 26 (Canadian Press).— Newark made it three straight victories over Syracuse here yesterday when they won, 5 to 3. It was a pitchers' battle between Parks and Lynch up until the seventh inning when the Bears scored two runs, sewing up the game. In the seventh a base on balls to Devine, a sacrifice by Lynch, an infield out by Sheehan, a triple by Kane, and a single by Zitsman, gave the bears their two runs. The score:

Syracuse	001200000	3	6 2
Newark	00100220x	5	11 2

Parks and Mitze; Lynch and Devine.

LOSS FOR TORONTO.

READING, Pa., April 26.—(Canadian Press).—After both had scored freely in the early innings, Reading and Toronto settled down to a tight game, the locals winning 9 to 7. O'Rourke's bad throw to second in the fourth inning permitted three runs to score. Vincent hit a home run in the fourth with two on. Score:

Toronto	000600010	7	11 2
Reading	20240100x	9	11 2

Stewart and Vincent; Judd and Lynn.

RUTH'S THIRD HOMER HELPED

Two Bases Occupied and Boston Were Leading — Speaker's Crew Batted Dauss From the Box — Athletics Defeat Washington.

NEW YORK, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Babe Ruth's home run in the third inning yesterday with two on base enabled the Yankees to defeat the Red Sox, 5 to 2. It was Ruth's third home run of the season and the fifth straight victory for the Yankees.

Joe Bush was in rare form, striking out seven Boston batters, three of them in succession in the fourth inning. The score:

Boston	011000000	2	6 2
New York	10310000x	5	7 2

Piercy, Fuhr and Picinich; Bush and Hofmann.

BROWNS DROP ANOTHER.

ST. LOUIS, April 26 (Canadian Press). — The return of Ken Williams to the line-up failed to give the Browns victory yesterday, Sisler's men losing to the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 3. Williams got one walk and one single in five times up. Davis weakened in the fourth and was replaced by Voight after he had allowed three walks and two singles. The score:

Chicago	000510000	6	7 2
St. Louis	000001200	3	11 1

Thurston and Crouse; Davis, Voight and Collins.

SPEAKER HITS HOME RUN.

CLEVELAND, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Cleveland defeated Detroit 10 to 2 yesterday, knocking Dauss from the box in the seventh, getting five hits, including Speaker's home run, with none out. Pillette who replaced him was greeted with another double and a single before the first man was retired. Burns got two doubles, two singles and a walk in five times up. The score:

Detroit	002000000	2	10 2
Cleveland	03000061x	10	18 1

Dauss, Pillette, Holloway and Bassler, Woodall; Shaute and Myatt.

ATHLETICS WIN.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26 (Canadian Press). — Philadelphia made it two out of three from Washington yesterday by winning 6 to 5. A home run by Simmons with two on base in the sixth gave the home team a lead that the visitors could not overcome. The score:

Washington	010020011	5	11 4
Philadelphia	00001320x	6	11 1

Johnson, Wingfield, Speece and Ruel; Naylor, Hasty, Harris and Perkins.

MONTREAL BOUTS WERE BIG FARCE

A Large Number of the Crowd Left Before the Wrestling Bouts Were Near Over.

MONTREAL, Apr. 25 (Canadian Press). — The international wrestling tournament which is in progress here was a fiasco last night, says the Montreal Gazette sporting editor.

"If ever there was offered a greater farce, it must have been a pitiable spectacle," he states, and adds that many of the audience left before the bouts were ended.

The opening bout between Frank Judson, Harvard University instructor, and Nazzareno Poggi, of Italy, was won by Judson.

"Prince" Gobar, Hindu, and Karl Vogel, of Germany, then had a set to. This was more like pantomine than wrestling, Vogel pulling faces at his opponent, leaping in the air and indulging in wild antics. Gobar finally pinned him to the floor.

Sergeant Leavitt, of United States Army, went through similar performance before Frank Brunowich, Ukrainian, pinned him to mat.

The bout between Olsen, of Sweden and Peppanen, of Lithuania, was more like wrestling and was won by the latter.

The feature bout was between Joe Boganz, Hebrew, and Demetrius Tofalos, of Greece, is described by the Gazette as being "disgracefully absurd as it could be possibly made." Boganz would pretend to bite his opponent who would remark to the audience, "He is hungry." Boganz finally won.

BRITAIN SENDS SPORTS MISSIONS

English Sportsmen Arrage For Six International Tours This Year—Ambassadors of Sport.

LONDON, April 25.—(Canadian Press by Mail)—The ambassadors of Sport, visiting various countries, carrying with them that good fellowship in which the spirit of "sports for sports sake" prevails, and the "win at any cost" is missing, will do much this year to draw still tighter the bonds of friendship between sportsmen, not only of the British Empire, but the world at large.

Notwithstanding the fact that athletes from all parts of the world will during the coming summer, visit Paris for the Olympic games, and that Great Britain is to be well represented at the games, English sportsmen have completed arrangements to take part in six international tours, in addition to sending a polo team as usual to New York.

Four football tours and two cricket tours of international importance will take place this season. The Rugby League team of twenty six members is already enroute to Australia for its fourth tour of the Commonwealth. The team will return home via New York. On June 20 the Rugby League team will again set sail—this time for South Africa and shortly after the British "ruggers" reach there. The South African Association Football team will leave for England.

During the summer South African cricketers will be in England for three months playing matches with all the first class county teams, in addition to five test matches.

New Zealand rugby players are scheduled to start for Great Britain for a three months tour in October, and just as they arrive there the Marylebone Cricket XI will leave for Australia.

In addition to the foregoing in which sportsmen from the mother country and other Dominions are taking part. Canada now has a soccer team on the way to Australia and New Zealand, while the recent visit to England of the Canadian Ice Hockey team that swept all before them at Chamonix, must not be lost sight of when tribute is being paid to the "ambassadors of sport."

SPORT GOSSIP

The clubs in the East Peterboro Baseball League will meet here on Saturday night, May 3rd, to map out the campaign for the season. It is hoped that by next Saturday all the clubs will be in shape to make an early start and that all necessary details for the opening games may be completed at this meeting. An application from the Indian baseball team at Curve Lake for admission to the league has been received by the secretary.

Peterboro's sport calendar for this year is a full one and includes golf, tennis, bowling on the green, lacrosse, football, softball senior, intermediate, junior, juvenile, midget bantam and Mercantile baseball. It will not be long before all classes of sport will be started and although baseball will draw the larger crowd, lacrosse and football also catch the eye of a large number of fans.

Fitzgerald, who last year performed at the hot corner for the Lakeviews for part of the season, will most likely play the same position with the Crescents this years.

No word has been received about the Junion C.O.B.L. League and it is expected that a Junior City League, consisting of the Lakeviews and Crescents will be formed. It is hoped that another team or two will be entered in this league, but if no other teams are available the Lakeviews and Crescents will play out the schedule and the winner will go into the semi-finals for the Ontario championship. Ferg. Sheehy who is expected to do the tossing for the Crescents is in town at present and is looking in the best of shape.

There is plenty of material around for another couple of junior teams, and with some backing enough players could be secured for fast teams. There are lots of junior players from last year who are not with either the Lakeviews or Crescents and there are a lot of juvenile players who are too old to play juvenile and who would like to play junior. It is hoped that backing will be received for a couple of more teams and help make a good junior league, for the junior ball player of today is the star of tomorrow.

Jack Hall, centre fielder for the Maple Leafs and brother of the noted Jimmy will again appear in a Maple Leaf uniform which he has wore for two seasons already.

There has been plenty of talk about "Red" Legon playing for Picton and other places but "Red" returned home from College on Friday and is in the best of shape to perform in one of the garden positions for the Petes.

The Lakeviews are at present in search for a second baseman and a third baseman to fill the position vacated by Fitzgerald and Doug. Moore, the latter who is making the jump to senior ball.

Gerge Redding, former Belleville boy and hockey, football and baseball star, now declares that he will not play in the Hamilton City League this season. As his reason, he gives ill health, claiming that he will need considerable rest in order to put on needed weight. This will be a serious blow to the Typos, who were counting on George to take over the back-stopping position for them, and it also means that one of the classiest little receivers in that city will not cavort before the Ambitious City fans this season. George may decide to take a little fling at softball, and if he does he will be seen with the Shamrocks.

The All Saints Bowling Club held a meeting on Thursday night and elected officers for the coming season. This club are very much interested in this sport and they hope to have a very successful season. The following officers were elected: Hon. Pres., Rev. J. D. Patterson, President, G. B. Richardson, Vice-Pres., Jas. Runnette, Treasurer, C. Hamilton, Secretary, A. H. Moury, Green Committee, W. H. Howard, Jas. Rhodes, G. B. Richardson, J. W. Collinson and G. Land.

No teams in lacrosse have yet been formed but the boys are ready to cross sticks without any organization back of them. Lacrosse is coming back strong and all the boys who took part in the games last year are all set to get back in the sport that once was Canada's national game.

Timely Tips To Amateurs

SAYS "STUFFY" McINNIS
First Baseman, Boston Braves

A most important asset, yet one that is often overlooked by ambitious first sackers, is learning to stretch to meet a throw.

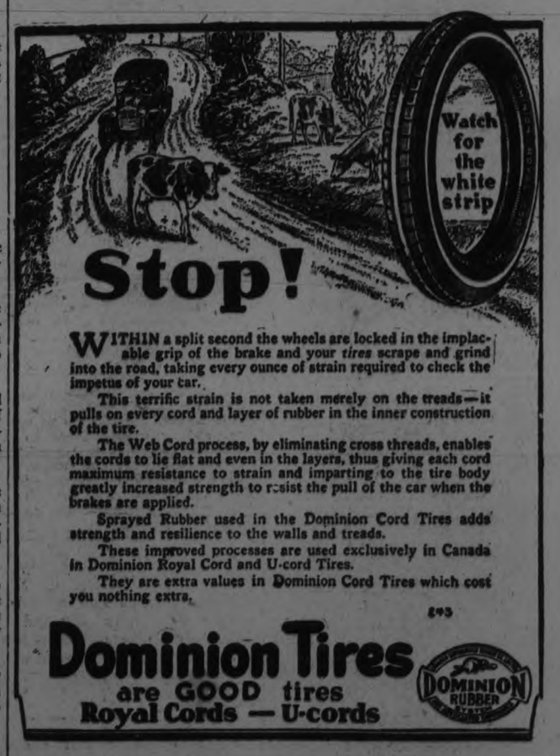
This is particularly valuable on close plays where the decision is often a matter of inches.

On fast men it is always advisable to reach the bag as soon as possible, so as to position yourself for the throw, which may be a hurried one, and incidentally give the fielder making the play a target.

If a first baseman takes a throw standing erect, the ball must travel from four to six feet farther than if he stretched out to meet it.

The elapsed time is often the difference between safe and out.

Learn to stretch. Go out to meet the ball rather than wait for it to arrive.



Stop!

WITHIN a split second the wheels are locked in the implacable grip of the brake and your tires scrape and grind into the road, taking every ounce of strain required to check the impetus of your car.

This terrific strain is not taken merely on the treads—it pulls on every cord and layer of rubber in the inner construction of the tire.

The Web Cord process, by eliminating cross threads, enables the cords to lie flat and even in the layers, thus giving each cord maximum resistance to strain and imparting to the tire body greatly increased strength to resist the pull of the car when the brakes are applied.

Sprayed Rubber used in the Dominion Cord Tires adds strength and resilience to the walls and treads.

These improved processes are used exclusively in Canada in Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires.

A SCOTS COMEDY SKETCH PRODUCED

The Characters Depicted Were Excellent

The Caledonian Club held a social evening in the Victoria Hall, last night, when nearly two hundred members and friends attended with the children.

A comedy sketch entitled "Queen Street Station at Glasca Fair," was produced under the direction of Mr. Alex. Clark, who has a splendid reputation for such work in the Old Country and was very characteristic throughout of the Scot during the Fair.

Mr. A. Jackson, as the ticket collector, filled the position in an able manner. His twang in the conversations brought out the theme to advantage.

Mrs. Clarke, Mr. MacMillan and Mr. James Rae produced mirth in abundance.

The main characters of the family of five, taken by Mrs. A. Jackson and Mr. George Low, along with Scots' children, was the real thing in a Glasca Family at the Fair time.

In all plays the soldier is usually depicted and the character was well taken by Mr. Alex. Milne, who arrived at the station with more Scotch inside than outside, although wearing the kilt, and with his "sticks," (pipes) under his arm. As usual he had a tilt with the ticket collector, that eventually ended with the passengers at the station jumping up and going through the "Eightsome Reel" to the strains of the pipes. Then the station-master informed the waiting passengers that there would be no more trains that day because a "strike" had taken place, which gave a fitting climax to the story.

Other characters were played by Miss Jessie Pattison, who sang "Faur Frae My Ain Folk," in fine voice. Mr. Alex. Burgess was the chocolate boy; Mr. McPhail, the sailor, and last, but by no means least, was the clever impersonation of the "smart guy," who always lost his ticket for Dunoon, in the person of Mr. Robt. Gilmour.

In the play, Misses Emily and Mary Hemphill danced the "Sailors' Hornpipe," and "Shewn Trews," the little tot, Emily, sang "Good Luck and Good Bye," to perfection, in her first public appearance.

Master Robert Wyllie gave a violin solo, Miss Isabella Reid a piano solo, Master Billie Petrie sang "Mama."

After the entertainment the children gathered around the table to participate in the 'eats,' and get an Easter Egg. Refreshments were served to one and all.

As is customary at all Scots gatherings, Auld Lang Syne brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

AT THE GRAND

BARNEY GOOGLE AT THE GRAND

Popularity is one thing and fame another. However, judging by the reception accorded the latest musical triumph, "Barney Google and Spark Plug," the new attraction at the Grand theatre tonight seems to be blessed with both. This offering, which is the joint work of John P. Mulgrew and Joseph Mendelson is in two acts and two scenes with Barney shown in the thick of a race for political honors. The internationally renowned hero of Billy De Beck's celebrated cartoons, on which this production is based, essays to represent his country at Washington in the capacity of Congressman. He has the support seemingly of his wealthy uncle who at the last moment "double crosses" him and succeeds in thwarting his ambitions. This is merely done for the purpose of teaching his nephew a lesson. Barney however proves that he is made of much sterner stuff and outwits his enemies in the end. All this is done, as may be inferred, for laughing purposes exclusively, thereby providing an entertainment calculated to please the most blase patron of the theatre. Besides a champion beauty chorus of twenty pert, dashing and fascinating young women, other unusual features, screams, surprises and original novelties are promised.

AT THE CAPITOL

SIX KIDDIES IN BIG MUSICAL ACT AT CAPITOL ON MONDAY

One of vaudeville's biggest child acts comes to the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when the McQuade Kiddies, six in number will be the vaudeville attraction. These clever children whose ages ranged from four to fourteen are said to be exceptionally clever entertainers, especially when their ages are considered, and will offer a diversified program of musical selection, singing, dancing and comedy.

LLOYD HAMILTON IN HIS LATEST COMEDY AT CAPITOL MONDAY

Lloyd Hamilton the popular screen comedian will be seen in his latest comedy success at the Capitol theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "My Friend" is the name of Hamilton's new comedy and it provides more laughs than any of the big comedian's previous productions—although most people considered them as being 100% funny.

HALL CAINE'S PICTURE BOASTS GREAT CAST

The all-star casts have now firmly established themselves in motion pictures. The public is the real reason for the all-star cast, for it is the public that the producers try to satisfy. Motion picture patrons of a few years ago were satisfied with seeing one good personality on the screen. They attended shows that advertised their favorite star. During the last year the public has become more exacting, demanding that each player, regardless of his importance, be a polished actor, thoroughly competent.

One of the most notable casts of the year is the one selected by Victor Seastrom for his production, "Name the Man!," Goldwyn's screen version of Sir Hall Caine's "The Master of Man," which comes to the Capitol theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mae Busch, whose work in "The Christian" was hailed with acclaim by the critics and public, plays the part of Bessie Collister, the leading character in this latest Hall Caine story. She has a wonderful insight into the soul of any character she portrays because of her vast experience, having worked in all types of pictures from slapstick comedies to intense drama.

Conrad Nagel, who appears opposite Miss Busch in the role of Victor Stowell, the Deemster's son has a long string of successes to his credit.

The old Deemster of the Isle of Man, Douglas Stowell, is portrayed by Hobart Bosworth, a veteran actor of the screen, whose name has graced the theatre lights for the past ten years.

Patsy Ruth Miller, one of the youngest members of the Goldwyn stock company, is cast in the role of Fennella Stanley. She is remembered for her remarkable work in Charles Ray's "The Girl I Loved." She has acted in other Goldwyn films and had a big role in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Aileen Pringle, who plays the leading role in Elinor Glyn's "Three Weeks," a forthcoming Goldwyn production, takes the part of Isabelle in "Name the Man!"

Creighton Hale is another young actor of ability in the picture. He is cast in the part of Alick Gell, friend of Victor Stowell. Before entering motion pictures he was a favorite on the English stage. Hale has played featured roles in most of his recent productions.

De Witt Jennings, Evelyn Selbie and Winter Hall are familiar to screen fans. On many different occasion they have been credited with "stealing" the picture in which they appeared.

William Orlamond, Lucien Littlefield and Cecil Holland, three expert character actors, have excellent roles in "Name the Man!"

Stardom is a thing of the past. Most of these people would have been classified as stars a few years ago. Many of the best actors of the screen find themselves featured in one picture and a minor member of the cast in another production.

AT THE ROYAL

LOTS OF ACTION IN THE CAREY FILM AT ROYAL. ON MONDAY.

"When we promise audiences action, we give it to 'em!"

This is the assertion of Hunt Stromberg, one of the youngest producers in the motion picture industry.

And he isn't talking through his hat, as "The Night Hawk," starring Harry Carey, which is playing at the Royal Theatre on Monday will prove.

The action with which Stromberg is so prodigal, however, is not concerned with the typical exploits shown in western pictures since motion pictures really were in their infancy. No, sir! No one can sell a couple of highway robberies to this producer unless there is something about them that makes them different from all the other highway robberies of the screen.

Consequently "The Night Hawk"—and this alone makes a different from practically every other Western ever filmed—has no robbery at all. But it has lots of other things, more thrilling because more unusual.

There is the wild horse El Sang'rito, for instance. This equine actor can provide more thrills to the square foot of film than any villain on the screen to-day. He thinks no more of trampling a couple of humans to dtath before breakfast than a man does of reading the newspaper. Of course, being a very superior horse, however, El Sang'rito only kills off people who are cluttering up the landscape unpleasantly. When he likes a person he will stage one of the most exciting races ever seen outside a race track to rescue him. All of these qualities of El Sang'rito are illustrated most forcefully in "The Night Hawk."

In fact, tht horse is in on all the big punches of the picture. There is the sequence in which the heroine, played by Claire Adams, rides faster than the clouds to the town where the father is bting defeated in the election of a sheriff. El Sang'rito is the good friend who strains his tired muscles to get her there in time, and who en route provides one of the prettiest examples of horseflesh to be found in the world.

Then there is Carey's wild ride to save this girl from a gang of ruffians. Astride El Sang'rito he tears over the country like a whirlwind.

Fights — races — gun play—romance! And then more fights and more races and more shooting! This is the way Stromberg keeps his promise about giving the public virile action.

JONES LOST BOUT TO JACK REDDICK

Reddick Was Floored for the Count in the First Round But Jones Rushed From His Corner and Referee Stopped Tolling.

TORONTO, April 26 (Canadian Press). — As was expected, the main bout in last night's show at the Arena ended in a knockout, but the surprise came in the fifth round, when Jack Reddick's right caught Soldier Jones flush on the jaw, and the slugger went down for the count.

It was a sensational ending, and came like a thunderbolt, the crowd sitting dumb until after the count, and then the uproar started.

The end was not the only sensational incident of the bout.

Thirty seconds after the first round started Jones clipped Reddick, and the latter went down for a count.

He was out for the limit, but Jones rushed over from the ropes before the count was completed, and Referee Lou Marsh stopped tolling to wave Jones back.

By this time Reddick was scrambling to his feet, and he managed to weather the storm.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. If the umpire calls infield fly, and the ball first strikes on foul territory without being touched by a fielder, what is the decision?

2. In case of an injury to a player can the umpire immediately suspend play?

3. If a batsman hit out of order and the mistake is properly discovered, how does that affect the status of the batsman who batted out of turn?

4. Can a manager send in a pinch hitter, and after several balls have been thrown to the pinch hitter, substitute another batter?

5. If a player substitutes for a man in the field without notifying the umpire, does it affect any plays that might be made by said player?

ANSWERS

1. Umpire erred in calling play too soon. Must simply rule it a foul ball. An infield fly must be a fair ball.

2. Time cannot be called until there is no longer a chance for a play.

3. Proper batsman is called out. Player who batted improperly simply takes his place in regular batting order.

4. Manager has such a right, second substitute merely takes count of ball and strikes on first pinch hitter.

5. Player is regarded in the game and any play he makes is legal.

A PECULIAR SCENE

Anybody going down George Street yesterday about 11 o'clock would be led to believe that they were in a cattle town in the middle west or that Jesse James and his pal had rode into town and were holding up the Bank of Nova Scotia. Two boys rode down George Street on their saddle horses, heavily laden with western saddles and parked them in front of the Bank of Nova Scotia while they went into the bank. The horses were of the saddle type and to see two of these horses tied to a lamp post, recalled to a good many the times when they used to tie their horses to a rail in front of the saloon, which has all but vanished now, except in pictures.

COBOURG, April 25.—At a meeting of the Council of the town of Cobourg held on Tuesday evening, Mr. R. H. Patterson's tender offering $1,750 for the privilege of conducting the pavilion at Victoria Park was accepted. The tenders were as follows:

From W. G. Scope's, Cobourg bidding $1,700 and agreeing to give the proceeds of the opening day to the Child Welfare Committee, and if the year were a good one to give another day later on in the summer.

From Mr. R. H. Patterson bidding $1,750 and agreeing to give ten per cent of all receipts received over and above what was taken in at the pavilion in 1922. (Mr. Patterson had charge of the pavilion last year).

From Mr. A. R. Revoy, Peterboro, bidding $1,600.

After considerable discussion Mr. Patterson's tender was accepted.

MIDLAND LEAGUE WILL HAVE COBOURG'S TEAMS

COBOURG, April 25.—(Special).—Cobourg has now decided to put two teams, the Canadian National and the Dye Works in the new Midland League, the other teams being the Canadian General Electric and the Raybestos of Peterboro.

The season is expected to open here in Victoria Day with a game at the Horse Show Park and the Kilties Band in attendance. Cobourg fans are promised as good a brand of ball as we had last season in the Central Ontario League. The arrangement is expected to afford plenty of opportunity for some fine games between Peterboro Industrial teams and Cobourg.

ODDFELLOWS AT ST. PAUL'S
Both societies of Oddfellows will worship in St. Paul's Church Sabbath evening. Special music is being provided by a male choir composed of Oddfellows, led by Mr. Chenhall. The Rev. R. Pogue will preach taking for his subject "Friendship," one side of the triangle Friendship, Truth and Love.
The morning subject will deal with the place of the heroic in the life of the Church, and will answer the charge made against Church members that they are "Tame Ducks."

Regular G.W.V.A. Dance will be held to-night, at 8 p.m. Good music. Admission 50c. 1d100

SURE CORN REMOVER.
To remove the most obstinate corn or callous spot from the feet it is often only necessary to apply Chicago Corn Paint for two or three successive nights and mornings. Permanent results are obtained, too. Get it at Bond's Drug Store, corner George and Hunter streets.

CARD OF THANKS
Mrs. C. A. White, general convenor of the tea room of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E. at the motor show, desires to thank all those who contributed or helped in any way to make the tea room a success.

Y.W.C.A. SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

ADDRESS AT MURRAY STREET
Mrs. George Churchill, M.A., one of Canada's pioneer missionaries to India, having served that country for fifty years, is, with her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Stillwell, B.A., of Toronto, visiting Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Rose. Mrs. Stillwell, who was also a missionary, will address the junior congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church Sunday morning.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE.
Sunday afternoon at 3 Colonel Powley, new chief secretary for Canada East, will be given a welcome to Peterboro by His Worship Mayor Turner. The Colonel has recently arrived from Australia. On Monday afternoon at 3 officers from the surrounding district will be in the city for a conference. At 8 p.m. a musical festival will be given by the Temple Band and Songsters. All welcome. Brigadier D. Moore and Ensign S. Wilson will accompany Colonel Powley.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR.
After the regular rehearsal of St. John's Choir, a social hour was spent in the Guild-Room by the members and their friends. Cards and dancing were the features of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Amys, Mrs. Howden, Mrs. Nelson and Mr. W. Gray. Short addresses were delivered by Dr. Blagrave, Mr. Dela Fosse and Mr Mann on the splendid work of the choir, and the hearty co-operation of every member. The social broke up about eleven o'clock.

AT KNOX TOMORROW
In the morning the subject will be "Our Lord's Basis of Union." Does the title seem strange? Then you have forgotten one of the most important truths He taught. Whatever you think of another basis of union, you must accept this basis or deny Christ. The church needs it, not as mere theory or doctrine, but as the first principle in its working creed. In the evening the sermon will be on "The Fool, Science, Religion and God." What does the fool say about Religion and God? What does Science say? There are those in Peterborough as elsewhere, who think the scientist is a fool, whereas the true scientist is thinking God's thoughts after Him.

THOUSANDS MOURNING FOR TAMMANY KING

For Twenty-Two Years he was Grand Chieftain of the Tammany Hall in New York

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—The body of Charles Francis Murphy, for twenty-two years Grand Chieftain of Tammany Hall, to-day lies in State in the modest parlour of East Seventeenth Street, "Brownstone Front," that for so many years was the town home of "the Chief."
The city mourned, as did thousands of individuals throughout the nation. Over all the city buildings in all five boroughs flags were at half-staff; every outpost of the Fourteenth Street wigwam was draped in black, many hotels and stores and numerous individual householders displayed evidence of their grief at the passing of the man who was almost as well-known in New York for his unostentatious kindliness and philanthropies as he was for his political dominance.
All "Chief" Murphy's friends were there, rich and poor, strong and weak, sprucely fashionable and woefully unkempt men and women, political leaders and ward heelers, with haggard and toil-worn East Side women who know of "the Chief's" bounty.
Mrs. Murphy, in her room upstairs was prostrated and under medical care.
Throughout the city, at Tammany District headquarters little bands "the faithful" gathered last night and stayed until this morning's early hours. They discussed future in tones in tones little above a whisper, who was to succeed "the chief" they asked.
Governor Alfred Smith twice made states chief executive by "the chief," could have the job if he wanted it some said. There were those who mentioned names of Thomas P. Foley, assembly district leader, and Frank J. Goodwin, another district leader.

The Motor Show

The 1924 Motor Show at the Armouries closed last evening with a fairly large last night crowd.
The men in charge of the Show say that the attendance this year fell down about three hundred from last year's total, but they hope to be able to turn over a substantial amount to the Peterborough Health Association, with the balance made up from the increased receipts this year of various conctssions, the Rotary-Kiwanis Midway, in particular, having proved to be a good money-maker.
The different booths did a brisk business, the flower booth had a greater variety and more patronage than ever this year,an d the nurses in the section devoted to the literature and membership cards of the Peterborough Health Association were very energetic and rolled up a good list of new members.
The Kiwanis Club helped immensely at the lottery booth last evening by bringing down their dart games and attracting a large and interested audience.
The upper Midway was thronged during the evening by a jolly crowd of patrons, and the dance and afternoon card party had a good attendance.
Prizes for bridge in the afternoon were won by Mrs. Arthur Amys and Mrs. W. Sharpe.
Convenors in charge of the tables for the 57th Regimental Chapter were Mrs. C. S. Stapleton and Mrs. T. W. H. Young.
On Thursday afternoon the tables were supervised by Health Association ladies, with Mrs Russell Wood in charge.
The Otonabee Chapter tea room had a busy day, and the Symphony Orchestra provided another excellent concert of enjoyable music. The band of the Peterborough Rangers also played in fine style on George Street. The outdoor movies hada larger crowd than ever last evening.
The car dealers had many interested visitors last evening. Included in the cars in the western section were the Dodge models, with V. M. Eastwood as agent, showing some fine automobiles, in a touring, a sedan, and the Dodge new departure in a four-passenger sedan in the popular dark blue finish.
Inadvertently omitted from mention in the cars which took part in the opening night parade were the three big trucks belonging to J. J. Turner & Sons.

GRAY LACE FROCK.
A frock of soft gray lace has a close sheath lining of mauve colored satin and a girdle of powder-blue ribbon, tied directly in front.

SATIN WRAPS.

Society

Rev. W. L. Armitage, who was first rector of All Saints Church here many years ago, will be the guest of Rev. J. D. Paterson over the week-end and will preach in All Saints Church on Sunday.
Jack Lane returned to St. Michael's college this morning after spending his Easter vacation with parents, at 243 Hunter street.
Miss Meta Allen, with Mrs. A. H. Allen, Charlotte Street, entertained a number of her friends at afternoon tea yesterday.
Mr. and Mrs. W. McKee Bingham entertained a number of their friends last evening at a musicale, when several punils of Mr. Bingham gave a very enjoyable recital of vocal music. Miss Mabel Money of Stratford, Miss Ethel Kennedy, Miss Edna Borbridge, and Miss Audrey Huycke took part in an informal programme of delightful numbers. Miss Money's songs were particularly pleasing. Possessed of a powerful, rich contralto voice, handled with skill, she sings with a degree of dramatic interpretation that makes her music impressive and memorable. A beautiful rendition of the difficult "Erl King" by Schubert, of Hatton's "The Enchantress," of O'Hara's stirring "There is no Death," which demanded a repetition, were among Miss Money's best numbers. She also sang, in fine voice, Verdi's "Stride la Vampa" from "Il Trovatore," Schubert's "Hedge Roses," and Chaminade's "Madrigal." To Miss Ethel Kennedy came renewed app'ause and insistent demands for repetit'on of her principal selection, in Rimsky-Korsakov's "A Song of India." The limpid, flowing smoothness of this young singer's odd and interesting voice, the cool ease of its tenor-like quality, were eminently suited to the lovely Oriental song. Miss Kennedy also sang Leoncavallo's "Mattinata," "At Parting," and "All the Roses in June." Miss Edna Borbridge gave, very delightfully, in melodious tones, Musetta's Valse Song, by Puccini, from "La Boheme." Tosti's "Mattinata," and "Tired Hands," by Sanderson. Miss Audrey Huycke's songs, delivered in fresh, sweet voice and charming manner, were the lovely "Flower of Brittany," by Lohr, and an unusual interesting song in "Fiddle and I." Mrs. W. McKee Bingham also sang with artistic finish and lovely, rich tones, Korbay's seldom-heard, delightful number, "Where the Tisza's torrents through the Prairies swell," which met with enthusiastic appreciation. Mr. and Mrs. Bingham, by request, gave a final duett. The accompaniments of the evening were played with splendid comprehension by Miss Isobel Donnelly, whose work added much to the enjoyment of a fine programme. Dainty refreshments were served later in the tea-room, the table decorated effectively with large white tulips in specimen vases and lighted white candles. Mrs.E.H.Wood and Mrs. Sangster in charge of tea table. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pretty, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sangster, Dr. and Mrs. E. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Howson, Mrs. E. W. Borbridge, the Misses Mabel Money of Stratford, Edna Borbridge, Audrey Huycke, Ethel Kennedy, M. McCarthy, I. Donnelly, Judge Huycke, Messrs. W. Huycke and A. Donnelly.
Miss A. M. Lancaster, superintendent of the Protestant Home, left this morning for a short holiday in Western Ontario.
Mrs. Chalmers, of Smith's Falls, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. John.
Rev. Gerard Maher, of Bracebridge, is visiting his parents here.

BELLEVILLE COURIER HAS REACHED WHITBY

WHITBY, April 26. — On the last lap of his 114 mile hike from Belleville to Toronto, where he will personally deliver the invitations to acting Lieut.-Governor Sir William Mulock, Premier Ferguson, and Mayor Hiltze to attend the mammoth United Empire Loyalist Celebration in his native city next June, Cadet W. Alan Dempsey left here on foot at 9:30 this morning.
Although he has 25 miles farther to walk, 17-year-old youth, who is himself descendant of Loyalist stock, is confident that he will reach his goal before nightfall. "I will be in Toronto to-night, never fear," he laughed. "I must do that for I want to rest up for Monday. That is the day I have to deliver my invitations to the civic and provincial authorities."

PETER SMITH HAS NO SAFETY BOXES

It Was Reported From Stratford That Provincial Officers Were Guarding Smith's Deposit Boxes.

STRATFORD, April 26.—(Canadian Press).—A story published in a Toronto morning paper today which is based on an alleged despatch sent out from Stratford yesterday stating that the Provincial Officers were placing a guard on the safety deposit of Hon. Peter Smith on the premises of the Stratford branch of the Bank of Montreal was discredited here to-day. According to reliable information given this morning Mr. Smith has no box in the Bank of Montreal. Inspector Boyd and Miller, of the Provincial Police Depart'ment were in the city yesterday afternoon to check up on bonds alleged to be in possession of Mr. Smith, bonds from which coupons had been cashed at the Bank of Toronto according to evidence given by A. E. Nash before the Public Accounts Committee. The men checked out of their hotel here this morning.

PETERBORO NURSE HAS A CALL TO LONG BEACH

Dr. M. McClelland, formerly of this city, but who is at present in California, writes to Miss E. Kennedy, a well-known nurse of Peterboro, asking her to go to California to nurse Mrs. Goheen, his mother-in-law, who was struck by an automobile and seriously hurt. Her left leg was broken above the knee, and Dr. McClelland in his letter said that Mrs. Goheen may never recover, and at her best she will never be able to walk again. The many friends of Mrs. Goheen, who was also well-known in this city, will be sorry to hear of the accident.

WEDDING BELLS

The marriage took place at the parsonage of Rev. Young, Peterborough, of Bertha May, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hutchinson, Millbrook, to Mr. L. P. Dodd, of Whitby. Mr. and Mrs. Dodd will reside at Whitby.

LOGAN—DECK.
The wedding took place at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the old Major Bennett homestead in Monaghan, of Marguerite Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deck, and William Telford Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Logan, of Park street.
Attendants were the sister and brother of the bride, Miss Violet Deck and Mr. Carman Deck. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robt. Pogue.
Mr. and Mrs. Logan left on the afternoon train for a honeymoon in Toronto, after which they will reside in the city.

SANDERSON—BULMER.
A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday, April 24th, at half-past six o'clock in the evening by Rev. Jas. Gordon, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bulmer, of Smith Township, when their daughter, Christina Ann, became the bride of Roy Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sanderson, also of Smith Township.
The bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of grey canton crepe, with shoes and stockings to match, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ella Northey, wore cocoa silk brocade. Mr. Archie Bulmer, brother of the bride, acted as best man.
Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson left later for their home in Smith, the bride wearing a suit of navy tricotine, small hat, and the gift of the bridegroom, a handsome ground marten choker. The gift to the bridesmaid was a silver bar pin, set with sapphires and brilliants; to the best man a pair of gold cuff links. The young people received many useful and beautiful gifts.

CLEGG—CLARK
The marriage took place quietly this morning at half-past seven o'clock, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, of Eva Alberta, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Clark, 633 Rogers street, and Howard Clegg, youngest son of J. Clegg and the Mrs. Clegg of Peterboro. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robt. Pogue in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives.
The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mr. M. B .Chenhall, wore a beautiful gown of grey canton crepe with shoes and stockings of grey and grey lace hat. Her wrap was of navy tricotine, and she carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. The brides maid, Miss Ruby Carr, wore sand-colored canton crepe, with hat, shoes and stocking to match, and bouquet of columbia roses. The bride's brother, W. J. Clark, acted as best man.
Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Clegg left on the 8 o'clock train for a honeymoon in Buffalo, and other points. On their return, they will reside in Peterboro.
The young couple, both of whom were employees of the Peterboro Utilities Company, were presented by the staff of the Company with a handsome silver tea service, and an address beautifully illuminated by Mr. J. Kennett.

Public Health

THE VETERINARIES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH, TORONTO, advise that from 25 to 50 per cent. of the Dairy Cows supplying Milk to Toronto are tubercular, and that if Toronto did not compel the Pasteurization of Milk sold in the City, they would have tubercular patients in greater numbers than is the case to-day.
We can no longer blame the infant mortality rate on our local water supply, but many are still feeding their babies on Unpasteurized Milk.
Milk, when it is Pure and Properly handled, is Nature's most valuable food. When improperly handled, it is one of the greatest menaces to the public's health.

DEFUNCT BANK ISSUE BEFORE OTTAWA HOUSE

Evidence Before Royal Commission is Being Supplied to Members--The Directors' Trial.

CASE LAID OVER

OTTAWA, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—Consideration of the Home Bank failure and the banking problem by House of Commons is not now likely to be taken up until next week. Some time before Easter recess house referred the whole question to the banking and commerce committee, but no meeting of this body has been held and none is expected to be called for present week which is to be given up chiefly as far as committees go, to the church union question.

In meantime evidence before Royal Commission on Home Bank is being printed from day to day for use of members of Parliament. This evidence may be considered in committee under reference made by house, but it is designed to be used for finding remedy for weaknesses in Bank Act and not for purpose of coming to conclusion upon question of government responsibility for bank failure, which has been submitted to Royal Commission.

Commission continues its investigation to-morrow.

Trial of Directors

Directors and officials of Home Bank of Canada appeared before Mr. Justice Lennox in criminal assizes in Toronto to-day were remanded to Autumn Assizes and bail was renewed, the proceedings were brief, D. L. McCarthy, K.C. special Crown Prosecutor, following conference with provincial legal authorities intimated that defendants would not be tried at Spring Assizes.

Mr. Justice Wright has to-day given judgment directing Crown to give directors of Home Bank particulars of first count of indictment against them, these particulars are to be furnished at least three weeks before opening of sitting at which case is to be tried, if accused deems particulars furnished to be inadequate, His Lordship remarks that they may then move for fuller and better particulars.

SEVERE BLOW FOR OTONABEE FARMER

Subscription List Opened to Help Mr. F. A. Hodson

A few days ago the Examiner reported the loss by fire of seventeen head of cattle, five horses and the barns on the farm of Mr. F. A. Hodson, near Downer's Corners. Mr. Hodson a well known to many Peterboro itzens, and his severe loss has resulted in a number of his friends starting a subscription list. Among the initial contributors are Mr. B. F. Ackerman, $10; Stock Bread Company, $10; A friend, $2.00.

Mr. Hodson came to this country a few years ago and by perseverance and hard work accumulated enough to purchase a farm. For several years Mr. Hodson delivered milk in the city.

Those who desire to contribute to this worthy cause may do so by leaving subscriptions at the Examiner, or with Mr. R. Denne or Mr. Walter Stocker.

Hon. Arthur Meighen at Montreal Club Informed of Father's Death

Conservative Chief Overcome By Emotion In Taking Leave of Canadien Club Which Adjourned Out of Respect to Him—Funeral At St. Mary's, Ont., on Wednesday—Had Been Ill Two Months.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 28. — (Canadian Press). — Joseph Meighen, father of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Premier of Canada and at present Leader of the Opposition in the Federal Legislature, died here at a late hour Saturday night. Mr. Meighen, who was in his 78th year, had been ill in the capital for the last two months.

Born in St. Mary's, Ont., the son of the late Gordon Meighen, the deceased for many years farmed in the vicinity of his birth, and there raised his family. Four years ago he moved to Ottawa with his wife, Mrs. Mary Meighen, and since then he has resided here.

Besides his widow, Mr. Meighen is survived by three daughters, Mrs. G. W. White, Toronto; Mrs. Sarah Robertson, Edmonton. Alta., and Mrs. J. Anderson, Welland, Ont.; three sons, Right Hon. Arthur, Ottawa; William, Warden of Stoney Mountain Penitentiary, Manitoba, and Edward, Ashmont, Alta.

Interment is to be held at St. Mary's on Wednesday, but previous to the departure of the remains for burial, a funeral service will be held in this city on Tuesday morning.

Notified by Telephone.

MONTREAL, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—While present at the Club Canadien Saturday night during the address by Hon. Andre Fauteux, former Solicitor-General, on "Public Opinion," Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was called to the telephone and informed from Ottawa that his father was dead. The Leader of the Opposition at once left for Ottawa.

Before going the Conservative chief returned to the club hall for a few minutes and said: "I came not only to say a word of farewell, but also to express to you the very deep regret I feel that my visit has been a source rather of disturbance than of good-cheer. Naturally, I am impressed with the sense of a very, very deep sorrow at the passing of one who to me has been more than . . . Mr. Meighen's voice became inaudible at this point.

Racial Harmony.

Mr. Fauteux hoped for realization of the dream that the two races would "work together for the glory of the British name and for what is particularly dear to our hearts, the glory of Canada."

Judge Monet of the Court of Special Sessions said he had come to the meeting to hear Mr. Meighen thank Mr. Fauteux for his address. Referring to the action of the Solicitor-General in remitting the lash on the bandit, Raoul Beauchamp, he continued: "Providence seems lately to have reserved the Solicitors-General for me. Recently it has given me great pleasure to say what I thought of the present Solicitor-General; this evening it gives me equal pleasure to say what I think of the former Solicitor-General."

The meeting adjourned out of respect for Meighen.

Gwendolyn Lazier Continues Her Journey to Washington With Invitation to President Coolidge.

KINGSTON, April 28. — Miss Gwendolyn Lazier, who is travelling by horseback from Belleville to Washington to invite President Coolidge to attend the United Empire Loyalist Celebration in Belleville in June arrived here at 4.30 Saturday afternoon and was welcomed by Mayor Angrove. She spent the day quietly with friends and left this morning a 8 o'clock for American soil via the ferry to Cape Vincent, N.Y. She expects to reach Washington about May 10th.

Moose Jaw Constable Imprisoned For Theft.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., April 28.—A. E. Knight, former police constable of the city police force, pleaded guilty in the district court here Saturday to charges of breaking and entering and of theft. Judge W. O. Smyth of Swift Current sentenced the accused to one year and one month in Regina jail.

Ex-Constable Fleenor, who also pleaded guilty of the charge of theft was given suspended sentence.

Andrew Gump Will Replace Mr. Jiggs

The Examiner has an announcement to make that will probably be received with regret by many of its subscribers, to wit, the passing of Mr. Jiggs. This does no mean that "Father" will not continue to thrive and flourish in other quarters. Doubtless for many long years to come, he will provide a "source of innocent merriment," like the gentleman in Gilbert and Sullivan's immortal opera, to seniors and juniors alike, but, for the time being, he passes from the stage as far as The Examiner is concerned. His financial ups and downs, his escapings from Maggie's wrath, wil not longer occupy the position of honor at the foot of the advertising page.

However, like most clouds, this pronouncement has its silver linnig. We are pleased to say that the place of the immortal Mr. Jiggs will be taken on May 1st by the no less illustrious Andrew Gump. Mr. Gump has become famous in song and speech since he made his first appearance on the cartoon stage. He has even been quoted by a learned Congressman of the United States as an authority, and, although he makes his first bow to Examiner readers under a cloud, so to speak, having been lately separated from his wife, we feel that his appearance will be heralded with pleasure.

MacLonald Party In the Royal Pew

LONDON, April 28.—(Canadian Press Cable).—An historic service in a fine setting was held in St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle this morning which was attended by the King and Queen, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter Miss Isabel MacDonald, the United States ambassador and members of the court together with other guests of Their Majesties.

Premier MacDonald occupied a seat in the Royal pew a few seats away from Their Majesties. The officiating clergy were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Dean of Windsor, the Bishop of Nebraska and the Canon of St. George's chapel. Military Knights were present in their picturesque uniforms as well as the Mayor of the Corporation of Windsor in his official robes. The singing of the choir was beautiful.

SUPERIORITY OF WHITES DENIED BY SCIENTISTS

No Inherent Difference Seen Between Whites and Blacks By Majority of Speakers at Convention of American Philosophical Society.

ANALYZED NEGRO.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—The members of the American Philosophical Society listened to a debate by anthropologists on the question "Are the various races of man potentially equal?" The theory that the so-called Nordics have a superiority among the white races was dismissed lightly and the debate narrowed down to the issue whether there existed any inherent superiority of the white races over the black. The majority of the speakers contended that there was no real evidence of white superiority.

When the subject was thrown open to general discussion, one speaker from the floor asked if there was not evidence on every side of the supremacy of the whites in the great civilizations built up by the white races as against the barrenness of achievement by the Africans.

"But a few thousand years ago," replied Dr. Franz Boas, "the Egyptians might have said the same things of the whites. Looking at the backwardness of the white races, they might have said, 'They are shiftless, superstitious, mentally inferior, and nothing can ever be made of them.'"

He added that the human family was a very old one, that civilization was a very new thing, and that it was a mistake to judge the potentialities of different races by their standing at the present time.

The cause of the whites was argued by H. U. Hall, curator of general ethnology, of the museum of the University of Pennsylvania, who said that proof of black inferiority was to be found everywhere among the native tribes of Africa because their form of government was always autocracy. The weak-willed natives, afraid of all responsibility, insisted on having autocracies, according to Mr. Hall in order to shift all responsibility away from themselves, and this he said was a hereditary perpetual defect of the negro character.

"In the region of the upper Nile, among such tribes as the Bari, the Lakuta and others," he continued, "the magcians, whose principal function is that of rain making, are the chiefs. Rain is the one thing which matters to the people in those districts, for if it does not come down at the right time, this means that their animals and their crops (their only resources) are destroyed. These chiefs, the rain-makers, have various ways of producing rain. One may have a collection of rain stones, such as rock crystals and amethysts. These he plunges into water and taking a cane, beckons with it to the clouds, accompanying his gestures with an incantation."

Points to African Customs.

If it rained when he did not wish it or was too hot, the King of the Zimba negroes would shoot arrows at the sky for disobeying him, said Mr. Hall, who after a series of similar examples continued:

"These instances would seem to show the wide prevalence in negro Africa of this attitude towards chiefs and kngs. It indicates I think clearly enough a willing subservience of the negros toward their rulers, not through any consciousness of political necessity or expedience, but because of an inveterate tendency in the negro mind to seek safety in dependance on a superior being, to shift the responsibility for coping with difficulty and danger to some other power and authority outside himself—even in the ordinary crises which arise from daily events. It is obviously due to weakness of will and inability to persist in the most necessary and usual undertakings without leaning on the support of a superior."

Superiority Take 2 ....

After further evidence from Africa of the lack of will in natives, Mr. Hall added:

"The history of the negro in the New World shows that even where he had been removed from the surroundings in which his own institutions were developed, the mental disposition out of which those institutions were developed had persisted unchanged in essentials. He still leans upon force outside of himself.

Denies Negro Progress Here.

"In the United States and elsewhere on this side of the Atlantic such limited progress as the negro has made is due to white philanthropists and to leaders of mixed race. These are his external superior force, and he knows it and still leans on them."

In his paper Dr. Boas argued that no scientific method had been found of measuring the fundamental capacity of different races, as distinct from the mental and moral development due to custom, history, economic and social environment.

"Claimants for the superiority of

MARX FINDS GERMANS MORE REASONABLE IN OCCUPIED TERRITORY

German Chancellor Says Nationalist Squawkers of Bavaria Would Be More Amenable to Reparations Policy If They Had a Few Alien Regiments Among Them—Calls Extremists' Policy Mad.

ELECTION ADDRESS.

DUESSELDORF, Germany, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—Dr. Wilhelm Marx, the Chancellor, delivered a campaign address here Sunday before an audience of 4,000 persons. He made a strong plea for the carrying out of the program set forth in the report of the experts who recently investigated the economic and financial condition of Germany.

Dr. Marx declared the fulfillment of the terms of the program would be the best method for reconciling the situation between France and Germany. It would be, he said, to the best interests of both countries.

The Chancellor's speech throughout was couched in a conciliatory tone, although he emphasized that it was Germany's understanding that a return of Germany's sovereign rights throughout the occupied territory wa the first pre-requisite for the commencement of the execution of the plan of the experts.

Nationalist Madness

Dr. Marx made it clear that he was speaking as candidate of the Centre Catholic Party in the forthcoming election, and not as Chancellor. He denounced the Extreme Nationalists, saying he hoped the German people would not be so foolish as to place their destiny in the hands of a group that wished to launch the country upon a policy of madness. Their "fanatical propaganda," he declared, was a crime against the German people.

"I have remarked," Dr. Marx said "that the more one approaches the occupied territories, the more one sees the population reasonable and the Nationalist ideas less accepted. I should like to see a few regiments of the army of occupation stationed in Bavaria, just to observe what effect this would produce on the squawkers of Munich who make such an outcry because they feel themselves so far away and so sheltered from danger."

Suspicions of League

Dr. Marx said Germany had no intention of trying to enter the League of Nations as at present constituted. He said that when the League ceased to serve "particular interests of certain powers," and became an organization in which all nations were treated with absolute equality, then Gedmany would apply for membership.

Concerning the reports of the experts on reparations, the Chancellor said Germany had decided to accept them with the understanding that they would be considered as an indivisible whole; that Germany would be able to have charge economically and financially of the occupied regions; that Germans expelled from the Ruhr and the Rhineland would be allowed to return and that prisoners would be liberated.

Young Hebrideans Sail For Ontario

LONDON, April 28.—(Canadian Press Cable).—There were affecting scenes Saturday evening when nearly three hundred young Lewis men and women boarded the steamer Marloch for Canada. Nearly two hundred of the party are going under the auspices of the Ontario Government.

About a thousand islanders crowded the little pierhead to wish bon voyage to the travellers, many of them walking dozens of miles to witness the departure. All the emigrating Hebrideans are single except two mothers with children and all will take up farm work or domestic service. Many of them are leaving the island for the first time and have never seen a railway train. Even the big steamer was a novelty to many of them. Some of the emigrants said they were glad to leave as the weather had spoiled the crofting and fishing for the islanders.

Windsor Scale $14 Plasterers' Demand

WINDSOR, April 28.—(Canadian Press). — According to local building contractors plasterers here are demanding that they be paid at the rate of fourteen dollars a day for an 8-hour day and five days a week. The agreement must be signed by May 1 or the union plasterers will refuse to work. So far no agreement has been signed. Bricklayers have signed a scale agreement calling for $1.35 per hour.

This is the peak reached in the wage controversy so far as this district is concerned. As a result of the demands a number of buildings projected this year may be postponed indefinitely or abandoned entirely.

"They are killing the goose that laid the golden eggs," is the way one contractor puts it.

LABOR DENIAL TO LIBERALS

J. R. Clynes Says Other Parties Were Consulted But No Labor Principle Will Be Forfeited.

LONDON, April 28. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Lloyd George's criticism that the Labor government was not showing due appreciation of the support the Labor party has been giving them called forth a spirted reply from J. R. Clynes, deputy leader of the House in a speech last night at Burton.

After remarking that if the Liberals had any ground for complaint regarding the treatment accorded them by the government Lloyd George should be te last man to utter it, Mr. Clynes continued: "I deny that we are ungrateful to any party in the state and I repudiate the suggestion that the leader of the labor forces could attempt to stay the hand of any local labor party in seeking to secure any seats for the labor cause. As to consultations with other parties the truth is that in order to secure the smooth working of parliamentary business we have not avoided consultations. Labor can consent to no arrangement which would mean forfeiture of any labor principle or item of the labor policy."

SEEDING STARTED IN MILLBROOK DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, April 28.—Many farmers are now at work on the harrowing and seeding is being rapidly accomplished. According to a bulletin, just issued by the Department of Agriculture, spring this season has not been unduly delayed, though the last days of winter have seemed to drag on endlessly. Five years ago, in Central Ontario, it was the first week in June before seeding was completed, and for the following two or three years it was well on in May before this work was done. Even last year only about two-thirds of the spring grain seeding was completed on May 7th.

Comparing statistics it would appear that the present spring is in reality one of the earliest in fifteen years. Experiments in seeding carried on over a period of several years by the Experimental Farms shows that earliness in planting is the most important single factor in eliminating, or at least lessening, rust damage, because it is conducive to early maturity. Apparently stem rust appears at a fairly definite time and the closer the wheat is to maturity when attacked, the less the resulting damage.

THE WEATHER.

On Sunday the thermometer was up to the highest point it has yet reached, namely, 70 degrees in the shade, and a few similar days would give vegetation a real start. Even yet snow-drifts are to be seen in secluded places, and in a walk yesterday I noticed the remains of a large one in an open field. Could we give this as a practical illustration of the poetic phrase: "Winter lingering in the lap of spring?"—W.P.

TWO PERSONS KILLED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE

LONDON, April 26.—(Canadian Press).— Two persons were killed and about forty injured this morning outside the Euston Station when one eleteric car crashed into a special train carrying football fans to English Cup Final, which was standing in the mouth of the tunnel.

COMING OVER.

Lady Cynthia Curzon, popular in British court circles, and her husband, Oswald Ernald Mosley, are planning to visit the United States this fall. Lady Cynthia's grandfather L. Z. Leiter, lives in Washington. Her husband, though heir to a baronet, has lined up with Ramsay MacDonald's Labor Party.

SEVEN ROUNDED UP FOR MURDER

Montreal Detectives Swell List of Prisoners Charged With Murder of Bank Messenger—Hope to Recover Rest of Money.

MONTREAL, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—Seven men charged with murder were arrested over the week-end by local detectives in connection with the slaying of Henri Clereux, chauffeur of the Hochelaga Bank automobile which was held up in this city April 1, when the sum of $142,288 was stolen. The arrests followed on information supplied the local police after the arrest of Adam Perillo at Bridgeport, Conn., Friday night.

Warrants were sworn out for nine men and the remaining two had not been located up to last night. The prisoners were placed in various police stations of the city where they were each listed under the charge of murder.

The police stated that it would not be long before the rest of the stolen money, nearly $30,000 of which has been recovered, would be found. Reports that the bandits are "doctoring" the stolen bills are stated on good authority to be incorrect and it is added that the stolen money does not contain in one instance a Hochelaga bank bill.

OFFICE LOOTED BY CLERK WITH AN ACCOMPLICE

Sarnia Chamber of Commerce Safe Robbed of $1,974 — Assistant to Secretary Confessed His Betrayal of Office and Equal Division of the Money—Confederate Is Hunted.

'PLANT' WAS CRUDE.

SARNIA, Ont., April 28.—(Canadian Press).—The robbery of the Chamber of Commerce safe in the dark hours of last Tuesday morning when the sum of $1,974 was stolen is no longer a mystery. Rowell Jamieson, of Sarnia, clerk in the office of the Ontario Motor League and assistant to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is in the county jail following a confession Saturday that he and an accomplice had framed the whole affair and had divided the money in the basement and that at the door he said good-bye and each went his own way.

Conferred by Degrees.

The confession is the last of three which the young man, only in his twentieth year, had made since the night when the safe was opened and the big sum taken in from payment of motor licenses on last Saturday and Easter Monday was extracted, the safe being undamaged and a pair of gloves and a typewritten note in broken English and signed "Tony" purporting to be a letter to a man in Detroit telling of an easy job here, were found on the floor among the litter of the safe and from the first the opinion has been held that the work was an inside job.

The Whole Story.

The young man was put through several gruellings and in a confession a few days ago told that he had given the combination of the safe to a friend and that the friend had pulled off the job. Later he implemented his confession with another, and finally Saturday night before President Brunton, of the Chamber of Commerce; George F. France, director and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Chief of Police Lannin ,the young man told the story of how, along with another man, he had disguised himself and both had gone into the building through the basement door, which Jamieson left open and that the accomplice had gone into the office where the safe had been left so that it could be opened and taken the money while Jamieson remained below.

Preferred Jail.

The money was divided, each man taking $987 and then departing. Saturday night the young man returned the $987 which he had taken as his share and which he had concealed in basement of his father's house. His father has offered to make restitution of the balance. Asked if he desired bail, Jamieson said he preferred to go to jail rather than go home to his family, which is one of the most respected in the city. Meanwhile, the police of Canada and the United States are in hot cry after the accomplice who has the balance of the cash and whose whereabouts just now are unknown. His name is being withheld by the police for the present.

GRAIN STORAGE SHRINKS.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 27.—With the opening of navigation grain stocks at the head of the lakes declined from their record peak of over sixty-four million bushels, being reduced last week by 11,516,345 bushels. Wheat was the most active grain.

PETERBORO TALENT IN TORONTO

To-morrow morning, on the 7.35 C.P.R. train, members of the Peterboro Symphony Orchestra, to the number of fifty-two or fifty-three, depart for Toronto, to take part in this year's Ontario Musical Competition Festival. They will occupy a special coach and will have tickets good for ten days' stay. The majority of the members will probably return on the train which leaves the Union Station at 11.20 p.m.

The members will have a strenuous day. Competing in three orchestral events, they will play in the Symphony orchestra class at eight o'clock in the evening, giving the test piece, Beethoven's overture, "Fidelio." At 2.30 in the afternoon they play as Trinity Sunday School orchestra, playing the overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," and later in the afternoon, as an amateur Conservatory orchestra, they will play the "Lustspiel" Overture. All contests take place at Massey Hall.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the orchestral contests is composed of the president, John Crane; the secretary, J. M. Greene, and the treasurer, W. Lech. R. Gliddon is the leader of the orchestra.

In the various orchestral events, some twenty organizations are taking part this year. The local aggregation has been informed that Peterboro stands in the front rank in the province as far as support of the Festival is concerned, this city sending its orchestra and Male Voice Choir and some six or seven private entrants, two of whom will compete in the vocal contests, and four or five in the band instrument sections, the latter taking place to-morrow at the Hambourg Conservatory of Music.

On Thursday of this week, the Peterboro Male Voice Choir also journeys to Toronto, fifty members strong, to take part in two choral events, also staged in Massey Hall, where, at 2.45, they will compete as a full choir, singing "Through Eastern Gates," and "New Life, New Love," and on the same afternoon, at 4.15, with twenty members in a choir of men's voices, singing "A Lullaby of Love" and "In Harvest Time." A special coach also conveys the choir to and from the city, returning in the evening. Messrs. W. F. Skitch, president, and C. S. Thompson, secretary, have charge of arrangements. M. B. Chenhall conducts the choir.

A large increase in the number of out-of-town entries is reported this year by the Festival Committee, with increased interest in choral competitions. The entries in this section embrace 3 mixed choral societies, 2 choirs of commercial establishments, 13 church choirs, 10 male choruses, and 50 school choirs, coming from as far away as Montreal, which is sending the Commercial High School Girls' Choir of fifty voices; and the mining centre, Timmins, in Northern Ontario, which has entered a male chorus. Other towns and cities represented are Hamilton, London, Brampton, Kitchener, Weston, Peterboro, Kingston, Guelph, Orangeville, Strathroy, Galt, Owen Sound and St. Thomas. The orchestral entries in various classes number 12, six from Toronto and the other six from Peterboro, London, Strathroy, Hamilton, Cobourg and Glencoe. The total number of individuals who will participate in solo and ensemble competitions is 7,355, as against 4,447 last year. Of these, 3,725 will participate in school competitions; 1,503 competitors come from outside Toronto, and the total number of entries in all classes is 569.

The two leading judges who have come from England are the famous pianist, Herbert Fryer, and the noted musical educationist, James Lyons.

Miss Kathleen McCarthy, of the Examiner staff, will represent the Examiner at the event and report the work of the Peterboro talent.

The Car That Tackles Every Job

When a man needs a car for many jobs he turns instinctively to the Ford touring car.

Primarily, the Ford touring is a family car and as such has established a splendid reputation for service and dependability.

But its usefulness does not end there. You will find the Ford touring doing every job that cars have ever been used for—making the quick run to town on urgent errands—taking produce to market and supplies back home—doing everything, in fact, that a utility car is called upon to do.

And it does them all quickly, economically and satisfactorily. A real car for work and recreation.

Indian Tariff Board Advises Protection.

SIMLA, India, April 27. — Canadian Press Cable, via Reuters. — The Indian tariff board which was organized last July has reported recommending unanimously the protection of certain steel products including agricultural implements and railway cars but opposing protection in the case of locomotives. The board proposes a combination of duties and bounties with a view to restricting the burden on the consumer, and points out that India possesses great natural advantages for the manufacture of steel, adding that India already produces pig iron more cheaply than other countries.

Less Pot-washing

SMP Enameled Ware has the smooth surface and polish of fine crockery—without the breakage. And it is so very easy to clean—just like china, and therefore makes light work of pot washing.

Try this test. Take an SMP Enameled Ware sauce pan and an all-metal sauce pan of equal size. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Put on the fire at the same time. The SMP sauce pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer.

MANY SUPPORTERS FOR CHURCH UNION

Two Thousand Attended Meeting Yesterday Afternoon to Petition the House of Commons to Enact Bill.

TORONTO, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—Supporters of the church union to a number of about two thousand led by a large group of a prominent and representative citizens, decided yesterday afternoon to petition the House of Commons to enact a bill incorporating United Church of Canada.

A second resolution protests in no uncertain language against the action of Private Bills Committee of Ontario Legislature in amending the Provincial Bill concerning the Church.

Both resolutions were proposel by Thomas Bradshaw and seconded by J. H. Gundy. On a standing vote of the audience five people only registered their disent.

Held in Pantages Theatre and presided over by Sir James Woods, yesterday's mass meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic seen in this city since the beginning of differences on the matter of church union. Seated on the stage were over a hundred well known citizens who have identified themselves with the movement. Speakers who addressed the gathering represented Western and Eastern Ontriio as well as Toronto.

Scores of telegrame from all parts of the province were read extending sympathy with the objective of the meeting and giving assurance of a hearty support.

While general attitude taken by the majority of the speakers was that there was no justifiable reason in refusing a legal sanction for an end desired by the majority of the members of the three churches, words were by no means minced in dealing with the situation in Ontario, held, according to those in charge, to make it perfectly plain that sentiment in this province was not opposed to the church union and to "condemn unwarranted interference of our representatives in our church affairs."

The temper of the meeting was most decided. Volumes of applause from the throng which completely filled the lower floor and over half of the balcony of the theatre, greeted the various points made by each speaker.

In dealing with the relationship of the church and state ,one of the outstanding points of the discussion, several of the speakers used very definite language in describing the action of the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature. Politics entered into the discussion, when although announcing himself to be a Conservative, one speaker criticized the government as well as its action, declaring that it did not represent the best thought of the province.

ASSOCIATIONS IN FRENCH DIOCESES

Formed In Paris and Recognized By Cardinal Dubois Under His Presidency.

PARIS, April 27.—The first diocesan association under the recent governmental decree amending the "Separation" Bill of 1905, has just been formed in Paris under the presidency of Cardinal Dubois, whose immediate predecessors so resolutely refused to have anything to do with such bodies. The decree gives the Roman Catholic Church in France a legal status which it has lacked since passage of the Separation Bill, under its provisions the Church becoming a civic association recognized by the Government.

Included in the new Paris association in addition to Cardinal Dubois, are his two coadjutors, several members of the clergy, and a number of prominent laymen, among whom are Herbrad De Villeneuve, honorary president of the Council of State; Henry Fourcarde, leader of the Paris bar, and Maurice J. Bereneuil, former president of the Stock Exchange. It is expected that similar associations will be formed in other dioceses shortly.

REV. ARTHUR SANDERSON PREACHED AT MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, April 28.— Rev. Arthur R. Sanderson occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday, April 27th, exchanging with Rev. S. T. Tucker, who took charge of his work at Cannington for the day. This was Mr. Sanderson's first visit to Millbrook and his sermons won many expressions of appreciation and of practical helpfulness from his listeners.

In the morning the text was chosen from Nehemiah 10.39: "We will not forsake the house of our God," the discourse which followed having particular reference to the covenant which Israel made after the reading of the law by Ezra, and the object of their attachment, "the house of the Lord." The latter is variously spoken of in the Scriptures, sometimes the open air serving as such a meeting place as when Jacob after his vision at Bethel said: "This is none other than the house of God and this is the gate of heaven." Paul in writing to Timothy speaks of 'how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of truh."

Many other references were quoted showing that "God is always just as near as we will allow Him to come," whether there are but two or three gathered together in His Name, whether we worship alone, or whether a multitude lends inspiration to the service.

But above all else the church should be a place of spiritual comfort for hungry, troubled souls. There is this clay tabernacle which is the "temple of the living God," and which often has to be patched up a good deal to keep it going, but His promise stands o the end, "He leadeth through the valley," and we know that "when this earthly tabernacle is dissolved, we have an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Calomel is Greatest Medicine in The World

Cleans and Tones Up the Whole System

Your liver is poisoning the whole system, causing a tired feeling in the morning, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble, etc. There is only one drug known that acts directly upon the liver, and that is calomel. Because so many people object to the ordinary calomel, it is now put up in a new form, called Tanol Calomel Tablets, which act with a gentle movement of the bowels and no salts or seidlitz powders are needed to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. Get a few of these Tanol Calomel Tablets from the druggist and they will make you feel 100 per cent. better. For sale at Weber's Drug Store, Charlotte street. m.s tf

MILLBROOK TO USE CALCIUM CHLORIDE ON THEIR STREETS

J. Arthur Vance Represented the School Board at the Meeting of the Rural Trustees Section of the Ontario Educational Association in Toronto.

MILLBROOK, April 28. — The council this week ordered fifteen tons of calcium chloride from a Toronto firm, which is to be used on the streets to eliminate the dust nuisance in place of the usual watering-cart. Testimonies received from a number of other municipalities using the chloride were all favorable. The quantity ordered, it is expected, will serve practically all the streets of the village which will be a great advantage as only the main street and a section of one or two others could be watered.

The cost is $700 as compared with $600 which the use of the watering-cart for the season entailed.

Attended Conference

Mr. J. Arthur Vance represented the local school board at the rural trustees section of the Ontario Educational Association held in Toronto during Easter week. It is interesting to note that during that period, all across the Continent a chain of samilar educational conferences was being held, though the Ontario organization is the oldest and most comprehensive of the Canadian Associations.

The Teachers' Association of Prince Edward Island, which met at Charlottetown, began the gatherings which were continued through every province to Britis Columbia.

"In the multitude of counsellors there is safety," and the interchange of opinions and experiences at this chain of conferences means a great deal to educational work in this province and in the Dominion." The younger teachers get into the atmosphere of the profession, and realize something of its greatness, while the older teachers shake off the spirit of dull routine and catch up with the enthusiasm of their less experienced confreres."

CROWN PROSECUTOR ABANDONS HEARING

Home Bank Directors Will Not Be Heard at Present Sitting of Assizes--Follows Judgment.

TORONTO, April 28 (Canadian Press). — There will be no trial at the present sitting of the Criminal Assizes of the impeached Home Bank directors and officials.

Such was the announcement made last night by the special Crown Prosecutor, D. L. McCarthy, K.C., who has been conferring on the matter during the week-end with the authorities at Parliament Buildings.

Mr. Justice Wright on Friday last delivered judgment to the effect that the trial of the accused on conspiracy charges should not be proceeded with until the Privy Council has given a decision on the Crown's appeal against the ruling of the Court of Appeal, granting the accused a speedy trial by a county Judge without a jury, on charges of making false returns to the Government under the Bank Act.

To circumvent this judgment there was a suggestion that the Crown might withdraw the charges under the Bank Act, and be content to press the conspiracy charges only.

It was to decide this point that Mr. McCarthy conferred with the Attorney-General's Department.

MINERS ENTOMBED IN BENWOOD MINE

Terrific Explosion, That Set Mine on Fire Occurred a Few Minutes After 200 Miners Entered to Work.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 28. — (Canadian Press).—A few minutes after two hundred miners went to work in Benwood Mine of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, near here, this morning, a terrific explosion occurred in the workings. The fate of the men is unknown. The blast, according to reports from Benwood, occurred about three miles back in the mine. The Benwood firemen, called to the scene, reported the mine was on fire.

Clouds of smoke drifted from the main entry of the mine, and volunteer rescue crews were driven back. One hour after the explosion not a single rescue worker had been able to enter the building.

WEEK END ACCIDENTS CAUSE DEATH OF TWO

TORONTO, April 28 (Canadian Press). — Two accident victims died over the week-end, while eight persons were injured in automobile mishaps.

Sydney Harrison died in the Western Hospital last night from injuries sustained when he was run over by a train last Thursday at Leaside, Ont.

Earl Davidge, an inspector in the Provincial Department of Highways, succumbed in the Western Hospital on Saturday night to injuries he received in an accident on 23rd April. While inspecting a bridge at the Humber, he fell a distance of 25 feet, sustaining internal injuries.

CLERGY CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, April 28. — About twenty-five clergymen are expected to attend the conference of clergy for the Archdeanery of Peterborough to be held in St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 29th and 30th April, Archdeacon J. C. Davidson of Peterborough being the presiding officer.

The introductory conference will open at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, when reports from the Home Field by the mission clergy will be received. The rector of the parish, Rev. Canon Allen, will deliver the formal address of welcome at 10.15, and at 12 noon Archdeacon Davidson will deliver his charge, which is to be followed by discussion.

Some of the speakers will include Rural Dean Fenton, Rev. T. G. A. Wright of Whitby, Rev. T. G. Wallace of Toronto, and Rev. J. B. Telford, the two latter to be the speakers at the evening session.

A parochial reception will be held in the School House at the conclusion of the evening gathering, giving an opportunity of meeting the visiting clergy.

The conference closes at 4.45 p.m. on Wednesday. Delegates are being entertained in the homes of the congregation for bed and breakfast, and for the dinner each day at 1 p.m. and for tea on Tuesday Mrs. J. C. Kells has kindly given the use of her home. The ladies of the church have charge of the provisions and the serving in connection with these meals.

MARCHIONESS OF AILSA WAITS ON MRS. J. BROWN

EDINBURGH, Scotland, April 28 (Canadian Press). — The Marchioness of Ailsa is to act as lady-in-waiting to Mrs. Brown, wife of James Brown, M.P., who will represent King George at the forthcoming General Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

The Marchioness and Mrs. Brown belong to the same county, the Marquis of Ailsa being Lord-Lieutenant of Ayrshire, while Mr. and Mrs. Brown have their home in Annbank, near the Auld Toon o' Ayr.

Hon. Victoria Bruce, daughter of the late Lord Balfour of Burleigh, and Miss Fleming, daughter of Rev. Dr. Archibald Fleming, are to be maids of honour.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION TOOK LIVES OF THREE

PENETANGUISHENE, April 28. —(Canadian Press.)—Three young children, two girls and a boy, of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dusome, were burned to death here early yesterday morning when their home, which is across the bay from this town, took fire from a gasoline explosion.

The dwelling was a two story frame structure and caught fire when Mr. Dusome was lighting the fire for breakfast. Gasoline in the kitchen of the home exploded.

Two eldest children and Mrs. Dusome escaped without injury. Mr. Dusome suffered burns about the hands and legs while endeavoring to save the sleeping children who lost their lives.

SUPERIORITY

the white race," he continued, "point out its position in the modern world. From this they conclude that the white race is the only one that could or can ever achieve eminence, and that this is due to its hereditary qualities. In order to prove the weakness of this argument we need only consider the conclusions that a Maya Indian at the time of the height of the development of his civilisation might have drawn from a comparison of his culture with conditions in North-western Europe. The Nordic was then an uncouth barbarian without arts and without knowledge to be compared to those of the Maya. Would not the Maya be justified like our modern race enthusiast in calling the Nordic an inferior race that could never achieve eminence?"

Dr. Alexander Goldenweiser, of the New School for Social Research, also insisted that there was no real evidence of fundamental white superiority. He said that a similar prejudice existed against the Japanese until their victory over Russia caused a general recognition of the fact that there was no necessary inferiority to the white race.

Says Skulls Prove Nothing.

Dr. Goldenweiser said that if a long series of white skulls were compared with black it was found that the bulk of them had the same brain capacity, although a few whites had a very large brain capacity, and a few of the blacks a very sfall one. He said this did not mean much because the white of large brain capacity were not necessarily above the average on that account.

"If you take the brains of a thousand ordinary undistinguished individuals and then a thousand scientists, artists, and men of eminence, you will find no distinguishable difference between the two series in size and weight."

He argued that modern white civilisation had gained a marked superiority in one direction, the application of scientific knowledge to mechanical appliances, in the past two centuries.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and

WRIGLEY'S

SIR GEORGE FOSTER'S SPEECH.

Sir George Foster in the course of his eloquent ten-minute speech at the Motor Show on Friday night, said a few words about such movements as the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides and the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs that must have heartened every member of those organizations and sent them away with fresh resolves.

The venerable Senator, whose biting sarcasm in the House of Commons used to make his political opponents squirm, has mellowed and grown gentle, and there was the wisdom of wide experience in his counsel that the sharing of one's stick of candy with others made it all the sweeter.

Sir George believed there was a place for organizations whose object was to make the world a little brighter and a little happier for those upon whom fortune had not smiled, and he welcomed the spirit of unselfishness that was engendered by the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movement and by those service clubs that have sprung up.

Few speakers can use ten minutes to such good advantage as this remarkable old Canadian with his long record as a servant of the public, and the "milk of human kindness" was in every word of his Friday night address.

Everyone who heard his message was the better for having done so.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN.

The desirability of the community chest method of raising funds for social service and charitable movements is being demonstrated by the number of appeals that have been and are being made in Peterborough for financial assistance for organizations, all of them worthy of support.

In a few weeks there have been tag days for St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Canadian Institute for the Blind, a campaign for the Salvation Army Self-Denial Fund, an appeal for Dr. Grenfell's Mission, the Motor Show in aid of the Health Association and a campaign for the Y.M.C.A. will begin this week.

This represents a steady drain, and there is a duplication of effort and energy and a repetition of canvassing that would be unnecessary if the task of raising the necessary funds for these and other organizations were entrusted to one central organization.

The budget for the year would be taken care of in one drive.

One canvass would do the work, and the citizens generally, realizing that there would be no further appeals, would gladly avail themselves of the chance to discharge their obligations for the year.

There are many obvious arguments in favour of the plan, and the Young Men's Sections of the Chamber of Commerce, which investigated the community chest method, would be performing a public service of much value if it could be successful in securing the adoption of the principle in this city.

INFANT MORTALITY.

The question is often asked in regard to such organizations as the Well Babies' Clinic and other movements along the same line whether or not any real good is accomplished by these efforts.

The official report of the registration of births, deaths and marriages in Ontario for 1922, the last year for which the figures are available, seems to demonstrate beyond a doubt that the effort that are being made to save the children and reduce infant mortality are meeting with considerable success.

The number of children who died during the first twelve months of age in 1922 in this Province was 5,921, being at the rate of 83.0 per 1,000 living births.

This was 824 fewer than in the previous year, and the rate was 8.0 per 1,000 less.

The report declares that this is the lowest rate ever experienced in the Province.

As to the efficacy of local efforts it is to be noted that the number of such deaths in Peterborough was 42, a rate of 76.7 per 1,000 living births, giving Peterborough a rate of 6.3 per 1,000 below the average for the Province.

Only a few cities and towns in the Province were able to show a better rate than Peterborough, among them Galt with 68.0, London with 67.7, Niagara Falls with 65.0, Woodstock with 63.5, Barrie with 61.8, Collingwood with 62.0, Lindsay with 61.5 and Orillia with 65.6.

The lowest in the Province was St. Thomas was only 14 deaths under one years, a rate per 1,000 living births of 38.9.

The statistics show some startling variations that give much material for thought.

The town of Hawkesbuy, for example, shows a death rate of 232.6 children under one year for every 1,000 living births, and Oshawa, the baby city, 138.

Why should 23 children out of every one hundred born in Hawkesbuy and approximately 14 children out of every hundred born in Oshawa die within the first year, while in Peterborough only 7 children out of 100 and in St. Thomas only 4 out of 100 died?

The Well Babies' Clinic and other organizations are surely entitled to some of the credit for the difference.

FAMILY LIFE GONE?

Dr. Clarke Hetherington of the Teachers' College of Columbia University is reported as saying to the Ontario Educational Association:

Dr. Hetherington drew a striking contrast between the old conditions and the new. In the old days, he recalled, before jazz and the speed mania got such a grip upon the fever of the people, it was quite the common thing to find a well-established family, with all the various phases of education provided for, particularly the physical. But now father and mother are for the most part so busy that they get their physical exercise in the automobile, while Johnny and Mary roam the streets in search for space upon which to play. Even the old domestic science was passing out and being replaced by the cafeteria and the quick lunch.

We presume, of course, that Dr. Hetherington was speaking in hyperbole, says the Ottawa Journal. But exaggerated statements used only to emphasize a point often get on the news wires robbed of their context.

We can assure Dr. Hetherington that it is still "quite the common thing" to find in Canada and the United States such "well established families" as he describes. Even in New York where he lives Dr. Hetherington may have been misled as to the continued existence of real fathers and mothers by the over advertisement of the gay crowd. We like to think that in this very advertisement here is evidence that the condition of which Dr. Hetherington complains is not as bad as he imagines. It is the unusual, the abnormal, that gets the publicity.

Family life may have changed with the introduction of the automobile and the cinematograph, but it is not proven that domestic ties and influence have been weakened, and there is some weight to the theory that they have been strengthened. We see families today availing themselves of the motor car to spend days in the country and of the movie to enjoy an evening's entertainment—together, where formerly they were bored when compelled to remain in each other's company.

And if Dr. Htherington probed deeper he might find that the monotony and scrappiness of "the cafeteria and the quick lunch" are providing their own remedy in impressing on those who must avail themselves of these conveniences the charm and comfort of the "old domestic science."

TRY PLAYING IT SAFE.

Although drownings headed the list of fatal accidents in the Province last year thefact that out of a total of 6,394 fatal and non-fatal accidents 2,584 were due to motors, trucks and motorcycles is worthy of earnest attention.

The Ontario Safety League gives the official figures as follows:

	Fatal.	Non-Fatal.
Drownings	237	155
Motors, trucks, motorcycles	236	2,348
Falls	157	587
Railroad	117	202
Fires	80	155
Burns and scalds	67	98
Asphyxia	53	89
Horse vehicle	44	193
Gunshot	39	68
Struck by falling or flying objects	30	179
Machinery	29	165
Injured by animals	26	88
Crushed	25	32
Street cars	25	81
Electrocution	23	27
Poisoning	22	21
Explosion	22	83
Elevator	12	28
Bicycles	9	145
Games, exercises, wrestling, boxing, etc.	2	93

In spite of all the traffic on the railways these figures show that motor accidents caused twice as many deaths as were caused on the railways and ten times as many non-fatal accidents.

Naturally a large proportion of the fatal accidents occurred in Toronto, as might be expected, in view of the heavy traffic in the streets of that city.

Fifty-four people were killed in Toronto, twenty-eight being children under 16 years of age, while throughout the Province 95 children were victims of fatal motor accidents during the year.

Just when the Motor Show has concentrated attention on the automobile and with the motoring season getting under way, would be a splendid time for a resolve on the part of every motorist to make the 1924 accident list much more creditable than last year's figures.

The Examiner agrees most heartily with the London Advertiser in the following suggestion:

"Drivers of cars must learn the lesson. They must anticipate that children are going to do the very things they should not do.

"A child should stay on the sidewalk, but the chances are that it will run out on the road.

"The driver approaching you on the country highway seems determined to reach the narrow culvert first: you can see no reason why he should, but let him do it.

"At the corner you may be certain that all the rules of the road give you the right-of-way.

"Remember that the old driver can tell you there is no such thing as a right-of-way.

"Don't get into a wreck to demonstrate your knowledge of road rules.

"Don't be alarmed because people refer to you as a slow old driver.

"You'll wind up a happy season with your car and your family in good shape."

The Toronto Star comments upon the waste represented by the money spent on liquor under Government control in Quebec, but the fact that Ontario people paid nearly five million dollars into the Ontario Government dispensaries, last year to say nothing of what was paid to bootleggers, leaves this Province with very little to boast about.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., April 27. — A steady feeling with prices unchanged marked the cash grain market Saturday. There is a better feeling in flour. Trade in mill feed was reported quiet and the market for rolled oats was slow. The undertone to the egg market was decidedly easy but without price changes so far.

Total receipts from May 1 to date were 685,186 cases as against 635,776 cases for the same period last year. A fair trade is passing in butter. Tot l receipts frm May 1 to date were 1 7,853 packages less than in 1922-23. Demand for cheese is maintained at the slightly better prices of the end of the week. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 120,170 boxes larger than in the same period a year ago.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, April 27.—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today: Sterling demand 4.4575; sterling cable 4.4613.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 27. — Higher prices attained in the wheat market to-day to some extent due to acceptance by the Allies of the Dawes plan, and acceptance of new German credits in this country. Profit-taking sales, however, led to a setback from the day's top prices. Wheat closed unsettled, 1-8 to 3-8c. net gain, May $1.03 1-2 to 1.03 5-8 and July 1.05 1-2 and 5-8, to $1.05 5-8, with corn 1-4c. to 5-8c. down; oats 1-8c. to 1-4 and 3-8c. off and provisions unchanged to a decline of 12c.

Wheat trading showed a somewhat larger volume to-day than has recently been the rule and the market scored a material fresh advance during the early dealings. Buyers generally construe Dawes plan developments as helpful toward a larger European demand for wheat. A similar view was also taken in regard to better credit facilities which Germany had secured on this side of the Atlantic. Besides, freezing temperatures, both in the domestic spring crop belt and in many of the winter wheat states tended further to lift prices, sellers showing litte desire meanwhile for new ventures in the face of possible enactment of the McNary-Haugen Bill and other farm measures at Washington.

ODDFELLOWS VISIT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Annual Church Parade Addressed By Rev. Robt. Pogue on "Friendship"—A Tenet of Fraternalism.

St. Paul's Church was comfortably filled last night for the annual church parade of the Oddfellow organizations of the city, and an inspiring address was given by the pastor, Rev. Robert Pogue.

Peterborough Lodge 111, Otonabee Lodge 13 and Rebekah Golden Link Lodge 81 were present in force. The occasion was marked by the rendition of several musical numbers by the Oddfellow Male Voice Choir, under Martin Chenhall, A.R.C.O., organist of the church. These included "God Is Love," in which the church choir took part, and "Lead Kindly Light," a solo by Edward Jones. The parade was marshalled by Colonel J. W. Miller, P.G., of Otonabee Lodge.

An appeal was made by Joseph Wearing for support of the Y. M. C. A. in the campaign that is being made this week. In pointing out the worth of the organization Mr. Wearing said it is as firmly embedded in the life of the world as the Christian church.

Rev. Mr. Pogue recalled that when the Oddfellows visited St. Paul's about ten years ago he preached on "Truth," and yesterday evening he took a second side of the organization's triangle, "Friendship." Friendship is something everyone needs, and to have plenty of friends is to be rich indeed, if they be true friends. The word "friend," like "love," has suffered much through contact with the world. "Friendship" is almost a synonym for "love." Love covers all that is meant in the word "friend," relieving the wants of others, forgiving one another, helping strangers. That is love that is greater than the eloquence of angels. The loving heart is eternal, and even the cup of water is far reaching and its memory will live forever.

"If you are my friend you will always judge my character charitably," the speaker said. "Let no man call me friend who believes all that the gossip-loving world tells of me, and perhaps gives currency to it also. This is a high standard—to cover your friend with a mantle of charity that covers a multitude of sins and when he falls your hand is extended to help him."

Friendship is Charitable.

Jesus' friends were not always true in their friendship—they failed when they were needed most, but He finds an excuse for them. "The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak." A friend will always judge charitably every other member of an organization that aims to make friends.

A true friend will always rejoice with the "good luck" of his friend.

There is seldom found in organizations the same oneness of spirit as there is between husband and wife—but why not? If we fail to join in the joys and sorrows of our friends we are unworthy the name of friends.

The speaker urged the beauty of sympathy in illness and distress, and said a visit of a few minutes' duration will work wonders with a sick person.

A friend is one in whom confidence can be placed. Every man needs an inner circle of friends to whom he can tell the secrets of his life. "We are far too faithless to our friends. That's why they don't come to us in their sorrows and needs."

Friendship is a constant challenge to prove worthy of the friend who is attracted to you. "When anyone admits me to the inner sanctuary of his friendship I should say, 'He will never have cause to regret it.' There is a constant challenge in friendship."

"There is only one true friend who will never fail you, and you can never be a true friend to anyone unless you know Jesus," the minister said. "Only Jesus can be truly charitable at all times. Your friends may not understand the circumstances and refuse to listen to explanation, but Jesus knows it all and judges charitably. He knows the depths of life and He will speak words of comfort to you. Jesus is the friend of all."

SOCCER CROWDS WERE REDUCED

Manchester City Team Delayed Two Hours By Wreck at Euston — Chelsea and Leeds Drew 20,000 Spectators.

LONDON, April 28 (Canadian Press Cable). — The Cup final detracted from the interest in League football on Saturday afternoon, and no doubt partly accounted for the smaller attendances. The largest crowd was 20,000 at the Chelsea and Leeds United grounds.

Chelsea, led by Brown, rose to great heights in defeating Sunderland by 4 to 1. Eighteen thousand spectators watched Manchester City defeat West Ham by 2 to 1. The former team were held by the Euston train smash, only reaching the West Ham grounds two hours after the advertised time for the match to start. Browell put the visitors ahead seven minutes after the start. The Manchester goalie was hurt just before the interval, and during his absence Moore headed through an equaliser for West Ham from New's centre. Browell scored the winning goal for Manchester centre seven minutes after the interval.

Attendances of 15,000 at each centre were registered at the Cardiff City-Birmingham game won by the former 2 to 0, and at the Liverpool-Notts County game won by the Lancastrians 1 to 0.

Birmingham met with an early misfortune at Cardiff when Womack broke his nose in a collision and suffered slight concussion.

Arsenal defeated Preston 2 to 0, and in this match Harrison hurt his back and was out of the game. It was only brilliant saves by Prout that kept Arsenal from scoring more goals.

Second Division.

In the Second Division Oldham Athletics, playing at home, met defeat by Southampton by 3 to 1. This is their first defeat since January.

Southampton won as the result of brilliant play in the first fifteen minutes, during which Rawlings, their centre forward, scored all three goals, two of them by wonderfully clever headers. Other performers of the Patrick were Hine, who scored three of Barnsley's five goals against Crystal Palace's two; Moule for Millwall, who defeated Merthyr 6 to 0; Bertram for Durham City, who defeated Wrexham 4 to 3; and Dent for Grimsby, who beat Barrow 5 goals to 0.

Millwall gave a splendid all-round display, and four of their goals were scored in the first half.

Brentford well deserved their 1 to 0 victory over Northampton. This ensures the escape of the team from relegation. Unfortunately Johnstone collided with an opponent and fractured his shin.

Cardiff At Top.

Cardiff City are now at the head of the First League table by a point over Huddersfield, with Sunderland relegated to third position.

The next eight teams are unchanged. Birmingham fell to fourteenth place, below Manchester City and Liverpool, while Tottenham rise to fifteenth place above West Bromwich and Burnley. Arsenal and Preston displace one another with the last three teams unaltered.

Leeds United, with a game in hand, now hold a three-point lead over Bury, and appear to be certain champions of the Second Division. Derby displace Blackpool with Stoke fifth. Southampton and Oldham change positions ,and are followed by Shields and Clapton. Barnsley and Leicester rise above The Wednesday and Stockport, who are followed by Manchester, Hull, Crystal Palace, Bradford City, Port Vale, Coventry, Fulham, Nelson and Bristol.

Southern Section.

Portsmouth and Millwall still lead the Southern Section of the Third Division with a point between them although the Pompeiians have a game in hand. Plymouth are secure in third place, and are followed by Swansea. Northampton sink to eighth place below Luton and Swindon. Bristol Rovers remain in ninth place, followed by Newport, Norwich, Charlton, Aberdare, Gillingham, and Merthyr. Exeter and Reading are unchanged. Brentford jump over South-End and Watford, while Queen's Park's heavy defeat by 3 to 0 by Exeter City sends them right into the cellar below Bournemouth.

The first six places in the Northern Section of the Third Division are unchanged with Wolverhampton and Rochdale still equal in points at the top, although the farmer has the better goal average. Southport drops below Ashington, while Wigan secures precedence over Grimsby. Doncaster's victory away from home by 2 to 0 over Crewe carries them to eleventh position, with Halifax, Durham, Tranmere, Accrington, Wrexham, Walsall, New Brighton, Lincoln, Crewe, Hartlepool, and Barrow completing the list.

PUBLIC OPINION IN JAPAN

By MOTO TAKATA.

OSAKA, Japan, April 28 (By Mail to United Press).—Public opinion in Japan is deeply aroused by the renewed anti-Japanese movement in the United States. Rather strange to say, the strongest impulse toward resentment was caused by the fact that United States generosity toward Japan had been so recently manifested in the days following the earthquake that it was like a blow in the face from the fist of a friend.

First came the report of the United States Supreme Court's decision upholding the alien land law in California and Washington. Then came the news of the insertion of an anti-Japanese clause into the newly proposed immigration bill. This was sufficient to stir the sensitive feelings of the Japanese, which were more aroused when it was learned that Senator Jones of Washington proposed a bill to amend the Constitution so as to deprive American-born Japanese of citizenship. The report was not first believed as authentic, but on its confirmation almost a shock was felt by the whole nation.

It was almost incomprehensible to the average Japanese, who was so much impressed with the American sympathy and friendship at the time of the recent national calamity. The people were perplexed and excited, and some went so far as to say that it was the issue involving the dignity of the nation.

Even to this element of the people it was quite clear that this was purely a domestic question and that America has the perfect right to define who shall and who shall not be allowed to enter her territory. But they think it should be done more reasonably and fairly.

Blamed on Politics.

More well-informed elements see the situation in a quite different way. They are familiar with American politics and politicians, and know this is the election year and that the anit-Japanese agitation is invariably made the tools of political campaigns. But even those elements look on the situation with deep regret, knowing that these events are harmful to the further development of the friendly relation between the two nations. They have urged the Government to take necessary steps to save the situation.

What they desire can be summarized in two points: first, negotiation between the two Governments through diplomatic means; and, second, the appointment of a joint commission composed of prominent persons of both countries.

By the first means they want to solve the imminent difficulties, but they deem the second more important. They want to make the commission an authoritative organization, charged with power to find the way to a definite and final settlement of all outstanding questions between the two nations.

If such state of things be left unremedied and the present anti-Japanese movement develops into a more widespread one, which cannot be said altogether impossible, they believe the consequence will be a serious diplomatic problem, menacing the happy relations cementing the two nations.

The establishment of such a high commission had several times been recommended by the prominent people of both countries, but failed owing to the lack of support by public opinion.

To Correct Japan.

At the same time there is a strong movement in Japan to correct what is wrong with Japan and Japanese. A necessary measure has already been taken to remove the dual nationality difficulty, which has incited a good deal of criticism in America, and the Minister of Foreign Affairs has pubelicly declared that the alien land law in Japan should be fundamentally revised so as to provide for the granting of land titles on foreigners in Japan.

At any rate, at the coming extra session of the new Parliament, which is expected to be convened in June, there will be considerable discussion on this topic.

PROBE OF BANK WAS SUGGESTED SIX YEARS AGO

Former Assistant to the President of the Home Bank Testified Enquiry Could Have Been Made Quietly During Easter Holiday.

WROTE TO WHITE.

OTTAWA, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—That an inspection of the Home Bank by independent auditors could have been made quietly without exposing the bank to a run was positively stated before the Royal Commission investigating the defunct institution Saturday. W. A. Machaffie, former assistant to the president of the Home Bank, was the witness who made this statement, and he declared also that in March, 1918, he had suggested the advisability of an investigation by the Canadian Bankers' Association. In making this suggestion to R. P. Gough, vice-president of the bank, he had mentioned that an independent investigation could be made quietly during the Easter holiday and that no one in the bank need be aware of it.

"Had Mr. Clarkson been asked to make an investigation, he could have summoned Mr. Mason (the general manager) and myself to his office and tested the accuracy of the bank's statements by having the document brought,' said Mr. aMchaffie.

"It would have been perfectly possible to have an outside audit made without shaking the bank's position?' asked Eugene Lafleur, counsel for the Government.

"Yes," replied Mr. Machaffie, "an examination would not have been difficult for a qualified man."

His Estimate of Accounts

Mr. Machaffie was questioned first by W. T. Lee and second by R. J. McLaughlin, both counsel for the depositors. Finally he was examined by Eugene Lafleur, K.C., Government counsel. He stated that he was convinced in 1917 that the bank would have to be taken over, and he even went so far as to figure up its value to another institution. By this method he discovered that in the Toronto office alone there were accounts totalling $5,507,000 which would not have been taken over at their face value by another bank. Other accounts in the Toronto office he valued at $2,400,000.

Mr. Machaffie was the author of a letter to Sir Thomas White in August 1918, in which he expresses strong criticism of certain of the bank's transactions and charged violation of the Bank Act by the president and certain of the directors. This was written after he had left the bank.

To counsel he explained that he had put the case before Sir Thomas out of a sense of public duty. "If the letter had had the effect which I thought it would have, of closing the bank's doors, I would have been a heavy loser,' he said. He explained that the bank was in his debt and that he would not have been given a settlement if there had been a failure. Even as it was he had been forced to threaten suit before being paid.

He had drafted a letter to Sir Thomas White in February, 1918, making charges against Mr. Haney and declaring that three important loans were "in a precarious condition." At the time that he left the service and received his settlement, he had signed a letter retracting the charges made in the former document. In answer to Mr. Lafleur Mr. Machaffie agreed that this letter was "exhorted" from him, that it had been drafted by counsel for the Home Bank, and that he was influenced in signing it by the fact that he wanted a settlement and he had confidence in his own solicitor. He admitted that some of the statements made in that letter were based on gossip, but that others should not have been retracted. The statement that Mr. Haney as president of bank was practically "a dictator" should not have been retracted, nor should the one that Mr. Haney had adopted a policy of trying to rehabilitate the bank by a series of speculative ventures in steamships.

At the conclusion of the examination of Mr. Machaffie, the commission adjourned to meet again on Tuesday at ten o'clock in the morning.

FOUR KILLED IN WRECK OF FOOTBALL SPECIAL

Between Thirty and Forty Persons Injured In Collision at Mouth of Tunnel Near Euston Station — Rescue Work Difficult.

LONDON, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—An early commuters' train crashed into a special train from North England Saturday near Euston Station and four persons were killed and between thirty and forty injured. The casualities were among those riding in the rear coach of the special, which was bringing spectators for the association football match at the Wembley Stadium, and those in the forward coach of the commuters' train, as these cars were telescope.

The smash-up took place at the mouth of a tunnel, and the rescue parties had great difficulty in carrying on their work.

Recent experiments prove that a good food for cows can be made from pine sawdust, treated with certain non-injurious acids under steam pressure.

THE WHOLE FAMILY WAS LAID UP WITH SEVERE COLDS

WINDOW DECORATION IS IMPORTANT IN BRINGING OUT FEATURES OF ROOM

Many Questions Should Be Considered Before the Material and Plans Are Decided — Needs of Rooms Vary.

TO-DAY'S EFFECTS.

Before choosing materials for a given window there are several important details to consider, and several decisions to make, before one can, as some one has so cleverly put it, "begin to start to commence."

Shall you exclude the view or frame it? Must there be plenty of light? Is the woodwork decorative, passible or ugly? Should the room be heightened or lowered by the lines of the drapes? There,—that is a questionnaire to be sure. And each question is important.

The country house with all the beauties of nature surrounding it, has no need for heavy curtains, and in many cases the outside view that one loves is best framed by an unpatterned texile.

The city house presents a more difficult problem. Where the outlook consists of brick walls or unsightly roofs or, perchance, the alley, there one needs to shut away the views entirely, and often this means cutting off the light as well.

Then there is the problem of the remodeled house where the woodwork is old and battered, or perhaps ugly in design. There one needs a valance, and side drapes that will effectively conceal the offending window frames.

Problems of Temperament.

Besides all these problems that confront the home decorator there is that much more elusive matter—temperament. The young miss loves bow knots and will trim her valance with them, or have little formal flat bouquets, lace edged, for tie-backs. How would the boy like his windows done? Surely not the same. One boy's room is quite fascinating with simple walnut furniture, and old secretary, black silhouettes on the walls and straight drapes, with black figures on them.

One instinctively resists the idea of fussy trimmings for a man's room and while he may enjoy bright chintz sometimes, it must be formally hung, straight, or with a stiff tie-back...

Sharply contrasting with his, the man's ,natural desire for simplicity, comes the fluffy, suffled taffeta confection for milady's window, hung over row after row of ruffled scrim glass curtains.

Wooden Curtain Rings.

When one speaks of linens it promptly brings to mind the use of wooden rings that has become so popular. These are painted a color selected from the linen pattern, or black. And the curtain rods themselves have become a beautiful decorative part of the whole scheme. For many of them are of wrought iron with twisted finials and further enriched by graceful iron ornaments at the centre.

Painted cast iron tie-backs have many possibilities. A pair may take a contrasting color to that of the curtains, a color to match the woodwork, or be painted many soft colors where the design suggests a bouquet. Formal combinations of dull gold and black are sometimes made of carved wood, sometimes of metal.

In the printed materials, hand blocked lines are appropriate for some rooms. Glazed chintz is always good and comes in both large and small patterns. One of the newer mterials is toile de jouy. The designs used in this drapery stuff are usually classic in character, with a decided French influence, and enjoy displaying animals or figures or both. There is, of necessity, a certain formality about them which will not appeal to every one, and which limits their use to the right room; toile de jouy in the wrong room would indeed be awful to contemplate.

What shall one say of edgings? There is so vast a selection, that every sort of combination is possible. A favorite with taffeta is a ruffled or pleated edge of the stuff itself or a picquot edge in points.

Fringe for Curtains.

Fringe is used for many linens and cretonnes, adding occasionally a quaint tassel here and there. Drops of jade may be effectively used on a valance of Chinese lines. Gayer still is the use of sprays of glass flowers connected by swags of crystal beads.

Beads—wooden ones have been used for fringe and what could be more unusual and distinctive?

Among the novel combinations of materials is that ruffled dotted swiss in colors with a patterned linen. Narrow ruffles of orchid alternated with gold to form the valance, from under which hung straight drapes of the linen. The bed spread in this pretty room completed the idea with similar ruffles of the swiss for its valance.

There is among all these suggestions ample opportunity for each of us to make our windows genuinely artistic; the best rule by which this may be accomplished is to combine utility with beauty.

CAVAN NEWS

CAVAN, April 28.—The roads are quite dry again and the land is also drying quickly. Many farmers are working in the fields.

Mrs. R. Matchett and Archie spent Wednesday and Thursday at Mr. G. Wilson's, Lifford.

A number of the Cavan young people attended the dance in Bethany on Friday evening.

The Misses Lola and Mary Carley, Shelbourne, are spending the week-end in Cavan. They attended the dance in Bethany on Friday evening with Mr. J. and Miss C. Braithwaite.

Mrs. C. Perrin, Oakwood, and Miss Winnifred Perrin, Little Brittain, spent a few days of this week with Mrs. F. M. Staples.

Master Charlie Parnell, Newcastle, is spending his vacation with friends in Cavan.

Mr. Bissell, Toronto, and Col. and Mrs. Earchman, Carleton Place, were Easter guests of Miss Essie and Mr. L. Hutchison.

Will Repeat Play.

On Friday evening, May 2nd, Bethany talent will repeat the play, "Civil Service," in Cavan Community Hall, under the auspices of St. John's Church Ida.

The cast of characters is as follows: R. S. D., a mystery (Walter Rowland), Mr. Reynolds, postmaster (Frank Bigelow), Mr. Cochran, post office inspector (Bruce Ryley), Simpson Peavy, mailing clerk (Cecil McGill), Steve Audaine, money order clerk (Mr. Maples), Goldie Wex, country boy (Frank Hanna), Octavia Reynolds, postmaster's daughter (Kathleen McCartney), Mrs. Jeff, a lady of importance, and Miss Goldstein, a collector (Clara Reynolds), Birdie Bivins, hired girl (Verna Bella Lee), Kate Kenyon, the stamp clerk (Mae McGill). Good music will also form part of the programme.

A.Y.P.A. At Home.

On Thursday evening the Anglican Young People held a very pleasant social evening at the home of Mrs. Geo. Sisson. The programme consisted of Progressive euchre and crokinole. There were thirteen tables. Mrs. G. Gow won the ladies' first prize, and Mr. Eugene Touchbourne won the gentlemen's first prize. Consolation prizes went to Miss Audrey Winslow and Mr. Charles Thacker. The receipts were sixteen dollars.

Play at Plainville.

The play, "Dust of the Earth," put on in Cavan Community Hall on Friday evening by Plainville talent was a success.

The play was good and the parts well taken. The young lady who had taken the part of "Elizabeth," when the play was given before, had gone away, and a young lady from the Dramatic Club of Lakefield, where the same play had been given, was secured to act the part. She took her part splendidly, without any practice with the rest of the Plainville people.

The music provided was excellent, Mr. Meredith Perrin gave an interesting recitation, and Rev. Mr. Horwood presided at the piano. There was a good crowd. The proceeds were forty-nine dollars and fifty cents.

Old Fashioned Girl Faints When Hugged

NEW YORK, April 28.—That rarity—a really old-fashioned girl, was found yesterday—and lost.

She was riding on a downtown Lexington Avenue subway. A masher placed his arm around her and smirked. Did she stare at him haughtily or say:

"Lay off that stuff, kid?"

No—she fainted.

By the time she regained consciousness the train had reached Brooklyn Bridge. She blushed furiously, refused to appear as complainant against the masher, and disappeared in the throng.

Policewoman Ellen Newman witnessed the performance and arrested Segundo Escudero (23), of No. 198 One Hundredth Street. He was found guilty when arraigned before Magistrate Smith and remanded to the Tombs to await investigation and sentence.

Grain Vessels Crowd Fort William Harbor.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. April 28.—The harbor was full of ships Saturday, fifteen grain boats and two freighters having cleared from the ports by Friday night. More than four million bushels of wheat and six hundred thousand bushels of coarse grain, including oats, flaxseed and barley, went east, the grand total for the day being 4,838,000 bushels shipped. Including Saturday's shipments, there have been shipped since the first boat cleared on the 17th, no less than 23,188,000 bushels of all grains.

HOUSE SHORTAGE CAUSED BY LACK OF SKILLED MEN.

Not Enough Workmen In England to Build Houses Necessary If Danger Is to Be Averted.

LONDON, Apr. 28 (United Press).—The reason there are not enough houses in England is that there are not enough skilled workmen to build them.

This is the conclusion the government has reached after vain attempts, since 1919, to cure the housing shortage by paying a bonus for each new dwelling constructed. Houses have been built right along under that scheme—all the houses have been built, authorities say, that it was humanly possible for all the bricklayers, plasterers, slaters, carpenters, etc., in England to build.

But there just were not, and are not, enough craftsmen in England to build in a few years enough houses to offset the shortage resulting from the war years when there was no building at all.

Build Building Force

Therefore the present government has decided to take a new tack in attempting to meet the house-shortage problem. The idea now is to try to create a much greater force of building-trades workmen in England, by putting into training as soon as possible a large force of apprentices, and continuing to feed a stream of apprentices into the building-trades hopper until, throughout the country, there is created a sufficiently large trained force to build all the houses England needs.

This is the idea of Minister of Health Wheatley, whose department has jurisdiction of the housing problem. Everyone is agreed that it is a perfectly splendid idea—if the unions of the various building trades will agree, and if they will accept the proposed swarm of apprentices and teach them the trades and turn the new men out to compete with the old established workmen.

Upon the attitude of these unions hinges the solution of the English housing shortage, and upon the solution of that problem depends, perhaps, the avoidance of serious manifestations of social unrest, it is believed by authorities.

The question seems, largely, to be whether the Labor government can get some of its own most powerful labor unions to "play the game" in carrying out this government plan.

All Builders Employed

Despite the great general unemployment in England, statistics show that virtually all men in the house-building trades are employed, and have been since the war. Officials in the labor department say every bricklayer, plasterer, carpenter, etc., in England is at work if he wants a job. Unskilled workmen cannot build houses if they tried, and the union wouldn't permit them to try if they could. The only way to get more skilled workmen for house-building is to have the unions take them in as apprentices and teach them the trades.

The fear of the unions, or at least of some of the building trades union men, is that they will jeopardize their own future jobs if they turn loose upon England an army of houre-builders. "What will happen when all the houses are built? Then we'll all be out of work," they say.

The advocater of the Wheatley plan reply that it will be years before the existing shortage can be overcome, and that thereafter the demand for new houses to meet the increase in population, and for repairs to old houses, will give every house-builder a job.

Before the war the building trades unions limited carefully the number of apprentices they would accept. They maintained at all times a total supply of skilled union workmen just sufficient to meet the normal demands for new building each year.

Kept Supply Low

Perhaps, in fact, they kept the force somewhat below requirements, in order to insure sufficient work. Their theory was that the building trades give "seasonal work" only—that during bad winter weather and rainy periods house-builders have to lay off; therefore during the fair period when they can work they must be sure of employment at good wages.

Therefore England came out of the war with a greatly depleted force of house-builders. Many had been killed in the war. Not many apprentices had been trained. Only a limited number have been trained since the war. Meanwhile, no houses had been built during the war, and far from enough have been built to meet demands since the war.

So, accepting average estimates, England needs something like 500,000 houses. The money and materials can be secured. But skilled men to do th work are not available. The Labor government is trying to persuade labor unions to train this force—and thereby avert a possible social crisis.

HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page—a pretty country girl has awakened from a brief and unhappy love affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore—a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of

Mrs. Vansittart—wealthy woman, who owns Winston Towers, a charming country home. Another of her guests is

Virginia Dale—a blase beauty, who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her mind on capturing

Peter Armstrong—a clever young inventor, much attracted to Prudence. The latter goes to New York, is caught in a fire and taken to hospital. Peter comes to see her, but the arrival of Bert Traymore leads Peter to think that Prudence cares for Traymore, and not for him.

CHAPTER LV

The 'One Thing.'

"We'll give the lovers another five minutes, bless their happy hearts!" announced the trim young nurse as she gently closed the ward door behind herself and Peter Armstrong, and led the way along the corridor to the top of the staircase.

Peter did not speak. He could not at that moment. What seemed to him the perfidy of Prudence had struck him like a death-blow.

She, who had answered his kiss with lover-like response, had yielded to the embraces of another!

"They're engaged, you know," went on the nurse. "Sister's just told me. It seems he saw her when he arrived here, and explained how the land lay. I—now, wasn't it funny?—I thought you were her fiance at the first?"

Peter didn't think it in the least bit funny. He was white to the very lips, if the chattering young woman by his side had been sufficiently observant to notice that.

She led the way downstairs.

"You can go in the waiting room, if you like." Indeed, she wasn't at all adverse to keeping him company there.

"No, thanks, I shan't stay." H wanted to leave the place at once. He dare not trust himself to another encounter with Bert Traymore.

At that very moment, however, an elegantly attired young lady appeared in the doorway of the waiting room and hailed Peter by name.

It was Virginia Dale!

Peter was ready to confound the girl, who always seemed to bob up when one was least expecting her, and when certainly one least wished to see her.

"Oh, Peter. I must talk to you for a moment! How very lucky that we've met!" She darted out into the carbolic-smelling corridor, and—ignoring the trim nurse who felt she had been unjustly done out of a promising flirtation with a most attractive man—drew Peter into the waiting room, closing the door behind her cautiously.

"How on earth did you find your way here?" counter-thrust Peter, ungraciously. He leant against the bare wood table of the waiting room and stared in dumb misery at Virginia.

But—lovely as she was—he scarcely saw her. In her place was a slim, young, boyish-headed vision in a cot upstairs, with dark eyes all aglow with love and longing.

Love?

She had made a travesty of the word! Those eyes had lied to him. . . .

Even at this moment, she was gazing into the eyes of Traymore with that self-same look . . .

"I was coming up to town, as things had got too awkward at the Towers," Virginia was saying, plaintively and with an insinuation which at first, he did not catch though later, to his undoing, it was to become painfully familiar. "Bert offered to come with me, and we stopped for a moment at the post-office, so that I might send a telegram to a woman I know in town who'd put me up for a day or so until——"—here Virginia looked challengingly at Peter—"until things should blow over."

Peter didn't take up the challenge. Virginia went on:

"You know how gossipy these little country post-offices always are? Well, it seems a telegram had just come through to the Page family from this hospital, saying where Prudence was. The clerk couldn't resist reading it to us, and as we were going up to town anyhow, and the train was due to start in about five minutes, Bert was mighty glad to get the new of course."

Peter raised his head.

"Why 'of course'?" He had a terrible premonition what the answer might be, and the premonition was quite justified when Virginia, in a cleverly casual tone, replied:

"Well, they're engaged, aren't they? And isn't it rather natural he should be anxious?

Peter didn't speak, and she went on, carelessly:

"I think Bert has shown up rather well in a difficult position. The little affair at the Towers might have put him off—oh, you know what I mean—don't look so stern, Peter, dear!—I'm not hinting for a moment that she took the jewels and the money, for I'm sure she didn't. But you know that Bert's type—indeed, that most of us"—here she sobered up, and sighed—"most of us are slaves to public opinion, aren't we?

"I must be going," said Peter Armstrong, brusquely. He couldn't stand this sort of talk another moment. Had she called him into this room to 'rub it in' more painfully?

"But you mustn't go! I haven't come to the important bit yet." Virginia was concerned and suppliant.

"Well." With unflattering haste Peter drew out his watch.

The girl put a hand upon his arm.

"It's so difficult to tell you. You—you must help me out, Peter."

"I don't understand. Won't you say what you have to say, quick, and let me get away?"

Virginia blinked her beautiful made-up eyes, hoping a gleam of tears might show and soften the hard heart.

"I'm in a ghastly predicament, Peter. It isn't your fault, and it isn't my fault, except that I wanted to help that poor Prudence in her trouble . . . and by doing so, I got myself into a worse trouble than hers—far worse, because, after all, one's reputation is the only thing in the world that really matters to a girl—you understand. Oh, help me out, Peter! I can't say it!"—and with consummate art Virginia forced big tears to her eyes and let them trickle over the long, darkened lashes, like two pearls of sorrow.

"Good heavens! Speak out!"

"It's my good name, Peter, darling!" Virginia cast decorum to the winds, slipping her hand up to his shoulder and tilting her face towards his. "Oh, Peter, you won't cast me off? You'll save my reputation, won't you? Promise you will!"

"But what have I done?" The amazed young man looked down on the lovely, pleading face.

"You—we——" Virginia swallowed hard, as though choking over the unmaidenly predicament. "We spent the night—practically the whole of it—under your roof——"

"Great guns!" ejaculated Peter. "You mean the gossips are talking? Is that it? But I couldn't turn you out into the storm—to drown, or be killed by lightning, or a fallen tree, could I? What else would you have had me do?"

With imploring eyes and trembling lips she blurted out:

There's only one thing will save my good name, Peter. It's a hard, suspicious world, and cruel to us women——"

"What's the 'one thing'," he demanded.

"That you tell the world that you and I are going to be married!" was she flung at him.

BALLOON TIRES CAUSE A DOUBT AMONG MAKERS

Are Generally Conceded Superior to Regular High Pressure Type of Tire, But Disagreement Exists Even Among Producers.

NEED A STANDARD.

By ISRAEL KLEIN.

Balloon tires generally are conceded superior to the regular high-pressure type, yet there is so much doubt and disagreement among tire manufacturers over sizes and types that most auto makers are waiting for the cloud to clear away before they will adopt the balloon tire as regular equipment.

At present there are two types of balloon tires—the full balloon and the semi-balloon or balloon-type tires.

The full balloon tire is the kind having much larger cross-sectional area than the regular type and using almost twice as much air at about half the pressure. It is highly flexible due to the fact that its side walls are four-ply, instead of six or eight-ply.

The semi-balloon tire is practically an over-sized cord, with less plies in its sidewall fabric construction and with less pressure.

Due to the much larger size of the balloon, the wheel must be smaller, so that the over-all diameter of the wheel and balloon tire is the same as that of the regular wheel and high-pressure tire.

Differences.

Use of the semi-balloon tire on the regular-sized wheel, however, in creases the over-all diameter.

Some tire makers contend this wheel diameter is not changed, because the weight of the auto flattens the soft tire down to the regular diameter. The contention is also made that, despite this difference in diameter, the gear ratio is not changed appreciably, and the tires do not interfere with fenders, brakes or frame.

That, however, is open to dispute among the tire makers themselves.

But it isn't their major cause of difference. The chief contention lies in the sizes best suited for general use.

Two manufacturers, for instance, advise a 31 by 5.25 balloon tire to replace a 31 or 32 by 4 high-pressure casing. But when it comes to the larger tires, one offers only an inch larger size with the same diameter of casing, while the other has balloon casings ranging in diameter up to 7.3 inches to replace a 5-inch high-pressure casing.

Another Type.

Now the tire manufacturers plan to widen this difference even further. Some are contemplating a compromise between the full balloon tire and the semi-balloon. It is an effort to meet certain objections made by the auto makers, and at the same time appraoch the full balloon tire as closely as possible.

The result is auto makers are wary of adopting the balloon tire. Some 16 or 18 have done so with regard to one make of tire. But even they leave it to the auto buyer to decide whether he wants balloon or high-pressure tire equipment.

Tire makers suggest they may get together eventually and standardize their balloon tire types and sizes, just as they did their high-pressure tires soon after the war. At present, however, they are working individually and apparently against one another.

WHAT SILVER WINGS DID

"Do hurry," the frog kept saying.

Nancy and Nick started back to Doofunny Land, taking the green frog with them.

"Do hurry," the frog kept saying, looking back nervously toward the pond to see if the brown mink was following. "Do you think the fairy will be gone?"

"I think not," said Nancy. "She would wait to see how you liked yourself."

"Well, I don't like myself a bit and I want her to change me back the way I used to be. I wasn't afraid of anything then except the wooden waddle duck."

When they arrived, there were Mister Fuzz Wuzz and Silver Wings and everybody waiting anxiously to see what had happened.

"Well, did you like it?" asked Silver Wings when she spied the little green fellow in Nick's hand.

"No, I didn't," said the frog. "An enormous beast was after me and I hear that is usually the end of all real frogs. I'd rather be made of cotton and paper and last a while longer."

"That's the way with me," squeaked the little tin mouse. "In Doofunny Land I have only the patent-leather cat and the stocking kitten to fear, and neither of them are very fast runners."

"And you know how much chance bunnies have!" declared the cotton rabbit, flapping his long, limber ears.

"The only thing is," quacked the duck, "we all miss the children. What will we do when the Twins go home?"

Suddenly the little fairy had an idea. "I know what I'll do!" she cried. "What do you say if I fix each of you up like new, and then take you to the houses of children who haven't many toys."

Instantly there were so many voices all yelling at once that the fairy had to put her hands over her ears.

"All right! All right!" she laughed. "But remember you won't stay new long. You'll lose ears and tails and get dinged and lose your paint and be left out in the rain and everything. It's always that way when kiddies play with toys."

"We don't care! We don't care!" sang all the Doofunny Landers.

"Please do hurry," croaked the little frog. "You haven't changed me back yet and the mink may come any minute."

"I'll begin on you," said Silver Wings, waving her wand.

Instantly the little shivering frog changed back into a puffy, cotton frog with tissue-paper skin. He looked very happy.

Then one by one she changed all the toys, and made them like new, except the Cut-out. They were so old-fashioned that they needed a new set of clothes altogether.

The Twins helped Silver Wings to take the toys to their new homes.

As for Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man, he wanted to go back to his old home and live with his master, who made him.

Nancy and Nick said goodby to Silver Wings, but as she flew away she called, "I think the Fairy Queen has a new adventure for you."

HOUSING BIGGEST PROBLEM BEFORE BRITISH CABINET.

They Need Quick Action, But Apparently There Is No Way In Which It Can Be Secured.

By CLARENCE BU BOSE.

LONDON, April 28.—(United Press).—Wanted immediately, half a million new houses to relieve the dwelling-shortage in England! However, a smaller number would be gratefully accepted, if only they could be secured quickly.

That represents one of the most serious problems the MacDonald Labor Government confronts, and one of the most serious any English Government will confront for several years—although there is no dearth of problems, all of which are accurately described as serious.

Authorities here say that general social unrest is being increased more directly by the housing shortage than by any other single factor. Some fear serious ultimate consequences unless this unrest is stilled.

Since the war, England has attempted encouragement of dwelling construction by payments of subsidies to builders. The results have been inadequate—a mere drop in the bucket by comparison with the needs.

Need Quick Action.

New plans are now being formulated, but admittedly no plan can get quick action, or at least quick enough action. The Government has no magic wand or Aladdin's lamp whereby several hundred thousand houses can be brought into existence out of thin air overnight. All plans being formulated necessarily contemplate some years for realization. And meanwhile three or four million people, or more, are persistently demanding that the Government give them relief—that is, more houses. The Government can't—at once. It will probably be some years before any Government plans can relieve, to any substantial degree, the housing shortage in England.

Will endurance or discontent win the race? Will the ill-housed masses, while grumbling, carry on until more houses are built, or vent their discontent in violence?

The English housing shortage, in its present acute stage, is a war inheritance. England simply is short all the dwellings that would have been built from 1914 to 1919 if there had been no war—plus the shortage resulting from slowed-down construction during the few years after the war—and, again, plus the shortage caused by houses that became useless or undesirable as dwellings for want of repairing during the war and post-war years. Estimates of this total shortage vary from 200,000 to almost 1,000,000.

The housing shortage is no worse, according to officials here, in London, Liverpool, Manchester and other large cities than it is in the smaller manufacturing, mining and industrial centres.

The slum districts in the cities are exceedingly congested and overcrowded, but in proportion to total populations, not more so than the poorer quarters in the smaller towns.

With the exception of occasional villages and small towns the housing shortage spreads all over England, and the effort of the Government will be to get building done everywhere, in both small places and cities.

EIGHT SUSPECTS WERE ARRESTED IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—Eight men were taken into custody by private detectives and police during the night, on warrants charging them with complicity in the murder of Henri Cleroux, of the Bank of Hochelaga collection car on April 1. The local police announced that $8,000 in Canadian money was found in the possession of Adam Parrili, arrested in Bridgeport, Conn., yesterday in connection with the crime.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Money invested in factories or homes should be protected by fire and tornado insurance. Appraisals insure insurance.

Frequently owners of property discover after a fire that through insuring on original cost thea mount collected from the insurance companies will not replace the destroyed property. This frequently causes the failure of a business.

Most insurance policies have a provision known as the "Co-Insurance Clause" which states that the companies are liable only for such proportion of the loss as the insurance bears 80% of the value of the property.

If a property would cost $100,000 to replace today, $80,000 insurance should be carried. If only $40,000 is carried and a $20,000 loss occurs, the owner will only collect $10,000.

To determine today's value every property owner should employ an appraisal company and carry insurance on the basis of their report.

Most teeth are clouded by a film—that viscous film you feel. It clings and stays, because no ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. That is what makes teeth unsightly.

Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Such troubles are almost universal among people who don't fight film.

That is why dental science has been seeking film combatants. Two have now been found. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful people of some 50 nations use this tooth paste daily now, and largely by dental advice.

Unique effects
Quick and apparent

Pepsodent brings other new effects. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth. Thus these great tooth enemies are effectively combated.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

A few days bring results which no one can forget. Cut out coupon now.

From the GARDENS of OMAR

The camel bell tinkles in the Eastern marts where Moirs go for tropical fruits

Dates—the famous Hallowee dates—plucked in a garden that Old Omar might have known, by the fingers of a veiled Persian maiden.

Figs—the fruitage of the desert's blooming jewel spots—tender-skinned, rich with flavour and substance—from the trees of Smyrna.

The world's most desired Asiatic fruits are these, highest in taste and fullest of quality.

There are many other varieties of dates and figs, but none like the Turkish and Persian. Centuries of intensive cultivation and climatic conditions tell the story of supreme quality.

And whenever figs and dates are used in Moir's Chocolates you are getting the acme of flavor and quality from the gardens of Asia.

GROWTH OF PETERBORO "Y" HAS BEEN STEADY SINCE ITS INCEPTION

Appeal Is Being Made to Cover Needs of Present Year—Of Value to Boys and Young Men.

On Friday afternoon the officials at the Y.M.C.A. finished the duty of sending out by mail a concise and illuminative appeal to our citizens, setting for the needs of the Association for the present fiscal year. It is simple, conclusive and convincing, that to the utmost the funds earned and subscribed during the year past have been carefully and economically used. It is the intention to place in the press a part of the statement, as the directors are sure that direct publicity and an account of stewardship are due to the public and helpful to the object to be attained.

It is a far call from to-day to the very beginning sof the Y.M.C.A. work in Peterborough. First in 1869, through the efforts of late Sheriff Jas. Hall and William Gilbert the work was instituted and carried on in a most modest way. Several men from town had attended a convention in Toronto, called in the interest of boys' work, and for the devising of plans to promote a better young manhood, and on return to town took up the idea. The "Y" was carried on until 1876 when, for financial reasons, it was discontinued. It was uphill endeavor to raise the money to defray the expenses. Following large interest around, locally, by the Hammond Revival in 1881, a fresh impetus was begun, and re-organized under the care of G. S. Williams who was the first paid secretary of the Association. For a time just after organization, Mr. J. D. Collins acted as secretary, and the headquarters of the "Y" were for a time in the store now occupied by E. F. Mason & Co.

The "Y" moved into two rooms over the store, on George Street, known as "The Fair", and since that time its work has been one of progress. Larger premises became imperative and on the removal of the post office from the corner of George and Brock Streets the "Y" moved in and occupied the upper flat. Then the services of R. J. Colville and a Mr. Stephens were secured and the "Y" grew until it was fairly crowded out of home and secured a place over Long's store, on George Street, where it blossomed out with a small gymnasium and shower baths. These conveniences brought in new members, and especially among the youths and older boys the influence of the Association was felt.

In 1890 the legacy of $20,000 from the Nicholls estate proved to be a most welcome wind-fall. It was husbanded by the directors until the sum reached $27,000, when growing pains became so strong that further delay could not be entertained and the present building was put up at a cost of $13,175, without heating and plumbing, the contractor being ex-Mayor McIntyre. The "Y" moved in during 1897. In 1905 the matter of dormitories was a pressing need and the directors authorized the necessary changes for the purpose. It proved to be a popular move and is now a source of revenue for the institution, the facilities bringing in rentals during the year just closed, $3,342.25, a very material help to the finances. In more recent years, a boys' department was added and by a special effort the money required to erect a substantial addition to accommodate the boys' work was effected. Through all the years the "Y" has, aided by good friends, paid its way, and stands in the very front rank of our local and permanent institutions.

The "Y" asks your favors and support on the ground that it supplies that which is increasingly needed, a place in which the growing boy can find an outlet for his youthful energy, amidst safe and sane surroundings. The boy and youth finds within the walls of the building amusements to gain his attention, and these are safe and sane when conducted amidst the influences that permeate the "Y". Good, sound and solid influences, not of the mamby-pamby sort, but such as inculcate a decent and honorable manhood when added years are attained. Hundreds of men who have enjoyed the "Y" and its cheerful endeavor to mould character in right lines, have their sons in membership. Parents who see to it that the spare hours of their boys are spent at the "Y" do not have to express concern as to where the youths are at night.

"A sane mind in a sound body" is just as good logic as when the phrase was first coined. It has been the maxim of the Association the world over, and applicable in any town, city or clime. Physical development is in the hands and always in the thoughts of a capable instructor. Subsidiary activities are provided that the activity of the boy shall find expression in good ways. The best of outside sports are carried on in season, and the Boy of the "Y" is never found in the street corner gang or back-lane rendezvous. He is guided along lines that help to form for ideals of fairness, decency in action and manner, comradeship where such is appreciated, and to be and act honorably to all.

The boys of to-day will be the men of the future. Start them right along the road that life travels. Let a boy run wild and he will run to bad habits and wrong companionship. That is ever the line of least resistance. But taken in time, when inclinations are being formed and developed, the Boy in the "Y" has a better chance to succeed and rise to be a man of importance that one living outside its influence and taking the chances of life. No boy or youth may be without this great boon and help. It is less than expensive and so much is given without charge that for the boy there is little to pay. Sometimes what one gets for nothing is often thought to be worth just what it costs.

Give the appeal of the "Y" a cordial reception. The Association deserves it, most decidedly.

ENTRIES TO WHEELING MINE ARE ALL BLOCKED

WHEELING, April 28.—(Canadian Press). — Entries to the mine which is a drift mouth were blocked by falling rock and debris, further hindering the work of the rescuers. Deadly fumes are sweeping through the blocked entries.

The slopes fronting the mine mouth soon was crowded with men, women and children. They were unmindful of the drizzling rain, for most of them waited word from their loved ones trapped in the mine.

A report to the State Department of Mines from the Benwood Mine of the Wheeling Steel Corporation said there were only 107 men in the mine at the time it was wrecked by an explosion this morning.

THIRTY HORSES BURNED TO DEATH IN BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, April 28.—(Canadian Press). — Forty-five firemen, were overcome by smoke, 30 horses were burned to death and several hundred persons were driven from their homes early to-day by two Brooklyn fires. The damage was estimated at $300,000.

The first fire destroyed several buildings of a lumber company and 15,000,000 feet of pine lumber.

The second fire was in a paper factory in a densely populated section. The horses were killed in a stable adjoining the lumber company.

FARM JOBS CALL FOR UNEMPLOYED

The Call is in Vain as Unemployed Would Rather Stay in Town.

The unemployed waiting list has decreased from 150 to 127 in the last week. There is plenty of work on the farms for all the unemployed men in this city, but the majority of the men will not accept jobs on the farms. A few men men who have found that they can't live without money or anything to eat have accepted work on the farm, but a great number of work-seekers are still hoping for a factory position.

It is expected that there will be a call for laborers from the large out-of-town saw mills in a short time but at present in Northern Ontario the water is so low in the small creeks that the lumber companies are having a hard job getting their drives down. The MacDonald Lumber Co., of this city, took a number of men back north to work on the drives a few days ago, but the men are practically all experienced workers in this line. There is a number of small jobs about the city but these only last a day or two. Although these jobs do not last long there are quite a number of them and they supply a number of men wth work which was practically impossible to find, except on the farms a few weeks ago. A Toronto contractor was in this city a few days ago enquiring about the wages paid for laborers, and it is expected that some building will start soon.

Last week there were 35 new applicants at the Bureau, and they had 28 placements. About ten of the placements were on farms, while the rest were on small jobs. The textile situation is very poor and there is a large number of experienced men in this line out of work.

THREE FISHERMEN WERE REPORTED LOST AT SEA

BOSTON, April 28. — (Canadian Press).—The loss of three fishermen at sea was reported by the Gloucester schooner Laura Coulart, when she put in here to-day, after a trip to the Lahave Banks, off Nova Scotia. The men, Manuel Natario, Duarte Magellan and Solio Des Cortina, all of Gloucester, were caught in a squall while out in their dories on April 19th, and the boats capsized.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 26 (Special).—Once again Cobourg harbour is being visited by Mexican craft, which quite frequently put in here for shelter last summer. One of these, carrying a "cargo for Mexico," it is stated, got into difficulty just outside the harbour, on a recent windy day, owing to water getting into the coils of the engine. There was quite a strong sea running at the time, but a local fisherman, Mr. William Taylor, went to the boat's assistance and brought it and its cargo safely into the harbour. A little damage was done to the boat about the windows, but nothing serious.

Case in Court.

Cobourg citizens are awaiting with much interest the outsome of the action which Dr. Adam Watson, an ex-councillor, has brought against the town of Cobourg, by issuing a mandemas to compel the town to elect a second deputy-reeve. It is calimed by some that as the town of Cobourg has apparently 2,000 names on the voters list, citizens are entitled to a second deputy-reeve. The matter came up first at the municipal election in January, and the Town Council later voted the matter down, and a mayor, reeve, 1st deputy-reeve, and six councillors were elected to serve the town. There are some who claim also that if the municipality elects a second deputy, then the town is only entitled to five councillors; others say six. The matter is being argued to-day at Osgoode Hall as to whether Cobourg is entitled to a second deputy.

The Town Council has held several sessions this week. The matter first came up on Monday night, when a letter from the town solicitor, Mr. F. M. Field, K.C., was read, stating that notice of an application on behalf of Dr. Adam Watson to the presiding judge in chambers at Osgoode Hall on Friday, had been made for a mandamus to compel the council to at once call for nominations for a second deputy reeve, had been served on the town. The matter was then referred to a committee, which met with the town solicitor on Wednesday to go into the matter of defence.

One councillor said, at the first discussion, that as the town solicitor, some little time ago, gave it as his opinion that such an election should be held, it would put the town solicitor in rather a difficult position to have to defend an action against his own opinion.

Another councillor pointed out the big expense that the town would be put to by going to court in this matter, and considered that the most economical way was to call for nominations for a second deputy-reeve. An election would be the easiest way out, looking at the matter from the point of view of economy.

Other councillors could see no good reason for the council changing from the decision which they reached in the matter early in the new year.

Another councillor said if the voters list was not correct, the election of the whole council would be ultra vires. Others did not agree to this.

And so, after considerable more discussion, the matter was left over to an adjourned meeting.

Later the finance committee met and decided to fight the motion.

If the town loses it will then be necessary for it to call for nominations for a second deputy-reeve at once, and, further, to provide the necessary machinery for an election.

The matter is causing a lot of comment and interest here.

The Town League.

It is not expected now that Cobourg will have an Intermediate Town League this season. One reason for this is that several of the industries who had teams in the league last year have not organized yet this season for ball, among these being Lengster Limited and the Rice Lake Canoe Company. The Matting-Felt Company is not in the arena yet either. Another reason is that the Canadian Nationals, last year's champions, and the Cobourg Dye Works have entered the new Midlands League.

Last year, the Town League had many exciting games at Victoria Park, while the Central Ontario League used the Horse Show Park.

A Soft Ball League.

However, it is expected there will still be plenty of good sport at Victoria Park. The Soft Ball League is getting well under way and will shortly draw up a schedule. Six teams are now entered, and entries are being left open a few days to give others an opportunity to sign up. So far, only one of the churches has availed itself of the privilege and that is the Baptist Church. The other teams entered are the Rotary Club, the Kilties Band, the Hinky Dinks, the All Stars, and the Baltimore Orioles.

A Juvenile League.

It is expected also that Cobourg will have a good juvenile baseball league again this season.

Price stated that as the case was before the courts he could not make no statement in regard to the matter.

REGRET CONDITION OF POLICE FORCE

Police Commission Met to Consider Handicap Imposed by Council's Parsimony.

Saturday's meeting of the police commission was held in a spirit of gloom as the wreck of the police force in Peterborough was presaged by Chief S. Newhall. Mayor J. J. Turner was unable to offer any help except the suggestion that the Chief carry on as best he can with the force and money at his command.

Constable Bromley's resignation was reported by the Chief, who said as a result of this and the dropping of two other men the outside patrol was abandoned some weeks ago and the city work demoralized.

His Honor Judge Huycke said that in view of the curtailing of the police force through the cutting down of the estimates by the city council he may be compelled to disclaim all responsibility.

At the present rate of expenditure, which he said is cut to the minimum, Chief Newhall reported that he would run out of money about November 15. Leaving Bromley's position unfilled may help to tide over the remaining six weeks of the year. He also pointed out that accounts never before charged to the police department are this year being paid out of police funds. He could not name them offhand, but would look them up.

In the accounts presented for approval by Judge Huycke was one for repairing the chairs in the police station, which it was decided to refer to the city trust. Mayor Turner also suggested that dog tags, yielding no revenue to the police department should be paid for by the city council.

Catastrophe Expected.

"If this city doesn't strike a catastrophe before the year is out, it will be more good luck than good management," Judge Huycke said apropos the shortage of men. He appeared more despondent than before regarding the possibility of rendering efficient service under the present circumstances and sympahized with the chief constable in the demoralization of his force.

Mayor Turner proposed that the council be asked to arrange to clean and paint the police station. "If I had my coat off I could do a lot myself," His Worship declared.

A letter was read from the Peterborough Rangers Band commending the Mayor and Commission on the proposal to establish a quiet zone around Victoria park during the hours of band concerts. A by-law will be drawn up covering this.

A CORPORATION ON PUBLIC WORK ITALY

ROME, April 28. — (United Press).—Plans for a corporation composed of Italian and Canadian industrialists to carry on public works here have been fully endorsed by Premier Mussolini. The corporation was formed recently in London. Strong Canadian financiers are paired with notables of the Italian political and industrial world in the corporation.

Besides the works it is felt the corporation will serve to widen the economic relationships between Canada and Italy.

POST'S BRAN FLAKES

With Other Parts of Wheat

POST'S Bran Flakes was produced in order that the multitude of people who were obliged to revert to harmful drugs, could relieve constipation by eating a cereal food which at the same time was appetizing and delicious.

All-bran proved too harsh and dry for constant use. So, in producing Post's Bran Flakes, other parts of wheat were retained—just as nature intended. A year ago this food was offered for sale. Now millions use it daily. Millions enjoy better health because of it. Bran—as it never was before—is enjoyed with welcome effectiveness. The thin crisp flakes of toasted flavor are really delicious.

The Deputy Grand Secretary paid high tribute to the excellent work that has been done in this city in the Junior Branch of the Orange Association and praised very much the manner in which the work of the lodge was being done. All the visiting brethren who spoke also emphasized along this line and a banner lodge in this city is looked forward to in the near future. A bountiful repast was enjoyed at recess.

REVIVES SCHEME OF UNIFICATION

Germrn Born Knight Has Means of Preventing War

LONDON, April 28. (United News) —In a full page, 3000 word advertisement, in the Morning Post, Sir Max Waechter, reviving his long advocacy of the United States of Europe, modelled on the United States of America, declares that the last President Harding supported his scheme.

Sir Max says that his friend, Sir Francis Trippel, visiting America in the summer of 1922, presented the plan to President Harding in the course of two conversations at the White House.

Finally he declares President Harding said that the unification of Europe was the only means of preventing another disastrous war. The project advanced by Sir Max calls for the adoption of one tariff for all Europe, the abolition of frontiers and the institution of free intercourse between different states. Thert would be but one coinage for all Europe under the plan, and one language, which could be used as a secondary tongue. The presidency of the federation would be held in rotation by some national of each of the great powers.

Sir Max Leonard Wacchter, who was born in Stettin, Germany, went to England in 1965. He received his title in 1902 and in the same year served as high sheriff of Surrey. He has made large contributions to charities. In 1909 he advanced his plan for the federation of the states of Europe and later personally submitted the scheme to sovereigns of Europe for approval and support.

ALCOMBRACK GIVEN REFORMATORY TERM

Six Months' Sentence for Having Drugs—Huard Volunteered to Go to Jail to Please Citizens

Six months in the Ontario Reformatory, a fine of $200.00, and in default of payment of the fine an extra month's imprisonment, was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley on Edward Alcombrack this morning, on his being found guilty of having drugs in his possession.

Joseph O'Brien defended the accused.

The principal evidence submitted by the defence was that of members of Alcombrack's family, who swore he was in the house at the times the Crown averred he transferred drugs to Crown witnesses, and two witnesses from the County Jail who testified to a "frame up."

These stories were discounted by His Worship, although he said it would have been more satisfactory from the Court's point of view if the Crown had produced other evidence than that of the self-confessed drug addicts.

"The evidence of Russell," His Worship said, "was set-off by his admissions in the box regarding his previous lack of truthfulness, and I was not favourably impressed by the evidence of Faux. I find that Pethick, Killenbeck, and Hargrove did not in jail make up this story.

"The alibi evidence is evidence of interested parties," the Magistrate said. "It was not seriously broken down, but it is difficult for me to see how they can be so positive of dates when one witness swore the defendant was in the house all day when he was, in fact, here in Court."

"I was not satisfied with the alibi evidence; not that I wish to say they were telling untruths. They have happily been able to make themselves think of some other evening."

The punishment awarded is the minimum allowed under the Act, six months in the reformatory, with a fine of $200.00. If the fine is not paid with costs within one month, an extra month will be added to the prison sentence.

A second charge was remanded, by consent, eight days.

HUARD SENT DOWN.

James Huard, who has been remanded several times at his own request on a charge of vagrancy, offered this morning to go to Guelph Jail if it will satisfy the people of Peterborough. He would not plead guilty to vagrancy, he said, for that would be breaking his covenant with God. He asked to go back to jail until Wednesday, when his people will be here, he said.

"It's all right here in Court," he exclaimed, 'but up in the jail it's different. I can't use the telephone or the mails or the telegraph. However, I have succeeded in getting a message through to my people. I censured my life as a Free Mason one time many miles from here, and my hair has turned grey in the last two months."

Doctors who examined Huard disagreed as to his sanity, Magistrate Langley said. One doctor said the man was insane, while the other merely said he should be under observation.

He was sent to jail for two weeks on the vagrancy charge.

Y.W.C.A. WEEK'S ACTIVITIES.

The big event of the Y. W. C. A. year is the annual gymnasium exhibition which will be held in the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday evening, May 2 and 3.

Over 500 members of the Association have been selling tickets for the last month, and there is keen rivalry in the ticket selling contest. In the bulletin board in the front hall of the Association are seven ladies, representing the different classes and paper dolls climbing the ladders represent the persons who have sold the most tickets. The results to date are as follows:

Babies' Class—Sophia Yeotes and Edna Millard.

Boys' Class—James Holden and Charlie Glover.

Junior Class—Chrissie Milby.

Intermediates — Bertha Edmondson.

Senior School Girls—Leah Dunford.

Seniors—Lilly Slaughter.

Beginners—D. Yardly.

All ticket returns must be in by May 7 in order to count in the contest.

Ticket holders are advised to have their tickets marked right away. Judging by the line up this morning at the Grand, all Peterboro will be at the Exhibition.

Activities for the week:

Monday—7, Special dress rehearsal at Grand Opera House for Junior and Senior classic dancing. Monday and Tuesday, Seniors and Senior School Girls' gymnasium classes. Positively only pupils admitted to theatre.

Tuesday—4.30, Babies, Juniors, Intermediates, Junior Boys and club classes. 4-6, Ukulele lessons.

Wednesday—4.30, Junior classic dancing. 7, Senior classic dancing. 8, Monday and Tuesday Seniors and Senior school girls.

Thursday—4.30, Babies' class, Junior Boys, Junior School Girls, Intermediates and Club classes.

Friday and Saturday — 7.15, All Babies, Juniors and Junior Boys' Classes are requested to meet at the Y.W.C.A. They will then be marched to the Grand Opera House in charge of competent leaders. Parents and guardians are requested to wait for the children after each performance at stage entrance. Positively parents are not admitted in dressing rooms.

RED ARROW TIRES CASE HEARING OPENED TODAY

Mr. Justice Wright Hears Suit by J. E. Hayes and Sons for $25,000--Many Counsel Engaged.

Mr. Justice Wright, presiding at the spring Non-Jury Assizes, which opened this afternoon, was faced by a brilliant assembly of counsel representing the various interests in the case of John E. Hayes & Sons versus the directors of Red Arrow Tires, Ltd.

The plaintiffs are represented by R. R. Hall, K.C., and John Corkery, and the defendants by F. D. Kerr, K.C., W. F. Kerr, K.C., of Cobourg, appearing for John J. Turner, G. A. Gillespie, and P. P. Westbye, and R. H. Parmenter, K.C., of Toronto, for J. R. McDonald.

The opening found the lawyers dug in behind a formidable barricade of tomes and manuscript that littered two long tables. Each lawyer has a pile built of the impedimenta of his profession—a maze of legal entrenchments that suggest a state of siege. The lawyers snipe questions at the witnesses from behind their stockade or emerge long enough to engage in argument with the presiding justice.

The parties to the action are the plaintiffs, John E. Hayes & Sons, and the defendants, John J. Turner, president of the defunct Red Arrow Tire Co., and president of J. J. Turner & Sons, Ltd., G. A. Gillespie, vice-president of the defunct company and president of Peterborough Milk Products, Ltd., P. P. Westbye, treasurer of the Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., and vice-president and general manager of Wm. Hamilton Co., Ltd., and J. R. McDonald, secretary of Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., and president of the McDonald Lumber Co.

Expert witnesses are to be called to testify regarding the formulae for the manufacture of tires, and a long list of other witnesses is down for hearing.

The Acoustics of the Court Room were again condemned to-day when the lawyers asked leave to bring their table nearer the witness box, hemming in the Court crier. ...

There were present within the bar G. W. Hatton, K.C., S. T. Medd, V. J. McElderry, A. E. Dixon, and J. A. O'Brien.

W. R. Morris First Witness.

W. R. Morris, C.A., said he was the authorized trustee in bankruptcy of the Red Arrow Tire Company, the assignment being made on June 30, 1922. He met three of the defendants in Mr. Kerr's office and was given the key of the company's office. He was told there were no books of accounts since the Peterboro Securities Company was keeping the books and would account to the company. There is only one partner, John Stockdale. There were no books of account or papers of value in the office of Red Arrow Tires, or any share registers. A list of shareholders was handed him by Peterboro Securities, Ltd., and this was the only information on the subject available.

The charter of the company was produced and identified and Mr. Kerr asked Mr. Hall a question in reference to it.

"Yes, My Lord," replied Mr. Hall.

"You anticipate," retorted Mr. Kerr.

Mr. Morris identified a number of books and paper as those which came into his possession as official assignee. There were no reports in the minute book to confirm the statements given him, he said. He found on enquiry from the President that the company had no bank account or bank book or cash book. The only statement of receipts and disbursements were received from the Peterboro Securities Co. He did not find any stock certificates and they have never been found to his knowledge. The only book he got was the minute book.

Among the papers, Mr. Morris found an agreement between Red Arrow Tires and Charles H. Walters, who by a by-law passed at the organization meeting, was to be given 184,000 fully paid-up shares of the common stock in the company in consideration of his conveying the formulae and processes for the manufacture of automobile tires and tubes.

On October 24, 1921, the contract was completed.

Another by-law authorized the underwriting of the cumulative preferred stock of the company by John Stockdale, the preferred stock to be disposed of at a discount of 25 per cent.

In the agreement Stockdale undertakes the disposed of 10,000 shares at $75 a share, and anything over that price to become the property of Stockdale. He was given the exclusive right to sell.

Mr. Morris said he had never acted as auditor, and had never been notified of his appointment, although his name appeared on the prospectus as auditor of the company.

No Formula Found

The office contained a desk with Mr. Walters' name on it. Mr. Mornis said and although he made his examination immediately after the key was handed to him, he found no blue prints. There were no blue prints in the safe nor anything of material value and no processes for the manufacture of tires and tubes.

Mr. Morris noticed from the minutes that the company had acquired certain formulae but did not immediately inquire since he did not think they were of realizable value. Eventually Mr. Kerr found the formula for him.

Some stock certificates were issued and Mr. Morris knew there must have been books from which they were taken. He was unable to locate the books, either through search or inquiry.

Mr. Morris said he was instructed by the shareholders and creditors to contest the action brought under the mechanis lien at to see that the plaintiff contractors received no more than was due them.

Mr. Morris said on his enquiry at the Bank he was told Red Arrow Tires had no account and Mr. Stockdale's account there was private.

Did you ask any of the directors where the proceeds of the sale of stock had gone to?"

"No."

Mr. Morris produced a list of creditors who filed claims against the company, totalling $26,191.93.

What assets came into your hands?

Some office furniture with a landlord's lien against it for rent. There was about $300.00 left after paying the rent.

A safe was treated as Stockdale's property, and put in storage. He has not yet claimed it.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr, the witness said when he took charge of the office a landlord's bailiff was in possession of the office, and had been there some weeks.

"You asked certain directors for information. Did you find any reluctance on their part?"

"No, none."

Mr. Morris knew that Mr. Kerr was not solicitor for the company, but for some directors personally. At the time he was advertising after the assignment, he was endeavouring to get a list of shareholders and was unable to obtain it. Mr. Morris said, other than that given by the Peterborough Securities Company.

Was a Small Gamble.

In cross-examination by Mr. Parmenter, the witness said he heard of the Red Arrow Tires Ltd. after they began selling stock.

"Did you become a subscriber to the stock?"

"To my sorrow, I did."

"Why?"

"Well, I looked at it as another smoke stack for Peterboro."

"Was the Chamber of Commerce interested in bringing the industry to Peterboro?"

"Not officially."

"Were you influenced by the Board of Directors?"

"No."

"Did you look on it as a good investment?"

"As a small gamble."

Mr. Morris said he subscribed on personal solicitation of Mr. Stockdale and did not take any particular notice of the plans or promises of the company.

It was a matter of general knowledge that Walters was being given paid up stock for his processes which company would acquire.

Mr. Morris knew that John E. Hayes was a subscriber, to the company stock, having found this in his perusal of the paper.

The sod turning had been quite an event, Mr. Morris admitted. He was not present but had seen pictures. He had never taken any steps to have Walters placed on the list of subscribers.

According to his solicitor, Mr. Medd, Mr. Walters could not be placed on the list since the stock was issued for value.

The desks and office furniture were offered for sale within thirty days, but Mr. Morris did not know to whom the furniture went. He found keys to all desks and examined them. There were no records belonging to Mr. Stockdale. There were cabinets containing blank stationery and circulars.

Mr. McDonald resigned some months before the company went into bankruptcy, but Mr. Morris did not find his written resignation. Mr. McDonald had not been asked for information regarding the company.

Among the creditors who filed affidavits was John E. Hayes and Sons claiming $18,858.75.

"You had solicited the position of auditor?"

"Yes. I spoke to some of the directors."

"You were perfectly willing to accept the appointment?"

"Yes."

"Was there anything to indicate to you that any papers had been taken from the office?"

"There were no papers there."

"You don't suggest any of these directors took the papers away?"

"I certainly do not."

Mr. Morris said after the sale Mr. Stockdale came to Peterboro to meet him but failed to give the information. Mr. Stockdale intimated he had the information but did not furnish it.

Re-cross-examined by Mr. Kerr: "The reason you have not been following up Mr. Stockdale is that the police have been following him up ineffectually?"

"Yes."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir:—The recent visit of a distinguished Canadian who spoke upon the League of Nations, reminds us of the fact that the League of Nations has not yet become un fait accompli. It is still under discussion. It is indeed still open to question whether an organized civilization is civilization at all or not. Where this idea of a League of Nations originate? With Germany, to restore control of the Balkans. It is true, the idea is as old as the hills and has been put in practice a multitude of times but never for long. Why? Because man is not wholly amenable to man nor woman to woman. Each has a natural right to settle his or her own destiny.

So it is with nations. As a rule, nations mean races. And we all know that race feeling is the strongest feeling in the whole realm of the nature of man. Supposing that all people who on earth do dwell were sincerely desirous of co-operating, of forming a mighty union, a League of Nations why it is as impossible in the present as in the past? Because people have different opinions concerning what is good for themselves, and apart altogether from suspecting the motive of each other, they differ in ideas and therefore to say that it is possible for people to agree to give up their firm convictions and to give way to what may appear to them the fantastic if not ruinous ideas of others, is to say what has proven since the beginning of the world to be untrue. When people differ and differ hard they do not yield to each other unless they have to and this simple fact is the final arbiter of all things human. It arises from human limitations. It cannot be otherwise. To preach what ought to be, what is most desirable, which some day is to be hoped for, etc., is one thing, but to put it all in practice is another. The Amphictyonic council or league of Greek nations in the remote past, contained the seeds of Greeces final disruption not union. The Holy Alliance preceded the most awful war Europe ever saw. The whole aim of modern nations as of ancient has been to form leagues of alliances to rule other nations and to put the world in their own control.

Even if it were possible, it would be a bad thing. All revolutions, especially the bloody ones, have proceeded from just such assumptions as that of Louis of France who, when spoken to about states leagues, alliances and peoples laughed and sneered out, "L'Etat? C'est mos"—The state! Umph! I'm the state." A league of nations is similarly a direct denial of the right of others to think and act as free men. It is not compromise which is the only hope of peace at any time. It is a good thing to waste money on and to talk about at women's meetings. But it is impossible and undesirable. It would tie the world in a knot. Wouldn't a league of nations be a beautiful thing with Russia in control? When people find war a poor investment they will stop it but not at the bidding of any clique. We have wasted nearly a million on the league now and that is a million too much "Ah'm thinkin'."

Germans Injured In Election Riots.

BERLIN, Apr. 28.—Serious election riots occurred here Sunday evening, in which great numbers were injured. Not less than forty persons needed surgical treatment.

The German People's Party had announced a meeting, but the approaches to the hall were occupied beforehand by Communists. When the adherents of the People's Party arrived they were attacked by the Communists, with clubs. Police reinforcements were ordered to the scene, and the meeting eventually was held. Later, however, the rioting was renewed, with additional casualties. Sixteen arrests were made.

ROYAL CANADIANS OF TORONTO OPEN SEASON HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Toronto Team That Eliminated Belleville Last Year Will Bring a Strong Team For First Game at Riverside—Local Candidates For the Central Ontario League Worked Out Saturday Before Several Hundred Avid Fans—Peppery Practice Disclosed Some of Solomon's New Material.

WILL WORK ALL WEEK.

Peterborough ball fans will be glad to learn that the local management has been successful in booking the fast Royal Canadians of Toronto for an exhibition game with the Peterborough Central Leaguers here on Saturday. St. Michael's College were originally scheduled for that date, but could not make the trip, and the Petes were lucky in being able to get hold of the Royals in their stead.

The Royal crew distinguished themselves last year by going through to the senior Ontario finals, incidentally beating Belleville, the Central League winners. Although they have lost Jess Spring, who took the jump into professional ball, and Sam Terry, who is with Guelph this season, they have rounded up a team that they believe will win the Toronto championship and cut a wide swath in the Ontario play-offs, and they will prove formidable opposition for the Petes in the first clash of the year.

The visit of the Royals will get the baseball season off with a bang, and the announcement of the fixture will be gobbled up by the hungry fans.

Saturday's Workout.

The warm weather Saturday afternoon gave the Peterborough Central Leaguers a chance for a real workout, and a big squad put in a profitable afternoon under the critical eyes of two or three hundred fans who watched the proceedings with keen interest.

The first infield work of the season featured the practice, with Hap Harrison at first, Shiner Johnston and Doug. Moore of last year's Lakeviews at second, Tommy Holyman and Fred. Batten, formerly of the Adanacs, at short and Frankie Collins at third. The hot sun tempted the gang to take liberties with their arms, and they shot the pill around so fast that Manager Solomon had to caution them to slow up. Collins, the Lakeview catcher, worked at the plate during the infield workout, while Max Swanston was handling the offerings of Heckman and Serth. The two twirlers warmed up for over an hour and later on heaved some over the plate for batting practice.

Outfielders who put in some busy minutes chasing flies were Herb. Wolfe, Red Legon, Cecil Shaughnessy and Jimmy Hall.

Two new recruits joined the squad on Saturday, Dr. Buchanan, who formerly played in the Wellington League, and Cook, late of Woodstock. The two players are outfielders and they will be out at the practices this week. Both were on hand Saturday, but had no equipment.

The Petes will practice at Riverside Park every evening this week as soon after 5 o'clock as possible, and a full turnout is expected, in view of Saturday's big game with the Royals.

MASSEY'S OPEN WITH VICTORY

White Bros. New Team Defeated C. P. C. Grey Birds By 3-1—Crowded Their Scoring Into the Second Half.

The Junior season opened on Saturday afternoon when the C.P.C. Grey Birds entertained the newly-formed Massey's team on King Edward Park. The Massey's were composed chiefly of the past season's De Laval and won by 3 to 1.

The Massey's won the toss and Edgar was soon prominent with a nice run and centered to see J. Vinet test Jenkins with a terrific shot. Bradley sent well up and Cross getting possession, lost in a nice shot which Naish handed in the forbidden area. H. Hotson took the kick and beat Saunders all the way. J. Vinet and Edgar were prominent for the Massey's but Herb Bradley and Shadgett was in great form and averted all attacks. Half time arrived with the C.P.C. leading by 1-0.

After the interval the Massey's played with greater dash, Griffin on the right was a source of trouble to the Grey Birds defence of which Shadgett, Hotson were very prominent. Edgar was well served and getting hold of one of Cooper's huge returns beat Jenkins and made game even. This pu tnew life in the game and both goalkeepers had plenty of work. J. Vinet in the centre for the Massey's was in the lime light and his efforts met with success. Beating Jenkins with a daisy cutter. Ashmore changed places with Griffin and this worked well and playing well together placed the outside left Edgar, in possession and racing at top speed sent across. J. Vinet met Bradley's return and scored the best goal of the game. Time was now called leaving the Massey's winners of a good game by 3 goals to 1.

The following were the teams:

Massey's

Saunders, Cooper, Slaughter, Naish, Fowler, Cordrovy, Griffin, Ashmore, J. Vinet, R. Vinet, Edgar.

C.P.C. Grey Birds

Jenkins, H. Bradley, Feeley, Sweeney, Shadgett, H. Hotson, Cross, P. Vinet, J. Lynch, Edwards, Anderson.

Advance Sale of Seats In Vienna Poor — Arthur Townley Is Frenchman's Opponent.

VIENNA, April 28 (Canadian Press).—The fight between Georges Carpentier and Arthur Townley, the English light heavyweight boxer, which was to have taken place yesterday, has been postponed until next Sunday afternoon, 4th May.

Uncertain weather conditions, following a heavy rainfall yesterday morning which drenched the open-air arena, were given as the cause for the postponement of te bout, although the sun was shining brightly at four o'clock in the afternoon, the hour wen the men were due to enter the ring.

The advance sale of seats had been very poor. The management had hoped to take in six billion crowns, or the equivalent of 1,400,000 francs.

The gate receipts at noon, however, promised nothing better than 500,000 francs.

Francois Descamps had been promised 450,000 francs for the services of Carpentier and Paul Fritsch, the 1920 Antwerp Olympic featherweight champion, and two other boxers who were to have shown their wares to the sporting public.

THIS WEEK'S BOWLING AT SOLOMON'S ALLEYS

Monday — Crescents vs Lawn Bowlers.
Tuesday—Belmont Club vs De Laval.
Thursday—High Rollers vs C.G.E.
Friday—C. P. C. vs Examiner.

LAST CHANCE TO ENTER TONIGHT FOR THE BIG TOURNAMENT

Tonight is the last chance to enter for the big five-pin handicap tournament to be held at Solomon's Alleys, Thursday, May 1st. A big list has been received for the singles, doubles and five-man teams. That this will be one of the greatest bowling events in Peterboro there is no doubt. Great cash prizes have been offered, a great list has been entered and great enjoyment and competition is assured so the bowlers are advised to get in it at once, as it closes tonight. Entries and information can be secured from Mr. J. J. Solomon, proprietor of the Solomn Alleys.

This tournament is a handicap one, so every bowler has a fair chance of winning. Bowlers will be given handicaps according to their averages. If you are a weak bowler you get a big handicap, so any bowlers is liable to walk off with the bacon. The entry fee is small compared with the tournaments held in the large cities, but the prizes are just as good, if not better.

Don't forget, to-night is the last night so get your entry in.

BASEBALL

The Lakeviews will practice at Riverside Park this evening at 6 o'clock. All players are requested to be on hand.

English Track Star

H. B. STALLARD

England's best bet in the 1500-meter run is said to be H. B. Stallard, who habitually runs the distance in close to record time. Stallard will be the Empire's favorite to win this event in the forthcoming Olympics.

ELEVEN INNING TIE AT OSHAWA

Oslers of Toronto Held Motor City Crew to Two Hits For Five Innings But Change of Pitchers Yielded Five Runs In the Sixth.

OSHAWA, April 28.—Local baseball fans got their first chance to see the 1924 Central Ontario Leaguers perform here Saturday afternoon when they hooked up in an exhibition game with Freddie Hamilton's Oslers of Hampton Park Senior League of Toronto, and the two teams battled for eleven innings, with the score a tie at 5-5 before the managers decided to call it a day.

Spring, who started out on the slab for the Queen City team, held Oshawa to two hits and no runs for the fiv frames in which he worked, but when Mingeaud, the elongated boy who migrated from Bowmanville to the white lights last fall, started to serve them up in the sixth he got away to a bad start by hitting W. Fair; Murray bunted safe, Tyson walked, filling the bases, and Duke Dainty drove out a two-bagger to right, scoring Fair and Murray. L. Wilson fouled out to Buchanan. Morrison fanned, but R. Fair hit a high one to Spring, who took Mingeaud's place in left field, and he lost it in the sun, Tyson and Dainty scoring. Ward hit a slow one down third base line and was safe, while R. Fair scored on the play, and before the doings were over five runs were across the pan.

After this frame the Bowmanville boy tightened up, and although he was in a tight hole with three men on, he worked his way out without further scoring against him.

Oslers scored their five runs in the first seven frames, but Dainty went better as the game progressed, and most of the runs marked up against him were the result of poor work in the field.

Morrison, who had been handling the short field up to the tenth innings, took up the slab duty, Dainty going to the bench, and the rookie got through without a run being hung up against him. The score by innings and line-up were:

Oslers ..... 02100110000—5 14 9
Oshawa ..... 00000500000—5 15 11

Oslers—Jones, cf; Hughes, 1st; Carl, rf; Breen, 2nd; Eagen, 3rd; Reid, ss; Mingeaud, lf, p; Buchanan, c; Spring, p, lf.

Oshawa—Roddick, lf; Fair, 2nd; Murray, 3rd; Tyson, c; Dainty, p; Wilson, 1st; Morrison, ss, p; R. Fair, cf; Palmer, rf; Webster, rf; Ward, ss.

Umpires—Hallinan of Toronto and Dell of Oshawa.

Timely Tips To Amateurs

SAYS JACK BENTLEY
Pitcher, New York Giants

My opening tip to the amateur ball players is, select the position you like best and stick to it.

Don't let them shift you around. The utility player never gets as far as sthe regular star, not matter how great his ability.

I made the mistake of doing other things besides pitching, simply because I am fortunate enough to be a better batter than the average pitcher.

My hitting has caused me to be used in the outfield, at first base and as pinch hitter.

While I am listed as a pitcher, I prefer first base, since that position gets you into the game regularly.

My one best tip to the amateur is be original. If you have a peculiar style that isn't regarded as good form, but gets results, stick to it.

Hans Wagner has his own peculiar style, yet was one of the game's greatest infielders.

They say my position at the bat is all wrong, yet I have done pretty well as a hitter. Any time I try to perfect my form, my hitting goes wrong. It's a mistake. Be original.

CINCINNATI FALL TO THIRD PLACE, GIANTS MOVING OUT IN FRONT

Two Successive Home Runs By Fournier Gave Brooklyn a Three-Run Lead But New York Wiped It Out — Cardinals Move Out of the Cellar In Week-End Shuffle.

PIRATES DROP.

NEW YORK, April 27. — New York overcame a three run lead gained by Brooklyn on two successive homers by Jacques Fournier with men on bases at Ebbets' Field today and scored their third victory of the series, 9 to 5. The Dodgers knocked Bentley out of the box in the third inning. The Giants retaliated by driving Dickerman off the mound in the fourth. The score:

PACKERS' SQUAD DEFEAT DUMMER

C. P. C. Juniors Scored Five Goals In First Half of Saturday's Game and Were Held In Second —Winning By 5-2.

The C.P.C. Juniors journeyed to North Dummer on Saturday afternoon and were entertained with refreshments before and after the game by the home team, which was greatly appreciated by the Packers' Juniors, who won by the score of 5 to 2.

The villagers won the toss and playing with the sun behind them gave the Packers' defence an anxious time. The new comer, Soutar, was very prominent and from one of his passes J. Montgomery opened the scori . The combination of the Packers was a source of trouble to the Dummer defence and from one of Jury's returns Mitchell fastened to the leather and beat Jury with a great shot. This put new life in the game. H. Darling, who played well all through scored a nice goal for Dummer.

Strudes in the centre for the Packes kept playing his comades with nice gound passes. James took advantage and scored No. 3 for the Packers. From the centre stick Billingsley made a nice run on the left and his centre was met by Strudey and Jury was again beaten. Batten for Dummer and Payne were doing their best to score but the Packers' defence was sound. Just before the interval Soutar made a great effort and beating all opposition scored the fifth goal for the Packers.

Upon resuming the Dummer boys were soon in evidence and played with great dash; the forwards were playing a nice combination game, and Batten was able to reduce the lead by beating T. Ball with a wonderful shot.

The game from then until call of time was fast, both goal keepers having plenty to do. There was no further scoring and a very pleasant game was brought to a close leaving Packers winners by 5 to 2.

The teams:

Dummer: D. Jury, W. Carveth, A. Taylor, H. Jury, G. Little, R. Payne, H. Batten, H. Munro, H. Darling, P. Tighe.

C.P.C.: T. Ball, J. Downer, H. Curtis, R. Carmichael, A. Halliday, J. Montgomery, J. Mitchell, W. James, Strudley, Soutar, Billingsley.

Referee, M. Strudley.

U.S Team Guests At London Dinner

LONDON, April 28 (Canadian Press). — The United States Olympic rugby team were the guests last night at a dinner given by the British Olympic Association.

Lord Decies, in toasting the visitors, said they had shown a wonderful, broad-minded spirit in coming so far to support France in her effort to make the Olympic Games a success. The British Olympic representatives were proud of the opportunity to receive and entertain them.

Samuel Goodman, manager of the United States team, in replying, heartily thanked the British for their kindness, courtesy, and hospitality. He regretted that the United States team would be denied the pleasure of meeting a British team at the Olympic Games.

WOOLLENS WON A LEAGUE GAME

Quakers Sustained a 10 to 1 Defeat In Soccer Fixture — Losers Showed Lack of Training In Opening Game.

The opening soccer league fixture between the Canadian Woollens and Quakers was played on Saturday before a fair attendance of spectators, when the Quakers were defeated ten goals to one, although a high score against them, it proved the old saying, "lack of training."

The Quakers trotted out practically seven new men in their team and the new blood was fifty-fifty in playng ability. In this respect, they had no stable half backs which compelled the forwards to come back and help out. All within fifteen minutes, the eager forwards of the Woollens ran in 3 goals in succession before the opponents had found their bearings, through the clever tactics of Mitchell on the right wing, who placed the ball to Wallie's advantage to do the needful. The Quakers put up quite a good show when they made splendid efforts to get a shot at goal. Ultimately Craig tested Hillman, who kicked clear, then Geo. Logan was unfortunate in his parting shot. Keeping the Woollens hemmed into their own area they were rewarded through Craig heading out of Woollen's goalie's reach from a pass by Mayette. From this period until the finish the play was of a dingdong nature. Half time, Woollens 3, Quakers 1.

Half Time.

The Woollen's defence had a sultry time for a few minutes after resuming, but Read and Perry were in great form and beat off all attacks, though once or twice with nothing to spare. Monkman cleared upfield to Chambers, who took advantage of a mis-kick by Garside, but J. Willshaw kicked clear. An individual effort by Michell gave Willshaw no chance to save. Immediately following Wyllie added another. There was nothing of importance thereafter, because the play lacked the necessary sting which ended in the Woollens making it a total of ten goals against one. Once the Quakers get straightened they will make the rest of the teams travel. Jim Willshaw in goal was physically unfit to play and made a creditable substitute in goal. Canadian Woollens 10, Quakers 1.

Goal scorers—T. Wyllie 5, Mitchell 3 and Chambers 2—10. Quakers—Craig.

Woollens— Hillman, goal; Read and Perry, backs; Quinn, Monkman and Sawyers, half-backs; Mitchell, Gaskill, Wyllie, Chambers and Warde, forwards.

Quakers— J. Willshaw, goal; Hepburn and R. Willshaw, backs; Garside, Metcalfe and Litle, half-backs; Mayette, James, Geo. Logan, Craig and Walker forwards.

Capacity Crowd Is Expected For Tonight's Boxing

Accommodation For 600 At G.W.V.A. Hall and Standing Room Should Be At Premium For Best Card Presented Fight Fans In Years.

A capacity crowd will see tonight's big boxing bill at the G. W. V. A. Hall where accommodation has been provided for six hundred. All the headliners, Willie Buff, Walter Newton and Billy Cutt, are here, the Rochester boxers having come yesterday and Newton at noon today, and all are in first-class fighting trim.

Joe LeMoine, who has been in charge of the St. Helen's Club boxers and is here today with Walter Newton, will referee the city championship titles and the Cutt-Jordon battle, and Wilf. Jones will be third man in the ring when the lightweight champions, Newton and Buff, show their wares to the crowd. The announcement of the bout between these clever boxers has attracted the attention of amateur boxing moguls in Toronto, and they will likely be secured for a bout in the Queen City.

Tonight's bill will be one of eight or more bouts and as the city boxing titles are at stake, unusual interest will be given to all the milling. The championships will be continued tomorrow night along with special bouts which will be announced tonight.

Reservations will be made for ladies and their escorts, who are advised to be on hand early. The doors will open at 7.30 o'clock and the bill will start at 8.15 o'clock.

QUESTIONS

1. If a batsman try his best to dodge a wil dpitch, hits the ball, and it goes fair, what is the ruling?

2. If, while running down a player between the lines, in which four players take part, the runner is finally called out for interference or running out of the line, do such players get credit with an assist?

3. In the major leagues, if a player is put out of the first game of a double header, may he play in the second contest?

ANSWERS

1. It is a fair ball.

2. All the players who take part in the play are credited with an assist.

3. The major leagues have a ruling, that if a player is put out of the first game of a double header, he is ineligible for the second contest.

Was Constipated For Several Years

If you have suffered from constipation for years, tried all kinds of remedies without getting relief, if you have been subject to all the miseries associated with constipation, wouldn't you consider it a blessing to be able to keep the bowels regular and in a good healthy condition and prevent disease getting a foothold on your system?

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are indicated just for this purpose; their regular use relieving the worst cases of constipation.

Mr. M. Hedicon, Sudbury, Ont., writes. "I have been troubled with constipation for several years. I began to use Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and find them to be the best remedy I have ever used for regulating the bowels and liver. I always keep them now and recommend them highly."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

EX-EMPEROR IS SELF MARTYRED

So Wilhelm Declares in New Book--Admits He Left Germany For Good of the Fatherland.

BERLIN, April 28. — Former Emperor William in new book published by Lieut. Col. Nieumann, personal friend, is quoted as rapping President Wilson for his stand against Germany in the World War. Nieumann was attached to grand headquarters during the war and accompanied Wilhelm on his flight to Holland.

The former Emperor is credited with having told Nieumann that it was perfectly clear to him from the beginning that President Wilson desired to see Germany crushed and th atthe United States waited an opportune time to enter the war so as to swing the balance in favor of the Allies. Regarding the flight of William to Holland, Nieumann quotes him as saying:

"I was ready to fight the internal enemy, but whe the revolution broke out I found myself deserted by the army leaders themselves. Many persons contended that I ought to have fought, to have sought death on the battle field, committing suicide would have been morally wrong.

"I did not want to stand by and see Germany split in a fight of Germans against Germans and I left the country rather than to stand as an obstacle in the way of the Fatherland. I realize that the sacrifice did not have the desired effect—to secure better conditions for Germany, but I believe history will justify my action. Tradition and the future of my dynasty should not have been sacrificed to the hypocritical phrases of the pretended pacifist Wilson. I did not desert my country thoughtlessly, but only after careful deliberation and thus I did my duty to my beloved army and my misguided Fatherland."

AMBASSADOR WILL STAY ON THE JOB

Resentment Over Flag Incident Has Passed Away

BERLIN, April 28. — (United Press).—Ambassador Wiedfeldt will stay on in Washington at least until September, his friends here understand to-day.

Wiedfeldt's intentions of resigning, reported some time ago, has been changed at the request of a big German financier, who believes a man of Wiedfeldt's type should represent Germany in the United States.

Acting upon such overtures, Wiedfeldt has changed his plans, his friends say.

Wiedfeldt's anger at the Foreign Office, relative to the flag incident in Washington, has subsided. The incident has been clarified and his friends now feel certain he played a manly role in the incident, details of which were not made public by the German Government.

Band Concert

The seventh of this season's concerts on Sunday evening in the Grand Opera House, was given to a crowded house last evening, by the Band of the Peterborough Rangers, conducted by Lt. W. H. Peryer. "Traviata," "Country Girl," "Musical Switch," "Wee MacGregor," were numbers that fully extended the capacity of the bandsmen, and the hearty approval of the audence was altogether deserved.

The vocal number very kindly contributed were "The Lord is my Shepherd," Mrs. E. Kitney; "My Faith Looks up to Thee," (duet), Mrs Kitney and Mr. Albert Lee; "Ebb Tide Flows," Mr. R. Stephenson, "My Task," by Mr. Albert Lee. These numbers were splendidly sung, and although the programme was unusual ly long, Mrs. Kitney and Mr. Stephenson, n response to persistent applause, sang additional numbers, the former with "Lead Kindly Light," the latter with "The Diver."

Mr. R. J. Devey presided at the piano, and with delightful accompaniments added to the enjoyment of the evening.

These concerts have provided educational recreation of an enjoyable nature, to thousands of our citizens during the winter, and the Peterboro Rangers band should receive the highest praise and all possible encouragement for this winter's programmes.

"BARNEY GOOGLE."

"Barney Google," with his brown-eyed baby, "Spark Plug," visited the Grand on Saturday, and the musical comedy featuring Billy Debeck's cartoon strip creations scored many a laugh. In construction it differed little from any of the other cartoon comedies that have visited here, but despite its conventional lines it succeeded in doing what it was written to do—amuse the audience. Jerry Sullivan, the diminutive Canadian comedian, who has been seen here several times as "Jeff" in the stage version of "Mutt and Jeff," was the "Barney Google" and the little fellow gave the audience a lot of fun. "Spark Plug" was cleverly represented, and Belle Belmont made a lot out of the part of Mrs. Google, her specialty during the second act being a feature. Florence Mackie sang nicely, and there was some clever dancing by Eddie Hayes and by the Blossom Sisters.

LLOYD HAMILTON RETURNS IN BRAND NEW COMEDY HIT

Lloyd Hamilton, in his very latest comedy hit, "My Friend," is the comedy attraction at the Capitol Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. Lloyd Hamilton has not been seen here lately in any of his recent comedies, and his name on a progr- is a guarantee that there are plenty of laughs waiting Capitol patrons.

GREAT SWEDISH DIRECTOR MAKES HALL CAINE'S STORY "NAME THE MAN" MIGHTY PICTURE.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the announcement just received of the forthcoming presentation of Victor Seastrom's first American-made motion picture, "Name the Man!" at the Capitol theatre today, Tuesday, and Wednesday. This is Sir Hall Caine's novel, "The Master of Man," adapted to the screen; it was selected by Mr. Seastrom after consideration of all available material.

The invitation extended by Goldwyn to Mr. Seastrom, who sometimes has been called "the Griffith of Sweden" and who long has been recognized as one of the dominant personalities of the European screen and stage world, to come to the United States and make use of the far more elaborate machinery and the more varied talent offered by the highly specialized American studio, caused a stir of comment everywhere that people turn to the screen for entertainment. The splendid simplicity of the Swedish actor-director; his noteworthy success in making pictures under the handicaps imposed by the conditions in his native country—where players only are available for pictures, during the short northern summer when the speaking stage is on holiday, where studio equipment is more or less limited and funds for production overly adequate—had won him world attention.

Then he came to America, and while he was widely quoted, it might be discovered by anyone who took the trouble to sum up all the words attributed to him, that he really said little except that he felt rather humble in such a great and splendid country—that he certainly was going to do the best he could.

All reports on "Name the Man!" indicate that he has justified the faith of his admirers. Those who have seen the picture are extremely enthusiastic about it. Mae Busch, who plays one of the leading roles, says "Name the Man!" is really one of the most wonderful pictures ever made and that Mr. Seastrom is a marvellous chap and marvellous director. Conrad Nagel who plays the masculine lead is no less enthusiastic But that is hardly to be wondered at. Any one who meets Mr. Seastrom can hardly fail to come under the magnetic sway of his great personal charm and magnetism. Any one who has talked to him even most casually,let alone worked with him day after day, can be pardoned for evincing a rather more than luke-warm enthusiasm over anythiug he may do in his chosen profession.

It appears that he has told the story of "Name the Man!" simply, humanly with the utmost sincerity and with great dramatic force.

AT THE REGENT

The Regent Theatre has announced another Selznick Picture starring Owen Moore. The popular screen comedian comes this time in a feature picture called "Modern Matrimony," opening to-day for a three-day engagement.

The nature of the story is best described by the statement that while it was in production in the Selznick company's studios at Hollywood it was known by the so-called "Working title" of "A Dollar Down." All the fun comes from the difficulties a pair of sweet little turtle doves have in trying to establish their love nest on the installment plan. They buy the fussy little bungalow very much on credit, the furniture man kindly obliges, and so on and on and on ad infinitum. The fun—and the trouble—reaches its climax when the good-natured (?) vendors of installment happiness start to get anxious about their money.

Alice Lake, long a star in her own right, was especially engaged by the Selznick company to appear in leading support of Mr. Moore. Frank Campeau, old-time western bad man of "The Virginian" fame, is a member of the cast as is long, lean, lank Vic Potel. Mayme Kelso, Snitz Edwards, Kate Lester, and Douglas Carter, the last-named the leading colored photo-player now before the public.

STAR OF "THE NIGHT HAWK" REFUTES STORIES ABOUT "WILD" ACTORS

Carey a Real Home Man: He's Crazy About His Babies and Isn't a Bit Spoiled by Fame.

Harry Carey is the best answer to all insinuating stigmas cast on the morals of motion picture people. The incredulous need only see this western star, riding the rolling hills of his ranch playing with his babies, 'Doby,' the young son, and Ella Ada, the very little daughter, or studying his roles with all the care of the stage actor, to realize the truth of this assertion.

Carey is a man first, a screen star after. Big, robust, and hearty as the roles which have made him famous, he is one of the best-loved men in the industry. His success has not tempered the fine quality of the man with vanity. He is amazingly unspoilt for a character which the public has done its best to spoil.

It was sheer accident that Carey became an actor. It was still a more inexplicable whimsy of fate that this boy, who knew the sea and its men so well, should invariably be cast in western roles on the stage. But knowing nothing of the West, he nevertheless was a success. The instinct of the actor was deep in him even then. It led him to seek self-improvement in his work by visiting his cousin's ranch in Montana. The fruitful result of that visit was a play called "Montana" which Carey wrote and in which he played the lead.

He worked with D. W. Griffith until the latter put on "The Clansman," and, at that time, came West to California. His success here was instantaneous, and led, within a remarkably short period, to the reputation which he now sustains.

Meanwhile, Carey has imbedded himself deep in the heart of the West. At Saugus, California, he owns a seventeen hundred acre stock ranch, where, with his family, his cowboys, and his animals, he lives the life he loves. Even while he is working in a picture, Carey takes the long ride to and from Saugus each day rather than remain away from his home.

His latest film, "The Night Hawk," comes to the Royal Theatre for a three days' run, commencing to-day. It was adapted by Joseph Franklin Poland from Carlysle Graham Raht's magazine story.

FABLES ON HEALTH

SAVE YOUR ENERGY.

The strenuosity of daily life often caused Mr. Mann of Anytown to ponder more than a little. He had many friends who succumbed to the strain and sought the advice of a shrewd friend on how to keep a healthy state of mind, as well as of body.

The relationship of state of mind to general health is a subject that fills many volumes, but these few brief fundamentals were prescribed for Mr. Mann:

1—Don't run away from emotions. Don't fight them. Accept them as the wellsprings of action.

2—Try to be efficient.

3—Make decisions that you can stand by and that won't bother you afterwards. In other words, have your decisions clean cut.

4—Hurry isn't a necessity.

5—Do things without calling out any more reserve energy than is necessary. Economize on energy.

6—Get a combination of work and play, of rest and exercise and entertainment.

7—Don't worry.

PETERBORO TEAMS LOSE HARD GAME

Belleville Y.M.C.A. Team Handed Defeat to Local Bowlers in Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Apr. 26.—The return games between Peterboro ladies and the Belleville ladies who played in the latter city a few weeks ago took place at the V alleys yesterday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon fixture the Peterboro five were leading in the early stages only to have the Belleville five go out in the lead later in the game and hold it to the end. Miss Adams of the visitors and Mrs. Lee of the home team were the leading score getters of the game.

The game played following the Get-together Banquet at which the Peterboro bowlers were guests, was a rather more one sided affair. The local ladies assumed quite a large lead in the first string, added to it in the second but lost out somewhat in the third when the Lift Lock aggregation finished up "sprinting". The Belleville team incidently broke the alley record for a ladies' team when they collected the reasonably decent score of 913 in one string.

Zbyszko Landed On Press Table

MONTREAL, April 28 (Canadian Press). — There were thrills galore at the International wrestling contest here on Saturday night.

Frank Judson, Harvard University instructor, staged a fine battle with Wladek Zbyszko, of Poland.

As if maddened by the terrific onslaughts of his opponent, Judson grappled Zbyszko by the head and somersaulted him out of the ring.

He fell with a crash on the press table, smashing it to pieces and lay there in a semi-conscious condition until carried to his dressing-room.

The referee awarded the bout to Judson ,a decision which the fans received very unfavourably.

Thereupon Judson refused the decision, and offered to wrestle Zbyszko later on in the tournament.

In the other encounters M. Brunowicz, of Ukrainia, and Charles Lepannen, of Finland, wrestled to a draw.

Regis Siki, Abyssinia, defeated Chick Korainek, Lithuania.

Sergeant Leavitt of the American Army, and Carl Vogel, Germany, kicked and tumbled about the stage like acrobats, Leavitt getting the decision.

A Lucky Boy ~A Farseeing Dad

Twelve swift years have come and gone since Frank Cooke's son romped about the house—a lovable, rosy-cheeked baby boy.

Last Summer he passed his Entrance Examinations and entered the Collegiate.

Four years more, an ambitious, upstanding young fellow, he will be on the threshold of the most important part of his training for the battle of life—a University education.

And Frank Cooke's boy will go to the University: for twelve years ago, Frank Cooke determined that the air castles he had built for a baby boy should some day become a reality—that his boy should have a chance.

He insured his boy's future on the North American Life Child's Endowment Plan. It appealed strongly to him because:

(1) It made certain that the boy would have a College Education.

(2) He knew that even if he himself died the North American Life Assurance Company would assume payment as planned.

(3) He learned that should the child die before his fifteenth birthday all the premiums paid plus interest would be returned, while if the boy's death occured after that age, the full payment would be made.

You too will be interested in our booklet "Child's Endowment." Write for it.

Mrs. Fuller stayed with Mrs. Watt in Oshawa. Mrs. Hartley returned home to-day. The Sunshine Lodge celebration was a very festive affair, attended by visitors from the district and from Toronto. A big banquet was held, and Mrs. Watt and Mrs. Hartley who were present at the initial opening of the Lodge, were presented with gifts, in the form of a silver card tray and china salad set.

OBITUARY

JOHN WILSON.
Died at his late residence, 77 McGill street, John Wilson, in his 75th year. Mr. Wilson was a resident of Otonabee, coming to Peterboro about two years ago. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, who was Miss Catherine Nivkle, and one daughter, Mrs. Helen Perrin, and one son, Rueben N. Wilson, both of Peterboro.
The funeral will take place from the late residence on Tuesday afternoon, at 2.30 p.m., and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery, Rev. A. G. Doner officiating. Kindly omit flowers.

MRS. WILLIAM LYNCH.
Death removed, on April 23, one of Asphodel's highly respected older residents, in the person of Mrs. Wm. Lynch (whose maiden name was Catharine Ryan), aged 65 years 9 months 27 days. A few years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch retired from the farm to reside in Hastings, but when Mrs. Lynch's health failed she wanted to return to the farm, where everything possible was done to prolong her remaining days.
Her funeral took place April 25 to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Rev. Father Bretherton sang the Requiem High Mass, and also officiated at the grave.
Those left to mourn her loss are her husband and ten children: Mrs. J. A. Connolly, Alta.; Phillip Lynch, Sask.; Anne, of Toronto; Mrs. J. O'Donoghue, Peterboro; Mrs. Louis Lamey, Mrs. Bart Crowley and Fred Lynch, Hastings, and Grace, Muriel and Albert at home; also four sisters: Mrs. M. F. Lynch, Toronto; Mrs. F. W. Reeve, Port Credit; Mrs. (Dr.) N. J. Godin, Mrs. R. Craig and one brother, J. F. Ryan, all of Chicago.
The numerous spiritual and floral offerings testified to the esteem and respect in which the deceased was held.
The pall-bearers were: Messrs. R. F. Birdsall, C. E. Fowlds, T. J. Lynch, J. F. McCarthy, T. A. Coughlin and Charles Lynch.

BETSEY RUMBELOW.
Betsey Rumbelow, widow of Ruben Barton, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Anderson, 610 Armour Road, on Sunday, April 27, in her 82nd year. Deceased leaves to mourn her loss three sons, Samuel and Charles, of Minden, George of Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. John Anderson, of Peterboro; one brother, George Rumbelow of Cobourg. The funeral will leave the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Anderson, 610 Armour Road, on Tuesday morning to the C. N. R. Station. Interment at Minden. Service on Monday evening, April 28th, at 8 o'clock, with the Rev. Mr. Bousfield officiating.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD MANY ALARMS

On Saturday and Sunday the Fire Department was kept hustling from morning till night answering calls from all parts of the city. Four calls were received on Saturday and two on Sunday. On Saturday evening at 7.55 a dump fire at the foot of Charlotte Street, near the C.P.R. Freight Sheds caused plenty of trouble for the fire fighters. About 700 feet of hose was laid and a large amount of water was used before the fire was extinguished. Overheated stove pipes at 468 Stewart Street was the cause of another alarm on Saturday morning at 11.48. Chemicals were used but no damage was done.
On Sunday afternoon at 3.24 p.m. the house at 28 Barnardo Avenue had a close call. A box of matches that were on the stove caught fire, and in an attempt to put them out a small boy spilled them on the floor. The Fire Department was called, but when they arrived at the scene the boy had succeeded in putting the fire out before any damage was done.
A call at 8.45 on Saturday night was received for some electric wires that were down on the corner of Charlotte Street and Monaghan Road, but the department did not respond.
Again on Saturday night at 8.26 o'clock they were called out to a chimney fire at 304 Margaret Ave.
On Sunday evening T. Ashby's Bicycle Store on Rubidge Street was the scene of a small fire. A small motor had caught on fire, but by the use of chemicals the fire was soon extinguished. The motor was slightly damaged, but the firemen arrived on the scene before the building had a chance to catch.

WHAT ONTARIO SHOULD DO TO SAVE FORESTS

Protect the Forest Wealth That is Left, Better Policy Than Planting New Forests.

ROTARY HEARS FACTS

"There is only one forestry problem in Ontario, and that is to keep our forests continually productive, in terms of the more useful and valuable species, through the application of human intelligence in directing the creative and growing powers of soil and sunshine in our woodland areas," was a significant sentence in a paper on Forestry Problems prepared by Rotarian Frank Linton and read in his absence at to-day's lunch eon of the Peterboro Rotary Club, by Rotarian Leon Frazer.
The Paper was prepared in connection with the "Save the Forests" week campaign and was full of important information.
"We can manage the forests which Nature has given use free of charge much more cheaply than we can destroy and rebuild," declared the paper.
"For example, we have at least three million acres of young forests of commercial species, perhaps more, in Ontario; young forests were stocked with trees from two inches up to six and eight inches in diameter.
"We can give them adequate fire protection for four cents an acre per year."
That would be $1.00 per acre in 25 years.
We could spend a little more per acre each year in using intelligence to improve the stand and thus increase, materially the final yield, as well as shorten the periods of harvest.
"We can manage the forests, which down these young forests, and build new ones by artificial planting at a cost of $15 to 20 per acre, and then wait 25 or 30 years and possibly 40 to 50 years, for the crop to mature, and all the while we will have to protect them from fire as well.
Which of these two courses appeals the strongest to you as business men?
You are drifting along the latter, largely, because it is the line of least resistance.
Do you display a similar attitude toward your private business?
I believe thoroughly in artificial reforestation. I believe it is sound as a government policy and as a private investment in the older portions of Ontario where adequate fire protection is assured.
I believe just as strongly, however that our main forestry problem is in the forests that are already created and are well on their way towards maturity.
The planting of forests should be only supplemental to the main source of supply, which is nature's forest.
The paper was loudly applauded by the Rotarians.
Rotarian Jack Seels, who was in charge of the Rotary Motor Show Committee, and who was given an outburst of applause for his splendid work, reported that the Motor Show funds had been enriched to the extent of $117 by the Rotary Club's efforts, this being the surplus. Rotarian Seels thanked the Coco-Cola Co., the Merchants Press, E. F. Mason, C. E. Coleman, Doug. Loomis, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., Webber Turner, and other firms and individuals who had assisted.
Invitations from the Belleville and Port Hope Rotary Clubs, who are both holding minstrels shows on May 5th and 6th, were turned over to Rotarian R. G. Kingan, of the Inter-City Relationships Commmittee, to arrange for delegations from Peterboro.

200 Korean Students Drowned In Collision.

TOKIO, Apr. 28.—Two hundred Korean students were drowned off the west coast of Korea near Chinnampo when a steamship taking them for a visit to Japanese destroyers anchored off shore, collided with one of the destroyers and capsized, according to dispatches Saturday from Seoul.
The steamer sank quickly and owing to the rough sea, only a small number of the students could be rescued.

THE SUBSTATION FULL OPERATION

Linemen Had a Busy Day Yesterday Changing Over Circuit.

The new Utilities Commission substation at Aylmer and Sherbrooke Streets went into full duty Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, and a good many of the men engaged in this somewhat difficult task felt that it was truly the end of a perfect day. All hands were on the job before 5 in the morning, and some of these linemen remained continuously on the pole tops for five and six hours. The circuit, after being changed over, had to be phased out, or in other words, had to be connected in such a way that the motors would run in their right directions. This part of the work was accomplished by noon. Then the joints were all completed during the afternoon, and all clearances were returned by 5.30 and the station went into operation at about 6 p.m. The Commission wish to take this opportunity of thanking the public for their kind forebearance and patience during this inconvenience, for they certainly recognize that it is a hardship for several hundred electric stove owners to be deprived of their valuable use even for a single day. The various churches and hospitals were also very kind and co-operated in no small degree to the successful carrying out of this undertaking. It is likely that it will be many years before another move of this kind will have to be made. The magnetite street light generators are being moved over, and it is expected that they will be completely installed and in full operation Tuesday night.

WEDDING BELLS

HONOUR—CARTER
PAYNE—CARTER

St. John's church was the scene of a very pretty double wedding at high noon on Saturday, April 26th, when two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carter, 60 Murray street, were marmarried, Alice Elsie to Francis William Honour, late of England and Rosally Lilian to Albert Edward Payne of Buffalo, N.Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Payne, Dublin street, city.
The double ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Blagrave, in the presence of a large gathering of friends.
Miss Ethel Carter, sister of the two brides, was bridesmaid for Miss Alice while Miss Gladys Miles, a niece was Miss Rosally's bridesmaid The best man for Mr. Honour was Mr. George Carter, Jr., brother of the bride while Mr. Payne was supported by Mr. Ernest Jones.
The two brides were most charmingly attired in gowns of blue crepe de chine trimmed with lace and with black hats, while the bridesmaid's handsome costumes were of sahd crepe de chene.
The bride carried bouquets of sweet peas and lilies of the valley, while the bridesmaid's bouquets were of pink and while carnations.
The brides were given away by their father, Miss Rosally, entering the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Fred Gandy.
After the ceremony a most enjoyable wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, some sixty guests being in attendance. Dainty refreshments were served and the two couple were showered with congratulations.
Mr. and Mrs. Payne will reside in Buffalo while Mr. and Mrs. Honour will on their return from their honey moon take up residence in Peterboro
The popularity of the two young couple was attested to by the very large number of beautiful presents received by them and by the many friends who gathered to congratulate them.

ANOTHER CHANCE

(Written for The Examiner by a Peterborough man in the County Jail.)

Let the moralists talk about living,
And reformers preach of reform;
Let them flaunt all our falls before us,
With utterance fluent and strong.
But what chance has a man or a convict
To reform and straighten away,
While a lynx-eyed law, with malicious tongue,
Hounds him night and day?

There are many men who wonder
Why we drift back to crime;
It's because the way folk treat us
When they learn we have once done time.
Now, there's not a man among us
Who would not care to advance
On the road that's straight and narrow
If we got a fighting chance.

So when the liberated convict
Bids adieu to durance vile,
And he passes through that pen-gate
Wearing an eighteen-carat smile,
And grabs his railroad ticket
With a little song and dance,
If you want him to be honest
Just see he gets a chance.

For he labored long and faithful,
Where a pay-day never came;
And he thought he saw his finish
In an everlasting shame:
Until reason turned its searchlight
On despair's dark grim advance.
Now you'll find he'll prove a winner,
If he only gets the chance.

So, when liberty shall meet us,
On the rocky road we climb,
And it whispers of the future
That has nought to do with crimeus
Don't turn that iceberg shoulder—
Don't show that cold suspicion glance—
But remember we're all human,
All we ask is another chance.

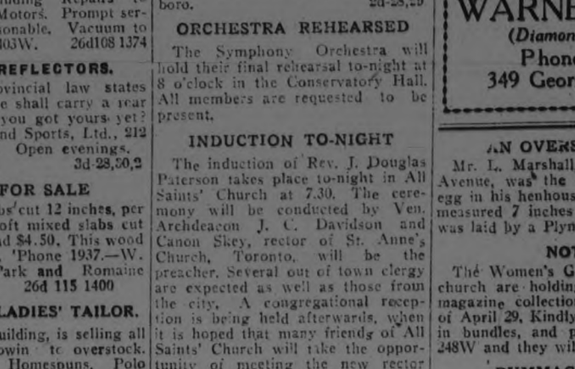
FIRST AND PARAMOUNT, ABSOLUTE SECURITY TO POLICYHOLDERS



"I'M going to put my money in a home," you say.

A good idea. But don't forget that if death intervenes one payment made on a home will bind your widow to pay the mortgage or lose the home.

One payment made on an Imperial Life policy will bind this Company to pay your widow and save the home.

The proceeds of life assurance policies have paid off many mortgages.

We have an interesting booklet about this subject. Just ask for a copy of "That Home of Yours" and we'll send it to you post free.

LABOR AMENDMENT TO BUDGET CONFORMED TO RULES OF PARLIAMENT

Speaker Lemieux Announced His Decision to the Commons, Approving the Woodsworth Amendment Which Had Been Changed Prior to Its Submission to the House From the Chair—Conservative Amendment Out of Order—Debate on the Budget Continued.

DR. MANION'S STRICTURES.

OTTAWA, April 29 (Canadian Press). — Speaker Lemieux yesterday declared the Woodsworth Budget amendment, in its modified form, to be in order; and, with that ruling, the Conservative amendment moved by A. J. Doucet, of Kent, N.B., necessarily falls by the wayside for two amendments to the Budget are not permissible under present practice. There is a possibility, however, that more may be heard of the Conservative amendment later.

Speaker Lemieux, giving his ruling, said the amendment as proposed by Mr. Woodsworth was objectionable in form, and therefore exercising his unquestioned authority he had conferred with Mr. Woodsworth, who had made changes in the amendment. In this, the Speaker argued, he had followed customs and usages of the House. It was quite competent for a member to change a motion providing, as in the present case, it had not been submitted to the House from the chair. But once the speaker had read an amendment or motion, it ceased to be under the mover's control, and could only be withdrawn by leave of the House.

He ruled the Woodsworth amendment, as submitted by the Speaker to the House, to be in order and the Doucet (Conservative) amendment, therefore, out of order.

Debate Resumed

Continuing the debate on the budget, J. G. Robichaud (Liberal, Gloucester), stated that the Canadian people were now facing the evil results of the decade of the Conservative government prior to the 1921 election. He warned the member for Kent (A. J. Doucet), that the people of his consituency resented his committing them to a policy of protection. He also stated that the Canadian people would not forget the injury done them by the 1917 war time elections act.

Mr. Robichaud expressed strong disapproval of the "submerging" of the Intercolonial Railway in the Canadian National System. The Intercolonial should have been left intact. One of the grievances of the Maritime provinces was that the portion of the Canadian National which was formerly the I.C.R. had been divided.

Dealing with recent criticisms of the government, for "pork barrel" expenditures on public works in the Maritime provinces, Mr. Robichaud said that the intimation that these expenditures were dictated by political considerations was a reflection upon his constituents.

He then went on to review the various votes for wharves and break waters in his constituency, arguing that they were necessitated by industrial conditions and by the need of retaining the population on the land.

Trade and immigration troubles, said Mr. Robichaud, could not be remedied overnight. The government had taken a step in the right direction to relieve the burden of taxation under which the farmer and the wage earner had been held down Did the manufacturer expect these to go on bearing their burden while they themselves were unwilling to sacrifice some of their profits? There had been a good deal of excess profit made by manufacturers in Canada, he thought.

Forerunn Free Trade

Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative Fort William and Rainy River, said the present budget was a forerunner of free trade in Canada if the people accepted it at next election. He congratulated the government with having come out into the open and announced its intention to upset the policy under which Canada had enjoyed its fair share of the prosperity since 1878. "Protectionist Liberals" also would now have to come out into the open, and the political situation would be clarified. He could not however, congratulate the government on its performance in this matter. Already a number of industries were suffering severely from its influence. United States manufacturers would be helped. Canadian industories hindered, workers driven out of the country and the home markets correspondingly decreased. He wondered that the government, which "had so little to boast of and boasted about so little, did not begin to boast about Canada's exports of citizens to the United States."

Brief But Unwise

Remarking that he had always looked upon the acting minister of finance as a protectionist, Dr. Manion said he had no objection to the Hon. J. A. Robb standing on his head. The budget had the virtue of

STATE SHIPPING WILL CAUSE WAR

Government-Owned Mercantile Marine a Danger to Peace, Says British Visitor.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 29. — (Canadian Press)—"State ownership of the mercantile marine will eventually lead to war," declared Sir Halford Mackinder, chairman of the Imperial Shipping Committee, speaking before the Canadian Club yesterday. "Even as a dispute over Alsace-Lorraine led to warfare in the last century, so would a dispute over shipping lead to warfare, and if the nations of the world do enter the mercantile marine, there will be no other ending."

Speaking on "shipping combines" for which he made a strong appeal, Sir Halford declared that had it not been for these combines there would be no great British mercantile marine to-day. "The British mercantile marine is the very gist of our Empire," he declared.

The speaker dealt at length with the formation of the Imperial Shipping Committee in 1919, which had for its object the promotion of peace along the lines of shipping.

INCOME TAX RETURNS MADE OUT BOTH WAYS

Taxpayer Advised to Base them on $500 Exemption

OTTAWA, April 28. — In making out returns for income tax, it is intimated here the taxpayer may estimate his income either on basis of $300 exemption for each dependent child or on that of $500 as proposed in the resolution of which the acting Finance Minister has given notice. It is expected that the $500 exemption will become law but it is very unlikely to pass all stages in both houses before April 30 when the first payment of income tax falls due. Should the proposed $500 exemption fail to become law those who have made their return on this basis will be called upon to pay the difference with the addition of six per cent. per annum interest on the unpaid balance; in case of taxpayer who has paid on the basis of a $300 exemption refund will be allowed in the event of the $500 exemption becoming law. The responsibility for the estimate of income submitted, it is pointed out, lies with the taxpayer.

Great Increase In Immigration

OTTAWA, April 29.—Immigration increased by 104 per cent during the fiscal year 1923-24 as compared with the fiscal year of 1922-23, according to a statement issued by the department of immigration here. During the past twelve months 148,560 persons entered Canada while during the preceding twelve months only 72,887 came in. The immigration of British born increased by 111 per cent. immigration from the United States decreased by 7 per cent. and there was an increase from all other countries of 237 per cent. over the preceding twelve months. British immigration totalled 72,919 while the total from other countries, exclusive of the United States was 55,150.

The most active month of the twelve was August when 25,249 immigrants passed through Canadian ports.

MERCURY GOWN NEW 'CREATION'

Brilliant Sheen Reflects Colors of Surroundings Like the Chameleon — French Women Regard Low Heels As Hideous.

PARIS, April 29.—Rivaling the new "mirror gown" in popularity, the "chameleon cloak" made its first appearance at the races on Sunday afternoon.

The new cloak is fashioned from waterproof moire silk treated with a mercury preparation which gives it a sheen of such brilliancy that it reflects its surroundings.

Thus the wearers strolling across the Longchamps lawns seemed garbed in green, while those on the gravel walks took on a neutral color like sand. The intensity of the colors vary like sunshine or clouds.

The same materials are being used for evening gowns which under the limelights in the popular cabarets resemble the myriad tints of phosphorous fish.

The thought of this year's styles, which is "as many colors as possible," results in women wearing dozens of spun glass braclets of every conceivable tint, a score or more often reaching to the elbow. Peacock feathers are again fashionable for evening head dress.

Brimless Toques

The attempt to bring back mannish rimmed hats of tightly drawn and colored goatskin, which seemed successful earlier in the season, has failed, stylish women insisting on tiny brimless toques fitting close down to the eyes and often fashioned of hundreds of henfeathers glued in shingle fashion on a suede base.

Brightly hued parasols which by means of a patented device can be carried at any angle on an upright handle, are again fashionable.

"The 'shutter gown" with 'ayers of silk resembling old fashioned window shutters, which can be opened or closed according to the whim of the wearer and the heat of the day, was among the afternoon's sensations.

Meanwhile Parisian women are bitterly complaining of the alleged dictation by American women, especially as regards shoes.

Owing to the fact that the fashionable shoe makers' unusual efforts to cater to the smart American women, their French customers complain that they have conspired to make the low heel stylish.

Dislike Low Heel

The French high heel shoes and the instep shoe have almost completely disappeared from the best shoe shops, say the enraged French women, who assert that low heels are not only hideous, but unhygienic. Pierre Trevieres, fashion writer comments:

"Low heels are largely responsible for the slouchy carriage of the average American girl. The French woman's slender erectness is doomed if the transatlantic fashion is allowed to prevail."

BRITAIN AND FRANCE IN CLOSE FRIENDSHIP THE PREMIER'S DESIRE

Ramsay MacDonald's Heart Is Set Upon Mission of Peace and New Understanding and Goodwill In Europe — Approves the Experts' Plan and Hopes For the Co-operation of Poincare.

SPOKE IN WALES.

PORT TALBOT, Wales, April 29. — Prime Minister MacDonald, speaking here yesterday to the electors who sent him to Parliament, declared he was not going to lose a single chance of putting the report of the reparation experts into operation.

"And I want France to be with me. Let there be no doubt about it,' he said.

Mr. MacDonald began his discussion of foreign affairs with an expression of his hopes of helping put Europe on its feet.

"If I can only do anything before I leave this office," he said, "to remove some of the difficulties that have been in the way of a European settlement; if I can do anything to bring my country and France into closer friendship; if I can do anything to enable central Europe to find its legs, not with hate and revenge in its heart, but with a new revelation of international co-operation—then I shall have felt that I have done my day's work, and regard it as a pretty satisfactory one at that.

Speech Misunderstood.

"The other day I spoke at York. Over part of my speech as reported in France there was some misunderstanding as to what I said.

"Let there be no doubt about it, I regard these experts' reports as being an opportunity for peace, for settlement for agreement, which if not taken by European statesmen will be one of the most God-sent opportunities ever neglected and lost.

"So far as I am concerned I am not going to lose one single chance of putting these reports into operation if I can help it, and I want France to be with us."

"Some of our papers are talking about France being isolated. That is the very last thing that I want. I do not want France to be isolated. I want to stand side by side with France. I want M. Poincare to know that France as far as her security is concerned, has no better friend than this country."

Open Door to Peace.

"If we disagree as to the angle from which we look upon these things it is not that we do not want security, that we do not want friendship. I am profoundly convinced that these experts' reports joined together with the experience of the last four years ought to make both France and ourselves see that by our common friendship, and by that alone—working with Italy, working with Belgium, working with the small nationalities, and offering Germany a real chance to fulfill its word, a real chance to make a pledge and keep it—in that way, in that friendly way, in that allied way, we can open anew the door to peace, happiness and international co-operation.

"That is my policy, and that is the policy that my friends and I will do our best to carry out, steadily and patiently, but without any humbug and cheating at all—straight, honest, open diplomacy.

"When we disagree let us say we disagree, and when we agree, unite the agreement with the firm handclasp of friendship and fellowship. In that way our country will again take it proper place in the councils of the world."

Second Death From Smallpox in Family

OTTAWA, April 29.—(Canadian Press).—Another fatality from smallpox in the district is reported from Aylmer, Que., in the person of Mrs. Joseph Ladouceur who died Monday morning at her home. The first death from the diseases occurred last week when Mrs. Ladouceur's 12-year-old daughter Laurette died in the Isolation Hospital here. Mrs. Ladouceur's two other daughters Beatrice and Albina are at the family residence, which has been quarantined for the past three weeks.

BOMBED HOUSE DRY CRUSADER

Family In Bed At the Time and House Was Partly Wrecked.

CHICAGO, April 29. Canadian Press. — The home of Rev. Elmer L. Williams a prohibition crusader, and an officer in the "Better Governm Association," was bombed yesterday.

Williams, who is known as the "Fighting Parson," claims that the bomb was placed by men caught in his campaign against violators of the Prohibition law. The blast wrecked the front porch, and shattered almost every window in the houses adjoining Dr. Williams, his wife, their three children, and Mrs. Williams' mother, were in the house at the time, and they were hurled from their beds.

Montreal Prisoner Was a Vancouver Suspect.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 29 (Canadian Press).—Frank Gambino, held in Montreal as one of the suspects in the hold-up of the Bank of Hochelaga messengers on 1st April, was a suspect in Vancouver in 1921 when a charge of murder was held over his head.

Following the murder of Pete Haeff, a Russian, who was stabbed on the street, Gambino was taken int., custody with others, but was able to prove his innocence, and was released.

SMALL CASE AGAIN BROUGHT TO LIFE

Skeleton of Unknown Man Found in Quebec Resembles the Missing Theatrical Magnate.

TORONTO, April 29. Canadian Press. — Sergeant of Detectives Austin Mitchell, left Toronto last night for Chishester, Quebec, to examine a body thought to be that of Ambrose J. Small.

On receipt of information from the police of Pembroke, Inspector of Detectives Guthrie consulted with Chief Dickson, and it was decided to send Sergt. Mitchell.

The finding of the body of an unknown man in the woods at Chichester has again focussed public attention on that famous case.

Brown hair left on scalp, a brown moustache, lightly touched with grey, correspond with the description of the missing theatre magnate. To identify the "hammer toe" mentioned in the official description is impossible until a specialist in anatomy makes an examination.

It is said that Ambrose Small had some artificial teeth, and in the skull of the discovered skeleton is a vacant place where a removable bridge might have fallen out.

Peculiarly significant is a missing collar on the overcoat, which it is suggested, might easily have been a velvet collar of the overcoat worn by Small when he disappeared.

20 GRAIN BOATS CLEARED.

FORT WILLIAM, April 29 (Canadian Press). — The grain movement on Sunday and yesterday maintained its activity with twenty-one boats clearing over the week-end, carrying 4,442,000 bushels of grain, eleven boats being bound for Buffalo.

MEET MR. GUMP

In making a switch temporary, perhaps lasting, from the pictured chronicles of "Bringing up Father" to the story of "The Gumps", The Examiner feels that it is giving its subscribers a pleasant change. Mr. Jiggs will still hold his place in the hearts of all, but there is something snappy about the style of Andrew Gump that appeals to his followers. In his wordy battle with Minerva, his wife, he has a brisk style of repartee that is quite attractive, and the bits of polished wisdom that fall from his retreating chin are calculated to brighten up any page. Mr. Gump and his difficulties will hereafter be presented nightly to The Examiner's readers, who doubtless are well acquainted with the past history of the gentleman and his relatives. Just now, Andy has been deserted by Min, and his various reactions are well portrayed by his originator, Sidney Smith.

Record Gas Well Is Under Control

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 29. —Smashing all records for gas wells ever drilled in Canada, the Rogers-Imperial well at Coutts, which came in a giant gusher at 2,528 feet, a week ago was tested on Sunday, measuring 82,480,000 feet open flow for 24 hours. The rock pressure was 840 pounds.

"Old Glory" the well that made the Bow Island field famous 15 years ago, was a 29 million foot well. It has not been decided whether gas is wet or dry but a test will be made by a small absorption plant at the well this week.

This one well, if connected to the pipe line, would be sufficient to supply all gas users in both Lethbridge and Calgary. The well is now fairly well under control.

FOCH SMILING AFTER PARLEY

The French and Belgian Premiers Apparently on Common Ground As to Next Move In Dealing With Experts' Report.

PARIS, April 29 (Canadian Press). — At yesterday's conference between Belgian and French ministers, the whole question of pressure on Germany, the results obtained from the occupation of the Ruhr and the proper form of the eventual penalties, to be applied to Germany in the case of default of the execution of the experts' plan, was canvassed in its military, political and financial aspects with Marshal Foch, Paul Tirard, President of the International Rhineland Commission, and M. Francois-Marsal, French Finance Minister, participating as counsellors.

The rapidity with which the accord was reached was taken in political circles as indicating that the Belgians had agreed with Premier Poincare that some plan for the eventual application of penalties must be adopted before the Allies could abandon the pledges held in the Ruhr.

To London Next.

The next stride in the move toward a general settlement will be taken next Friday when Premier Theunis and M. Hymans will go to London to confer with Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain. The exchanges of views preliminary to the general conference are expected to continue until a common meeting is arranged, probably for some time after the French elections.

The French government, it is understood, will communicate the results of yesterday's conference to Mr. MacDonald through the Count De Saint Aulaire, French Ambassador to Great Britain, so that discussions may go on between London and Paris pending the visit of the Belgians to Chequers Court.

When the conference broke up shortly after five o'clock M. Hymans expressed the sentiment that showed itself in the countenances of all those who had participated.

Foch Beamed.

"Everything is going well toward a full agreement on the reparation question," M. Barthou, President of the Reparation Commission, when questioned, replied. "Look at the smile on Marshal Foch's face, and you can guess it all."

The official spokesman for the American Office, in giving out the communique after the conference, declared that the meeting was "eminently satisfactory."

OCEAN FREIGHT RATES DESTROY WESTERN TRADE

LOSS TO PRODUCERS.

Distant Markets Open to Farm Products Are Rendered Non-Existent By Extortionate Shipping Charges, Says the Winnipeg Free Press in a Statement to the Imperial Shipping Committee.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 29 (Canadian Press). — The importance to Western Canada of a substantial reduction in existing ocean freight rates on cattle was emphasized in a lengthy memorandum submitted yesterday to the Imperial Shipping Committee by the Manitoba Free Press.

"If Canada is to develop," said the statement in a summary of the case, "she must increase her production of live stock and maintain her production of wheat.

"To do so, she must have markets. There are markets open to her farm products, but they are very distant. Unless transportation costs enable these products to be placed in these markets under conditions which permit some return to their producers, these markets are in fact non-existent.

Illusions of Embargo.

"This is, or will be in the immediate future, the fact so far as the export trade in cattle from Western Canada is concerned. The expectations created in Western Canada by the removal of the embargo, have proved illusions. There is no market under existing conditions for 'store' cattle in Great Britain, and this is due directly to the fact that the ocean rate on cattle is maintained at a level which brings it entirely out of relation to the railway rates on land as fixed by the pre-war conditions.

"In the belief that this rate is extortionate and uneconomic, tending to destroy a trade which an enlightened shipping interest should be keen to encourage, the agriculturalists of Western Canada will, we are convinced, seek a remedy from every quarter that is available, reserving as their last alternative a demand upon the Government of Canada for action as will give them a rate on cattle to Great Britain in keeping with the economic requirements of the trade."

U. S. Market Closed.

Until markets available across the Atlantic would be reached under transportation conditions that would leave something for the Canadian producer there would be "but a gradual development of Western Canada," it was stated "with consequent limitation of opportunities for British immigrants." The U.S. market was guarded by a tariff so high that it "was reasonably safe to assume" that not one per cent. of 65,629 feeder or store cattle shipped across the border from Winnipeg last year showed a profit to the producer, and many shipments showed a heavy loss.

Nevertheless, marketing had to be done in that country because of the excessive freights on cattle to Britain. Live stock and diversified farming which was entailed by keeping stock, were necessary to maintain the fertility of the soil, but Canadian farmers could not afford to go on producing either wheat or live stock at a loss.

The rail rate on cattle from Winnipeg to Montreal was 40 1-2 per cent. higher than during the period from 1906 to 1912, said the Free Press, while ocean carriage had gone up 166 per cent., it was impossible to believe that the cost of operating ships had increased four times as much as the cost of operating railways. A specific instance was quoted of a shipment made in 1909, in which the rail rate from an Ontario point to Montreal was 27 cents per 100 pounds, and the ocean rate $6.08

BRIGHTON PEOPLE SLEEP IN CHURCH

Pastor of Methodist Church Used an Alarm Clock on Sunday Morning to Waken Loungers in Front Row.

BRIGHTON, April 28. — An unique feature was introduced by the pastor of the Methodist church at the morning service here on Sunday. The slumberers of the front pews had just settled down for their first siesta of the service, when they were rudely awakened by the sharp tingle of an alarm clock, innocently seated on the front of the pulpit. Many smiles and quite a few laughs greeted the little time piece's efforts, for everyone was confident that the clock had been placed there to give the habitual sleepers a gentle reminder that service was still in progress.

But the pastor explained that it had been placed there to use as an illustration for his remarks on "Conscience," and had played its role too soon.

"However," he added, with a twinkle in his eye, "the little clock may have noticed that its services were needed in another capacity."

REPARATIONS TO FORM COMMITTEES

The Belgian Premier is Believed to Have Secured Promises of Concessions From Poincare

(By Webb Miller, United Press Staff Corr.spondent.)

PARIS, April 29.—The Reparations Commission met to-day and considered the replies of the Allied governments on the expert report and discussed whom they should nominate on the Organization committees.

It is believed the commission will be compelled to mark time as far as acting on the governments replies is concerned until the result of the negotiations between Premier Theunis of Belgium and Premier Poincare of France and MacDonald of Great Britain became known. Despite the secrecy as to the details of yesterday's France, Belgium conversations, it has leaked out that Poincare and the United States agreed in principle on a plan which present a united front by these countries as far as the Ruhr is concerned. Military occupation will be continued in some form throughout until the experts plans is put in operation. It is understood Theunis urged that occupation eventually be modified toward "invisibility." He proposed occupation of vital centres only in case the Germans executed the plans with good will.

The Belgian premier is believed to have secured promises of concessions from Poincare which will enable him to bring the French and British viewpoints appreciably closer when he has a talk with Premier MacDonald over the week end.

ANGLO-IRISH TREATY TO SETTLE BOUNDARY

LONDON, April 29. — (Canadian Press.)—J. H. Thomas, colonial secretary, announced in the House of Commons to-day that as no settlement by agreement was possible, the boundary between Northern Ireland and remainder of Ireland must be determined in accordance with Article 12 of the Anglo-Irish treaty. This article provides for the establishment of a boundary commission.

MARMORA MAIDENS BOB LIKE WOMEN OF CITY

Barbers Reaping Harvest In Little Villages Just As In Big Ones — Fine Weather Sunday Drew Many Cottagers to Crowe Lake.

MARMORA, April 28.—Sunday saw the beginning of the week-end excursions of the majority of the population of the village to Crowe Lake during the summer months. Everything points to a very successful year for the resort. Mr. G. T. Neal has engaged a first-class orchestra for his pavilion, which is very encouraging for the young people. The demand for cottages, which has of late years greatly exceeded the supply, is already starting, and those who have cottages for rent are beginning to realize the splendid investments they have made.

Harvest for Barbers.

The ambitious statistician, or rather perhaps, the ambitious mathematician in Toronto, who recently announced that barbers in that city are clipping the locks of the fair sex at the rate of a ten a month, appears to have not been much in error if the village of Marmora can be taken as an example. One need only ask the local barbers to convince him that the number of girls and women who are parting with their tresses is very great. It is said that everyone has his day, and surely the barber is having his now.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wiggins and daughter, Helen, of Belleville, renewed acquaintances in town during he week-end.

Mr. Joseph Doyle has purchased a residence on North Hastings Avenue from Mr. Fred Grey, and has moved his family into town.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neil and daughter, Jean, of Hastings, visited their son, Joe, on Sunday.

Mr. James Parker, Toronto, is at his summer home at Crowe Lake for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wiggins and their daughter, Helen, of Belleville, spent the week-end amongst their old friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deacon and two daughters, Miss Violet Deacon and Mrs. Myrtle Loveless, motored to Stirling on Sunday.

Miss Jennie Connors, Miss Annie Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Naylor motored to Stirling on Sunday.

Miss Effie Know and Mrs. Edith Hawes visited Campellford on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Simmons, of Niagara, are spending several weeks in town with their parents. On Monday, Mr. Simmons motored to Belleville to meet his mother and sister, Mrs. D. Simmons and Miss Constance Simmons on their return from visiting at Lyn.

Mr. Frank Grant was a visitor in Stirling Saturday evening.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

A Successful At Home in St. Mary's Parish--Band Concert.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29.—A successful "At Home" was held by the parish of St. Mary's in the Regent Theatre last night, the large audience including members of all the churches in the town, as well as a number of visitors from outside. The committee of arrangements, to whose efforts the success of the entertainment was to a great extent due, consisted of Richard Cook, Donald Robertson, William Keating, Michael Murphy and Harry McFaul. Leonard's orchestra, consisting of seven pieces, furnished the music.

One of the features of the programme was a number of square dances, which the older members of the audience especially enjoyed, although a majority of the junior dancers appeared to fight shy of the intricate figures in the old-time quadrills. For these dances the music was furnished by David Johnston, violinist, and Mrs. H. Cassidy, pianist, while the "calling-off" was done by Peter Malloy.

Dainty refreshments, furnished by the ladies of the parish, were served at midnight.

Sunday Band Concerts.

The Sunday evening band concerts are to be continued until the weather is warm enough to permit of the holding of these entertainments out of doors, as Capt. Hyland has extended an invitation to the members of the band to continue to use the Regent Theatre for that purpose. At the next concert, the date of which will be announced later, Major J. F. B. Belford, M.L.A. for East Northumberland, will preside.

A new and attractive programme was rendered at the concert Sunday night, and when the chairman, Major J. M. Bygott, asked for an expression of opinion from the audience as to whether it was the desire of the public to have the concerts continue, there was no mistaking the unanimity of the response in the affirmative.

AT THE REGENT

The attractions of the Regent Theatre this week are as follows:

Tuesday and Wednesday: "The Village Blacksmith," founded on Longfellow's poem of that title, which has held its place as a literary favorite since first given to the public.

Friday and Saturday: "A Lady of Quality" a super Jewel production of the same high class as "The Merry-Go-Round" which was so popular when shown here last winter. "A Lady of Quality", is beyond all question one of the best films ever shown in Campbellford, produced by a company that never turn out anything but the highest type of pictures.

HEAVY AUTO DUTY SLOWED UP TRADE

United States Is Ready to Ship From Seven to Ten Thousand Cars to Britain

LONDON, April 29. — (Canadian Press).—Importers of United States goods last night were eagerly awaiting Chancellor Snowden's budget pronouncement in Parliament to-day on the McKenna duties on motor cars, bicycles, musical instruments, clocks and films. Published reports that the Government might allow the duties to lapse found a number of London importers preparing to make huge purchases of goods manufactured in the United States for immediate shipment.

Automobile importers, whose business has been most affected by the McKenna duties, have been holding off shipments in the hope that the present heavy duty on automobiles would be abolished, placing their cars on the British marekt, they assert, at a figure considerably less than the British manufacturers are able to quote. They state that in this eevnt from 7,000 to 10,000 cars will be shipped from the United States to Great Britain within the next ten months.

The London manager of one of the largest United States manufacturers said yesterday that his company was prepared to use special ships to bring 10,000 cars to Great Britain immediately if the duties were removed. This number of automobiles, he anticipated, would not fill orders for the machines which he expected to receive as the result of placing automobiles on the market at prices as low as £100.

WINDSOR MAGISTRATE TO EXPLAIN POSITION

WINDSOR, April 29. — (Canadian Press.)—Declaring that Police Magistrate Gundy failed to turn into the city treasury "certain police court fees" which it was alleged he had agreed to do after his salary had been increased to $5,200 in May, 1921, Alderman Hooper at last night's meeting of the City Council got through a resolution asking the magistrate to appear before the Civic Finance committee on May 9, to explain his position.

Cardinal Hayes Welcomed By Flattered Americans.

NEW YORK, April 29.—(Canadian Press.)—New York gave Cardinal Hayes one of its greatest welcomes yesterday on his return from his elevation at Rome. Small boats loaded with eminent citizens and gayly dressed with flags bobbed about the Leviathan as it came into quarantine, saluting the Cardinal with jets of steam and shrieking weird but hearty greetings from their sirens.

This welcome was continued by hundreds of thousands on Manhattan and it was closed with a beautiful and touching ceremony in St. Patrick's Cathedral, where he returned thanks for the remarkable reception.

ARRESTS FOLLOW BOOK SHORTAGE

Employees of Provincial Secretary Out on Bail.

TORONTO, April 29. — Canadian Press. — E. V. Donnelly and Harold Thomas, two officials of the Provincial Secretary's Department, suspended by Hon. Lincoln Foldie, Provincial Secretary, immediately after an audit of their accounts had been begun by experts some weeks ago, were taken into custody last evening charged with the theft of government moneys. Each is specifically charged with stealing $1000.

Both men were admitted to bail on $10,000.

Last Friday it was officially stated by Premier Ferguson that alleged shortages of about $9000 had been discovered by the auditors in going over the books of the Provincial Secretary's department but he declined to speak about possible civil or criminal action against Donnelly and Thomas, who were then daily conferring with the auditors regarding the alleged shortages.

PNEUMONIA TOOK DELORA VETERAN

H. F. Bertrand Was One of First to Enlist From the Village—Wounded and Gassed — Comrades at Burial.

MARMORA, Apr. 26.—Another tragedy of the Great War occurred on Monday when Heney Francis Bertrand died of pneumonia in Deloro Hospital, at the age of thirty-nine years. Deceased, who was one of the most valued employees of the Deloro plant, had not been about his work since last Tuesday. On Saturday he was taken suddenly ill and after his removal to the hospital it was realized that he was beyond medical aid.

The late Mr. Bertrand was one of the first from the village to enlist, having joined up with the 80th Battalion in 1915. He saw a great deal of actual fighting, having been wounded and gassed. To this, and also to the fact that he had pneumonis before, is attributed to his early death.

Since his return from the war, Mr. Bertrand had always taken an active interest in military affairs. At the summer camp of the militia at Picton last summer he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

The late Mr. Bertrand is survived by his widow and four small children, his father, Mr. Stan. Bertrand, and his step-mother. Besides, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Gustave MacNally of Deloro, and Mary of Peterboro', and a step-sister, Madeleine of Brockville, and one brother, Monto of Ottawa.

The funeral, which was conducted yesterday under the auspices of Marmora and Deloro G.W.V.A., was one of the most impressive military funerals ever witnessed in Marmora. A full military band furnished the music and the pall-bearers were fellow officers. At the grave a firing party of twelve, fired three rounds over the grave of their fallen comrade and a solemn hush fell over the crowd as the weird strains of the 'last post' filled the air.

Rev. Father Traynor spoke only a few words at the graveside after the funeral mass. He thanked the veterans who came from far and near to pay their last respects to another hero of the war and thought that it was only proper that the loyalty which they had shown through life should continue right to the grave.

Clean Up Property

The "Booster" Club has set May 15 at the date by which all property must be cleaned up. Already, citizens are vigorously raking lawns, burning rubbish and making a general improvement on the appearance of the town.

The lots on Forsythe Street, which have been purchased by Mr. T. Potts, are showing great improvement. The land has been cleared and is being prepared for building. Mr. Potts is one of Marmora's most vigorous "boosters," and he plans to build a number of houses for renting purposes on this site.

Mr. W. Inkster has bought the business of Mr. Moir, of Trent Bridge, and in the near future expects to move his family to Trent Bridge. Mr. Moir, in return, has bought Mr. Inkster's home in Marmora.

Under the auspices of the True Blue Lodge, a successful concert was held on Wednesday evening. Jack Elder gave a number of Scotch selections. Among the local talent taking part were: Mrs. F. S. Pearce, Miss C. Wilson of Deloro, Mr. Hart of Deloro, Miss Alma Osborne, Mr. Leslie Runnels and Mr. W. J. Cottrell.

Mrs. D. R. Jones is the purchaser of the Methodist parsonage. The trustees of the church are contemplating building on the lot on the east side of the church.

Marmora Personals

Miss Mabel Inkster is spending the week with relatives in Havelock.

Mr. McLean of Toronto, has been in town for several days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Hubbel spent the first part of Easter week in Toronto.

Miss Frances Crawford and Master Tom Crawford are spending their holidays in Peterboro'.

Mr. F. S. Pearce spent several days of this week in Montreal on business.

Mr. James Parker, Toronto, is in town for a few days.

Mr. Clarence Naylor has started the erection of a dwelling on the lot east of Mrs. Fry's residence.

The small boys, and indeed the older boys, too, are enjoying their holidays to a great extent by perch fishing in the river. The perch are fairly game and at this time of the year, appeal greatly to most appetites.

FORMER MRS. CARUSO SEPARATED FROM HUBBY

NEW YORK, April 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Mrs. E. A. Ingram, formerly Mrs. Enrico Caruso, through her attorney yesterday confirmed the reports that she and her husband, Capt. Ingram, an Englishman, had separated. She declared, however, that she would bring neither divorce nor separation suit against her husband.

Her attorney, speaking for her, explained a domestic rift was caused by "little irritations," one of which was Capt. Ingram's dislike for the United States. He has gone to England and she will reside in Park avenue.

FLAVELLE MILL ON THE MARKET

Industrial Landmark of Lindsay In the Heyday of J. D. Flavelle's Energies--Once Employed Many Men.

LINDSAY, April 29.—One of the town's industrial landmarks—the Flavelle flour milling plant—possibly one of the largest stone mills in the country, is to be placed under the auctioneer's hammer in a few days. Besides the mill proper, there is a big elevator ,oatmeal mill, chop mill, water power and steam power plants office building etc. This industry was one of Lindsay's greatest in the days when J. D. Flavelle was at its head. When he retired the plant was purchased by the Canadian Cereal and Flour Mills Company, Limited, now bankrupt, which operated it for a short time. It has since been standing idle although spasmodic efforts were made to revive it. The mill was a hive of industry under the management of Dundas & Flavelle, as it employed a large number of men.

MORE REQUIRED OF DOMINIONS

Premier of New Zealand Affirms Mother Country Can't Bear the Whole Burden of Naval Defence

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, April 29.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). — Premier W. F. Massey, speaking at a state luncheon here yesterday to the officers of the visting British special service squadron on a cruise round the empire, said: "Great Britain alone cannot bear the whole burden of naval defence. The dominions have done their share but more is required if the sea force is to be kept in an efficient state. The last has not been hear! of the Singapore naval base scheme and the dominions must stand to their responsibilities."

Premier Massey said he hoped the admiralty would ask New Zealand to maintain another cruiser on the Pacific.

Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, commander of the squadron, stressed the fact that for many years to come reliance must be placed on naval power. With regard to the dominions, he advocated three cruisers as a measure of safety.

MUSCLE SHOALS FOR HENRY FORD

Senate Committee Produced a New Sensation Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, April 29. Canadian Press. — The Senate Agricultural Committee opened its own little sensation package, producing testimony that shortly before Henry Ford announced himself for Coolidge for president, Mr. Coolidge sent the Detroiter word that he planned to deliver Muscle Shoals to Ford. The inference of the gentlemen's agreement between Ford and Mr. Coolidge whereby the manufacturer would step out of any personal presidential aspirations to step into the Alabama power site, brought a prompt denial from the White House and the President in a prepared statement last night, denied that he ever promised "delivery," and said that the Muscle Shoals question would be decided by Congress entirely on its merits.

"These rates," it was declared, "we have no hesitation in saying, absolutely prohibit shipping store cattle from Western Canada at any profit to the producer; and even from Western Canada any margin of profit would be pitifully small.

Hudson Bay Route.

The importance of the Hudson Bay Railway as a means of reducing Atlantic freight rates was emphasised at the closing session of the commission yesterday afternoon.

C. F. Gray, former Mayor of Winnipeg, on behalf of the "On-to-the-Bay Association," declared that the feasibility of the road was no longer a matter of argument, and maintained that when completed the railway would make possible an Imperial route, both natural and short, which inevitably would foster trade with the British Isles.

INSPECTION SEED POTATOES

Arrangements have been made for the continuation of potato inspection and certification during the coming season, and forms of application have already been forwarded to all potato growers whose fields were inspected last year. These forms are returnable up to July 1st, so that there is still ample time for any other growers who may desire to submit their fields for inspection to write for a form and secure any particulars they may desire in respect to the work. Letters (postage free) should be addressed to the Dominion Botanist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, who will see that every attention is paid to requests for forms and additional information. He will arrange for the carrying out of inspections at the appropriate time during the season.

Two fields will as usual be made, the first as near as possible to the blossoming period, and the second some three to four weeks later.

The standard for the field inspection will be the same as that applied last year, and any fields, as the result of the two inspections, found to measure up to the standard will be considered eligible for certification, subject to an inspection of the tubers after harvest, and the grading out of any which may appear undesirable for seed purposes.

SHORTAGE OF FUNDS KINGSTON TOWNSHIP

KINGSTON, April 28.—(Canadian Press).—Quite a sensation was caused here this morning, when it became known that there is a shortage of about five thousand dollars in the funds of Kingston Township. Although no official announcement has been made regarding the matter it is stated that Mr. A. H. Muir, auditor for the city of Kingston, who was secured a few weeks ago to go over the books of the Township and inaugurate a better knowledge system made the discovery.

However, as he has not sent in his report to the Council it is not known just what action the Township will take in the matter.

AARON SAPIRO AT WINNIPEG

Co-operative Marketing Expert Testified Before Royal Grain Commission — Objected to the Grain Growers' "Bullying."

WINNIPEG, April 29 (Canadian Press). — After seven hours in the witness box before the Royal Grain Commission, largely under cross-examination on controversial aspects of the wheat pool proposal, Aaron Sapiro, the American expert on co-operative marketing, left for the South on Monday afternoon.

The day's sessions were given up exclusively to Mr. Sapiro's evidence, and much interest was aroused by his frequent clashes with counsel, particularly with Isaac Pitblado, representing the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Mr. Sapiro complained that Mr. Pitblado was adopting "bullying tactics," and the lawyer declared that Mr. Sapiro was not answering questions.

Mr. Justice Turgeon, chairman, told the witness they were glad to have him present, that the Commission was trying to see if it were possible for the farmers to get more for their grain.

Mr. Sapiro said the idea of the pools was to merchandise wheat, to put it in the proper channels of trade at the proper time and in proper quantities. The ideal would be to get rid of all intermediaries, but it was doubtful if this could be done because it was not likely that at any time they would have more than 75 per cent. of Canadian wheat in the pool. They could only fix prices if they had control of 50 per cent. or more of the world's surplus, but he would like to see the farmers dictate prices. The ultimate idea of the pools was to put managers in the place of the group of buyers in Liverpool and let the pool do what those merchants now were doing.

The Alberta pool, said Mr. Sapiro, was "a pretty good baby," but it couldn't do a giant's work, and was not having much effect on world prices.

IT PAYS TO KEEP WELL.

It is estimated that over $2,000,000,000 is spent on this Continent needlessly every year on hospitals, nurses, doctors' bills and patent medicines through illness which could easily have been prevented.

Realizing the immensity of these figures and the possibilities for a betterment of physical conditions, strenuous measures are being taken throughout the country by various states and municipal governments for the promotion of health.

For instance, in some cities a health promotion week is observed and contests are being conducted among teachers of public schools for the best results obtained from the presentation of health teaching throughout the year.

Feeling it a criminal neglect not to do so, the life insurance companies, through the discoveries made by their investigations, are accomplishing much by well organized plans to combat or prevent diseases of all kinds.

In this way they are laying the foundation for a healthier nation and making possible the purchasing of an adequate life insurance policy, which in many thousand cases might be unobtainable through ill-health.

BOOTLEG DRUGGISTS.

The introduction of the new permit system provided for by amendments adopted by the Legislature last session is expected by the authorities to drive the bootleg drug store out of business.

That there was ample need for such legislation is evidenced by the fact that a Toronto reporter sent out by his paper to make a round of the questionable drug stores had no trouble in getting all the drinks he wanted.

The new regulations will be welcomed by the legitimate druggists of Ontario who have very keenly felt the fact that their profession was being used by unscrupulous persons as a cloak for bootleg business on a large scale.

Apparently the traffic in Toronto has grown to an extent that constitutes a menace—inasmuch as these fake druggists have not been particular as to the composition of the drinks they served so long as the mixture had the necessary "kick."

The sooner such places are driven out of business the better it will be not only for the general public but for the honest druggist who resents the rebelling of his profession by individuals who use the trade to screen their enfractions of the law.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTION.

The agitation for a system of Government inspection of Canada's banks will be materially strengthened by the evidence being adduced before the Royal Commission investigating the Home Bank collapse.

Newspapers which hitherto have been hostile or indifferent toward the question have swung round to an advocacy of Government inspection, and the pressure of public opinion in this direction is growing so strong that the Federal Government will have to take notice of it.

The feeling, based on the evidence of Mr. Clarkson and other witnesses that an inspection by the Government would have disclosed the true state of affairs in time to avert the crash, is general, and although the banks of this country have been opposed to any such method in the past, the Home Bank tragedy may go a long way toward convincing them that public confidence in the banking institutions of Canada can best be strengthened by the establishment of an adequate inspection system controlled by the Federal Government.

It is impossible to think that if such a system had been in force in Canada in 1916 the rotten condition of the Home Bank could have been successfully hidden.

The people of this country want some guarantee that the Government will not be deceived by other banks, as it is too obvious Sir Thomas White was deceived by the reports from the inside reaching him from the wrecked Home Bank.

THE WESTERN VIEWPOINT.

If the Hudson Bay Railroad were not so near completion, there might be some excuse for another royal commission, such as suggested by some of the Eastern papers, says the Saskatoon Progressive. If all the stuff that is now being spouted about the dangers of the route had not been known before twenty million dollars had been spent there might be some reason for further delay. If men honored in Canadian public life had not sanctioned the project and declared it sound, there might be some sense in the idea that more investigation should be made. But, the grade is built to Hudson Bay. It is necessary to lay only ninety-two miles of steel before locomotives can puff their way right to the shores of Hudson Bay. "Turn back; turn back," say the timid ones now; "we must have more investigation: there is danger." There may be danger; there is danger that all the men who declared in favor of the Hudson Bay were fools or vote-buying politicians. If the project is not completed, and completed fairly soon, there is certainty that all the money and all the effort that have gone into the present construcion on the Hudson Bay line will be lost and wasted; and there is certainty that the people of the West will believe that in this matter they have been tricked and betrayed. It is a great experiment. Four-fifths of the way to its completion has been traversed. To abandon the thing now would be an act of indefensible timidity; ridiculous caution; cowardice.

IT'S A PETERBOROUGH PROBLEM.

The greatest obstacle in the way of the success of a campaign such as the "Save the Forest" Week effort which is being held in Canada this week is to bring home the sense of personal interest and responsibility to the average citizen.

Here in Peterborough we are inclined to look upon this problem as one that does not concern us very much.

It is all right for people in some districts to worry about forest conservation, but why should we in this city and district have to bother our heads about such matters?

Yet the fact is, that outside of being very vitally affected by the economic waste represented by the annual burning up of timber we have right at home to face the situation.

A paper prepared by Rotarian Frank Linton and read before the Rotary Club yesterday brought that fact prominently to attention.

He told of a case of a preventable forest fire in our own county of Peterborough.

One of the settlers in the northern part of the county was cutting marsh hay when he decided to have a rest in an old shack situated close to valuable timber limits.

He dropped off to sleep, leaving the fire in a dangerous condition, and awakened to find the building on fire.

Instead of making any effort to extinguish the flames he deliberately left the place to its own destruction.

The net result of his carelessness was the destruction of three million feet of pine, two million feet of mixed timber, four sets of camps, eight dams and a saw-mill.

The total loss was estimated at $75,000, without taking into account the destruction of a large area of young trees which would have become very valuable in ten years' time.

UNTO DEATH—AND AFTER.

There is something that stirs the blood and moves the heart in the simple story cabled from Tokio of the farewell messages left by the Japanese sailors who died in a trapped submarine on March 19, says the Montreal Star. Through all there is one dominant note—loyalty to the Emperor. "We die, but we guard the Emperor after death . . . . in coming generations our spirits shall serve the Emperor." The monarch is well served who can command such love as this, and the people who give it possess a spirit that can rise superior to the ultimate trial. It is not the first time that the soul of Dai Nippon has found expression, under similar circumstances of terrible testing, in sentiments that do honor to a great nation. There are those who affect a patronizing attitude towards the Japanese, but where in the world can be found a spirit greater than that which sustained these simple sailors while they were waiting a horrible death at the bottom of the sea? The records of the British race afford no finer example of self-sacrificing loyalty than this.

There is a lesson in those proud messages from the dead. The spirit they breathe lives on. It lives in the hearts and minds of over sixty millions of people who inhabit the island kingdom of the Orient. It was that spirit which upheld them in their colossal struggle against the Russian hordes. It is that spirit which has kept them a unit through all the disturbing metamorphosis from the bows and arrows of less than a century ago to the modern guns and battleships of today. And it will be that spirit their enemies will have to face, if ever the time should come when their sensitive national pride is taunted into war. Surely it is the better part of wisdom to honor such a spirit rather than to seek its humiliation? It cannot be crushed, and it cannot be scorned. And so long as it endures Japan will retain a factor to be reckoned with in the world's affairs.

MacDONALD'S MESSAGE.

It is doubtful if any British statesman of today could have given more effective expression to the sentiments that actuate most right-thinking people among the English-speaking nations of the world than Premier MacDonald has done in his message to the American press, delivered by Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador at Washington, in New York last night. It was at once a dignified acknowledgment of American sympathy and a sincere plea for the strengthening of a broader understanding and a closer unity of sentiment and friendship between Britain and the Uinted States. Mr. MacDonald emphasized the fact that today there are no outstanding disputes between the two countries, that on both sides of the Atlantic Governments and Ambassadors are working harmoniously together. Then he made his strong point—that "in these days international friendship is not based upon official friendship alone. To be fruitful and enduring, it needs the sanction of popular sympathy." The crux of the problem could not have been expressed more succinctly or more convincingly. It is unfortunately true that there still exists plenty of room for British and Americans to understand one another better.

And it is to the press that Premier MacDonald looks to facilitate this better understanding by securing accurate reports of what is going on abroad and by interpreting those reports to their readers. There can be no doubt whatever in the mind of any unprejudiced reader that the press of the United States has made great strides along these lines. Today the great papers of America are more widely represented, and more sympathetically represented abroad than they ever were. They send men who are devoid of prejudice or partizanship, and they have come to realize that this is the best way to serve their own aims and to strengthen that cordiality between themselves and their cousins overseas which is so desirable in the interests of international comity. On its side the British press also is exerting greater efforts to make the activities and views of the American people better understood in England. We in Canada, living side by side with the United States, are in daily touch with their ideas and their activities, and naturally understand them more thoroughly. But even then the press of this Dominion can do its share in the common task of furthering that bond of human friendship which is the most potent factor possible for the founding of the ideal of the day—a thorough Anglo-American entente.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is to everybody's interest that the forests should be protected. The "Save the Forest" Week should therefore be a matter in which everybody should be concerned.

Peterborough wishes its representatives in the Ontario Musical Festival this week every success.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 28.—The cattle run today at the Union Stock Yards was 1600 head more than last Monday, and this naturally led to a slower and easier m not the same snap in the heavy cattle as there was a week ago, and sales of choice loads at $8.25 a cwt. to the exporters indicated a drop of 25 cents a cwt.

Packers are getting a good many butcher cattle direct from the West, and one firm received 25 loads of these last Friday night. The accumulation of stockers has weakened prices in this section and some poor grade stockers were offering this morning at $4.50 a cwt. but other loads, 900 lbs. each were held at $6. The exporters bought about 300 head and called the steers lower by 10 cents a cwt. than last week.

Some choice handyweight butchers sold at $7.40 a cwt. Only one heavy bullock made last week's top of $9 a cwt., but a couple of babies sold at this price. Anywhere from 1,000 to 1,500 head are expected to drag into tomorrow's business.

Calves were a heavy run and prices were lower by about 50 cents a cwt. A few of the choicest sold at 12 cents a pound, but other good calves were sold at 10 cents and fair mediums at 8 cents. Common calves were hard to make a market and some of the best of these sold at 6 cents a pound. Calves are quoted sharply lower at Buffalo.

The lamb and sheep market was not overburdened and prices here were steady at the quotations. Nice finished spring lambs brought $14.00 each. There were few 1923 lambs for sale.

Hogs came in good supply over the week-end and packers felt certain of getting their wants filled at $7.25 a cwt. f.o.b., for any not contracted for at $7.50. Any sized run on Tuesday will be used to make the price $7.25 a cwt.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 28. — Wheat prices declined to-day owing more or less to selling out on the part of miscellaneous traders unwilling to accept pending deliveries on May contracts. Beneficial rains, especially in Illinois and Indiana, counted also as a bearish factor. Closing prices for wheat were unsettled, 1-4c. to 3-4c. net lower, with May $1.02 7-8 to $1.03, and July $1.05 1-8 and 1-4 to $1.05 1-4, with corn ranging from 1-4c. decline to 1-8c. gain, oats 1-8c. to 3-8c. down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 28.—Domestic trade in cash grain was again reported slow to-day. There was no change in the flour market. The demand for millfeed shows no improvement. A steady feeling prevails in rolled oats. Business in baled hay is slow. A fair business is passing in eggs. Potato prices are up ten to 15 cents per bag. A fair business was done in butter. Cheese prices are up 1-2 to 1 cent per pound in sympathy with the higher prices at the Belleville, Cornwall and Napanee country boards.

"I was Greatly Distressed With Pains in the Back"

Mr. Alfred McNeill, Chapel Rock, Alta., writes:

"During the winter of 1920-21, I was greatly distressed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. Particularly during the night I was troubled with frequent urination, some nights having to rise almost every hour. I tried several different treatments without success, until finally I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they relieved my condition before I had finished the first box. I am feeling better this summer than I have for years, and although in my 67th year, can work all day without any undue fatigue."

DESIGN CHOSEN FOR CENOTAPH

J. A. Aird Declared the Winner In Competition For Montreal's War Memorial — Supervise Erection.

MONTREAL, April 28. — Announcement was made at the annual meeting of the Montreal Canadian Club here to-day that the award for the cenotaph to be erected on Dominion Square had been unanimously made to the designs submitted by J. A. Aird, chief draughtsman for a firm of local architects. Twenty-one designs were sent in.

Arrangements were at once made with Mr. Aird to have work started on his design without delay so that the cenotaph may be ready and in place for the Armistice Day ceremonies on Nov. 11 next.

The competition was confined to members of the Province of Quebec Association of Architects, having their chief places of business in Montreal or students of architecture engaged in Montreal studies who served overseas, the total cost of the work not to exceed $25,000. Selection of the winning design was made by a committee of three, Chairman Jules Boisvert of L'Ecole Polytechnique, with Messrs. Chapman and Sproatt, of Toronto, the idea being to leave a clear field to Montreal practising architects and to avoid local considerations in the decision. The sole prize to the winner will be the commission to execute and carry out the work.

OSHAWA NEWS

OSHAWA, April 29.— Missing his footing and falling a distance of 10 feet while at work in the factory of the Ontario Potteries, Ltd., King street west, Morgan Barrie, carpenter, 26 Gladstone avenue, was rendered unconscious, and is confined to Oshawa General Hospital. His condition is considered very grave. The head was badly lacerated. Mr. Barrie is married.

Objective Not Reached.

More than $9,000 is still required for the War Memorial Committee to reach the objective set in the final drive, which was to have closed Saturday evening. The amount required is $27,000, while $17,500 has been secured. Subscriptions will still be received and it is believed that the balance will be obtained when returns from fraternal organizations and other bodies have been turned in.

Milk Prices Lower.

Although no definite announcement has been made, one of the leading local dairy men last night hinted that a slight reduction would be made in the price of milk and that the change would likely take effect May 1. The present price is 16 pint tickets for $1, but it is expected that it will be increased to 18 pints for $1.

IMMIGRATION HERE.

OTTAWA, April 28 (Canadian Press). — More immigrants entered Canada during the fiscal year of 1922-1923 than in any similar period since 1914, according to the returns to the Department of Immigration.

The total for the twelve months was 148,560, which is a slight increase over 1921, when 148,477 entered the country.

An analysis of the American statistics for the past fiscal year is in course of preparation.

NINA'S HUSBAND DROPS DIVORCE

Novelist Living Separated From Husband — The Clam-Digger, Her Former Secretary, Bereft of Family, Sick and Unemployed.

NEW YORK, April 29. — Nina Wilcox Putnam, novelist, may not love her husband to-day., But this much is certain— she does not care for Richard E. Bassett, her former secretary-adviser, either. Nina's husband, R. J. Sanderson, said as much yesterday.

A great many persons remember what happened to Nina of the coy eyes last January. She had sued Sanderson for divorce in Providence R.I. Got it, too. Then the court suddenly withdrew that decree, saying Nina was guilty of fraud, because she had not lived in Rhode Island long enough.

At that time Nina was luxuriating in Delray, Fla., Bassett was also there. Before he became an advisor to Nina ,he had been a clam digger near Madison, Conn. Incidentally, Richard had left his wife and child (for the time being) to make a living with Nina.

Much Talk Followed

When Nina heard her divorce wasn't all to the merry as she could have expressed it in her vivid prose —she rushed to New York City. Then the news of Bassett leaked out. A good many things were said of Nina and Richard. Warren I. Lee, of the legal firm of Lee, Smyth, Aron & Wise, representing Sanderson, put it bluntly yesterday:

"There were things printed in the newspapers— there were things said which virtually accused Mrs. Putnam and Mr. Bassett of indiscretions.'

At that time the discarded husband, from his room in the Hotel Brevoort, declared:

"I have requested my attorneys to institute an immediate investigation to determine whether grounds exist on which I could bring an action. In fairness to my wife, the public should suspend judgment until the facts are known."

After weeks of investigation, Sanderson declared yesterday:

"Through my lawyers I have investigated the Bassett charges made against my wife, Mrs. Nina Wilcox Putnam Sanderson, in the newspapers last January. It is only fair to her for me to state publicly that I have found them to be absolutely without foundation in fact."

Maybe Sanderson still loves that vivacious middle-aged wife who once wore his wedding-ring. She is said to be down in Florida now, and may seek another divorce from him. Who knows? The last time she declared:

"I believe in recourse to divorce only under extreme necessity.

So she sued him then.

But what about Richard Bassett, the former clam digger, who quit Nina's services last January when their names were linked? He was reached on the telephone at Madison, Conn., just at dusk yesterday.

"Well, that's fine."

That was his comment when told that Sanderson, according to Lee, considered him innocent of indiscretions. That the publicity had played havoc with his family life was shown when he remarked:

"Good news, but what's the use? My wife and child are not living with me now. I don't know where Mrs. Putnam is. Florida, I bet. I've been sick on my back four weeks. Haven't got a job. Say—can you get me a job? I'd like to go in the publishing business."

LABOR AMENDMENT

brevity, but nothing of wit or wisdom. It was lucky the budget was so brief. If the minister could do so much damage to Canada in a forty minute speech what would have been the result of a ninety minute budget?

There were four conditions tending to impair the prosperity of the west. (1) —The depression in the markets of Europe; (2) Long hauls to the market; (3) Marketing conditions; (4) The lack of proper credits. Dr. Manion referred to the tariff changes made by the present government as "attempts to purchase the votes of the west at the expense of the industrial east."

It was a history of broken pledges The government's tariff policy had been one of "deception ,trickery, vote chasing and side stepping."

Appendage of U.S.A.

If the present trend towards free trade were carried into effect Canada would become an "industrial appendage" of the United States which might lead to further absorption by that country. The people of Quebec should remember that free trade would mean the loss of those rights which they held more dearly than even industrial independence.

Free trade would mean that the people of Canada would have to dig, delve and plough for the United States if the budget indications were carried into effect by the Liberal party, the exodus of the children of Israel in the Bible would look like "a U.F.O. parade in the city of Toronto" compared to the exodus of Canadians that would inevitably result.

When Dr. Manion quoted Joseph Chamberlain as an English authority in favor of protection, Robert Forke, Progressive leader, interpected: "We know what answer the people of England gave to Chamberlain."

Australian Tariff

"Yes," shot back Dr. Manion, "and I know what answer the people of Canada are going to give now." He quoted a communication by D. H. Rose, Canadian Trade Commission in Australia who pointed out the high Australian tariff of forty-nine ond a half per cent on Canadian shoes as evidence of Australian good sense and contrasted with this policy of the Canadian Government of "allowing industries to go to the wall."

"We are making Canadian industry for the American people," he declared. He went on to say that there had been 2,300 failures of industrial plants in Canada in the last four years. He cited three plants in Port Arthur that had closed up or seriously curtailed production in the last two or three years.

Success in the Great War had fallen to those countries which had the widest industrial base, declared Dr. Manion.

Hon. Charles Stewart, asked if Great Britain had not played her part well in the war.

Flag Waving

"My hon. friends accuse us on this side of the House of flag waving," replied Dr. Manion, "now they are doing little for themselves."

Mr. Stewart denied that he was "waving the flag" Dr. Manion had argued that the protectionist countries had done best in the late war and he had merely asked if Great Britain had not played her part.

"Why should we not do a little flag-waving," asked Hon. George P. Graham.

"I wish hon. gentlemen on that side of the House would wave the flag a little more," responded Dr. Manion, "and I am not wishing to wave any flag except the Canadian."

"Those who wave it most are not necessarily the most patriotic," put in Mr. Beaubien.

"I don't know that my hon. friend can necessarily prove that," was Dr. Manion's comment. And with this the exchange of repartee dropped.

Cheap Goods and Poverty

Cheap goods, said Dr. Manion, seemed to go hand in hand with poverty. In urban and rural communities in Europe he had found a low cost of living and terrible poverty. The United States, notoriously the most expensive country to live in, for years had been the mecca of people from all low-tariff countries.

It was not necessary to wipe out the industrial east in order to assist the farmers of the west in a temporary depression. There must be some better way of meeting the problem of the west. The industrial centres paid ninety eight per cent, of the income tax of the country and seventy five per cent. of the customs duties. These were entitled to consideration, too .Under the national policy of protection, he concluded, agriculture and industry could go forward hand in hand to prosperity if Canadians had "no craven fear of being great."

Manufacturers Extravagant

W. K. Baldwin (Liberal, Stanstead) gave complete support to the tariff program. It would bring the greatest benefit to the greatest number. He had heard no criticism about it in his own constituency, yet in Montreal the Budget had been subject to criticism chiefly from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Manufacturers would do much to relieve their position if they would be content with more economical living and if they would discard extravagant methods of doing business.

Woollen Trade Hurt

M. C. Senn (Conservative, Haldimand) declared that the Budget was most discouraging to the Woollen and Knitting industry of the country. A number of these industries had been struggling along desperately as a result of tariff reductions made a year ago. He could tell the House of companies whose sales for the past three months had been practically cut in two when comparison was made with the same three months a year ago. Now these companies would probably have to curtail operations with the result that employeees would be thrown out of work.

Mr. Senn stated that United States manufacturers were looking to Canada for an outlet for their woollen and knitted goods. It was impossible for Canadian manufacturers to compete with the imported goods. He said that the United States tariff on a certain line of sweaters which sold at $15 a dozen was $9.75 a dozen, while the Canadian tariff under the British preference was but $3 a dozen.

CHARLES E. MURPHY HAD A BIG FUNERAL

Eight Thousand Mourners in the Great Cathedral.

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press). — The city and nation today mourned Charles F. Murphy and honoured him in death as few have been honoured in the metropolis in living memory.

From the teeming East Side, from the homes of the wealthy, from every social station, from the manifold walks of life, there came to the bier of the Tammany Chieftain, in his modest East Seventeenth Street home, to the great St. Patrick's Cathedral in Fifth Avenue, to Calvary Cemetery, men and women united in their grief.

The honorary pall-bearers were Governor Smith, Mayor Hylan, Governor Silzer of New Jersey, Mayor Hague of Jersey City, Senator Copeland and high officials of the State, city, Army and Navy.

Fifth Avenue, ordinarily hectic, gay and colourful, was hushed, and scores of thousands stood with bared heads as the funeral procession passed. Eight thousand people occupied every inch of space in the cathedral. Outside thousands bowed their heads in prayer as the requiem mass was being chanted.

EXPLOSION CAUGHT HUNDRED IN MINES

Twenty-Two Bodies Are Recovered In Wheeling, Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 29.—(Canadian Press.) — A total of twenty-two bodies had been recovered last night from the Benwood mine of the Wheeling Steel Corporation where 114 miners were entombed yesterday by an explosion. Nineteen of the bodies were found by rescue workers in Brown's run air shaft, while the other three were located in the main passageway.

One of the dead miners was identified as George Holliday, Jr., son of the superintendent of the mine. Superintendent Holliday declared that the check disclosed 114 miners were in the mine when the explosion occurred.

INDIGESTION GAS ON STOMACH PAINS AFTER MEALS

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day; helping them to eat anything they wish, without having to suffer for it after.,

Mr. Fred. Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything; doctors, medicines and pills, until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

TIRE COMPANY LOOKED ON AS CITY BENEFIT

J. J. Turner, President of Defunct Concern, Aided Promotion With Idea of Fostering New Industry In City — Mr. Hicks Thought Pace Too Swift

Ready-Made By-Laws.

In the continued hearing of the Red Arrow Tire case to-day it became evident that the trial will be a prolonged one. J. J. Turner, president of the defunct concern, was examined yesterday. W. R. Morris was on the stand nearly two hours, and W. R. Blackwell gave evidence over half an hour.

Mr. Turner explained his interest in the company arose out of his position on the City Council in which he was eager to aid the prosperity of the city. His aim was the gaining of another industry to add to the already diversified list in the city, and he had confidence in the character and ability of Walters and Stockdale.

The suit will be submitted to the arbitrament of Mr. Justice Wright, presiding at the spring non-jury assizes.

In this case, which is highly technical and involves serious allegations of breaches of the Companies Act, the plaintiffs, John E. Hayes and Sons, are represented by R. R. Hall, K.C., and John Corkery.

The defendants J. J. Turner, G. A. Gillespie and P. P. Westbye are represented by F. D. Kerr, K.C., with whom is associated W. F. Kerr, K.C., of Cobourg, and the defendant J. R. McDonald is represented by R. H. Parmenter, K.C., of Toronto.

In the closing minutes of his examination Mr. Morris told Mr. Hall he first learned of his appointment of auditor of the company when a prospectus came into his hand.

Walter R. Blackwell.

Walter R. Blackwell said he is an architect and received instructions to prepare plans for the Red Arrow building. On October 14 Walters and Stockdale looked over the sketches he had prepared and on October 17 J. J. Turner and P. Westbye inspected them. Mr. Turner made some suggestions regarding the plans.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr the witness said when he started to prepare plans he had not seen any of the directors. He had been instructed by Walters. Before he saw Mr. Turner about 10 or 15 per cent of the work had been done. Mr. Turner discussed the location of the railway siding and the building of marquees over the entrances.

"You knew the current talk that two wealthy Americans had come here to build a factory?"

"Yes."

Mr. Blackwell presented his account for work done to Red Arrow Tires about the middle of November.

"Did you become a stockholder in the company?"

"No."

"You knew you were not eligible because you did not drive a car?"

"Yes."

Cross-examined by Mr. Parmenter the witness said he understood on October 13 that he was being retained by Red Arrow Tires although payment on account was made by a cheque signed by Stockdale and he received his first instructions from Walters.

Charles Clark, shipping clerk for The Examiner,identified a memorandum showing 10,000 prospectus were delivered to Red Arrow Tires on November 26, 1921.

Another memorandum covered preferred stock certificates delivered on February 13, 1922, and common stock certificates on February 17, 1922.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr, Clark said he remembered delivering parcels but without the memorandum could not remember the dates.

Robert Hicks Called.

Robert Hicks said he was one of the provisional directors of the company taking one share of $100. He was present at a meeting in Gordon and O'Brien's office but he did not remember a financial statement presented to the directors and he did not learn anything of the financial affairs of the company. In October, 1921, Mr. Hicks attended another meeting. There was some discussion about building and Mr. Hicks gained the impression that the factory would be started immediately.

"Financing the thing seemed to be the least of their worries," he told the court. "I have no recollection of attending any meeting after I signed my resignation, although my signature is attached to the minutes of a meeting held after."

Mr. Justice Wright: "Apparently you thought it was too swift for you."

Mr. Hicks: "Suspicions had been forming in my mind as to the soundness of the whole thing. Mr. Gillespie said with J. J. Turner and Robert Hicks it ought to be alright. I said that's just what I think the trouble is; everyone is depending on someone else and I am going to look into it."

In cross-examination by Mr. Kerr, Mr. Hicks said there was a considerable amount of unemployment in the city at the time the factory was broached.

He was asked to become a charter member and was made a director and did not object, Mr. Hicks said.

The formulae and processes were offered Mr. Hicks as custodian at a directors' meeting but he did not accept. He understood these were given in exchange for stock.

"I was not present at a meeting after the date of my resignation," Mr. Hicks declared positively.

He told Mr. Gillespie at one time, "now is a good time to get out." Mr. Gillespie is the only one of the directors he visited.

Cross-examined by Parmenter, Mr. Hicks said he attended two meetings in Gordon and O'Brien's office and these are the only two he remembers. He remembered an agreement with Walters. It was understood that Walters was to get fully paid up stock for the formulae. There was no fraud on the part of the directors, the witness said.

Having regard to the representations made by Mr. Walters and reports on his past life Mr. Hicks was satisfied with the agreement and believed the other directors acted in good faith. There was no holding back of information by the directors. He did not get any common stock but he learned a part of the common stock that Walters got was to go to the directors.

Mr. Hicks remembered the delivery of the formulae by Walters in the presence of several persons.

"Could you identify these formulae?" Mr. Hail asked in re-examination.

"No, I never took them seriously."

Mr. Hicks maintained that if a meeting was held after the date of his resignation he was not present and had nothing whatever to do with the company at that time.

D. D. Brown, accountant of the Bank of Toronto, identified certain documents as true copies of bank records. Ledger sheets containing the account of the Peterboro Securities Co. were entered showing the last deposit dated April 3, 1922. The last substantial withdrawal was on 11 May 1922, for $800. Copies of deposit slips, acknowledgment slips and cancelled cheques were also produced, and the originals were demanded by the defence.

Red Arrow Tires had no account in the bank and not to his knowledge had they applied to open an account.

Company President.

J. J. Turner said a previous attempt to form a company fell through but he did not remember the reason. The next step was the holding of various meetings at which arrangements were made to form the company. The plan of merchandizing was to be something different; from factory to consumer, which would result in allowing 40 per cent to the consumer leaving 60 per cent to the factory, which was 20 per cent more than under ordinary merchandizing methods.

Mr. Turner said he was a member of the City Council at the time overtures were made and he pushed the scheme with the idea of bringing another industry to the city. The men were considered financially responsible and seemed to know the rubber business. The preliminary work was all done by Walters and Stockdale who gave instructions to Gordon and O'Brien.

Mr. Turner said he was not impressed at the time with the thought that according to the application for incorporation the preferred shareholders would have no vote for three years.

His cheque for $100 for one share of stock in Red Arrow Tires was produced, made out to Peterborough Securities Co., and identified by the witness.

Mr. Hall: "Why wasn't the cheque made out to Red Arrow Tires?"

A deposit slip was produced showing deposits of cheques said to be payment for one share from each of nine men.

"The charter money was paid by the solicitor," Mr. Turner said.

Mr. Hall: "Wasn't the idea in getting this advance to provide for paying for the charter?"

"Did you know Stockdale was receiving cash for the pament of stock?"

Mr. Turner: "I hoped he was. He was selling stock."

When cheques came in made payable to Red Arrow Tires Ltd. they were endorsed over the Peterborough Securities Co. but Mr. Turner did not know where the money was deposited. He could not tell how much the company had on hand on October 18.

Ready Made By-Laws.

Mr. Turner said the by-laws were written by Gordon and O'Brien and the directors signed them.

The by-law for the purchase of the formulae was drawn up in this manner.

Mr. Hall: "This represents $920,000 worth of stock."

Mr. Turner did not know how the price was fixed but he supposed Walters set his price.

To his knowledge none of the other directors knew of the manufacture of tires or the value of a formula or a fair price to be paid for it.

Regarding the agreement with Stockdale regarding his underwriting of the stock, Mr. Turner said he understood the terms and he supposed the others did also.

LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT NEWS

Fire Brigade Held Third Dance of the Season — Personal Mention.

LAKEFIELD, April 29. — The third dance this year held under the auspices of the Lakefield Volunteer Fire Brigade was held on Thursday evening last in the Memorial Hall. There was a very good crowd, mainly belonging to the younger set and including a goodly proportion of the holiday visitors to the village. Music was supplied by Hendren's Orchestra. Cards were provided for those who prefer less strenuous amusement than dancing, the verdict of those in attendance was—"One of the jolliest dances of the season.

A large number of citizens took in the Motor Show in Peterborough last week, the good roads and weather made the journey a pleasure and the attractions of the show were appreciated.

The fine weather of the past week has tempted people out to put lawns and gardens in order for the spring. Flower gardens are being laid out and in some cases seeds have been put in. The past two weeks have been so cold that growth has been retarded but the warm sun of Saturday and Sunday has had a marked effect.

For Citizen's Band.

The municipal grant of $200 given to the Citizen's Band was most encouraging to the officers and members of that worthy organization which has been making a splendid effort to get on a firm basis. The initial expense is heavy but with practice (and the members have been faithful in attendance at the practice) the organization will be self supporting and will be a decided asset to the village.

Two organizations which have a definite place in the community are the Fire Brigade and the Citizen's Band and one is glad to see the co-operation between the two which exist in this village.

The Baseball Club picture entertainments, "When Knighthood Was In Flower" will be the outstanding events of the week. Monday and Tuesday nights will be devoted to these entertainments which are certain of popular support.

The Blossom Fete on May 8th under the auspices of St. John's Church will be the event of the coming week. It will be held in the Memorial Hall both afternoon and evening and several unique attractions have been arranged.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. John McCauley, who spent three weeks with friends in Rochester, Hamilton and Toronto, was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Dever this week en route for her home at Mount Julian.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stock were in Peterboro on Friday.

Mrs. Walter Chappell was a visitor to Peterboro on Friday.

Mr. J. W. Ridpath has recovered from illness which confined him to his home for several days last week.

E. T. Bailey has returned home from S.P.S. Toronto having completed his examinations.

Mrs. Robert Flynn and son of Smith's Falls are guests of friends in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Watson were in Peterboro on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser and daughters passed through the village on Friday en route for Peterboro.

Mr. Lake of Georgetown is visiting his son, Chas. Lake.

Miss Muriel Boyce was the guest of friends in Peterboro on Friday.

Miss Lelia Burgess has returned from Toronto where she attended the meeting of the Ontario Library Association.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wagar and Miss Marian, Mr. and Mrs. T. Crawford and Miss Merle attended the Motor Show on Friday in Peterboro.

Miss Duff and Messrs. Robert and Clarence Duff attended the Motor Show in Peterboro on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hendren and family visited their cottage at Stoney Lake and report everything in good shape.

NOTICE!

CHEMONG BRIDGE will be CLOSED to Traffic on Wednesday, April 30th inst., for the day, for repairs.

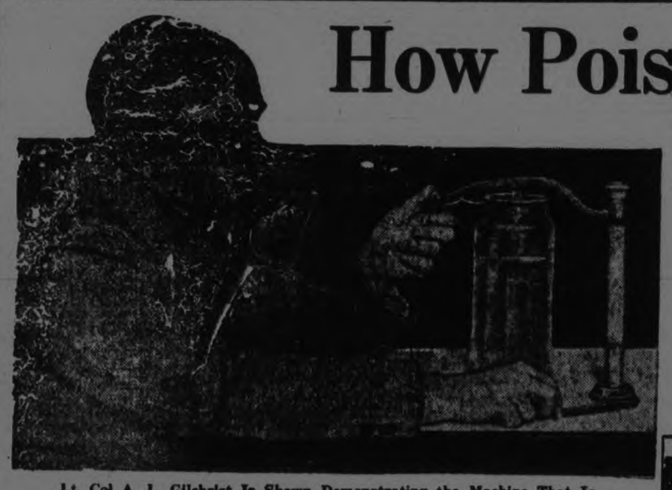
New and Interesting Facts of Science and Life

How Poison Gas Is Now Used to Save Lives



Lt. Col A. L. Gilchrist Is Shown Demonstrating the Machine That Is Used to Measure Chlorine Gas.

NO war, with the exception of the great world conflict, has afforded so many opportunities for making use of the terrible weapons and dread agents used in combat for peaceful purposes which are as far removed from the original uses to which these materials have been put, as black differs from white. Who would imagine, for instance, that the poisonous gases, those vile, virulent, inhumane agents of warfare, could be converted into the most refined and delicate of scents, contained in graceful bottles, to be used by fine ladies in scenting silken kerchiefs?

These wonders have been accomplished through the intervention of chemistry, that particular branch of chemistry which builds up complex products from simple beginnings—synthetic organic chemistry. Furthermore, some of the poisonous gases have been put to direct use in industry, without it being necessary to make any change in them.

While not detracting from the wonderful achievement of making a perfume out of a poisonous gas, it must be mentioned that the uses to which some of these gases have been put are of much greater importance. Chief among these is the use of chlorine gas, which was the poison gas first used during the World War by being liberated in lethal clouds from tanks in which it was contained as a liquid. But chlorine is deadly not only to human beings, but also to bacterial germs. In other words, it is one of the best of disinfectants; and for that purpose it is commonly utilized nowadays, in small and harmless quantities, to purify the water supply of cities.

In former times, not long ago, the drinking water upon which the people of the cities were obliged to depend was commonly so laden with dangerous germs that it could not be used safely without boilings. If derived from wells, it was liable to carry the bacteria of typhoid. If drawn from rivers, it was likely to be polluted by sewage. Hence the rapid spread of cholera epidemics which from time to time wiped out multitudes of lives.

In thickly settled regions or populous communities the pollution of water cannot be prevented; but whatever harmful germs it may contain are easily and thoroughly destroyed by the use of chlorine at filtration plants or other sources of supply.

It is always perilous stuff to deal with, unless proper precautions are taken, and so the men who handle it at chlorination plants wear gas-masks for safety's sake. This is one of many uses to which war-time gas-masks have been put in these piping days of peace.

Chlorine is used for the prevention and treatment of diseases affecting the nose, throat and lungs. From time to time reports have appeared in medical journals indicating that the inhaling of chlorine gas had caused the disappearance from the nose and throat of such germs as the meningococcus, which causes meningitis, and of the diphtheria bacillus, causing the disease of the same name.

Investigators at the Medical Corps of the United States Army stationed at the Edgewood Arsenal have been conducting experiments under controlled conditions to determine the limitations of the method. They have devised an apparatus by which measured quantities of chlorine can be released in a room, and they have treated ninety-three patients in ordinary rooms, giving them from one to two hours of treatment.

They found that the chlorine as used had no general effects on fabrics and metals, and the statistics which they cite cause them to believe that the method had distinct beneficial effects in common colds, influenza, whooping cough and other diseases in which the bacteria were located on the surface of the membranes of the breathing apparatus.

The work done by the investigators, as a medical authority writing in Hygeia points out, lays the foundation for more extensive studies which will permit a final opinion as to the practical value of the method. It is significant as demonstrating the way in which science studies every possible method and chemical substance to attack disease germs with the greatest efficiency.

A very successful demonstration of the efficaciousness of chlorine gas as a preventive and a cure for colds is shown in results secured at the clinic conducted by officers and civilian experts of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army. In the treatment of colds the proportion of chlorine which is mixed with air in order to effect a cure is about 100,000 parts of air to one of gas. It was found that the breathing of this mixture for an hour, repeated three times, had the effect of sterilising the membranes of the nose, throat and lungs.

Brigadier-General Fries, chief of the Chemical War Service, says that in the case of ordinary colds the tests have shown a percentage of 72.4 of complete cures, while all but 3 per cent of the remainder of those treated showed decided benefits. He also says that the chlorine gas treatment has been found to be especially effective as a cure for whooping cough.

Chlorine gas is now made at Niagara Falls. While it has been known and made for a long time, it has had comparatively few industrial uses up to the present time. Its main use has been and still is in the making of bleaching powder, or directly in the compressed state, for bleaching paper and textiles, especially cotton goods. There are also certain strictly chemical uses for this substance.

Caustic soda is another name for lye, the corrosive substance that the housewife uses in cleaning out greasy sinks. The process of making caustic soda is to pass the electric current through a solution of common salt. Where the current leaves the solution there is produced caustic soda, while where the current enters the solution there is liberated the greenish, poisonous and intensely irritating gas, chlorine. Its properties rendered it a fine war-gas, for no human being can breathe even a small amount of chlorine and not immediately succumb to its evil effects.

"What to do with the excess production of chlorine gas has always been a problem, and it has been more so than ever in the past few years since the close of the war," says Isman Ginsberg in Science and Invention. "An important use has been developed in the purification and sterilization of drinking water. This use is almost universal in the cities of the country. About 2,025 cities, with a total population of 40,000,000 people, consuming over four billion gallons of water each day, chlorinate their water before it is piped to the consumers. The largest chlorinating plant in the world purifies the water for New York City. This practice has been primarily responsible for the reduction in the typhoid rate."

FOOD FROM THE AIR

By F. A. COLLINS.

ALTHOUGH the air about us contains an unlimited supply of nitrogen we have long been like the shipwrecked sailor with water all about him, but not a drop to drink. An important discovery makes it possible to tap this supply and manufacture nitrates much more quickly and cheaply than ever before, and thus, indirectly, produce food from the air. In case of war the United States will, therefore, be independent of the supply of nitrogen from outside its boundaries for making explosives. The unlimited supply by nitrates also means cheaper fertilizer for the farms of the country. There is nothing secret about the process. Its use is open to the public.

The story of this discovery is one of the most fascinating in all science. Until recently there was no practical way of tapping the supply of nitrogen. The world depended upon the natural deposits in Chili. Germany was the first country to hit upon a method of extracting the nitrogen from the air, but the secret was closely guarded. She would never have been able to enter the war without this means of obtaining the invaluable supplies. The new method is 100 per cent more efficient than that used in Germany. The discovery is announced by Professor Arthur B. Lamb, of the Chemical Department of Harvard University, and Alfred T. Larson, of the Fixed Nitrogen Commission at Washington

At the close of the war Professor Lamb, as director of the Fixed Nitrogen Commission, was sent to Germany to discover, if possible, the German secret of nitrogen extraction from the air. The professor was the first American chemist to examine the great German nitrate plant at Appau, on the Rhine. The history of this process, by the way, throws an interesting light on the war. Germany only succeeded in discovering this process and completing a plant for using it in April, 1914, when she felt herself in a position to declare war.

The problem now solved is that of forcing the nitrogen in the air to combine with other substances and thus to form the compounds of nitrogen so indispensable in both fertilizers and explosives. When hydrogen, for instance, is squeezed together with the nitrogen in the air, no matter how high a pressure, little if any combination occurs. The atoms of hydrogen and of nitrogen instead of sticking together and forming the ammonia which we should like, fly apart as soon as the pressure is relieved.

The mysterious contact material or "catalyst" as it is called, which brings about the permanent union of the hydrogen and nitrogen atoms is, of course, the crux of the whole process. It was one of the chief tasks of the Fixed Research Laboratory to prepare one just as good, or if possible, superior to that of the Germans. A catalyst, it should be explained, is a chemical compound which will combine other substances without being altered itself.

SULPHUR and Its Important USES

SULPHUR is one of the most important raw materials found in the earth. In the chemical and allied industries, such as rubber, food, paper, insecticide, etc., it plays a very essential role, more so than any other chemical element. First and foremost of its uses is the manufacture of the "king of chemicals," sulphuric acid, whose consumption is said to measure the progress of all industrial enterprise, according to a contributor to the Scientific American.

"The food we eat," says this writer, "is fertilized with materials that are made with the aid of sulphuric acid; the dyes that are used to color our fabrics, the gasoline that drives our motor cars, the lubricating oil that oils the bearings of our machines, the metals that are made into various articles of adornment and household utensils, such as knives, forks, etc., are all made with the aid of sulphuric acid. The pure water that we drink may be purified, freed of its algae content through the aid of a product of sulphuric acid, copper sulphate. The acid enters into the process of dyeing, bleaching and finishing of all textile fabrics. It is responsible for the dynamite that blasts our coal, for the celluloid that is made into toilet articles, for the moving picture films that entertain us after the hard day's work is over. The acid is used to make various products that enter into the manufacture of soap, glass, perfumes, drugs and many other products.

"The paper on which the daily journals are printed is made with the aid of sulphur. The sulphur is utilized in the making of sulphite pulp, which is made into cheap paper and which is also used in the manufacture of artificial silks, explosives, plastic compositions and as a binder in making asbestos paper and boards. Furthermore, sulphur is used in fertilizers. It is added directly to the fertilizer composition, which is then mixed with the soil.

"Practically all dried fruits are subjected to the action of sulphur fumes. Almonds are bleached with sulphur dioxide, which is the gas obtained by burning sulphur. Barley, figs, grape-juice, hops, molasses, maraschino cherries, oats, pears, peanuts, raisins, sugar, are a few food products that are treated with this gas during the manufacturing process.

"Sulphur, or rather the fumes of burning sulphur, are utilized in bleaching broom, from which brooms are made, cotton, felt, feathers, furs, hair, hemp, for making ropes, jute, linen, paper, rattan for making furniture, straw for making straw hats, wool, wicker furniture, willow ware and many other products. Sulphur is used for setting heavy engines, dynamos and other pieces of machinery on their foundations. This is accomplished by pouring the molten sulphur around the bolts to embed them in the concrete. A good cement can be made from a mixture of sulphur and cement, which can be used for special purposes, where it is desirable to fill in openings and at the same time take advantage of the antiseptic properties of the sulphur. Sulphur may be added to the water used by cattle and other stock, so as to keep them healthy. It is used in medicinal preparations for the treatment of human ailments as well."

How the "Crucifixion Fish" Got Its Name

ONE of the curiosities of nature that is of particular interest at Easter time is the species of fish which bears the name of "the crucifixion fish," so-called because of the remarkable distinctness with which there is outlined on its backbone the figure of Christ nailed on the cross. As shown in the accompanying illustration the crucified Christ is not only vividly revealed, but there also may be discerned, although very faintly, the figures of the weeping women bowed in grief at the foot of the cross.

The "crucifixion fish" is an inhabitant of tropical waters where it is held in reverential awe by the superstitious natives.

In connection with the "crucifixion fish" it is interesting to note that the first Christians adopted the fish as the sign of their faith. This, it is explained, came about by reason of the fact that the initial letter of each of the five Greek words "Jesus Christ, Saviour, Son of God, spells "ichthys," which is the Greek word for fish.

How HUMMING Helps the HEARING

AFTER years of study, experiments and practice, Dr. Paul V. Winslow, who is consulting ear specialist of the New York State Hospital and president of the National Round Table for Speech Improvement, asserts in all seriousness that humming will arouse vibrations in the head and effect an immediate improvement in deafness. Dr. Winslow began to work out this theory about six years ago. Since that time he has had such marked success that in his possession to-day are testimonials from prominent persons throughout the country.

Dr. Winslow describes his theory of treatment in terms so simple that a child can understand him.

"In the middle-ear," he explains, are three little bones held together by muscle action. In a catarrhal process, there forms around these bones a spider-web tissue which keeps the bones from vibrating.

"A fly cannot vibrate when it is caught in a spider's web, and neither can these bones when they are in the tissue. A person's ability to hear, therefore, is in direct proportion to just how much of this tissue, which is present in a catarrhal condition, has set in around the bones.

"The nerves of the nose and the ear are closely allied. So closely are they, in fact, that when the nerves of the nose are stimulated, the muscles controlling the movements of the little bones of the middle-ear are likewise stimulated. This stimulation frees the little bones by means of the violent contractions and the adhesions in the ear are broken up.

"Stimulation of the nerves of the nose is accomplished by means of a massage given on a cotton-covered instrument. If a patient does not seem to notice the massage, we know that the result is not what we wish it to be. If the patient jumps, however, we know that the stimulation has been successful.

"Almost immediately the patient can hear. What remains yet to be done, however, is a re-educating of certain nerves of the ear which may have become dormant.

"Humming causes vibrations which are very beneficial to those suffering from impaired hearing.

"The whole head is a sounding board or resonating chamber, so that when the voice vibrates as it should, we get a better circulation of air in the middle-ear, congestion in and around the Eustachian tube is diminished, the ossicles in the middle-ear are caused to vibrate and the catarrhal process in the nasopharynx is diminished.

"I give my patients voice and reading exercises to stimulate the auditory nerve and its dormant fibres of activity. To bring the voice up into the head cavities I have them hum the consonant M or sing the vowel E, making it decidedly nasal in such a way that the lips can be felt vibrating."

PEDIGREE Bands for EASTER CHICKS

THE shackled bird shown in the accompanying illustration really is not dangerous. Those things on its legs are not fetters; they are metal bands marked with numbers. The numbers refer to the date of its coming into the world, its parentage, its pedigree, and details of its family history, all of which are recorded on a page in a book.

Metal Bands on the Chicken's Legs Give Details of Its Pedigree.

The system, which is a new one, is called "banding," and is adopted at agricultural experiment stations where chickens are being scientifically bred for egg-production.

From generation to generation, the eggs of the most prolific laying hens are selected for setting, and by this means strains of superior layers are being developed. An interesting fact ascertained is that fecundity in the pullet is transmitted to a large extent through the rooster. That is to say, a rooster whose mother was an extra-good layer is likely to have daughters who inherit that valuable quality.

The average farm hen lays only about ninety eggs in a year; but already strains of 200-eggers have been successfully developed, and there is an occasional pedigreed pullet that lays over 300 eggs in a twelvemonth.

A general notice has been served on all hens in the country who have been laying undersized and otherwise below grade eggs, they must get busy and increase the desirableness of their product or consider themselves candidates for the chopping block.

Steps are being taken to bring about the standardization of eggs and if this programme is carried to conclusion every egg will be examined by a government inspector and only those coming up to a specified standard as to size and quality will find their way to the market.

Origin of the Limerick

THE limerick, a particular form of verse of five lines, of which the first, second and fifth are the longest and rhyme with each other, was first made popular by Edward Lear about 1845. This gentleman was tutor to the family of the Earl of Derby, and the "Book of Nonsense" which he wrote for the pleasure of his small charges caught on and so popularized this kind of verse.

There are some who say that limerick should really be learic, after the ingenious tutor. Since, however, these verses are to be found at an earlier date, scholars do not universally accept this derivation.

Others trace the name from an old form of Irish song once popular at parties, of which every verse ended with a line—"We'll all come up, come up to Limerick." It is true that the verses did not correspond in form with what is called a limerick, but it is likely that the old catch-line name became grafted on to Lear's form of verse.

JANETVILLE AND DISTRICT

JANETVILLE, Apr. 29. — On Tuesday last, by the Vancouver express, which leaves Toronto each day, C.P.R., at 10 p.m., Mrs. (Rev.) G. E. Ross, of Janetville, left for Winnipeg and Saltcoates, Sask., where she will spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. E. Keat, of the Queen City of the West, and her daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Melville Mollard, of the town of Saltcoates. Mr. Ross accompanied his wife as far as Toronto, saw her safely on her way, and returned to Janetville the following evening.

New Cars Are on Deck

On Monday last, Miss M. Richardson, teacher of North Janetville Public School, went to Lindsay, treated her mother and herself to a new coupe, and drove the car home the same evening. Let those who think they could do better than this speak and tell us how.

By the time the Easter holiday is over, this lady will be quite well acquainted with her car, and will find abundant pleasure in its use during the coming summer and autumn.

Easter Services

The Easter services held last Sabbath at Janetville and Mount Horeb will long be remembered. The flowers and other plants from the parsonage and the homes of the people, constituted a bower of bloom and beauty around the altar of the church. The congregations were larger, both morning and evening, than on any previous Sabbath during the present pastorate, and the choir did excellent work.

There were two duets in the evening, one by Harry Thornton and Arthur Stinson, and one by Rev. and Mrs. Ross, who sang, "Wake Sweetest Strains."

W.M.S. Meeting

The W.M.S. of Janetville are to be congratulated on closing the year with an increase over last year. The society has been reorganized with the same staff of officers. The Mission Band has also done well, and the whole mission work is showing signs of health and renewed vigor. Heavy rain prevented the Ladies' Aid from being reorganized last week.

Another New Car

We congratulate Rev. Mr. Walker, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, on the purchase of a new sedan. The car has not yet arrived, but will reach Janetville in the course of a couple of weeks.

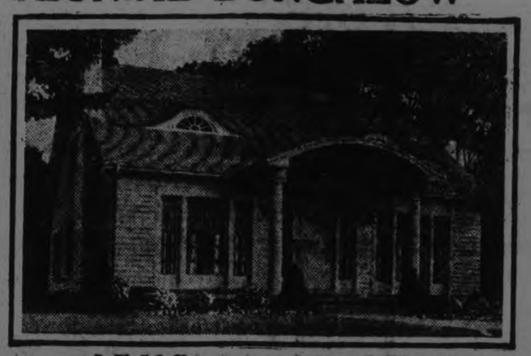
Rev. G. E. Ross has decided to purchase no conveyance of any kind, but will hire as he requires. With the exception of a six-mile drive on Sabbath afternoon, the Methodist minister needs no conveyance.

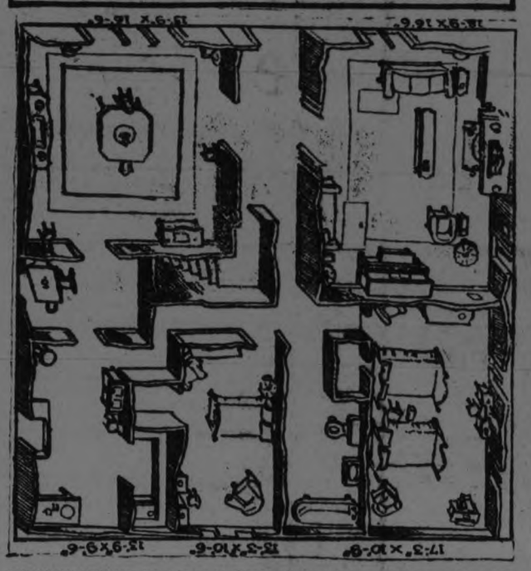
Social Evening

Last evening, after devotional exercises had been held in the Y.P.S. meeting, the president announced a "social evening," and the success will not soon be forgotten. The automobile contest was a real "hit." It consisted of a piece of romance, so dictated by the president, that wherever a blank was left in the literary construction, the name of some part of the car was supplied. For instance, "He will never 'tire' of her," and so on. It was a real brain-stirring affair. The next was a "singing contest." In this the name of some song or hymn was written on a number of pieces of paper, such as, "Coming Through the Rye." These were cut in two and distributed, one half to the girl, the other to the boy, until all were supplied with half the name of the song. The pieces were then matched and the couple had to sing the song whether they could sing or not. The result was a great and varied concert.

The closing event was home-made candy, served by the girls, and the singing of the National Anthem. The young people went home about 11 p.m., pleased and profited by the evening's proceedings.

ROOMY COLONIAL BUNGALOW





PERSPECTIVE PLAN OF THE COLONIAL BUNGALOW, ALSO SUGGESTING FURNITURE ARRANGEMENT; FRONT VIEW OF THE HOME ABOVE.

The white bungalow, with its graceful Colonial elements of design continues to draw admirers from coast to coast. The little five-room home illustrated here has built into it an appeal which few can resist. The exterior is chaste, dignified and inviting; the interior presents an arrangement of rooms both convenient and spacious.

The grouping of the rooms in the front of the home is interesting, with the intelligent use of French windows to insure more than the usual amount of ventilation and light. Notice that the designer has provided a closet in the reception hall, a feature which will be popular with housekeepers who have struggled with "wraps all over the house" in homes where no closet is provided near the entrance.

The living room, well separated from the kitchen, is of a serviceable size and of such a shape as to permit an attractive arrangement of furniture, with the fireplace, first seen from the doorway, dominating the room.

The dining room is arranged for a cheerful amount of sunlight and the arrangement of the breakfast nook between the kitchen and the dining room is especially happy. Note that this passageway is equipped with a cupboard.

The kitchen, large enough for utility, is not too large for efficiency. An adequate pantry is provided, lighted by a window over a work table.

The hall leading to the bed rooms may be reached either through the reception hall or from the kitchen. The bath is conveniently situated with an abundance of light. The bedrooms are well arranged and are provided generously with closet room.

The approximate cost of this residence may be about $7200, although so many varying factors enter into costs that it is impossible to make an estimate which is at all accurate for all sections of the country. Among the factors which make for a wide variance in cost prices are difference in materials selected, distance of the location from the material markets and the local labor market.

ABOUT FLOWERING PLANTS

The botanical names of plants are usually more or less of a stumbling block to the amateur gardener. Sometimes it happens, although rarely, that the Latin designation is more attractive than the local name, and easily remembered. Such is the case with the name Mertensia, or Mertensia Virginica, commonly known as Virginia Cowslip, Tree Lungwort, and Blue Bells.

This native of North America, while not showy in the sense that it immediately attracts comment from the casual garden visitor, is a splendid acquisition to the perennial border. The plant, graceful in habit, and with bronzy-green leaves, bears clusters of blue and purple flowers on stems two feet or so high.

Combined with pink Darwin tulips, with our native trillium, and with the white or pale yellow aquilegia, or columbine, a charming effect is produced in the mixed border in the late spring season. Like the tulip, it disappears from the border in the summer, but plants of later development and spreading tops, such as perennial gypsophila, or statice, will screen the bare spots so that they will not be observed.

This Mertensia should be planted for best results in a deep, very rich but rather light and well drained loam. Left undisturbed it will yield an ever-increasing harvest of pleasure in its flowers and leaves alike.

DOCTOR'S VEGETABLE SYRUP GIVES QUICK RELIEF FROM PIMPLES OR NO CHARGE!

This is the time of year when your liver becomes sluggish and your intestines become clogged up with poisonous waste. Your liver does not properly purify blood that flows to your skin. The result is sallow complexion, dark circles and pimples. As these poisons continue to flood your system, your resistance is lowered, you feel dull and tired, and sick.

Make this test! Cleanse and tone your liver with Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. Contains pure vegetable ingredients prescribed by Physicians. Helps nature strengthen your stomach, soothe tired, over-taxed nerves, brace up system, and purify your blood. Notice quick difference in way you look, eat, sleep and feel. You, too, will be satisfied, as others have, or no cost.

Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup is sold and recommended by J. P. Bond, McDermid & Jury and The Warne Drug Company, Ltd., in Peterborough; The Tanner Drug Company, in Lakefield and by leading druggists in every city and town.

WOOING BECOMING VERY SCIENTIFIC.

The Mexican Lover Has Changed From His Guitar to a Telephone, Which Is More Private.

The romantic Mexican lover, serenading his sweetheart with song and the twanging of a guitar, has changed his system and is using the telephone for love-making. So writes Stella Burke May in "Men, Maidens and Mantillas."

In the old days, when the guitar wooer appeared in the courtyard and wailed with his eyes on the second-floor balcony near the family living-room, Pa and Ma usually were able to keep tab on the conversation.

Now the lover whispers his sweet nothings over the phone, either from a distance or by using an extension phone lowered to him from the balcony.

So passes another form of romance. The passing, however, is not without its compensating features. Most of the love-sick serenaders played the guitar rather badly, and their voices were full of static.

Mechanical progress is striking death blows at romance of all kinds. The polar explorer, formerly isolated in the Far North blizzards and his fate unknown, now has radio connection with a broadcasting station in Chicago.

The galloping pony express rider, armed to the teeth against desperadoes, has been displaced by a safe in a steel railroad car.

The lover used to bring flowers to his sweetheart from the woods or his mother's old-fashioned garden. Now he gets them from a florist, maybe haggles over the price, ordering by phone, a boy delivering.

Time was when a wooer, to win his lady-fair, was expected to fight all rivals—usually a duel at sunrise behind the cathedral. That's o.k. these days—in fiction. But if the lover tries it in real life, the police load him into the patrol wagon.

Nevertheless, we believe there is as much love romance in the world as there ever was. Invention has changed the stage settings, to be sure. But sentiment is as strong as ever, and the thrill is mainly in sentiment—in the imagination.

The girl clerk in the 10-cent store, dreaming all day about a date with her gentleman friend for a movie, probably has a big a thrill as the ancient heroine in the boresome atmosphere of a castle waiting for her moonlight serenader.

As long as science is unable to eliminate moonlight, love romance will survive. A night spin in an auto along a smooth-paved road is as thrilling and romantic as an old-time sleigh ride—provided you've never had the sleigh ride for comparison.

Robert E. Lee's birthday is a holiday in nine Southern States.

Time to "Clean House"

The body needs a "spring housecleaning" after the heavy foods of Winter. Give Nature a chance. There are a lot of toxins from undigested food that must be thrown off by the "eliminating organs". Help Nature by eating Shredded Wheat and milk with green vegetables and fruits. Shredded Wheat is all food, easily digested, with just enough bran in it to insure natural bowel movement. Two biscuits with milk make a nourishing meal.

Had a Weak Heart Was Very Nervous For Three Years

Miss Jessie Peterson, Zealandia, Sask., writes: "I wish to let you know how much good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me.

"For nearly three years I was very badly run down, had a weak heart, and was so nervous that sometimes I would almost faint away.

"I heard of many people who had recommended your Heart and Nerve Pills, so I decided to give them a trial. After I had used two boxes I found they had done me good, and after having taken five boxes I was completely relieved.

"I cannot recommend your Pills enough, and I would advise anyone having a weak heart or troubled with nervousness to use them."

Milburn's H. & N. Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MANY PETITIONS ON CHURCH UNION

Nineteen Members of the House of Commons Present the Wishes of the Churches In Their Constituencies.

OTTAWA, April 29 (Canadian Press).—Aflood of petitions for and against the enactment of the Church Union Bill flowed into the House of Commons on Monday afternoon.

No fewer than 19 members rose to present petitions which they had received from churches and organisations in their constituencies.

The great majority of the members presented petitions against the Bill.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour, however, presented a petition on behalf of thirty-four churches twenty-one ministers and 5,100 members of the Chatham district of the Methodist Church, "framed for the incorporation of the United Church of Canada and a recognition before the right of self-determination vested in the respective church governments that seek to be united."

Some amusement was caused when Robert Forke, Progressive leader, who moved the first reading of the Bill, presented a petition from the members of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of Brandon, against its passing.

Daugherty's Brother Is Released on Bail.

CINCINNATI, April 29 (Canadian Press). — Federal Judge Hickenlooper here last yesterday allowed M. S. Daugherty, brother of Harry M. Daugherty, former United States Attorney-General, a writ of habeas corpus under a personal bond of $5,000 after John J. McGrain, deputy sergeant-at-arms of the United States Senate, had served a warrant charging Daugherty with contempt.

The writ is returnable forthwith, and calls for Mr. Daugherty's appearance in United States District Court here on 10th May.

ENFORCE VACCINATION

SARNIA, Ont., April 29. — Public School pupils as well as students of the Collegiate Institute and Technical school must be vaccinated or stay at home, according to the order from the local Board of Health, which went into effect in the city schools yesterday.

LABOR ACTIVE IN RHODESIA

Lead Opposition to Government In Election Campaign Just Ended — May Secure Majority.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, April 29. — (Canadain Press via Reuters.)—A curious situation prevails in Rhodesia where a general election campaign closed last night. All shades of political opinion accept Sir Charles Coghlan as premier and his programme but the labor party, disappointed at not reaching an agreement with the Rhodesian party regarding the allocation of seats, is attacking the government violently while independents also are contesting seats all along the line on the ground that good government can be secured only by the return of a substantial opposition. Therefore, with the exception of the laborites, the country is being asked to vote on the government's policy whether supporting the official party nominees or the independents.. If Premier Sir Charles Coghlan is not returned with a majority and the labor and independent forces secure a majority, labor will probably have to form a ministry which possibility does not seem to be viewed with much favor by the independents.

DUTCH SEEK LOAN.

NEW YORK, April 29 (Canadian Press). — The Kingdom of The Netherlands, whose bankers one time were lenders to the world, yesterday concluded negotiations with an American banking syndicate for a $40,000,000 loan—its first external borrowing on a dollar basis.

Public offering of the bonds, which mature in thirty years and bear 6 per cent. interest, will be made today at 98 1-2, to yield over 6.10 per cent.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Smith Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Trenton, Ont.—"I am writing to you in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not be without it. I have taken it before each of my children were born and afterwards, and find it a great help. Before my first baby was born I had shortness of breath and ringing in my ears. I felt as if I would never pull through. One day a friend of my husband told him what the Vegetable Compound had done for his wife and advised him to take a bottle home for me. After the fourth bottle I was a different woman. I have four children now, and I always find the Vegetable Compound a great help as it seems to make confinement easier. I recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. FRED H. SMITH, John St., Trenton, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intended. Thousands of women testify to this fact. c

Welcome News for the Busy Housewife!

A Delicious Cake in 10 Minutes

HERE'S welcome news for the busy housewife who dreads the tedious task of baking. Now you can have in 10 minutes the same kind of layer cake or jelly roll you would ordinarily spend half an hour in baking. Make it, too, with a package of Green's Sponge Mixture and 2 eggs only.

And there'll be no disappointments — no failures. All you do is whisk the 2 eggs together, add the whole package of Green's Sponge Mixture and bake for about 8 minutes. No measuring and mixing of half a dozen ingredients — they're all combined, the finest we can obtain, in Green's.

GENOESE CAKE

1 packet Green's Sponge Mixture (Maderia, Almond, or Lemon Flavour), 2 oz. Butter, 2 Eggs.

Cream the butter and add by degrees first a little of the Sponge Mixture and then the eggs which have previously been thoroughly whisked. Spread the batter over a long, flat, medium-sized tin and bake for about ten minutes. When cold cut into fancy shapes and spread with water icing, coloured if desired.

Green's Sponge Mixture has been a great favourite in England for years — where millions of packets are sold annually—is noted as a product which not only cuts the tedious task of baking in three, but which assures a light, velvety, rich-flavoured cake every time.

Ask for Green's Sponge Mixture at any grocery store. 20c. a package. Choose your favourite flavour — Plain, Vanilla, Orange, Lemon, Almond or Maderia — learn at once how greatly your baking duties will be simplified. Recipes are given on the back of every packet.

MANY ATTENDED CLOSING DANCE AT BAILIEBORO

Young Farmers' Society Brought Successful Social and Educational Season to a Pleasant Close at Centreville--Young Crops Appear Promising.

BAILIEBORO, April 29.—The U. F. Y. P. O. Club held their closing dance for this season in their hall at Centreville on Wednesday evening last. It proved to be the most successful event of the season. Follis' four-piece orchestra, of Peterboro, provided excellent music for dancing, and Jacob Isbister proved to be a very capable floor manager. The committee in charge were Miss Kathleen Isbister, Willis Hall and Wilfred Johnston.

Dancing commenced at nine o'clock and the happy event broke up about two-thirty o'clock.

During the winter months the club have enjoyed several dances, each time making them formal affairs, and issuing invitations, thus having only those present whom the members of the committee wished, and also this prevented the hall from becoming overcrowded.

Dainty refreshments were served at midnight. Those who were appointed to help serve were: K. Isbister, L. Barnard, C. McConnachie, S. Rutherford and W. Hall, Roy and Dawson Rutherford, W. Johnston, F. Bernard, C. Hall, and W. Lord.

Among those who were present were: Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McConnachie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Isbister, Mr. and Mrs. John Willan, Mr. and Mrs. R. Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. R. Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Saylis Millbrook, Mrs. O. B. Johnston, Mrs. W. H. Barnard, Mrs. Wm. Bradshaw, Misses S. Rutherford, C. and A. McConnachie, K. Isbister, V. Bradshaw, C. and L. Barnard, E. Tate, D. Hall, E. Whittington, Marion Dawson, T. Wood, F. Holden, P. Bowles, G. Stewrat, E. Thorne, M. Thorne. Messrs. C. and W. Hall, D. and R. Rutherford, W. Johnston, W. McCammus, D. Stewart, W. Hutchison, W. Thomson, J. Yake, Wm. Kennedy, R. Beatty, Port Hope; V. and F. Dawson, Peterboro; B. Blake, Campbellford; F. Alcorn, D. Fowler, H. Campbell, R. Deyell, R. Whittington, E. White, F. Grey, S. Gilmour, F. Dawson, E. Eagleson, G. Armstrong, C. Brackenridge, D. Deyell, W. Bradshaw, H. Dawson, M. Bradshaw, W. Thorne, H. Thorne, B. Armstrong, E. and R. Hutchison, G. Dawson, W. Lord, C. Pue, L. Owing to the late spring, many of the farmers in this district have become alarmed about the feed question. In a great many barns the feed is running very low, and the new grass which seems to have started to grow at last, will be very welcome to the farmers this spring.

The wheat and new seeds have been at nearly a standstill for the past three weeks. Although as yet they both are looking fine in nearly every part, and it is hoped that warm weather will continue from now on until the fall wheat and clover becomes more rugged and better able to stand the night frosts.

Spring work has started in general and the land is in very good condition to commence working on. There seems to be very few wet boggy places in the fields.

An epidemic of the la grippe has been spreading through several homes in this district, many of the sufferers have been confined to their beds on account of this ailment, and others have been under the doctor's care.

Trapping season is over again for another year, and there have been no unusually large catches around the head of the lake. Possibly one of the largest catches was about four hundred rats which were caught by two trappers.

The trappers claim that the reason for the small catches was on account of the water having been so low. During the spring the water has been unusually low, and in many of the marshes the trappers were unable to get a canoe into in order that they might set their traps. Some who were fortunate enough to sell their furs in the early part of the season, received as high as two dollars and ten cents per pelt, but the average price per hide received for Rice Lake muskrat hides was about one dollar and seventy-five cents.

KEENE CORRESPONDENCE

KEENE, Apr. 29.—The annual Sunday school business meeting and election of officers for 1924 were held at the Methodist Church on Friday evening, Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison presiding in the absence of the pastor.

The officers elected are: Superintendent, Mr. David Edwards; assistant superintendent, Mrs. Ida Kinfred; secretary-treasurer, Andrew Reanie; librarian, A. E. Fletcher; organist, Miss Eva Taylor; assistant organist, Miss M. Edwards; superintendent of missionary department, Mrs. Vernon Ellis; superintendent of honor class, David Tucker; superintendent temperance department, Peter Mather; superintendent cradle roll, Mrs. Eva Taylor; teacher, beginners, Mrs. T. Thornton; teacher, primary, Mrs. H. MacLachlan; teacher, junior, Mrs. I. Kindred; senior junior, Mrs. J. Harrison; 'teen age girls, Miss E. Fowler; C.G.I.T. class, Mrs. L. McLauchlin; adult ladies' Bible class, Miss Brough; young men's class, Stanley Braden; assistant teachers, Mrs. B. Wilson, Mrs. V. Ellis, Mrs. Northey, Wilfred Fletcher.

The Young People's Farm Organizations met on Thursday evening at the town hall, Keene.

About sixty fellow students of the Winter School gathered together to honor Miss Evlyn Doris who is shortly leaving to make her future home in Rochester.

A short musical programme was given, followed by the presentation of a miscellaneous shower by the students. This consisted of a beautifully decorated basket filled to overflow, showing the high esteem in which Miss Doris was held in this community.

Miss Doris, though completely taken by surprise, gave a very suitable reply especially by giving a hearty invitation to all to visit her at her new home in Rochester, where she will reside. This was followed by a bountiful supper. Toasts, proposed by W. H. Fletcher, to The King, and the Guest of Honor, followed with community singing and a dance. The festivities broke up at 12.30.

The Address

Dear Evelyn:

It is with feelings of regret that we, your classmates of the Winter Agricultural Course, have gathered here tonight to bid you farewell before your departure.

Your many friends in the class wish to show their appreciation of your presence, and your readiness to help in any class activities and also in the community in general.

Your interest in the welfare of others has been unquestioned, and your cheerful disposition has been an inspiration to us all during the weeks of our associations.

We cannot allow you to depart without expressing our feelings toward you in some way. We, therefore, would ask you to accept this basket of gifts as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held.

While we regret that you are so soon to leave us, we realize that our loss is a tremendous gain for someone else, and you go with our very best wishes for all joy and happiness and we trust it may never turn to sorrow and srappiness.

We hope your memories of Otonabee and your many friends here may ever be pleasant to you.

Signed on behalf of the class,
Gladys Nelson,
Annie Reid,
Clarence Robertson,
Frank Graystock.

Give a Play

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Salvation Army Corps Held Special Meetings —Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 2.—The Special meeting of the Salvation Army in the Methodist Church on Friday night was largely attended. The special visitors for the meeting were Commissioners Sowton and Mrs. Sowton, Colonel Adby, and Brigadier Moore. The band and members of the Methodist choir were present and assisted in the music. Commissioner Sowton gave a very eloquent address on the subject of his work in several of the countries abroad, such as Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, and India. He also told of the different ways the Army work was begun in many places. In Canada it was begun by two young men in the city of London, on the 24th of May, forty-two years ago. The small beginning has grown to a large number, and every city, town, and large village has an Army corps. He spoke of the many persecutions they had to suffer; sometimes their officers were put in prison by the authorities of the towns in the foreign countries. In one case, in Sweden, when first starting there, one officer was imprisoned for holding meetings later than eight o'clock at night. Their work has taken the form of building many hospitals and shelters. They do a great work among the prisoners in the different prisons. The Army is doing work in seventy-six countries of the world.

Mrs. Sowton then told of their missionary work in the different countries and among the lepers. They have a special eye hospital in Java Island, thus doing special work for those afflicted with eye trouble.

Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton's eldest boy is a missionary in China.

Colonel Adby then favored the audience with a gospel song, "Never a friend like Jesus." A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Cowell (the organist and band leader), the band and the choir for the splendid service given to help the meeting of the Salvation Army. Also a vote of thanks was given to the official board of the Methodist Church for the use of the church.

On Saturday the visitors left for Kingston, where they will have special meetings. On Sunday they go to the penitentiary, where they will have special meetings for the prisoners.

Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Linton, Queen Street, while in town, and Colonel Adby was the guest of Mrs. C. W. Turner, Queen Street.

The Willing Workers.

The Willing Workers of Christ Church had a very successful cooking sale and tea on Saturday afternoon. There was also a table with aprons and other things. This was in charge of Mrs. Gledhill and Mrs. Burling.

The home cooking was looked after by Mrs. Benor and Miss May Muffitt. The candy table was laden with sweets and Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. M. West and Miss L. Smith had charge of this table. The ladies in the tea-room were:—Mrs. Caddy, Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. F. Linton, and Mrs. R. Dunk. The serving was in the cafeteria style and each person served to whatever she chose. Mrs. G. C. Clarke was the cashier in the tearoom. The tables were decorated with carnations. The proceeds amounted to nearly one hundred dollars. The ladies of the church are much pleased at the success of the afternoon.

Service for Lodges.

The service in the Methodist Church on Sunday night was for the Orange Lodges and True Blues of the town. The church was filled, and about seventy-five Orangemen were present, including those in the ladies' lodge. The centre of the church was reserved for the lodges.

Rev. W. Elliott preached a splendid sermon, taken from the text, "Watch ye, stand fast in the Faith; quit you like men, be strong." The last two words were the principal theme. He spoke of the strong factors that go to make strong manhood and womanhood, such as conviction regarding right and wrong; determination as to right and wrong; adhering to the right and leaving undone the wrong. Be strong in God, with courage and hope. All present were impressed with the earnestness and thoughts of the sermon. The choir, which was out in good numbers, rendered two splendid anthems, and as usual the voluntary by Mr. R. T. Cowell was of a high order and was much enjoyed.

Personals.

Mr. Lorne McKay, of Havelock, visited his cousins, Mrs. Joseph Douglas, Church Street, on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Peckett and family spent Thursday in Colbourne visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. Damon.

Mrs. F. W. Wood and son, Howard, and Mrs. J. A. Irwin and daughter, Grace, motored to Peterboro on Friday.

Miss Kathleen Dolman, Rear St., entertained a number of her friends to an afternoon tea on Friday.

Mrs. W. H. Ashton, Inkerman Street, who was in Toronto last week, attending a board meeting of the W.M.S., returned home on Saturday.

Rev. G. C. Clarke, B.A., Rector of Christ Church, is in Toronto for a few days on business.

Miss Bertha Clarke, who has been visiting at her home on Rear Street, returned to her school at Lakefield on Monday morning.

Mr. Arthur Upton and son, Gordon, of Montreal, are visiting at the home of Mr. Upton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Upton, Sebastapool Street. Mr. Upton returned home Monday a.m., but Gordon will remain for a longer visit with his grandparents.

Mrs. Alex. Winters, who underwent an operation in Toronto some weeks ago, is failing very rapidly, and little hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Miss Nellie Davidson, who spent the Easter holidays at her home on Frank Street, returned to Toronto on Sunday for her school in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watson and two children, of Havelock, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Turner, Queen Street.

Miss Helen Cairns had an afternoon tea for some of her girl friends on Saturday.

Miss Cairns returned to her school at Warkworth on Monday.

Miss Eleanor Ferris, Saskatoon Avenue, entertained a number of her friends, Friday night.

The Executive of the Boy Scouts had a meeting on Thursday night in the Parish Hall to arrange for the meeting of the boys to be held next week. All the boys of the different churches in town are being asked to join.

Miss Ethel Fisk, who has spent the winter months with Mrs. C. A. Wilson, has returned to her home in Grafton.

Mr. W. Peckett and son, Francis, left on Monday for Toronto, where they will begin work in their new business which they have recently purchased.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 29.—The funeral took place here from his late residence, King Street, East, to Cobourg Union Cemetery, of James Moyse, a veteran of the late war. Mr. Moyse enlisted in 1915 with the 21st Battalion and went overseas. During service there he contracted heart trouble. Since his return home, his health has not been good, but he has been able to be around and to perform light duties. About two weeks ago he was seized with weakness and was confined to his bed until his death. He was a son of Mrs. William Chisholm, of this town. Mr. Moyse leaves a widow and three little daughters, with whom much sympathy is felt.

May Sell Pontiac Stock Farm.

It is rumoured here that Mrs. L. A. Livingstone may dispose of her fine farm, Pontiac Stock Farm, situated just east of the town, and also her thoroughbred horses. This will be a considerable loss to Cobourg. Mrs. Livingstone, it is stated, may not be able to compete for the King's plate after 1924, owing to a regulation that owners must live in this Province as well as raise their racing stock here in order to compete for the plate. It has been Mrs. Livingstone's desire to win the King's plate. Mrs. Livingstone has a fine stable of horses here at present, under trainer E. Regan, and is one of the well-known exhibitors at the Cobourg Horse Show. Her ponies, too, are well known, and are quite a notable addition to her stables.

Going Abroad.

As Miss Lillian Alford, Child Welfare nurse here, is going abroad shortly with some friends, it has been decided by the committee in charge of the work here to discontinue the baby clinics, which, heretofore, have been held every Thursday afternoon, until after her return.

Entry for King's Plate.

Mrs. L. A. Livingstone's horses have been taken to Toronto for the King's Plate event. Smooth Ice is the special entry from the Pontiac stables for that aristocratic competition.

Successful Easter Dance.

The Cobourg Primary Chapter of the I.O.D.E. put in a very successful dance at the Armouries to mark Easter week. A Lindsay orchestra furnished music for dancing. The dance was very largely attended, over two hundred being present. The presence of a number of Easter visitors added pleasure to the occasion. Dainty refreshments were served.

Several Marriages.

The marriage took place at St. Michael's Church on Thursday morning, of Mrs. Mary Audrey Vance, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Mr. William Bulger, of Cobourg. Rev. Father Corkery conducted the ceremony. The bride wore a becoming tan suit, and was attended by Miss Julia Bulger. Mr. Vincent Bulger was groomsman. The bride and groom left for a trip to western points before taking up residence in Cobourg.

Down—Bull.

A quiet marriage took place at the Methodist parsonage on Thursday, when Miss Gertrude May Bull was married to Mr. Wesley Samuel Down, of Fenella. Rev. R. F. Stillman conducted the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Down are receiving congratulations and sincere good wishes from a wide circle of friends. They will reside at Fenella.

Maxlow—Sutherland.

Recently, at Colbourne, Mr. Fred Maxlow and Miss Bella Sutherland, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sutherland, of Bancroft, were married by Rev. R. A. Whattom. The young couple will make their home in Rochester, N.Y.

Carman—Glover.

A wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John West, Plainville, on Monday afternoon, of Mr. Charles Glover, of Toronto, and Miss Clara Carman. Rev. F. J. Horwood, Carnborne, conducted the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy Varcoe, and Mr. Harold West was groomsman. After the wedding luncheon the bride and groom left for a trip to Toronto.

Smith—Lake.

The marriage took place recently at St. George's Church, Newcastle, Rev. E. R. James, rector, officiating, of Margaret Winnifred Lake, second daughter of Mrs. Frank Gibson, and Mr. James Anderson Smith. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson Smith, Newcastle. The happy couple have sincere good wishes from a very wide circle of friends.

Local and Personal.

Mrs. Burwash and daughter left on Thursday for a trip to England.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Nichols, Toronto, were guests for a couple of days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Nichols.

Mrs. Walter Jackson, Toronto, visited over Sunday at the home of her uncle, Mr. J. G. Nichols. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are leaving Toronto shortly to reside in London.

Mrs. Haskell and daughters are returning next week to their residence, Green Street here, to spend the summer months.

Mrs. J. W. Rowcliffe has returned from Toronto where she spent some weeks, and is now with Mrs. R. L. Edwards.

Mr. Wilfrid Stillman, Wolfe Island, and Miss Maurine Stillman, Brooklin, have returned to their teaching duties after spending Easter vacation with Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Stillman at the Methodist parsonage.

REDUCNG GIRDLE.

There is a new type of reducing girdle that is said to reduce the hips quite perceptibly. It is of rubber, and laces in the back so that it can be adjusted and fit the figure as one slims.

NEWS OF BURNBRAE AND THE DISTRICT.

A Presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Meiklejohn—Personals.

BURNBRAE, April 29.—A very enjoyable evening was spent on Friday, April 25, at the home of Mr. and Mr. Peter Meiklejohn in Campbellford, when a number of the members of Burnbrae Church Session and members of the Young People's Society met to express their regret at losing Mr. and Mrs. Meiklejohn and Miss Gladys, from Seymour East.

The following brief address was read by the Rev. J. J. Black, Moderator of the session of St. Andrew's Church:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Meiklejohn, —

"The members of the session of St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, have gathered at your home tonight to express to you our deep regret at having lost you from our community where you have resided for so many years.

"You, Mr. Meiklejohn, have been a member of the session of St. Andrew's for many years. We have always appreciated your loyalty and devotion to your church. As a member of the session you have always been ready to fulfill the sacred duties of that high and responsible office with delegence and cheerfulness.

"We have come to your new home in Campbellford tonight for an evening of fellowship together and to express to you our appreciation of your faithful services and the service of your family to our community and church. As a small tangible token of our good feelings towards you, we would ask you to accept this electrical table lamp. Wishing you health and happiness for the remainder of your days.

"Signed on behalf of the session —J. J. Black, Moderator; Alexander Hume, Clerk."

The presentation was made by Mr. John Rannie, an elder in the church at Burnbrae. Mr. Meiklejohn responded very appropriately, expressing what a large place Burnbrae Church had in his affections. He had attended her services since the days of Dr. Robert Neill. Dr. Neill and all his successors in the ministry at St. Andrew's were all men of God and called upon the young people to stand for the old church that had been such a fortunate influence in the life and character of their fathers.

Mr. Lindsay Anderson, President of the Young People's Society, read the following address to Miss Gladys Meiklejohn, who had formerly been one of the most active workers in the society:

"Dear Miss Meiklejohn,—

"We, your friends and co-workers in the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's, Burnbrae, have gathered here this evening to express our regret at loosing you from our society owing to your removal to town. To express this is some tangible terms we ask you to accept this ivory clock as a token of the esteem in which you are held by your friends at Burnbrae. Wishing you success and happiness in your new home in Campbellford.

"Signed on behalf of the society —Jack Rannie, Lottie Thain, Irene Thompson."

Miss Meiklejohn suitably replied in a few words.

Several short addresses were given by members of the session and the Young People's Society. The remainder of the evening was spent with music and singing, after which a very nice lunch was served.

Personals.

Mrs. Twigg of Toronto is visiting at the home of her father, Mr. Norman Masson.

Rev. J. J. Black, B.D., took a special Easter service on Thursday evening at Rylstone Church for the W.M.S.

Miss Alice Hume of Stirling is visiting at her sister's, Mrs. William Rannie.

The Y.W.A. of Burnbrae have appointed Miss Silvia Whitton as delegate to the W.M.S. Presbyterial to be held at Trenton in May.

NARCOTIC FIENDS INCREASING FAST.

It Is Estimated That More Than Nine-Tenths of All Murderers, Hold-Up Men and Daring Robbers Are Drug Addicts.

One out of every 11 prisoners arriving at Sing Sing last year was a drug addict. The percentage of convicts who are dope fiends is 10 times as big as six years ago. And half of these prisoner-victims of the drug habit are second-termers. So reports Dr. Amos Squire, Sing Sing's head physician.

You probably read in THE EXAMINER the excellent series of articles about "The Peril of Narcotics," by Captain Richmond P. Hobson, president of the International Narcotic Education Association.

Quoting Captain Hobson: "It is estimated that more than nine-tenths of all murders, hold-ups, and daring robberies are now committed by drug addicts."

Prohibition, important as it is, after all is a trivial matter compared with the Drug Traffic. At least one and a quarter million Americans are victims of the drug habit, and a fourth of them are not usefully employed.

* * *

People with whom we talk seem to have the notion that the most outstanding and dangerous feature of the Drug Traffic is the increase in crime, due to drugs.

But there is a greater peril—the fact that the drug habit is making its greatest gains among the youth of America.

Captain Hobson places the average age of the heroin addict at 23. "The majority must have been recruited before the age of 20."

A youth will become an addict in ten days, and a mature man in 30 days.

* * *

The government can do much by rigid attempts to enforce the Harrison Act, and by giving convicted dope peddlers the limit under the law. If that limit is not severe enough, the law should be given more teeth. Why is it that more bootleggers than dope peddlers are arrested, though violation of the Volstead Act is not nearly as great a menace as the Drug Traffic?

Captain Hobson wisely recommended that the peril of narcotics should be taught to all children in the schools.

Education is the most effective backfire to build against the drug traffic. Of all curbs, it is the quickest and surest.

The great concern of any parent, naturally, is the fear: "Will my child fall a victim to the dope habit that is steadily invading youth and even the schools?"

Teach children the dangers of drugs, the agonies and despair of the addicts. The most important thing to impress on them is that the first dose usually is taken out of curiosity or to be "smart." Impress indelibly on them that the use of drugs is cowardly and vicious. Presented to them reasonably and clearly, it should be as easy to teach children never to touch drugs as it is to train them not to drink deadly poisons.

WHAT BOYS CARRY IN THEIR POCKETS.

The Boys' Mania For Collection of Odds and Ends of Junk Is Inherited From the Savage.

The pockets of small boys yield peculiar collections. Maybe you read about nine-year-old Arthur Pakrer, knocked down and run over by a taxi. In his pockets they found 5 tops, 73 brass buttons, 60 marbles, 2 oranges, a wooden cigarette holder, a pair of clappers, 10 cigarettes, a mouth organ, and a jew's-harp.

This will not surprise the mother of any healthy lad with normal tendencies. If there's anything amazing about Arthur's pockets, it's that their contents didn't include a toad, a couple of white rats, a quart of bright pebbles and several radio sets.

Spring is approaching, and boys are beginning to collect.

The small boy is close to the savage state. His mania for collecting odds and ends of "junk" is inherited from the savage, who adorns himself with glass beads, feathers, etc.

The instinct of accumulation asserts itself in the lowest forms of human life. Civilization makes it more intense.

This accumulative instinct separates us from the animals. Crows and rats sometimes gather and hide queer collections. But as a rule the animals accumulates only what is actually needed to sustain life.

The squirrel works scientifically, hoarding nuts but not any more than will be needed during the winter. The ant has his storehouse of food. So does the bee. But the purpose of their accumulation is to keep them alive when food is scarce.

Man alone tries to accumulate more than he needs.

The way people fight for money, you'd think they expected to be here on earth for at least several thousand years. Does any of them ever get enough? Not so you can notice.

The savage with his glass beads, the boy with pockets crammed full of trash, the rich man struggling to acquire wealth that he no longer needs—all three have much in common.

It is wise and necessary to provide for emergency, old age and a "better chance" for the children. But when we pass a certain point in accumulating, the quest becomes an obsession and life loses its color.

A large part of the misery, friction, hatred and ill health of life is due directly to the mania for acquiring more wealth than we need. Life can be a very happy adventure and journey, if we enjoy ourselves as we go along instead of trying to hog everything in sight.

Thrift, carried to extremes, is a savage vice.

Raspberry Tarts

(A luscious dainty that will tempt fastidious palates)

2 cupfuls flour
1 teaspoonful salt
⅔ cupful Crisco
water raspberry jam
whipped cream

Sift flour and salt. Work in Crisco. Add enough water to make a stiff dough. Roll out on a floured board to ⅛ inch thick. Line individual pie pans or muffin tins with dough. Prick with a fork to prevent blistering during baking. Bake in a hot oven. When cool partly fill with raspberry jam, finish filling with whipped cream.

Speaks Right Out and to the Point

Madame Laplante Says Dodd's Kidney Pills Helped Her Kidney Disease.

Warren lady points the way to health to the weak, weary, nervous, run-down women of Canada.

WARREN, Ont., April 28.—(Special).—"I want you to publish my certificate about Dodd's Kidney Pills, because they have done me much good.

I was suffering from rheumatism, backache and headaches, and my appetite was poor. I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I am very well. I often do the men's work."

That is the statement of Mde. M. Laplante, a highly esteemed lady living here.

It is clear and to the point.

Ninety per cent. of the ills from which women suffer come from weak or diseased kidneys. They are the organs that strain all the impurities out of the blood. If they fail to do their work, the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen sick kidneys.

Sir William Mulock Named As Chancellor.

TORONTO, April 29, Canadian Press. — Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario, was chosen as Chancellor of the University of Toronto at a special meeting of the Senate held last night in Croft Chapter House of University College. He succeeds the late Sir Edmund Walker in the position. Sir William has been connected with the University for nearly 65 years. He graduated as a gold medalist in modern languages in 1863, four years before Confederation.

HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page—a pretty country girl has awakened from a brief and unhappy love affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore—a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of

Mrs. Vansittart—wealthy woman, who owns Winston Towers, a charming country home. Another of her guests is

Virginia Dale—a blase beauty, who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her mind on capturing

Peter Armstrong—a clever young inventor, much attracted to Prudence. The latter goes to New York, is caught in a fire and taken to hospital. Peter comes to see her, but the arrival of Bert Traymore leads Peter to think that Prudence cares for Traymore, and not for him.

Virginia, meantime, thrown herself on Peter's chivalry, saying he must marry her, as he has involved her in a scandal by having her in his cottage on the night of the thunderstorm.

CHAPTER LVI.

Uttermost Belief.

Prudence's father arrived at the hospital that evening, and the following morning took his daughter home.

Her nerves had been so shaken by the fire, and what preceded it, that she could put up no further fight, but quietly acquiesced in the arrangements.

What else was there for her to do?

Besides, although her father was rather reticent on the subject, her mother wasn't well, and wouldn't be better until the truant child came home.

"We need you, Prudence," said John Page, and for the first time the girl noticed how tired his eyes looked and how seamed with lines was his rugged, simple, handsome face.

"After what happened at Mrs. Vansittart's I feel as if I could never hold my head up again," breathed Prudence.

Her father patted her hand. They were in the train that was carrying them every moment nearer Green Gables, and the girl felt her courage ebbing.

"Your own conscience tells you that is wrong. You must face things out, my child. You must live them down, even if the real culprit isn't found."

Ah! That was cold comfort. A difficult philosophy.

Outside the windows the meadowland was rushing by, the gorse one glorious blaze of yellow in the hollows. Here and there, among the hedges, the first dog-roses were blushing warmly on their sprays, and soon the honeysuckle would be filling the air with perfume.

Along the railway banks the yellow archangels and wild geraniums were in bloom, and long sprays of ground ivy. Foxgloves were steadily growing taller, soon to replace with purple the pretty blue of the hyacinth.

Despite her agitation, Prudence noticed all these things, lover of nature as she was.

And the beauty and the freshness of the countryside brought Peter and his love more keenly home to her.

She loved Peter Armstrong. Not even the painfulness of her present situation—returning to her home under a cloud, as it were—could really dim the joy that sang in her young heart like a trilling bird of spring.

Peter loved the country too. Maybe to-night he'd come and see her, and together they would ramble through the beech-woods where the ferns uncurled their delicate fronds, and pause by the pool of waterlilies, where the big, glossy leaves lay so thickly on the surface that they almost formed a mat.

That was a carpet for the dragonflies, and for the dainty feet of the saucy little wagtail.

Peter! Such a strong, simple name—a name to lean on!

How wonderful to be given the privilege of devoting her whole life just to make him happy!

He would ask her—wouldn't he? That glad time was surely coming. . . .

The wheels of the train beat a reassuring melody.

Her mother would approve, too. Mother always had liked Peter Armstrong in the same measure that she disliked Bertram Traymore.

"How blind I was before!" thought Prudence Page.

She must see Peter to-night and explain to him that awkward scene with Traymore. The latter had taken advantage of her weakness to stage a stupid little tableau that, to Peter, must have looked exactly like a love scene. . . .

When Prudence and her father reached the end of the train journey, a lad who worked about Green Gables met them with a dogcart and away they drove.

And when the old house came in view, and then they stopped at the bottom of the old flagged walk, Prudence saw it all through a mist of tears, and darted up the path and into her mother's arms like a homing pigeon!

"My darling!"

There was so much to say—to explain. Prudence poured into the ears that had never failed her, all the story of her flight.

Her mother, who was still weak from her brief spell of illness, trembled over the story of the fire.

"They tried to keep the newspaper away from me, but I found it, just the same. My darling, what an escape!"

Prudence flushed, and her lips parted with a tremulous happiness as she told of Peter Armstrong's visit to the hospital.

"He was so kind—so strong—so gentle——"

The mother's eyes softened.

"And he'd never, never believe that wicked libel about the money they tried to accuse you of taking. You, my baby—of all people——"

A world of protective love was in the mother's voice as she kissed her daughter.

"Oh, no. He wouldn't."

"And you say that Mr. Traymore came also?"

"Yes; I don't know why."

"To make trouble, I'll be bound," An anxious light glimmered for a moment in Mrs. Page's eyes. Then it cleared away. "But Mr. Armstrong isn't the man to be put on by others' scheming. He knows you're home to-day, does he?"

Prudence nodded.

"I wrote a line before I left, asking him to call to-night. I think he'll come. I'm sure he will."

She smiled a smile of uttermost belief in this superman who had come into her life at the very time she most needed a strong tower to lean upon—little guessing the queer turn of fate in store for both of them

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MISTER MUGGS

"Who is knocking at my front door?" he cried

Nancy and Nick were playing in the garden.

Nick tried to lift a big stone out of the way, and finding it too heavy, picked up a little stone and tried to break it. Bang! Bang! Bang! he hammered three times.

Suddenly the big stone swung back like a door and a funny little man appeared. "Who is knocking on my front door?" he cried.

"It was me!" cried Nick, "but honestly I didn't know it was anybody's door. It just looked like a stone to me."

"Humph! That's what it is to have mortal eyes," shouted the little man. "If you had broken it, it would have taken a thousand fairies a thousand years to make another one just like it. Who are you?"

"We're Nancy and Nick, the Twins," said Nick. "And we are ever so sorry we bothered you."

"That's all right. Your apology is accepted," said the little man, smiling suddenly. "I'm not as cross as I look. I like children. My name is Muggs—Mister Muggs! And I have a magic automobile! And I'm just starting out for a ride. And I like company! And I have just room for two more if you squeeze. Would you like to come?"

"You're right, we would," shouted Nick.

"Yes, thank you, sir!" said nice little Nancy more politely.

"All right, then," declared Mister Muggs, jumping out of his doorway into the garden and whistling through his fingers.

Instantly a nice little automobile came rolling out of the rosebushes (although the Twins had been there only a minute before and hadn't seen a sign of it) and stopped beside them. And then, without anybody touching it, it opened its doors hospitably for them to enter.

"Where are we going?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, yes! I forgot to mention it," said Mister Muggs. "We are going to Once-Upon-a-Time Land."

"Once-Upon-a-Time Land!" exclaimed Nick. "What a funny name!"

"Well, the only other name it could be called would be "And-They-Lived-Happily-Ever-After Land."

"We didn't know what you are talking about, honestly, Mister Muggs," laughed Nancy. "It sounds ever so mysterious."

"Well, I can soon tell you what I mean," he answered. "I'm sort of a private detective for the Fairy Queen. When she wants to find out anything in one of her nine hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms, she sends me. My ears are extra sharp even for a fairy, and my eyes are extra bright, and my nose is a wonder."

"But what has that got to do with the funny place you are going?" asked the Twins.

"Everything! Because it's my business to find out about all the people in the stories that are supposed to live happily ever after. If anything is the matter it's my place to fix it up. I'm on my way to see Cinderella and her prince now. They live in a castle in Once-Upon-a-Time Land and I want to be perfectly sure that they are happy. Come along. Hop in."

The Twins didn't need a second invitation after that. In they jumped and they all rode away.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CHURCH UNION AND THE THREE FREE "F"s.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir:—A Free People, A Free Press and a Free Parliament are three essentials of Democracy and they are all menaced by the attempted Coercion, miscalled "Church Union".

1. A Free People.

Government is of two great types, Autocracy and Democracy. In the former the ruler rules after his own will. In the latter the people rule by choosing men to manage their affairs within the limits of a definite Constitution, to which those chosen swear allegiance. If these men go beyond that Constitution, violate their oath, betray their trust, it is Despotism, and the people must again fight for freedom if they would be free.

The Presbyterian Church is a pure Democracy. It has a definite Constitution. Its clergy are chosen by the people, and take the Oath of Allegiance to that Church and to that Constitution—"to maintain and defend the same" and "to follow no divisive course from the present order established therein."

This Presbyterian Democracy is now menaced. Some of its clergy are going beyond its Constitution, violating their Oath of Allegiance, betraying their trust, attempting to wipe out the Church entrusted to their care, to deprive the people of their liberty and right to remain in it, and to confiscate the Trusts and Civil Rights given them to guard.

Further, the freedom of the Presbyterian people is threatened from without their Church as well as from within, for some Methodist leaders have joined hands with Presbyterian Disloyalists in this attempt to blot out the Presbyterian Church and deprive its membership of their religious liberties and civil rights given them to guard.

If this attempted Coercion and Confiscation should succeed there would be no safety or security for any Church, Society, Organization, Trust or Individual. There would no longer be a Free People in Canada.

2. A Free Press.

A Free Press is necessary to a free people. It is their free school where all the facts of a question can be taught and learned, so that they may judge and act with fullest knowledge.

The Press of Canada has served with the cause of liberty, in allowing the people to be given the facts. Without that Press a free people would have fared but ill, for those in authority, assuming to call themselves "the Church", have as a rule, sought to suppress all that is not in accord with what they falsely call "the Policy of the Church", that is, with their own disloyal policy of wiping out the Church which they pledged themselves to "maintain and defend".

3. A Free Parliament.

This too is menaced. Dr. Chown, the head of the Methodist Church, in an official deliverance in the Christian Guardian, June, 1922, declared, as a supreme objective of this Union Movement, the winning of the battle for the control of Canada "in the whole religio-political realm". Dr. C. W. Gordon, at the last Prebyterian Assembly—"would like to see the Parliament that would dare refuse" to pass this Bill.

When the Ontario Legislature recently declined to be made a tool of ecclesiastic-tyranny, and proposed to amend the Bill so as to allow those wishing to remain in their own Church to do so,—the Guardian, the official organ of the Methodist Church, was lurid with threats of the next election. And in the Presbyterian Witness is a joint document signed by Drs. Chown, Gandier, etc., almost equally lurid, branding this "interference" with the "Spiritual freedom of the Churches."

This Coercionist cry of "interference" with their "spiritual freedom" surpasses in absurdity anything Mark Twain ever wrote to make the world laugh. These men plan to rob the Presbyterian people of their "spiritual freedom", their liberty and civil rights, and ask Parliaments to do the robbing; and when a Parliament declines to be made a tool for such an outrage, they shout "interference with our spiritual freedom"!!!

Thank God for free Parliaments, and for men in those Parliaments with a vision of justice and right, who will not be tools of tyranny and wrong. But if the Coercive Combine now seeking power were to gain what it seeks, Parliaments would not long be free, for if the lion roar so threateningly now, what would he do when grown?

E. Scott.

Montreal, April 25, 1924.

Mr. Editor.

Dear Sir:—Probably you are not aware of it, but there is a law passed in Smith prohibiting cattle, horses, and sheep from running at large on the highways. Being a subscriber to your paper for thirty years, and as this is my first letter to your paper, I wish you would kindly give it space, so as we could get other motorists' views on the question. Almost nightly in your paper you preach 'safety first', 'speeding' and 'bright lights'. Now, the greatest menace a motorist has to contend with is cattle and sheep on the highways. It's a common thing to hear of motorists hitting cattle and sheep and even horses, and it is just luck that it hasn't ended in a calamity. Why wait until some one is killed? Make the Smith council enforce the law, and you will have ninety per cent. of the farmers with you. As one who travels the road daily, I'm telling you it is disgraceful.

To prove my statement, have the provincial police take a trip from Peterboro' to Buckhorn by way of Chemong, or take the Buckhorn Road through by way of the Lakefield Cemetery and he's a lucky boy if he lands back in Peterboro' without a broken fender or radiator. Now, kindly give this space in your paper, or stop harping on 'safety first', for animals running at large are a far greater menace to motorists than all Peterboro's speed fiends. They make us put on a non-glare lens and put a thousand pound cow or horse ahead of our car. I would rather meet the brightest light ever put on a car or the worst speed fiend after night than to work my way from Buckhorn to Peterboro' through five hundred (500) cows and horses.

Now, it is up to every motorist to get behind this and make them enforce the law or put some one in who will.

"Disgusted Motorist."

Pellat's Casa Loma Orange Headquarters.

TORONTO, April 29.—(Canadian Press).—Casa Loma, the palatial residence of Sir Henry Pellatt, may become new headquarters in Toronto of the Orange Lodge. Last week a number of members of the Order visited the castle with a view to reporting back to the Lodge on the suitability of the buildings for Lodge and club-room quarters.

Col. Reginald Pellatt, when spoken to last night, said he understood a number of people had inspected the premises. He did not know of any negotiations having been entered into by his father, Sir Henry Pellatt, with the Orange Lodge concerning the sale of the property.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR

The above choir which is representing Peterborough at the Ontario Musical Festival which commenced yesterday and continues up to Saturday, May 3rd, in Toronto, will have strong opposition.

The Peterborough Male Voice have entered two competitions, one with a maximum of 20 voices, and the big competition with approximately 55 or 60 voices. Fortunately the two competitions are taking place on the same day in Massey Hall Thursday next, May 1st. This is fortunate in many ways, chiefly because it is a big financial expense to transport so many men, also it is a difficult proposition for many members to get away from their daily occupations.

This organization commands the respect of every citizen, inasmuch as they have so many persons who are willing to sacrifice their time and money, not for personal gain or glory, but for upholding the challenge for the City of Peterborough against the best in Ontario.

Music is an art, and any city with strong musical organizations hold a great asset. Peterborough, at present, is held in great respect throughout our fair Dominion in musical circles, and to such aggregations as these we must give our united support.

The Peterborough Male Voice Choir is composed of all classes and creeds of our City the only qualifications necessary are men of high character, interested in the promulgation of the vocal art. The members under the direction of Mr. Martin Chenhall have spent hours in study and singing the test pieces and are anxious for the event and feel confident of giving a good account of themselves.

The citizens, in general, are greatly interested in the Male Voice Choir's ambition to win the Ontario Honors, judging by the number of messages received wishing them every success in both competitions on Thursday of this week.

Special arrangements have been made for the party to travel to Toronto via Canadian National leaving Peterborough at 8.10 a.m., May 1st, and return Canadian Pacific at 11 p.m. Special coach will be furnished on both trains for their accomodation.

FABLES ON HEALTH

A sigh of envy escaped Mr. Mann of Anytown as he scanned the pictures of bulging biceps and muscles in the How-to-Be-Strong ads.

While thus enviously considering what might have been, but wasn't, the physical director glanced over Mr. Mann's fat flanked shoulders and smiled at the photos.

"That stuff is all right for the boys who want to parade upon the bathing beaches," said the director, "But what the average person needs, and is capable of achieving, is a set of muscles that work smoothly.

"Get lots of mussular exercise, of course. But the principle behind such exercise is not to look like these Adonis birds. Strong muscles do give a man a comfortable feeling.

"But, physiologically speaking, this is the point: a muscles a series of fibers made up of even smaller ones and through these run tiny veins and blood vessels. When a person exercises he contracts the muscle and this relaxes it. The contraction squeezes out blood that has been standing there, like a wringer squeezes water from clothing. With the relaxation fresh blood comes in. The result is a good, healthy cleaning out of various blood-containing chambers.

"That's what you want to think about in muscular exercise.

"So, whether you wind up by looking like a statue of Apollo isn't important. The point is to start your body out in the morning with a good fresh supply of blood in the muscles.

"And, while so doing, the muscle will automatically tone up."

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine power from any drug store — sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the backheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons In Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Think back and remember how many times you apepar at the window of a theatre or movie and compare that with the number of times you deposit money at a savings bank.

Many people who think they have not enough money to save spend a considerable sum in small dribs and never suspect the total that leaks out in that way.

While amusement may be very agreeable, it is also pleasant to build up an estate that will bring financial peace of mind and personal independence.

Check up on yourself and your family and see if the total amount of money spent for small pleasures compares favorably, in your judgment, with the money you set aside for investment during the same period.

A wholesome amount of amusement is a pleasant and necessary part of living. But too much amusement slows up creative energy and depletes the pocketbook.

Which do you prefer—amusement or independence?

FORD COMPANY HAVE GOOD BANK BALANCE

NEW YORK, April 28 (Canadian Press). — The cash on hand of the Ford Motor Company Inc. at the end of 1923 totalled $271,618,668, the largest of any industrial corporation in the United States and nearly double that of the United States Steel Corporation, its nearest rival.

This was an increase of $112,012,981 over the cash on hand at the beginning of 1922 and $162,385,936 over 1921.

LARGE SURPLUS IN BUDGET STATEMENT

Knowledge That the Labor Government's First Budget Was to Be Presented, Caused an Overflowing Crowd.

LONDON, April 29 (Canadian Press). — Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in opening his Budget statement in the House of Commons to-day, said a surplus had been realised of 48,329,000 pounds sterling on last year's accounts.

Knowledge that the Labour Government's first Budget was to be presented caused the House of Commons to be filled to overflowing for the initial meeting after the Easter holidays.

Many of the members were unable to find seats on the floor of the House, and had to seek places in the gallery.

Mr. Snowden said the surplus realised had gone to the reduction of the debt. Of this surplus 27,750,000 pounds was due to the reduced expenditure.

He said the expenditure for national debt services amounted to 347,250,000 pounds, of which 40,000,000 pounds was for Sinking Fund.

$200 GRANT FOR MALE VOICE CHOIR

The Finance Committee Met Last Night and Brought Up Several Business Matters.

The Finance Committee of the City Council last night recommended a grant of $200.00 to the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, on condition that they give concerts when called upon by the chairman of the Parks Committee.

The grant will assist the choir in their transportation expenses in attending the Musical Festival which is being held in Toronto this week, and in which the choir are taking part in two competitions—twenty voices and fifty voices.

Assessor W. J. Henry recommended the appointment of F. Weir as temporary assistant assessor, and the matter was left with the chairman and the assessor.

Doc., F.R.C.O., Dr. Alexander McMillan, Dr. Ernest McMillan, Mr. Treneer, organist of Knox College and formerly of St. Andrew's Church, Peterboro and others. The new organist will meet Knox choir on Friday evening of this week at 8 o'clock. All members will kindly be present at that hour. During May choir practice will be on Friday evenin. Mr. Peaker takes up residence here in June.

BEAUTY LESSONS WHILE YOU WAIT

Here Are a Few of the Important Points on Cosmetics the Stage and Film Stars Teach.

By MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, April 29.—Beauty lessons while you wait—that's the latest tribute to sophistication introduced by the Mark Strand Theater in New York.

Here they've just installed a $25,000 cosmetic parlor. "At the Sign of the Lipstick," for feminine patrons. Here a women may not only apply her lipstick and wield her powderpuff amid the congenial surroundings of satinwood tables, Louis XVI mirrors and taffeta trimmings, but may learn from stars of the stage and screen just how to apply her war paint.

The first lesson, at the opening tea was given by Marion Coakley. Her instruction was to study your type before you buy your cosmetics.

"If you are light, small and delicate, with blue eyes and blond or brown hair, use a light cream powder or a delicate flesh. Strive to get the pink and white effects poets love—the orange and ochre are not for you, she advised.

"If you incline toward the athletic and are tall with a fairly ruddy skin and a suggestion of the outdoors and the great open spaces about you, suggest subtly yhat you have been kissed by the sun.

"Tan is most becoming, applied by yourself if nature has denied it. If you are medium or dark, the new tan and ochre powder will be excellent for you, particularly if you use a coating of plain white powder beneath. The combination will lend radiance and depth.

"Use color sparingly on your cheeks, but make your mouth as vivid as you like, being careful, of course, to follow the natural lines and not to exaggerate them.

"The exotic, oriental type must choose a rachel powder or a dark cream. About the eyes, if they are dark, use a light brown powder, and a blue black if they are blue. Tint the lips with a bright colored rouge."

And of course, remember the coating of cold cream beneath, she advised. For a dry, sensitive skin use a cream and for an oily one, try a lotion.

"And before making up your face," she cautioned, remember the eye bath of boric acid, or some preparation suggested by your physician. This will brighten the eyes. Apply your eyebrow pencil, if you use one, very lightly so as to avoid any suggestion of artificiality.

"And always use a clean powder puff," she concluded.

BRITISH LABOR CUT DUTY IN NEW BUDGET

McKenna Tariff Wiped Out and Some Foodstuffs Included — Optimistic of Future.

LONDON, April 29. — Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Labour Government, today recommended the abolition of the McKenna duties of 33 1-3 per cent. which were imposed during the war on automobiles, watches, clocks, laces, and other luxuries.

These duties expire on 1st May, the Chancellor explained, but there was a period of three months' additional before the expiration actually became effective, therefore they would expire on 1st August.

No alteration in the income tax or supertax was proposed by the Chancellor.

The Chancellor proposed no change in the postal rates.

The Budget provides for the reduction of 1½d per pound on sugar.

The tea duty is reduced one-half.

The duty on dried fruits, he said, would not be renewed under the Budget provisions, and would lapse on 1st August.

The Budget schedule provided for the reduction of one-half in the duty on cocoa, coffee, chicory.

He recommended also that the corporation profits tax be abolished.

Mr. Snowden declared the country must devote all the resources possible to the redemption of debt which, though of more indirect benefit than the shilling reduction in the income tax, and no less real, was more widespread and penetrating in its effect. It improved international trade, the Chancellor declared.

"In view of the great conversion scheme, we shall have to carry out in he not far distant future,' he said, "the maintenance and improvement of the British credit is a matter of the most vital first-class importance."

As regarded the estimated revenue, the Chancellor felt justified in being rather optimistic as to the future.

EFFECT AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, April 29 (Canadian Press). — The decision of the British Chancellor of the Exchequer not to endorse further British preference offered by the Baldwin Government at the Imperial Economic Conference will cause regret here, but it was not expected, following the defeat of the Baldwin Government at the polls, that any other outcome was regarded as very unlikely.

There will, however, be considerable curiosity as to the form in which the British Government proposes to bring the question for discussion before the House.

Of chief interest to Canada in the Baldwin proposals were the ogers of increased preference on dried fruits, on sugar and tobacco, and the new preferential rates offered on raw apples, canned salmon, and lobster, and on honey.

The termination of the existing McKenna duties is likely to have an important bearing on the Canadian automobile industry, under these duties, foreign automobiles having to meet an import duty in Great Britain of 33 1-3 per cent., with preferential rate of 1-3 per cent. in favour of automobiles of Empire origin.

WOMEN'S ART ASSOCIATION

The closing musicale for this season was given under the auspices of the Women's Art Association in the studio at the Conservatory of Music on Saturday afternoon, with a good attendance. The feature of the afternoon was a very interesting paper on "Gounod," by Madame Bonnaure Walsh. Her French accent was very delightful, and her paper, given in English, was remarkable, owing to the fact that Madame Walsh has been resident for only two years in Canada. At the conclusion of the paper, ten players of the personnel of the Symphony Orchestra, under Mr. Gliddon's direction, gave a series of pretty musical numbers, including portions of Gounod's "Faust," with selections from the introduction and excerpts from the third act; the "Soldier's Chorus" and "Marguerite's Song," with incidental solos by cornet and trombone.

Afternoon tea was served in the studio, Mrs. George Macdonald and Mrs. F. D. Kerr acting as tea hostesses, with assistants in Mrs. F. Strickland and the Misses E. Anderson and M. Rush. The table was prettily centred with a large silver basket of double yellow tulips.

Madame Walsh's paper was an interesting review of the life and work of the great composer, Charles Francois Gounod, born in Paris on June 17th, 1818, son of an artistic father and a musical mother. Gounod was destined to be educated as a notary, but at the age of 13 he decided, after a visit to the opera, that he preferred a musical career. Answering the objections of his worthy school principal, as to neglect of his school work, he immediately composed a pianoforte piece, "La Chanson de Joseph," which at once proved his musical ability. His mother took him to the great master, Reicha, and in 1840, Gounod went to Rome, to the Medicis villa, the palace belonging to the French Government, where winners of scholarships are sent to study, the Government, in return, asking from them at the end of each year, a masterpiece in the art to which they have devoted their lives.

In Rome he met Madame Fanny Hensel, the sister of Mendelssohn, staying in the Eternal City with her husband. This lady took a great interest in the young musician, and played for him the music of Bach and Beethoven, inculcating in him a revelation of style and a love for musical purity and simplicity, to which he added a skilful and elegant handling of counterpoint. Gounod, in Rome, composed a large number of melodies, also much religious music. On the first of May, 1841, in the Sistine Chapel, was executed his first Mass. At that time, Gounod intended to consecrate his life to the church, but after several years of theological study, his health preventing him from entering the priesthood, he realized that he had to consider the financial side of his art, and agreed to write the music of "Sappho," from Emile Augier, but after six presentations, the Government, finding in the libretto political insinuations, stopped the presentations.

Later, Gounod composed his wonderful Mass of St. Cecelia, which brought him much renown, and about this time he married Anna Zimmerman, daughter of the Director of the Paris Conservatory of Music. "Faust" also brought its composer much wealth and glory, and in a prolonged visit to London, he wrote a "De profundis" and the music of "Gallia." Here he met Mrs. Weldon, and formed the beginning of a great friendship which ended in bitterness and lawsuits. At her request he wrote several melodies on English poems. Back in Paris he gave "Jeanne d'Arc," the Empress Eugenie being present at the first presentation. At her insistence, he added a ballet to his opera, which proved a great success and led to the inclusion of a similar ballet in each of his succeeding operas..

The last theatrical production was his sacred dramas. Death came to the composer while working on "Maitre Pierre," and, through pious veneration of the memory of their father, his children, Jean Gounod and Madame de Lassus, refuse to let any other composer finish it.

CONSTABLE HAS TOOTH PULLED FOR EVIDENCE

BELFAST, April 29. — (United Press).—Testifying against an alleged unregistered dentist, a local police inspector inserted finger in his mouth and pointed to a new cavity where a tooth had been.

Then producing a perfectly sound tooth from a pocket, he fitted it in the cavity and declared he had sacrificed it in order to obtain evidence.

TIRE COMPANY

G. N. Gordon Called.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., called by Mr. Parmenter for the defence by permission in order that he might return to Ottawa to-day, said he was chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council in 1921, whose duty it was to obtain industries for the city. He was called in by City Clerk Armstrong and met Mr. Walters. Mr. Gordon thought the Chamber of Commerce discovered Mr. Walters.

Walters said his object in Peterboro was to establish a factory to make automobile tires and tubes, and impressed Mr. Gordon as a man competent to carry out the project. "I am usually slow in going into schemes of that kind," Mr. Gordon said. Walters sought his advice as to what men should become connected with the concern. Names suggested were J. J. Turner, G. A. Gillespie, J. J. Duffus, George MacDonald, Robert Hicks and P. P. Westbye. J. R. McDonald was not mentioned.

Walters had what he represented to be the formulae and processes for making automobile tires, which he said he had learned through experimenting. He said he had manufactured tires under these formulae. He had variations that tended to greater length of life in his product. Mr. Armstrong read a report in Dunn or Bradstreet that indicated Walters had been in Goodyear tires and had gone into merchandising schemes that failed through lack of capital or through litigation. This report, which was very favorable, impressed Mr. Gordon well. Mr. Armstrong had gone to Buffalo to interview Walters.

Everyone seemed to have confidence in Walters, and he intimated he could get all the capital he wanted without difficulty, but later Mr. Gordon found his intention was to bring in agents and sell stock locally.

Stockdale came into the picture later to obtain the capital. "The only thing I remember of Stockdale before that was the City Clerk's visiting him in Buffalo."

Stockdale didn't make as favorable an impression as Walters. Mr. Gordon regarded the latter as a business man of considerable standing.

The original plan was dropped and the cheques returned, and two or three weeks later another plan was formulated when Walters drew Stockdale back.

Mr. Gordon was consulted by Walters, who told his troubles with Stockdale. Steps were taken to form the company, and Gordon and O'Brien were retained to carry through the formalities. About that time Mr. Gordon entered into an election campaign, and was infrequently in his office.

Hayes Did Not Sign.

Walters was to be given a certain amount of common stock for the secret processes he claimed he possessed, and he was to be manager if desired. Stockdale assented to a commission of 25 per cent. for selling the stock.

In order to satisfy Stockdale, Walters offered to volunteer some of his shares to Stockdale.

Mr. O'Brien drew the agreement for construction of the building, but Mr. Gordon knew as a matter of fact that the agreement was never signed, Mr. Hayes finding difficulty in meeting the terms. Mr. Hayes was apprehensive of Stockdale. He complained regarding the directors not changing the form of the contract. He refused point blank to put up security. The terms on which he started construction were that he put up security. Hayes knew where the money was to come from and was after Stockdale night and day. Stockdale was to get the money by selling stock. Mr. Gordon explained to Hayes that the company had no assets and the money must come from the sale of stock, but he safely thought Hayes could go on with the construction of the building.

Stockdale consented to pay personally any deficit Hayes incurred between the $120,500 bid and $127,000 in the construction of the building.

Mr. Parmenter: "The plaintiff's claim alleges that amounts to fraud. What have you to say as to my client, Mr. McDonald?"

Mr. Gordon said he had known him 15 or 20 years, and did not think he had been guilty of fraud or any bad faith in connection with the company.

The purchasing of the processes had been discussed for weeks, and Walters' common stock which he was to receive for his formulae would be useless until a dividend had been paid on the preferred stock.

Mr. Kerr also examined Mr. Gordon, who said he was assured of Walters' ability in the rubber tire business.

"What have you to say as to the standing in the community of G. A. Gillespie?"

"He has a very high standing, and the same might be said about the other directors and the plaintiff also."

Walters Was Slow Pay.

Cross-examined by R. R. Hall, Mr. Gordon said his time and attention were taken up with an election campaign in December, 1921, although the campaign was not so strenuous as the first one, he said. He was busily engaged for some weeks.

Referring to payments made to Hayes, Mr. Gordon said: "I remember it took a week or two to get Walters' signature to anything after it was prepared for him." The first payment for construction was apparently made very promptly.

Mr. Hall read from the specifications that payments would be made once a month, but Mr. Gordon did not recall the specifications. Until after a month from the payment previously mentioned, Mr. Hayes would apparently have no reason for complaint of non-payment.

"Hayes would have no right to consult you as to default until default had been made."

"No. It was more of a complaint."

"In this conversation Mr. Hayes would say, 'Where is this money coming from?' "

"Yes. He certainly asked where he 'got off at,' to use his expression."

In December Mr. Hayes found he was being humbugged in not getting his payments.

"I remember there was trouble at the time when Mr. Hayes became impatient when these men were not on hand. I couldn't understand why I was required to be the buffer for both sides. I was not a director although my firm was down as solicitors for the company.

Mr. Gordon recalled that Mr. Gillespie had doubts about Stockdale's ability to deliver. It was not a dispute, merely a doubt or question.

In October, November, and December Walters was exceedingly well spoken of in the city, Mr. Gordon agreed.

Mr. Hall: "And Stockdale, too?"

"Oh, no, no. We learned about him."

Mr. Hall: "We all learned something about him that changed our minds. There were no rumours that Red Arrow Tires were stuck?"

"I never heard any."

"And none that Red Arrow Tires were starting on a shoestring?"

"No."

"And nothing to cast a doubt on the honour, integrity, and business ability of the four directors?"

"Well, I don't know about that. I remember Mr. Hicks took objection to some policy."

"I mean there was no reflection cast on the defendants?"

"I don't think so, except that Stockdale sent out some circulars."

Replying to Mr. Parmenter, Mr. Gordon said Walters was not an architect, but had considerable experience in building and construction.

In answer to a question from Mr. Kerr, Mr. Gordon said trouble was caused just before the blow-up by Stockdale going to Montreal and becoming enamoured of the Sherbrooke Red Arrow Tires.

Mr. Gillespie had expressed the opinion that Stockdale should give security for the performance of his agreement with the company.

Dates Disputed.

Charles Clarke recalled by Mr. Parmenter, said the delivery of preferred stock certificate books referred to by Mr. Hall yesterday, was a second delivery and a book was delivered five days earlier.

J. J. Turner, recalled by Mr. Hall, said Stockdales agreement to underwrite the companys shares had been talked over in preliminary discussions and with Walters.

Stockdale was to sell 10,000 shares. Walters knew that none of the preferred stock had been sold except to the Provisional Directors.

Mr. Hall: The plan seems to have been that there would be a bonus of ten shares of common stock for every share of preferred stock. Was there any agreement between the company and Stockdale regarding that?

"Not that I know of."

"So far as the 35,000 shares are concerned, where were they to come from?"

"I don't know. We were trying to safeguard every point. A point was raised that some security should be asked from Stockdale, and these 35,000 shares were to be part of the security."

Mr. Turner said he was invited by Walters to go to Blackwell's office, to inspect the plans for the building for Red Arrow Tires Ltd. He made some suggestions for improving the building, and believed Mr. Walters on his own responsibility had given the first instructions for preparing the plans. The company used the plans and specifications.

Mr. Hick's letter of resignation was delivered by messenger to Mr. Turner's office. There had been no previous discussion in which Mr. Hicks had expressed dissatisfaction. He found no fault with the rapidity of the work before money was subscribed. The resignation was formally considered at a shareholders' meeting and accepted. The witness did not remember any discussion among the directors regarding the reason for Mr. Hicks' resignation.

"Did Walters ever pay cash for any common stock in the company?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Did the directors ever pass any resolutions allotting any common stock to Walters?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Was any notice of allotment sent or authorized?"

"Not to my knowledge."

Formulae Not Examined.

Mr. Turner recognized the formulae in twenty volumes which he received at his office from Mr. Walters. They are all dated Oct. 31, 1921. The prospectus speaks of the contract as dated October 24 and delivery as Nov. 1, but Mr. Turner could not distinctly remember the date he received the formulaes. He supposed it would be on October 31 or a subsequent date.

Telling of the delivery of the formulae, Mr. Turner said: "Mr. Walters said, 'I have fulfilled my contract when I have delivered these to you.' I put the formulae in the vault. I did not read them over. They are all in plain English. I have never read them over; I just looked at the first one now to tell His Lordship they are English."

The formulae remained in the vault until the company was being wound up and they had never been examined by any person, Mr. Turner declared. The other directors never to his knowledge examined the formulae, and it was never suggested to have an expert in the rubber business examine the worth of the formulae. Mr. Turner relied wholly and solely on Mr. Walters, and so far as he knew the other directors did likewise. He had no recollection of submitting the formulae for the examination of the directors. There were no blue prints delivered by Walters.

Mr. Parmenter: "We'll prove they were received by some of our witnesses."

Mr. Turner had no knowledge of blueprints being received by any directors of the company. He knew nothing of the manufacture of rubber tires and down to the dates under discussion had never been inside a tire factory.

The directors had no knowledge of the other tenders submitted with that from John E. Hayes and Sons. They were simply told that was a favorable tender. Mr. Walters advised that the resolution go through. He acted in the position of general leadership in all activities of the company. He was one of the promoters and was vitally interested but Mr. Turner would not refer to him as "general manager."

Large Gathering at the Red Arrow Trial

Probably never in the history of the Peterborough court has there been so large a gathering of learned counsel as attended this morning's sitting of the spring non-jury assizes under Mr. Justice Wright. Engaged in the case, present as witnesses, and in the court as spectators were: F. D. Kerr, K.C., R. R. Hall, K.C., R. H. Parmenter, K.C., W. F. Kerr, K.C., G. N. Gordon, K.C., G. W. Hatton, K.C., Magistrate O. A. Langley, Joseph A. O'Brien, John Corkery and S. T. Medd. His Honor Judge Huycke was also present on the bench for a few minutes.

Big business in the city was represented by G. A. Gillespie, president of Peterborough Milk Milk Products, Ltd., J. J. Turner, president of J. J. Turner and Sons, Ltd.; J. R. McDonald, president McDonald Lumber Co., Ltd.; Robert Hicks, president Robert Hicks Co., Ltd., and W. R. Morris, C.A.

The member of hte Federal House, G. N. Gordon, M. P., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, and the Provincial member, W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., were present.

Presentation to Mr. William Logan.

The employees of Fitzgerald & Co. Carriage Works presented Mr. William Logan, whose marriage took place recently, with a mahogany mantel clock. The following address was read by Mr. H. Pidgeon, the presentation being made by Mr. Thos. Ferguson. Mr. Logan, who was taken by surprise, replied suitably.

Mr. William Logan:

While the announcement of your marriage was a very great surprise to us, it was received with genuine pleasure, by all.

Your desire to assume double liability proves to us bachelors that you possess that courage which we lack and demonstrates to the married men that you have picked up some fine wisdom during your young life.

On one point we are all agreed and that is to wish for you and Mrs. Logan a long and happy life with just enough cloudy days to make you appreciate the sunshine.

As a small but tangible proof of our good will and good wishes, we ask that you accept this clock. We hope in the years to come that it may recall to your mind only the happy days we have labored together.

Signed on behalf of your fellow workers,

T. Ferguson,
H. Pidgeon.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

The father and son banquet held under the auspices of the Men's Association of St. Andrew's Church was attended by over three hundred fathers, young men and boys.

Supper was furnished by the ladies of the church, after which the following programme was carried out under the chairmanship of Mr. E. R. Shirley.

Particular mention might be made to the speeches by the younger boys Masters Pearson Mowry, Robert Fowler and Desmond Marshall, of St. Andrew's, and the responses by Bruce Fraser, of St. Paul's, and Clarence Jackson, of Trinity, which were special features of the evening.

Dr. Buchanan's toast to our King and Country brought out vividly our duty to each.

Master Ted Wayte sang in excellent voice.

The meetings of the Men's Association have been most profitable and interesting, and last night's was one of the most entertaining of the series.

The Programme.

"Our King and Country," Dr. Buchanan.

"What a Son has a right to expect from a Father," Rev. Mr. Gordon.

Song—"Father and Son," Ted. Wayte.

"What a Church has a right to expect from a Boy," Robert Fowler

"What a Boy has a right to expect from a Church," Geo. MacDonald.

Song.

"Our Mothers," F. Reid.

"The Value of the Sunday School," J. John.

"Our Visitors," Desmond Marshall; response—St. Paul's, Bruce Fraser; Trinity, Clarence Jackson.

SPRING HOUSE-CLEANING

The Annual Upheaval known as "Spring Cleaning" is upon us.

Carpets and Rugs to be beaten, Floors and Woodwork to clean, Painting to be done, Winter Bedding to be washed and put away for the Summer, Curtains to be cleaned—what an endless job it seems.

If you will take the trouble to look around, you will find in the homes having EASY Vacuum Electric Washers, the work is just about cut in half. The Curtains, Blankets, Quilts, and, in fact, anything which needs washing, can be put through in short order. Just put them in the machine and turn on the motor—then go about something else. The machine does the hard part of the work, and enables you to finish your Spring Cleaning quickly and easily.

SARNIA YOUTH GRANTED BAIL

Clerk In the Chamber of Commerce Faces Charge of Robbing Office In Which He Was Employed.

SARNIA, Ont., April 29. — Rowland Craig Jamieson, aged 20, motor license clerk, and assistant secretary at the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce, was yesterday arraigned before Magistrate Gorman in the city police court, on a charge of breaking into and entering the premises of the Chamber of Commerce, on the night of April 2, and stealing from a safe the sum of $1974, contrary to the provisions of the criminal code. No election was made or plea entered, but a week's enlargement was granted and the accused was released on bail comprising his personal recognizance in the sum of $3000 and a surety of a similar amount from his father.

GOVERNOR McCRAY GUILTY OF FRAUD

Judge Anderson the Trial Judge Said That McCray Was One of the Worst Criminals That Ever Confronted Him.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 29. — (United Press.) — Governor Warren T. McCray, is in jail here awaiting his sentence on Wednesday after being found guilty of fraudulent use of the mails. He was placed in jail immediately after the jury's verdict was announced.

Simultaneously the political wires started buzzing towards the removal of the governor from office in case he does not voluntarily step out. Clyde Walb, Republican state chairman will be in Indianapolis Wednesday to confer with the party leaders on what action to take towards removing the Governor.

In speaking of the case, Judge Anderson, the trial judge, characterized McCray as one of the worst criminals ever to confront him.

EMPIRE SHOULD GET PREFERENCE

The British Empire Producers Have Submitted Memorandum Bearing On Subject.

LONDON, April 29.—(Canadian Press Cable.)— In response to a request from Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, the British empire producers' organization has submitted to the chancellor a memorandum bearing on the subject of empire preference on supplies of foodstuffs and raw materials, especially in reference to the imperial economic conference resolutions to be submitted to parliament.

Preference to firms within the empire using empire labor and materials in all contracts awarded by government and public bodies is recommended in the memorandum, also the establishment of a produce board without reference to the question of the advisability or inadvisability an import tariff on essential foodstuffs.

The memorandum concludes with an endorsation of the recommendations adopted by the imperial economic conference.

Charles Scriver of Hastings Was Fined.

On Friday last, at Keene, before Magistrate Langley, Charles Scriver, of Hastings, was charged, under the Game and Fisheries Act, with breaking into muskrat houses at Crowley's Marsh and also with setting traps within five feet of a muskrat house.

The first charge was dismissed without calling on the defence on a motion for dimissal by Mr. Joseph Wearing, acting for the accused.

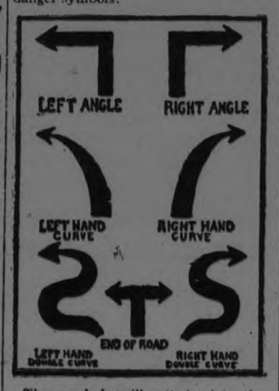
On the second charge Scriver was found guilty, and the minimum fine of $20.00, and costs, was imposed.

Radway's Ready Relief GRIP COLDS

ALL DANGER SIGNS TO BE MADE UNIFORM

A distinct step forward in ensuring the safety of the highways has been achieved as a result of the Interprovincial Conference of Highway Officials held in conjunction with the Canadian Good Roads Association. At their last meeting, held in Winnipeg, a series of resolutions dealing with the uniformity of caution and danger signs on public roads were unanimously passed, and were submitted by the delegates to their respective governments. Word has now been received by George A. McNamee, secretary of the Association, that practically every province in the Dominion has endorsed these decisions and will take the necessary steps to put them into effect. All the Eastern provinces have adopted them and most of the West, and at the forthcoming convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at St. Andrews by the Sea, on June 24, 25, 26 and 27 next, a further conference of provincial highway officials and engineers will be held to discuss other matters of uniformity regarding the use of the highways and the administration of departments on uniform lines with a view to securing greater efficiency and economy.

The resolutions arrived at by the conference included the adoption and danger symbols:



The symbols will not be less than three inches in width, tapering off with an arrow, painted black on a white background on boards two feet square, erected on posts on the right hand side of the highway so that the bottom of the sign shall be not less than five feet or more than six and a half feet from the level of the travelled portion of the highway adjacent to the sign. They will face approaching traffic at right angles with the highway, as close to the edge of the travelled portion of the road as possible, and are to be located at a distance of 300 feet from the point of danger. In cases where the local surroundings will not permit of the erection at this distance, the selected location shall not be less than 300 feet. A special sign bearing the words "Narrow Bridge," placed at a distance of 300 feet will warn vehicles approaching a highway bridge of a width narrower than the roadway.

The conference also favored the painting on the centre of hard surface roadways of a white line four inches in width the full length of the curve to assist traffic to keep to the right of the centre, especially at night, and thus aid in the prevention of accidents. A further resolution was that only such signs for the direction and safety of the public as may be approved by the Provincial Government may be used within the boundary of any rural highway or road, and that as regards streets and roads which, although situate in cities and towns, form a continuation of the rural highway or a connection between rural highways, the co-operation of such cities or towns be obtained with a view of uniformity in the sign-boarding of such streets and roads. The putting into force of these regulations will be a real boon to all travellers and do much to ensure safety on the highways and remove many conflicting and useless signs that now clutter them.

Gymnasium Exhibit at Grand Opera House.

Friday and Saturday of this week will see the 1924 gymnasium exhibition of the Young Women's Christian Association. Last year's event was so successful that friends of the "Y" are looking forward eagerly to this year's pageant as another example of what can be done throughout the year at the big Y.W.C.A. building gym. Classes of seniors and juniors and tiny tots alike are busily practising for the big event. Over five hundred children in varied costume will take part, under the direction of the physical instructress, Miss C. Littlefield, in an entirely new programme of drills, exercises and interpretive dances. The popular wand and dumbell and club swinging exercises, Swedish calisthenics and an opening processional march by massed classes, will have a place on the programme, and the dance numbers will be colorful and novel. "Tulip Time in Holland" is a pretty selection by the intermediates, the little ones have a funny number in "Peter Rabbit," a Sailor's hornpipe, "Jolly Jack Tar," is being given by request, and the senior dancers are giving a series of lovely interpretive numbers, in a Spanish dance, "Rose of Old Madrid," a classic number, "Greek Maidens at Play," an autumn fantasy, "Dance of the Leaves," and a colorful Russian suite, new and brilliant.

TRAPPING RIGHTS CAUSING TROUBLE

Case Heard in the County Police Court Yesterday

For some time past the Indians and whites owning land along the shores of the Otonabee river and Rice Lake have been at loggerheads over trapping rights. The Indians claim trapping rights under certain treaties as long as grass shall grow and watr run and since the price of muskrat skins have gone steadily upward from ten cents to several dollars a hide, landowners along the waters mentioned have taken steps to restrict trapping on their property. One of many similar episodes that have occurred recently, was aired in the County Police Court yesterday before Magistrate O. A. Langley when Hanlan Howard, an Indian from Hiawatha charged William Pammett, a farmer of South Monaghan with an alleged assault while on the Otonabee River in canoes, claiming that Pammett threatened him with an axe. Howard said Pammett swore at him and said he would cut his neck off, if he did not let go of his boat and leave the marsh, that Pammett claimed was his property.

Magistrate O. A. Langley presided while Mr. Wilfrid F. Huycke appeared for the prosecution and Mr. V. J. McElderry represented the accused.

Hanlan Howard said he had been trapping in a marsh near Pammett's land but that he did not know it belonged to Pammett, and that the Indian Department had told he Indians they could go and trap anywhere their canoes would carry them.

Mr. Pammett said that he had ordered both Hanlan Howard and his brother off the property and hod told them that the property belonged to him, but they paid no attention to him and went on trapping.

Hanlan Howard, the plaintiff, said that he and his younger brother Madden and Robert Cowie, each in a separate canoe were paddling along together when he saw Pammett coming out of the marsh. He said to Cowie, I am going over to Pammett to see if he has any of my traps. He paddled over to Pammett and drew up beside him and started looking in his boat for the traps.

Pammett claims he took hold of the boat and shook it and that he thought he was trying to upset him into the water. Pammett told him to take his hands off his boat and Howard refused. Pammett then raised his paddle and in doing so, Howard and his two friends claim he lost his balance and fell down into the boat while Pammett says Howard hit him across the hand with his paddle and knocked his own paddle into the water. Pammett then reached for a small axe that was laying in the bottom of the boat with which to protect himself, and in raising up the axe he lost his balance and the axe fell into the water while Howard claims that he took a vicious swing at him with the hatchet and that he knocked it out of his hand with a jab of his paddle.

Robert Cowie who was called for tohe plaintiff, told the same story as Hanlan Howard and added that Howard told him he was going over to Pammett's boat to see if he had any of his traps which he had set in this marsh. After the quarrel Pammett denied he said would cut Howard's neck off.

Madden Howard, younger brother of the plaintiff, who was with Hanlan and Robert Cowie at the time of quarel gave the same evidence as his brother and Cowie. He said that Pammett had told him to keep off that marsh but that he had never told his brother anything about it and that Pammett had told him it was his property but that he did not know whether it was or not.

Howard Was Aggressor

William Pammett, the defendant said he was a farmer in South Monaghan and that he had lived there practically all his life and that one hundred acres of land owned by him run down to the water. He said that since the building of the Hastings Dam, the water had risen about nine feet and had flooded a great deal of his land, making a marsh out of it. He said he had seen the Howards on his land and had seen their traps and had warned them to keep off his premises. He also said that he had between five and ten signs put up, declaring that trespassers were not allowed but that the Howards trapped and trespassed there just the same. He said that at the place where the quarrel took place the main channel of the river is about 200 yards wide and that there is between 350 and 400 yards of marsh land which is covered by water on his property. He said he erected the posts with the signs on about 3 to 4 years ago and that when he questioned Mr. D. W. Dumble where he would put them he told him to put them where they would be noticeable.

Magistrate Langley referred to a similar case to this one in 1920 in which Mr. Pammett had been in trouble over the same land and that the case had been investigated and it had been proved that the land belonged to Mr. Pammett. These posts with the signs on were placed at the edge of his land and it was on the inside of these posts that the quarrel took place so it was proved that Howard was trespassing when the quarrel occurred He also pointed out that Howard assaulted Pammett when he went on his premises and started investigating his canoe to see what he had in it and that if he had stayed off Pammett's property when he was told to do so there would have been no quarrel.

The case was dismissed on the grounds that Howard was a trespasser and the original aggressor.

Daylight Saving In Montreal Is Likely.

MONTREAL, April 29. — Montreal will have daylight saving time, it is expected by resolution of the city council, which is called tomeet in special assembly to deal with the question next Thursday.

Mayor Duquette stated yesterday that he strongly favored summer-time.

"The council will be asked to adopt summer time from May 11 to Sept. 28th and it is altogether probable that the majority of the aldermen will support it," said the Mayor.

VANCOUVER CONSTABLE

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 29. — the presence of 25,000 people of Greater Vancouver, Mayor W. R. Owen yesterday afternoon unveiled the cenotaph erected on Victory Square by Vancouver citizens in memory of the Vancouver men and women who died in the Great War.

The cenotaph is constructed of British Columbia granite and stands 30 feet in height, and was erected at a cost of $15,000, and is similar in design to the cenotaph erected in Whitehall, London.

WHEN AN ALARM IS SWEET MUSIC

An alarm clock's tinkle is sweetest music in all the world to a calf belonging to Robert Ralph of Wall Lake, Iowa. Ralph grew tired of feeding his calf twice a day, so he invented an automatic calf-feeder. When feeding time arrives, the clock goes off, calls the calf and sets into motion the device which does the feeding. A string, attached to the alarm bell's clapper, releases a ball, which, in turn, opens the shoot which lets the grain slide from the hopper into the feeding trough below.

TRINITY CHURCH CHOIR CONCERT

Trinity choir concert for 1924 was accounted for last evening, when a pleasing programme of music and readings was presented in Trinity Methodist church to an audience of nearly four hundred people.

The choir was assisted by Mrs. J. Foster in violin selections, Mrs. Geo. H. King, soprano soloist, and Miss Jessie Irving, of Hamilton, elocutionist.

The choir, with its total lacking only one or two of the half-hundred mark, were heard in only three selections, but their work showed a vast amount of careful practice and close attention to the detail which makes for perfection. With a smooth rounded tone, and an even volume of sound, they combine excellent methods of attack and release, noticeable particularly in the second choral selection, "Fierce was the Wild Billow," sung a capella, in descriptive fashion, with the sopranos in the foreground against a backing of deep tones. The choir's opening number was a soft, full rendition of "O Holy Lord," and they closed with a merry parting chorus, blithe and melodious, with trilly soprano bits, in "Love is meant to make us Glad." Their work throughout was a credit to the careful tuition of their leader, Mr. Geo. H. King.

The visiting elocutionist, Miss Jessie Irving, made quite a hit with her audience, who accorded her much applause. With an admirable ease of manner, a cultivated, well-modulated voice, and a command of various histrionic arts, her work was eminently pleasing. She gave in humorous fashion "A Telephone Conversation is overheard at the Corner Grocery," a Cockney dialect reading, and, as an encore, "A Little Study in Child-Life." "The Modern Girl takes Advantage of Leap Year," illustrating the woes of a would-be feminine popper of the question, was another humorous selection, given with verve, with an encore in "The Patchwork Quilt." "Maclaine's Child," was a dramatic declamation of the hatred of a fierce Scot's clansman, which brought much applause, and a final selection, given in Scotch dialect and quaint, old-fashioned costume, with pannier d' skirts and bow-ribboned poke bonnet, was "The Ways of other Days," and an encore in "The Cookie Man."

Mrs. George H. King delighted her audience with several songs. Her rich, expressive voice was heard to much advantage in the mellow, murmuring stanzas of "On the Adrian Sea," with violin obligato, by Mrs. J. Foster; an encore in the dainty, brief "Roses after Rain," and a second double number was a duo of gay, bright bits, in the narrative type of vocalism, which suits Mrs. Kings style. "The Market," and "Love's a Merchant" were the two brief charming numbers that evoked an enthusiastic response.

The violin playing of Mrs. J. Foster was one of the high lights of a pleasant evening. A Hungarian Rhapsody was the first number, its music ranging from a broad legato section to crisp little intricacies of harmonics and prestissimo bowing. The applause which followed this rendition brought the sweetness of a pretty encore. Mrs. Foster's smoothly clear tone and facile ease in difficult technical work was again demonstrated in Svensden's descriptive number, "Romance," in illusive minor strains.

A quartette of feminine voices were those of Mrs. H. Doig, Mrs. E. Kitney, Mrs. R. Williamson and Miss B. Payton, whose [illegible] concerted tones were heard in "Welcome Pretty Primrose," sung with excellent effect. A mixed quartette, unaccompanied, gave the old, attractive song, "Early one Morning," its singers, [illegible] R. Williamson, Miss B. Payton, Mr. H. Turner and Mr. N. Staples.

One of the prettiest numbers of the evening, that brought a repetition after prolonged applause, was the lovely "Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffman," sung in duet by Mrs. H. Doig and Mrs. E. Kitney.

Mr. George H. King, organist and choir leader, played all the accompaniments of the evening. After the performance, the choir and assisting artists, were entertained during a social hour in the basement of the church, when dainty refreshments were servied.

Men to Whom Motorists Tell Their Tire Experience Say All-Weather Cord Gives 27.5% More Miles Than Any Other Tire

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS hear thousands and thousands of tire experiences. Their owners praise or denounce the tires they are using. Prospective purchasers tell of the tire service they've had. Cars come in for service regularly and their mileage is noted. And the automobile dealer is unprejudiced, because his chief interest in tires is to have the cars which he sells make a good showing on tire mileage.

3 out of 4 say Goodyear All-Weather Best

We asked 243 automobile dealers if they thought Goodyear All-Weather Cords gave more mileage and if so, how much more than the next best. 74% said Goodyear All-Weather Cords gave most miles—and the average estimate gave them a greater mileage by 27.5% than the next best tire. Another 22% said All-Weather Cords are the equal of any tire. Only 9 out of 243 think any tire excels the Goodyear All-Weather.

What Other Car Dealers Say

"There is no question about the Goodyear All-Weather Cord Tire giving greater mileage and more real service than any other cord tire on the market today. I have kept a close check to see the mileage they give my customers."

"Goodyear All-Weather Cords are dependable, and I believe they will give longer service than any other tire."

"Our experience proves them better than others."

"We cannot say too much for Goodyear Cord Tires, as they have given big mileage and service."

Goodyear means Good Wear.

NEWTON WON DECISION OVER BILLY BUFF AND JORDAN LOST TO CUTT

...xing Club's Feature Programme Attracted Big Crowd and Fulfilled All Advance Notices Coombe Scored Knockout Over Jack Thompson.

THE BOUTS TONIGHT

Walter Newton and Willie Buff will meet again to-night in a decision bout, at the G.W.V.A. Hall. The finals in the City Championships will also be decided along with special bouts.

Peterborough fight fans were given a real treat last night when Walter Newton of the Illinois Boxing Club, Chicago, locked horns with Billy Buff of Rochester in a three round bout that was full of pep and clever work from star to finish.

Willie Buff who has been making great headway in the squared circle in the past year and who had won 152 bouts out of 154 before he met Newton last night met his downfall, when he was chased around the ring by the talented ex-Toronto boxer who showed the fans some real in-fighting and foot work. Newton who is known as an agressor led the fight the greater part of the way last night and handed Buff some hard punishment which was enclined to weaken him a little. Although Buff stood up well before the stiff punishment which Newton handed him he was outpointed in every round. Both studied each other well but it was easily seen that Buff was foiled when he attempted to clinch with Newton who rapped Buff's ribs from every angle and slipped the odd one to the head. Buff played the ropes well when he was given the chance but Newton also demonstrated some clever work on the ropes in getting out of Buffs' long arms that let Newton know several times that they could give a strong kick. One crepe-hanger was heard to say after the fight that Buff never tried, but anybody who knows anything about scientific boxing knows that both boys gave all they had and received a lot of punishment. This was no doubt the best bout seen in this city in a number of years and the coming boxers of this city had the chance of their lives to get some pointers. There was no slugging match in this bout; it was clean cut, clever boxing in every round and the decision was justly given when Newton was awarded the bout. Newton was the aggressor seventy-five per cent of the way and his consistent in-fighting and cleverness in keeping out of the way of Buff's punches won the bout for him on points. Mr. G. N. Graham refereed this bout very satisfactorily.

"Irish" Jordan Beaten.

"Irish" Joe Jordan, 130 pounds put up a game, hard battle against the fight as much as Newton did but the more experienced boxer in Billy Cutt 118 pounds of Rochester but was out-pointed on the rounds by Cutt's aggressiveness. Cutt carried Jordan stepped into him on each encounter and landed home his quick lefts and rights to Cutt's face and body. Both boys went hard the first round and broke even on points, while Cutt had a little the better of the second and Jordan copped the third, making the fight on rounds a draw, but Cutt's aggressiveness, which Jordan lacked won the bout for him. In the former fight Jordan appeared to be the better man and should have been given the decision over Cutt, but last night there was no room for a dispute as Cutt was rightfully awarded the decision by the judges. In Cutt's former appearances here he appeared to be inclined to clinch a great deal but in last night's bout there was very little clinching compared with the former one. Cutt is making good headway in the States but he must be running into some rather weak fighters when he can win three bouts in one night, as he did a few days ago. He is no doubt a great little fighter but he has been forced to go the limit in both his bouts with Joe Jordan, who will make a few of them step next year.

Jordan is a fighter with lots of pep and his style of hit down and up in succession has proven very successful for him in his last few bouts. Joe Lamoine, secretary of the St. Helen's Boxing Club, Toronto, refereed this bout in good style and was kept rather busy keeping close watch on the boys who were out for blood.

Coombe Scored Knockout.

In an exhtibition bout between Jack Thompson an unattached boy of this city and Lorne Coombe of the P.A.A.A. in the 135-pound class the latter won his bout in the first round by a clean cut knock out. Thompson who is a new man to the fans sent a challenge to Coombe for an exhibition bout. He started off fast and appeared to have the goods but he wasn't in the ring long enough to show the fans what he really could do. Thompson opened up like a veteran ring man and landed a couple of healthly lefts to Coombe's face and body, but a few seconds later when he got in the way of Coombe's right that took him on the side of the neck he was streched on the canvas for the count. He put up a game fight and on leaving the ring was given a good hand from the fans who appreciated his gameness in going into the ring against Coombe who appeared to be slightly the heavier.

An Extra Round.

In the 11-pound class Woodgate was awarded the decision over Mike Murray, who was much the smaller of the two. Murray fought a game battle and had the best of the third round which evened the fight up, but Woodgate went at him hard in the fourth round which was called, and Mike had to be satisfied with not being knocked out. Murray has appeared in the ring several times before this winter but it has happened that he has gone up against somebody each time who had it over him in height and reach. He has not been matched with a fighter this winter who was the same size as himself and no doubt if he was he would make a better showing.

City Championships.

In the semi-finals of the city championship in the 108-pound class a white-haired boy by the name of Jones who is a new boy in the ring carried the fight with Larone all the way and was awarded the decision over him. Jones hit hard and often and seems to be one of the most promising newcomers who have yet appeared. In the first two rounds he used his left to good advantage while in the last stanza he cut away with both paws and showed some brilliant work.

Dorrington and Ronco in the semi-finals of the 108-pound class also put on a bout that was full of punches. This was a slugging match that caught the crowd's eye in the first round with Dorrington having the best of the battle while in the third round Ronco who had got used to his opponent opened up on him with uppercuts that shook Dorrington's teeth and taught him a lesson to keep his head up. Dorrington held his pins and finished up strong and was awarded the decision over the game little Italian boxer.

In the 80-pound class of the city championships "Spin" Heffernan won his bout on points from Cole after he had floored him in the first round and let the fight most of the way.

Tobin, the cool little left-handed boxer, won from Smith, the on-rushing never-give-in boy, in the 90-pound class. These boys put on a scrappy bout but Tobin appeared to be the better of the two.

"Pro" Tennis Tex Rickard's Dream

NEW YORK, April 29—As an outgrowth of the sensational controversy aroused over the prospective disbarment from amateur tennis ranks of William T. Tilden, the national champion, and other player-writers, professional competition among a group of stars possibly headed by Tilden, may be developed in 1925.

This prospect took somewhat definite form Monday when it was learned that Tex Rickard, noted promoter, has under consideration a plan to stage professional play next year, when the new player-writer rule of the United States Lawn Tennis Association goes into effect, and seek the services of Tilden and other stars, including Vincent Richards, young Davis Cup player.

Rickard expressed the belief that professional tennis would prove popular providing it attracted players of the top ranking class.

FIRPO SCORNS TEX RICKARD

Was Forced Into Ring Against Dempsey Before Prepared to Meet the Champion—Firpo Pushing His Auto Business.

BUENOS AYRES, April 29 (Canadian Press). — Luis Angel Firpo announced yesterday that he had definitely rejected the offer of Tex Rickard for the Argentine boxer to return to the United States, and that he would not fight under Rickard's management under any circumstances.

He added that he never could forget that Rickard insisted that he fight Dempsey last year before he was prepared to do so, and that Rickard's insistence had lost him the world championship.

"That is the real reason why I will not negotiate with Rickard," he said.

Firpo admitted that he had received a new cabled offer from James Johnston, the New York promoter, but said he was only willing to consider it under certain conditions, and that he was awaiting a reply from the promoter.

Johnston's offer, he said, guaranteed him $100,000 for a fight with George Godfrey, the Philadelphia negro heavyweight, and $250,000 for a fight with Harry Wills, with an option of 25 per cent. of the gate receipts and also one-third of the moving picture privilege.

The Argentine fighter declared that if it developed that Rickard had Will- s, tied up that the negro could not fight under Johnston, as Rickard asserted, he would be just a- well pleased, as he did not care whether he ever fought again.

"If the promoters and my friends will only leave me in peace, I'll attend to my automobile business and be satisfied," he said. "When I offered to fight Quintin Romero, I did it to please my friends. I am glad the offer was not accepted, as somebody else will knock him out and save me the trouble."

Firpo said that he was starting on a business trip in the interior of Argentina to-day.

Stewart, Satterfield and Stanage; Jackson and Cobb.

THREE HOME RUNS.

READING, Pa., April 28. — Wisner's hurling and Merkle's batting were apparently too much for reading, and Rochester won by a score of 5 to 3 to-day. Horan and Hoblitzell hit home runs for Reading's scores, and Merkle's homer accounted for two runs. Lake's double in the ninth with two on won the game. Score:

Rochester .. ..010000202—5 10 0
Reading .. ..200001000—3 4 2

Wisner and Lake; Martin and Haley.

REDS ADVANCE PAST CHICAGO

Cincinnati Grab Ten-Inning Game From the Cardinals, While Errors Help Pirates Beat Cubs — Hornsby Gets Four Hits.

CINCINNATI, O., April 28.—Bohne's two-base hit in the eighth inning tied the score for the Reds today and the same player's second two-bagger in the tenth drove Duncan home with the winning run, enabling Cincinnati to defeat St. Louis 5 to 4. Sheehan won his third game of the season as a relief pitcher. Hornsby drove out three singles and a double out of five times up. Score:

St. Louis .. 000 003 010 0—4 11 0
Cincinnati .. 020 000 020 1—5 11 1

Stuart and Gonzales; Donohue, Sheehan and Hargrave.

Fumbles Counted

CHICAGO, April 28. — Earl Adams' fumble of Wright's grounder, followed by Grimm's single and Schmidt's triple, enabled Pittsburgh to overcome Chicago's lead and take the second game of the series, the score being 7 to 4. Home runs by Hartnett, Traynor and Wright, the latter's with a man on base, were features. Score:

Pittsburgh ... 100 013-020—7 10 0
Chicago .. .. .. 120 100 000—4 10 3

Cooper and Schmidt; Keenan Blake, Bush and Hartnett.

Cy Williams Hurt

NEW YORK, April 28.—(National)—The New York Nationals won the first game of the series with Philadelphia here to-day 4 to 2. Barnes yielded only five scattered hits, one a home run by Wrightstone. Couch pitched a fair game for the Phillies but was handicapped by poor infield support. Ford and Jackson made spectacular stops.

"Cy" Williams was out of the game as a result of being hit on the right ankle by a batted ball, Henrich replacing him. Score:

Philadelphia ..100 100 000—2 5 4
New York .... 110 100 10x—4 11 0

Couch and Henline; Barnes and Snyder.

Bancroft in Limelight

BOSTON, April 28.—The pitching of Jesse Barnes, who held Brooklyn to three hits and the general play of Bancroft and Tierney were the features of Boston's 8 to 0 victory over the Dodgers to-day. Score:

Brooklyn .....000 000 000—0 3 2
Boston .....300 050 00x—8 12 0

RECORDS TO FALL AT PENN. RELAYS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—(United Press).—Two hundred high school track teams, representing schools from every part of the United States and one from Canada, will compete here April 25 and 26 in the University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival.

This entry list is the largest in the history of the Penn track classic and indicates the growing place of importance which the annual meet here is assuming. The track teams will represent approximately the pick of 5,000 boys and they are expected to put up a classy performance when they get on the Pennsylvania cinder track.

Last year the times set by the high school flyers were extremely fast, and it is indicated by university track men here that this year's times will be even faster. Last year, the average time in the relays for the high school teams was 3 minutes 40 seconds for the mile. Two years ago only a few of the schools made as fast time as this so that the advance in quality has kept pace with the advance in numbers.

This year there will be a number of exceptionally fast boys on the high school teams. Austin of Somerville High of New Jersey has run the half mile in 1.53 3-5. Clauser and O'Neill of Exeter have both beaten 1.57 for the distance, as has Kelly of Mercersburg. Reed of Mercersburg has done the quarter in 50 seconds, and there are outstanding boys coming from various high schools throughout the West.

This year's meet is expected to be the best in the history of the Penn relays.

SOCCER NOTES

The return senior league fixture for Saturday afternoon will be the Vets and the Thistle at King Edward Park. Kick-off at ... Referee A. Mitchell. Opening game was a draw—one goal each.

At the senior game on Saturday, a number of the "has- beens" (?) were busy accumulating data of the old players who have lots of soccer left in them yet and contemplate entering a team for the Cup games. Is that right Jack and Bill. Have a try.

It is not very often you find three brothers all participating in sport at the same time but the Vinets who play in the juniors hold the local record. There was once the Wade's in the Vets last year.

The Canadian Woollens travel to Campbellford on Saturday afternoon to play a "friendly" game. They intended going on Good Friday but weather did not permit and any person desiring to go can notify Jack Cridland, phone 228jw so as to make arrangements.

H... Hatton who played with the C. P. C. Seniors last year and Montgomery who assisted the Quakers last year and Woollens three years ago have gone back to the junior ranks.

An executive meeting was called last evening, but they had not a quorum. It was for the purpose of considering the Exhibition Grounds as a playing ground—nothing definite was done.

The Thistle signed on Charles Hotston last week and most likely he will be in the line-up on Saturday.

DO YOU KNOW SOCCER.

Flag-staffs with pointed tops must not be used. The touch and goal-lines must not be marked by a V-shaped rut—Inter-Board, June 16th, 1902.

Except through accident, a player must not leave the field during the progress of the game without the permission of the referee. Taking any part in Sunday football is prohibited.

The referee must not allow a corner-flag staff to be removed even for the convenience of the player taking a corner-kick.

Timely Tips To Amateurs

Says FRANKIE FRISCH.
Second Baseman, New York Giants.

Don't give up on a ball.

Never make up your mind that a play is impossible as the ball leaves the bat.

There is always a chance until the ball has passed you and is on its way to the outfield.

The question of an infielder's speed doesn't enter into the scheme.

The thought is, that no player should ever give up on a ball until the possibility for a play has been eliminated.

I always work on that theory, and have time and again surprised myself by getting a ball that seemed a physical impossibility when it left the bat.

Of course, my speed helps, but every infielder has certain possibilities, and he should always make the most of them by giving every ball a battle.

Don't quit on a ball, no matter how impossible the play may seem.

QUESTIONS

1. If a batsman, after missing the third strike, stays for his bench believing the ball has been caught, and then discovers that the ball has gotten away from the catcher, has he a right to make an attempt to reach first base, or he is out for running out of the line?

2. Explain what is meant by a force out.

3. Has the catcher the right to block off the base runner at the plate?

ANSWERS

1. The batsman has such a right, unless in running he ran out of line to avoid being touched. When he takes it for granted that the ball has been caught and instead of immediately starting for the base as he should have, he simply delays his getting there, and makes the distance that much longer.

2. A force out can only be made when a base runner legally loses the right to the base he occupies by reason of the batsman becoming a base runner, and he is thereby forced to vacate.

3. Only provided he has the ball in his possession, ready to touch the runner.

Prohibition's chief drawback is that the corkscrews of the nation continue to follow their natural bent.

One reason why we figure neither the Yanks nor Giants can win again this year is that the experts predict they will.

HASTINGS TEAM COUNTY LEAGUE

Meeting Will Be Held on Wednesday -- Epworth League Play.

HASTINGS, April 29. — Mr. W. Wellmon, president of the Amateur Athletic Association here attended the annual baseball meeting of Northumberland which was held in Warkworth.

The home team will again play in the County League for the "Clarke Cup' 'which last year went to Warkworth.

A meeting of the Association is being called for on Wednesday evening to form the team and arrange for an exhibition game to be played in the near future before the League games commence.

Under the auspices of the Methodist Church Epworth League the play entitled"The Young Country School Ma'am." which was shown in the Opera House on Monday evening by the young people of the Norwood Methodist Church was played before a large and appreciative audience. There were four acts to the play and between acts music was supplied by "The Star Orchestra".

Mr. Hinton opened the entertainment by a few remarks and announcing the first item on the programme which was a character reading by Mr. Wendt "How Rubenstein played the piano."

Miss Una Duffield rendered "When Winter Comes" accompanied on the piano by Mr. J. E. Brewess.

The caste of characters taking part were:.

The school ma'am, Miss Nellie Liscumb; Ma Sneckleby, Mrs. Robt. Fennel; Pa Sneckleby, Mr. M. H. Minore; Maria Jane Sneckleby, Elva Portway; Ikey Sneckleby, John E. Brewess; Gideon Longface, George Hamblin; The Minister, Dr. T. Norval; Bersheba Dunn, Miss Ona Finlay; Mary Brown, Eva Brown; James Hugheson, Ralph Elliott; Mrs. Crisp, Miss M. A. Carter; Tommy. Cuthbert Puffer; Maybell Primrose Verna Scott; Berdie Walker, Evelyn Scott.

Each took their part splendidly The young people are to be congratulated on their achievements. Lunch was served to the visitors in the school room of the church at the close of the play by the young people of the church.

ROYALS HERE ON SATURDAY

Petes Working Hard to Get Into Shape For First Clash of Season.

The Central League squad had another lively practice at Riverside Park last night and if the present weather conditions continue the Petes should be in good shape for their opening clash of the season with the Royal Canadians here on Saturday.

A big squad of players has been signed by the local management and all of them will get a chance in Saturday's game to show their wares. Among them are three youngsters, Hall, Batten and Moore, making their debut in senior company and three newcomers in Peterborough ball circles, Charlie Serth, left-handed pitcher, Cook and Buchanan.

Cook, who formerly played with Woodstock in the Southern Ontario League, the organization in which Dannie McPhee made his name, worked at first base at last night's practice and showed good form, while he taken a nice cut at the plate.

The Royals have been practising for some time and the Toronto crew, whose league opens a week from Saturday, may have the edge in condition, although the Petes are driving hard to get into shape and should be ready by Saturday.

The coming to Peterborough of the senior finalists of last season, is causing a stir among the ansf and a big crowd will see the season opened.

ANOTHER BIG BOUT TONIGHU

Newton and Buff Will Clash at the City Championships.

Boxing fans who were enthused over last night's clash between Walter Newton, formerly of Toronto, and now of Chicago, and Willie Buff, the Rochester lightweight, will be glad to learn that the local management has succeeded in persuading them to remain over in Peterboro for another bout to-night when the finals of the city championships will be decided.

Buff, who lost the decision last night, is confident that he has solved Newton's style, and that he can reverse the verdict in a second clash. Newton, always a "fightin' fool," was ready to show that last night's result was no fluke, and there was little difficulty in getting the two together again. The chances are that these boys will come together at the Olympic games, for Buff has an excellent chance of being chosen for the United States team, while Newton, although living across the border, is eligible to fight for Canada, and is sure of a place on the team if he can spare the time for the trip.

To the Examiner he said last night that he had not definitely made up his mind as to the Olympic competition.

At all events Peterboro fans have another opportunity to-night of seeing two clever ring artists, each good enough to represent his nation in a world competition. It should be an even livelier mill than last night's bout.

An excellent bill is mapped out, as the finals for the city championships and several special bouts are on the card

BRIGHTON BALL TOSSERS HAD SPLENDID WORK-OUT

BRIGHTON, April 29. — The Brighton Greys worked out for the first time this season last night and there appeared to be considerable talent among the large squad that turned out. Captain "Doc" McKee kept them hard at it for an hour. Among those at practice were Clarence King, Bill Brown, Ed. Solomon, Les Kay, Fred Thorne, Bernard Hughes, Gus Halliday, Arnold McCulloch, Rod Frise, Walter Shannon, Doc McKee, Keith Roblin, George Walt and Frank Cornwall. The first league game for Brighton is May 21st, when Hastings comes here.

INDUCTION SERVICE OF REV. J. PATERSON RECTOR ALL SAINTS

Thoughtful Address by Rev. Canon Lawrence Skey of Toronto--Various Types of Religion

Impressive and inspiring was the induction service held in All Saints' Church last evening when Rev. J. D. Paterson was inducted by Archdeacon J. C. Davidson, of Toronto. Mr. Paterson succeeds Rev. R. B. Grobb, who left for a new field of labor some time ago. The service was in charge of Rev. W. L. Armitage, of London, Ont. The latter was the first rector of All Saints' Church. The Bishop's mandate of induction was read by Dr. R. C. Blagrave, of this city, and Rev. T. H. Stanley, rector of Havelock, read a copy of the license. Rev. M. G. B. Williams, assistant rector of Millbrook, read the lesson, and the keys of the church were formally presented to the new rector by Wardens W. H. Buller and R. J. Bolton.

The Peterboro Ministerial Association was represented in the chancel by Dr. C. W. Rose, of Murray Street Baptist Church: Rev. R. Pogue, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, of Knox Presbyterian Church.

Several other members of the Association were in the congregation. Since the inception of All Saints' Church in 1902, the following rectors have been in charge of All Saints' Parish: Rev. W. L. Armitage, Rev W. Major, Rev. H. R. Trumpour, Rev. R. B. Grobb and Rev. J. D. Paterson. Bishop Sweeney was unable to be present at last night's service.

Canon Skey Preached.

Rev. Canon Lawrence Skey, of St. Anns, Toronto, preached the sermon, taking as a basis for his discourse, redemption, consecration and song as applied to true religion. The speaker remarked that we are living in an age when there is a good deal of unreal religion. Any religion not founded on redemption is not God's religion, said Canon Skey. Some consider sin an illusion and believe they can get rid of sin by banishing it from their minds. Such a theory is founded on sinking sand and is a man-made religion. The great note of redemption is the foundation of everything

The second great note, said the speaker, is consecration. That note is also lacking to-day. Some things we over-emphasize and other things we under-emphasize. If the youth of our church were really consecrated the heads of the church would not call in vain for recruits to carry the gospel to other lands. When the king called for recruits a few years ago over five hundred thousand responded, but when the King of Kings calls there is hardly any response.

The third great note of true religion is song. Religion was intended to make us happy. There are some who go around looking awfully religious and never have a smile. They suffer from spiritual indigestion. To be really religious we must have the song of joy in our hearts. Some people are very religious on Sunday, but you have to watch them on Monday if you have any dealings with them. Many are also easily offended in the church. If you don't tell them how well they are doing and pamper and pet them or mention them in the parish magazine they become offended and threaten to leave the church. Then there are people who have always got something nasty to say. They come like a wet blanket. Love your enemies and let the joy of the Lord enter your hearts, was the concluding admonition of the speaker.

The choir rendered special music for the occasion, and as an anthem sang "O Come Let Us Worship," with Mr. George Chandler taking the tenor part.

In close sympathy with the thought of our time and using modern modes of expression, he nevertheless preaches that glorious Gospel of the Grace of God which is for the healing of the Nations.

To recognize such solid scholarship, such strong character, such wholesome preaching is the privilege and pleasure of his Alma Mater. Therefore, the Senate of Victoria College bids me present him to you, Mr. Chancellor, for the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa.

REV. F.E. MALOTT, D.D.

(Belleville Intelligencer.)

In presenting Dr. F. E. Malott, pastor of Bridge Street Methodist, at the Convocation of Victoria University in Toronto, for the degree of D. D. honoris causa, Prof. F. H. Wallace, M.A., D.D., paid high tribute to the stirling qualities that culminated in the honor being bestowed on Dr. Malott.

Dr. Malott was one of four from the Dominion to receive this honor, the others being Bishop Francis Warne, of India, active for many years in the mission fields; Rev. C. W. Brown, B.A., B.D., of Saskatoon, and Rev. Arthur P. Addison, B.A., B.D., of Toronto.

Prof. Wallace's address follows:

Introduces Pastor

Mr. Chancellor:—

I have the pleasure of presenting to you, on behalf of the Senate, the Rev. Frederick Edwin Malott, B.A., B.D., for the degree of D.D. honoris causa.

Mr. Malott may fairly be labelled "made in Canada"—a product of a Canadian home and of Canadian schools and universities. Such men prove that our educational system is not quite so defective as some critics allege.

Born at Leamington

Born at Leamington in the County of Essex, Ontario, he received his primary and secondary education in the schools of Leamington and Windsor. Intending to make teaching his profession, he graduated as Gold Medallist from the Toronto Normal School. But after a short experience as teacher, he felt called to the work of the Christian Ministry and began his probation for that high office in 1893. After preaching two years he entered Victoria College in 1895 and graduated from the University of Toronto in 1899, receiving the Victoria Gold Medal in philosophy. In 1901 he completed his course in Theology and received not only the B.D. degree but also the Gold Medal for proficiency in the B.D. course. It is evident that Mr. Malott has a decided penchant for honours and medals. His course in Theology, as indeed in Arts, was so satisfactory to the Faculty that they rightly looked upon him as a coming man, and they were not mistaken.

Always a Student

He did not consider his studies ended —"so many subjects off as it is sometimes expressed—he did not consider his studies ended when he graduated, but only begun. He says himself that he has been a better student since he left College than while there, for at College he only learned how to study. An indication of his eager appetite for knowledge is seen in his securing six months leave of absence from his church in London in 1910 and spending that time in attending theological lectures at the summer semester of the University of Berlin and the Oxford-Cambridge Extension lectures at York, thus deepening his scholarship and broadening his outlook.

In later years his studies have been not so much in his old field of Philosophy as in that of History. As a student, thinker, scholar, he has always commanded the respect of those who know him.

Success in Work

In the practical work of the ministry he has been no less successful. His pastorates have been in Chatham, London, St. Marys, Orillia, Peterboro' and now in the famous old Bridge Street Church, Belleville. Everywhere he has brought credit to his Alma Mater and has impressed the community by the strength of his character, the solidity of his scholarship and the variety of his social interests and has built up the Church in Christian faith and life. His preaching is thoughtful, Biblical, instructive, never sensational, frivolous, superficial, vulgar. He does not take down the dignity of the pulpit although he is never stiff nor pedantic. He speaks to dying men in earnest, sober tones as an Ambassador of Jesus Christ. He is a shepherd who really feeds the flocks of God with the truth.

Saved From Extremes

His sanity of judgment saves him from all foolish extremes, from the absurd futilities of a "Fundamentalism" which is blind to the facts of history and of Scripture, and on the other hand, from the wild aberrations of an extreme "Modernism" which forgets the glorious deposit of essential Christian truth.

BROADWAY WAS SCENE DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

SEEING CANADA TOUR OF CANADIAN TEACHERS

MONTREAL, Que., April 29. — The itinerary of the personally conducted "Seeing Canada" tour of the Canadian Teachers' Federation en route to the annual convention at Victoria, B.C., 12th to 16th August next, has just been issued, and promises a very interesting and instructive trip for the teachers and their friends, about 150 of whom, it is expected, will take advantage of it.

Arranged by Dr. E. A. Hardy, vice-president of the Federation, and R. E. Howe, president Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, Quebec, in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the tour lasts from 4th to 12 August, and covers a large field as is possible in the time. It will be made on a special train starting from Toronto and following the main line of the Canadian Pacific throughout. Stopovers varying from a few hours to a day are made at many points of interest along the route, notably Fort William and Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver, to give the teachers a full opportunity of seeing the sights at these places. The entertainment provided includes automobile drives, a reception at the Twin Cities, luncheon at Winnipeg and Calgary, and a reception at Vancouver under the auspices of the Local Teachers' Association in each of the cities mentioned, luncheon at Regina as the guests of the Premier and Government of Saskatchewan, followed by a drive round the city in automobiles provided by the Rotary Club. While in Moose Jaw the visitors will also be taken for a drive by the local Board of Trade. A special return trip under similar arrangements for those who care to take it has also been provided for, starting from Victoria and proceeding eastward by the Okanagan Lakes and Kootenay Lake to Lake Windermere then to Vermillion River Camp, Banff, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Kenora, Fort William, and across the Great Lakes by the Soo to Port McNicoll and Toronto. This trip lasts from 17th to 29th August, and includes a stop-over for dinner at Penticton, dinner, a night's stay, and breakfast at Lake Windermere Camp, lunch at Vermillion River Camp, and a day in Banff, Edmonton, Winnipeg, and at Devil's Gap Camp, Kenora.

THEATRES

"Name the Man," screened from Hall Caine's "The Master of Man," is at the Capitol Theatre for the first three days of this week. It is one of those dramatic stories, filmed with a quality of realism, that makes every actor a human, convincing being, that absorbs the attention through its unfolding. An enthralling story, keeping the attention at white heat from the first, with an increasing quality of high drama that culminates in the final confession of the Deemster of the Isle of Man, the young, white-faced man facing the crowd of his countrymen in a logical finale to a powerful picture. "Name the Man" is a story of human impulses and passions, and the inevitable sowing which follows the reaping of sin and folly. Conrad Nagel is "the man," young, erring, human; and Mae Busch is the girl. It is not a pretty story, and critics will probably find fault with the ending that leaves the girlish victim happy and safe with the other man who has given up everything for her. The moralist might find room for argument in the tale that depicts a peaceful finale for the girl who strays from the path of virtue, but Bessie Collister paid for her sin in blood and tears. She came beneath the shadow of the hangman's rope before the conscience of the Deemster saved her from the gallows and sent him to the felon's cell to work out his punishment in turn. There is a logical twist to the final that should satisfy even the keenest dissenter.

The picture has an abrupt manner of presentation that makes it interesting. Skipping from situation to situation, it presents the main facts only in the etched lines of its peculiar photographing, but there are memorable bits, like the screen work of D. W. Griffiths. The contrast between the life of the two women—the outcast Bessie and the lovely, sheltered Fenella—is told time and again. When Bessie rides to jail in the gloomy prison van, Fenella motors by with her young lover, the erring Deemster, but it is Fenella, later, who brings the man to his senses and stands by Bessie in a thrilling trial scene. The spectacle of the conscience-ridden Deemster, placing the black cap on his head and pronouncing sentence on his victim, is splendidly depicted. "Name the Man" is a thrilling and memorable picture, dramatic and passionate.

With it is a Lloyd Hamilton comedy in "My Friend," and a jolly sextette of six clever juniors in "The McQuade Kiddies," singing and dancing in a popular novelty programme. Little Helen McQuade is a cunning child-actor, and the tiny tot, singing "Yes, we have no bananas," made a big hit with her audience.

AT THE ROYAL

HARRY CAREY LOVES HIS WESTERN ROLES

Says Fans Will Always Like This Type of Picture But It Must Be Original.

"What kind of roles do I like to play? Just the kind I do play!"

Harry Carey, star of Hunt Stromberg's production of "The Night Hawk," now playing at the Royal Theatre, thus achieves another originality. He's about the only star found to date who is content with the type of stories he enacts.

"Some people may claim that the public is fed up on Western pictures. But did you ever notice the expressions of audiences as they watch an exciting chase on horseback, a clever bit of gun play, or a striking bit of heroism in one of these productions? They're proof to the contrary."

Of course, Carey admits that fans will no longer stand for the routine stuff which has been instilled in so many hundred of Westerns and of which the only originality belongs to the producers who have the unheard of nerve to utilize it again!

"But there is plenty of room for novelty in this sort of picture," Carey from a Western star. It is enacted in the usual locale. And yet, in introducing me as a gun man of the East and then gradulaly transplanting me to the West for my regeneration, it achieves a distinct departure from my previous characterizations. It is an admirable compromise between those who still like the old-fashioned Western picture and those who like Westerns minus their old-fashioned trappings."

Carey's work in "The Night Hawk" is proof that he enjoyed his role in it. He presents its drama and its melodrama with a new enthusiasm which should make it the best Carey feature ever released.

"I not only like to play in Westerns because they include the things that I know how to do. I like them because they typify the spirit of this great country which I love. When I portray a Westerner, I portray the man I am at heart—I am doing the thing that I do by choice every day at my own ranch. So my work is truly my life," Carey explains simply.

Perhaps that is why Carey's pictures invariably have the charm of realism. He is not taking on the guise of an imaginary character. He is merely being himself. And he himself is one of the most likeable chaps in pictures.

AN OUTSTANDING PICTURE IS COMING

The Royal Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week offers one of the outstanding cinema attractions of the season in the screen adaptation of the George M. Cohan stage production "The Meanest Man in the World."

Thousands and thousands of theatre patrons laughed and laughed with Cohan during the year the play was presented in New York. Now countless thousands will have the opportunity of enjoying the story in its film form.

The feature is one of the big releases of Associated First National and was produced by Principal Pictures Corporation. Bert Lytell, one of the most popular stars of the screen, enacts the title role which Cohan played in the footlight offering. Surrounded by an all-star cast, Lytell is said to do some of his finest work in this prduction. Blanche Sweet is the 'girl in the case,' and other players of importance include Bryant Washburn, Forrest Robinson, Warde Crane, in 'The Night Hawk.' It gives the public the heroisms which they expect Maryon Aye, Frances Raymond, Wm. Conklin, Victor Potel and many more of equal note.

"The Meanest Man in the World" is a catch title, for instead of being mean, he is so soft-hearted that he find himself a failure as an attorney. He cannot say "no" to anybody.

How "the meanest man" finally succeeds in business and also how he succeeds in winning the hand of "the girl in the case" provides one of the most absorbing features presented at this theatre in a long time.

AT THE REGENT

In "Modern Matrimony," which begins a three days' engagement at the Regent theatre on Monday Owen Moore adds one more to his already long list of inimitable comedy portrayals. It is a Lewis J. Selznick production of a type similar to this star's two latest successes, "Reported Missing" and "Love Is An Awful Thing," each of which scored an instantaneous success. In this he is ably supported by Alice Lake and a notable cast which includes Victor Potel, Frank Campeau, Mayme Kelso, Snitz Edwards, Kate Lester and Douglas Carter, all well known to the great army of fans. One of the old-time favorites, a true veteran of the screen, is Victor Potel who first won fame with the old Essanay company by his creation of the character of "Slippery Slim," which he portrayed throughout a long series of single reel comedies. After that he was entrusted with important comedy roles in "Captain Kidd, Jr.," "Full of Pep," "The Heart of a Child." After this came "Mary's Ankle," the "Billy Fortune" series, "Lavender and Old Lace" and "Bob Hampton of Placer." Although he is considerably over six feet in heigh he weighs less than one hundred and thirty pounds, and this rail-like slimness coupled with his lugubrious expression make him invaluable for certain types of comedy, of which his role of the mollycoddle son of a society matron in his current picture is a striking example. "Modern Matrimony" is a rapid fire satire on married life and was written and directed by Victor Heerman.

Why it Pays to Insist Upon Gum-Dipped Cords

Tires look much alike before they go on your car. But tires do not wear alike. It is the things you cannot see—the hidden values—that determine tire life and ultimate cost.

You can make sure of obtaining a tire that wears better and so costs the least in the end by insisting upon Gum-Dipped Cords. Gum-dipping insulates each cord with pure, live rubber—prevents wear by keeping the cords from rubbing against one another.

Firestone Cords are gum-dipped. It is this Firestone process that multiplies mileage and noticeably reduces tire costs in a single season.

Firestone Tubes are steam-welded — therefore leak-proof. This keeps tires properly inflated and better mileage results. Ask your dealer.

WEDDING BELLS

MASSEL—McNAMARA.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at eight o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mary Frances, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs Thomas McNamara, 417 Sheridan Street, became the bride of Alfred Joseph Massel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Massel, of Chepstow, Ontario. The Nuptial Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Costello. The wedding march was played by Miss L. Hurley, and Mrs. J. Dwyer sang very sweetly an "Ave Maria."

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked charming in a travelling suit of grey tweed, with small grey hat, grey shoes and stockings, and corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Mrs. John Burns, of Toronto, a sister of the bridegroom, wore brown silk velvet, with hat to match. The brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Mr. John J. Burns, of Toronto, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Massel leaving later by motor for Port Hope, en route to Buffalo, N.Y., where a brief honeymoon will be spent.

The young people, who will reside later in Chepstow, were the recipients of numerous useful and beautiful gifts The bride is well-known in the city, and has a large circle of friends.

REAL CHRISTIANS VERSUS CHRISTIANS.

The disciples of Jesus were called Christians first at Antioch. King Agrippa acknowledged he was not a Christian. Peter called the followers of Jesus "Christians." A disciple of Jesus is a follower of Jesus, a real Christian. Real Christians now must and do depend upon the Holy Spirit for guidance. They find in Jesus righteousness and liberty. They are free from condemnation. Rom. 8:1. They are the children of God. John 1:13, Rom. 8:14. Real Christians walk by the Spirit, and are not under the law. Gal. 5:18. Sin does not have dominion over them. Rom. 6:14. Jesus said to beware of false prophets; by their fruits ye shall know them. John:15-16. He that doeth the will of God is a real Christian. NOTICE.
To Peterboro Ice Consumers.

The rates at which ice has been sold in Peterboro during the last two years, with the operating expenses as they now exist, have not allowed for a margin of profit, and every right-thinking citizen will readily understand that when the income of a business is not sufficient to meet the expenses, disaster is the result; therefore in order to place our business again on a paying basis, it will be necessary to readjust prices to about where they formerly were, same to take effect May 1st

In this connection, we also wish to inform our customers, and the public in general, that with this readjustment of prices, they will be getting a supply of ice equal to anything in the Province, and at a lower rate than any city from Ottawa to Windsor.

"It's just seven years ago to-day
Since mother passed away,
But love's sweetest memory never dies.
We miss her help, her cheerful ways,
With her we spent many happy days.
Her life was earnest, her actions kind,
A generous hand, an active mind,
Anxious to please, loth to offend,
A loving mother, a faithful friend.

MONTREAL LIBERAL OPPOSING THE BUDGET BECAUSE REDUCED TARIFF CONFLICTS WITH ELECTION PLEDGE

Herbert Marler Tells Government He Made Definite Promises To His Constituents To Support The Laurier-Fielding Tariff Policies.— Regards New Budget As Step Toward Free Trade, And Announces Intention To Vote Against It.

A. R. McMASTER FAVORS BUDGET.

OTTAWA, April 30.—(Canadian Press)—Herbert Marler, Liberal, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal, informed the house Tuesday that he intended to vote against the budget.

He intended to vote against the budget because its proposals were different from those on which he had been elected. He added that owing to representations he had received from recognized leaders of the Liberal party previous to and during the election of 1921 he had felt himself justified in adopting the tariff proposals on which he was elected.

Accepts Consequences

Mr. Marler stated that when he became a candidate in 1921, he discussed with those he considered first leaders of the Liberal party and placed before them the conditions under which his campaign should be conducted and the policies which he would support if elected to the House. These policies he had read during his campaign, a campaign which resulted in his election. These policies he had advocated consistently in the House. He beleived they were still the policies of those who had elected him. Therefore, he proposed to stand by them accepting the consequences, whatever they might be.

Definite Promises

He had always felt, said Mr. Marler, that where definite promises had been made by a member to his electors prior to an election, he had no right to go back on his word and deceive the people.

"Such deception I will not be a party to," said Mr. Marler. He had always felt that members of the Liberal party were not bound by hard and fast rules, and he thought that he should not be denied the right of freedom because his policy differed with the proposals of the Government.

It might be asked why he had not run on the 1919 platform, said Mr. Marler. The answer was because he had never accepted the tariff planks in the 1919 platform. "I do not accept them now," he said. He thought that the Government should state definitely whether or not it proposed to implement that portion of the platform which placed a large number of articles on the free list. "If that is to be done I believe that it will be extremely difficult for certain industries in the East to get along," he said.

Take Stand Now

The action which he had taken in 1921 was based on his conception of the Laurier-Fielding tariff and also on statements of leaders of the Liberal party during the campaign in the province of Quebec, declared Mr. Marler. If it was the intention of the Government to implement the free trade planks in the 1919 platform, the reductions in the Budget before the House could only be regarded as a step in the direction of carrying out this intention. Future Budgets would inevitably contain further reductions and other members in the Liberal party would find it necessary to make a stand against them. He proposed to make his stand now. Therefore, he would vote against the Budget.

Tariff Gain Offset

If the present tariff was a cure it was one that would mean a lingering illness and cause much suffering. It was doubtful if the tariff would save the farmers in the west more than $3 a year each. Any such gain would be offset by the injury caused to the urban markets. Every gain of that nature means loss to the agricultural implement industry which was already not in good shape. The tariff on farm implements would no doubt be reduced again until our markets stood wide open. By accepting that small saving on implements, some people of Quebec would be throwing over their brothers to the Americans.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, (Progressive, Marquette) asked how the cream separator industry had been built up successfully in this country without protective tariff.

Mr. Marler said he was not confining his arguments to agricultural implements. He merely used that industry as an example. Protection would mean self-contained Canadian Nation.

Output Diminished

Mr. Marler could not see that the reductions made in the present budget would reduce the cost of production in Canada. The encouragement of imports would diminish output, and therefore the smaller output would have to carry proportionately heavier overhead. He passed on to the discussion of the attitude of Liberal politicians towards the tariff in opposition and in office. He was not much concerned at the attitude of Liberal politicians out of office. For instance out of office the Liberals had favored the McMaster resolution against the holding of directorships by ministers of the crown.

"Recent developments," interposed Mr. McMaster," have shown the wisdom of that resolution."

"Because members of parliament are connected with banks" put in S. W. Jacobs, (Liberal, Montreal), "is that why they fail?" (Laughter).

Mr. Marler did not participate in this exchange, but went on to say that the guiding principle of Mr. Fielding's seventeen budgets had been "stability of tariff with a measure of incidental protection.

This policy too had had the approval of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Fielding in Sympathy

Premier King asked if Mr. Marler wished to imply that Mr. Fielding did not support the acting minister of finance in his budget. The Premier said that they had Mr. Fielding's assurance that he was wholeheartedly in sympathy with every provision in the budget. Mr. Marler said he had implied nothing of the sort. He wished to draw a comparison between the present fiscal policy and that of the Laurier-Fielding budgets in the past.

Mr. Marler said he was not the sort of Protectionist who wanted to protect inefficiency or provide manufacturers with surplus profits. He believed in protection to provide prosperous industry and wages for everybody. The east could best help the west under a system of protection. While the west enjoyed prosperity there had been little talk of free trade. Now that the government had succeeded the farmers had put free trade up as a god.

Andrew McMaster advocated a new system of book-keeping for the Dominion. The present system did not set forward accurately the real situation. The obligation to the Canadian National should be treated as obligation to the country. If this were done it could not be said that there had been a reduction in debt of $30,000,000 during the past year, although that was quite legitimate statement, according to the way books had been kept in the past.

The present confusion as to the national accounts had arisen because the late Government had failed to take advice given by Mr. Fielding and by Mr. McMaster himself in 1919. Mr. Fielding had then advocated the placing of the expenditure for the Canadian Railways in consolidated account. If that had been followed there would have been no such unfortunate venture as had occurred in the purchase of hotel Scribe, which he understood had been secured without consultation with the Government.

Would Change Now

Mr. Crerar asked if Mr. McMaster would advocate that change at the present time.

Mr. McMaster replied in the affirmative. It was preposterous to think

Progressives to Support Budget

OTTAWA, April 30.—(Canadian Press.)—It is expected here that the great majority of the members of the Progressive party will support the budget rather than the Woodsworth amendment, when the vote comes at the conclusion of the budget debate.

The executive committee of the Progressive party, which met Tuesday, considered the attitude which should be taken bp the party on the Woodsworth amendment. The view of the committee was that the Progressive party should not support the amendment.

The Woodsworth amendment, while it embodies certain principles of the Progressive party, suggests methods for raising revenue to which, it embodies certain principles of the Progresive party, suggests methods for raising revenue to which, it is understood, members of the party dissent. On the other hand the budget proposals meet with the favor of members of the Progressive party.

NEW FINANCING OF L.R. STEEL CO.

The Recently Organized Steel's Consolidated Expected To Bid Today For Live Assets Of Various L. R. Steel Companies.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 30.—Settlement of the financial affairs of the bankrupt L. R. Steel enterprises, involving widley scattered interests in the United States and Canada, was expected before Referee in Bankruptcy James Persons, to-day. Steel's Consolidated, a company recently organized, is expected to bid for all remaining live assets of the various L. R. Steel companies.

Collections of the stockholders' protective trust committee from 20,000 holders of L. R. Steel paper have totalled $1,500,000, the committee, of which Walter M. Wilkins, former General Manager of L. R. Steel, Inc., is chairman, has announced. In the event of the purchase, the protective trust would pay more than $300,000 in addition to $1,000,000 worth of claims purchased from creditors, it was indicated. The old corporations would then be passed along to Steel's Consolidated, the new organization beginning its career with no creditors except the protective trust, through which it would be financed.

SNOWDEN BUDGET MEETS APPROVAL

The Liberal and Labor Unit Will Be Able to Withstand the Conservative Attack on the Budget.

LONDON, April 30. — (United Press.)— Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden's first budget is meeting with the general approval here to-day. It is forecast that the Liberal and Labor unity regarding the abolition of the McKenna duties will be easily able to withstand the Conservative attack on it.

"The budget includes all proposals for which the Liberals have fought for generations."

The Westminster Gazette characterizes it as "the best budget in half a century. The Conservative Times sees in it the end of the Liberal-Labor quarrel.

Liberal members of Parliament meet to-day to decide formally what policy the party shall adopt toward the Labor government.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

U. S. NAVY BILL.

WASHINTON, April 30.—The annual naval supply bill carrying $275 000,000 was passed yesterday by the senate without a record vote. The senate added about $700,000 to the bill as it came from the House.

DISEASE GERMS AND POISON IN HIS WIFE'S FOOD

Clarence Baring Indicted For Attempted Murder Asserts He Did Not Try To Kill His Wife But Wished Her To Go To California In Order That He Could Get Another Woman.

WIFE PROSECUTES

NEW YORK, April 30.— Clarence O. Baring, who hovered over test tubes filled with deadly germs to feed his wife; who carried arsenic in his pockets and kept cyanide of potassium in his garage, entered a plea of not guilty before Judge William F. Bleakley in White Plains after the Grand Jury handed up three indictments. They accuse him of:

Attempted murder.
Feloniously poisoning food.
Attempted assault in the first degree.

The combined penalty for the charges may mean forty years' imprisonment.

Makes "Confession."

After his arraignment it was disclosed that he had made a "confession."

"I didn't mean to do that to her—to kill or hurt her. I didn't give her anything I wouldn't have taken myself."

Drooping his head, cracking his knuckles, fidgeting and voluble, Baring broke into a torrent of statements following his arrest Friday night and told a weird, disordered story of why he fed deadly germs and arsenic to his middle-aged, thrice-married wife.

Much that burst from his lips at 2 o'clock that morning was made public yesterday after his indictment.

Baring, it has been disclosed, accompanied his wife on a trip to Atlantic City about a month ago. She had been in poor health.

On their return, after three days spent in misery on Mrs. Baring's part, the couple went to the Biltmore Hotel, where she became violently ill. This was on March 28. The following day she was taken to White Plain in an ambulance.

Put Germs in Milk.

Baring's examination by the District Attorney on this point and his goulish explanation of his conduct, according to the authorities, ran as follows:

"Why did she go to Atlantic City? Dr. Vier (Dr. Henry, Mrs. Baring's White Plains physician) wanted her to go. I didn't think she had strength enough.

Q. Had you given her some arsenic before that? A. I think I did. Q. Was she ill at the Biltmore? A. Violently ill. I was worried to death. I tried for three hours to get a doctor—Dr. Vier, and also the house doctor. Q. Did you give her a glass of malted milk? A. Yes, sir, I don't know why. Q. Did you put arsenic in the malted milk? A. That was the first time.

Q. Did you give her bicarbonate of soda? A. When I could not get the doctor I thought that was the best thing to do.

Q. Did you put arsenic in the bicarbonate of soda? A. It was there, I guess. I didn't put it there.

Q. When did you put arsenic in the sugar and the dates? A. I guess it was about the same time.

Q. Did you put germs in the milk also? A. I guess it was the same night.

Q. Did you give her the bicarbonate? A. I never gave her that.

And then came this fantastic, weird explanation—all growing out of the presence of another woman, a woman that Baring readily acknowledged was a definite influence in his life.

"Did you mean to kill your wife?"

"I didn't give it to her for that. I didn't mean to hurt her. I didn't give her anything I wouldn't have taken myself. I don't know why I did it, except to help her out of her pain. She wouldn't take anything the doctors gave her. She was ranting at me all the time and wouldn't let me come near her."

"What did you mean to do then?"

"I wanted to make her sick, so

Accident Delays British Airman

ALLAHABAD, British India, April 30 (Canadian Press). — The Pioneer says it learns that the damage done to the machine of Stuart MacLaren, the British airman, who is attempting a world flight, when he was forced to land at Parlu, India, last week is more serious than was at first reported.

According to the information received by The Pioneer, MacLaren will be delayed at least a fortnight.

CHURCH UNION DEBATE TODAY

Bill Came Before the Private Bills Committee in Ottawa House.

OTTAWA, April 30. — The church union issue brought to the Parliament Buildings to-day one of the biggest crowds that has been seen here in a long time. The bill to create the United Church of Canada came before the Private Bills committee of the House at eleven o'clock, but long before that time arrived the corridor of the building outside the committee room was crowded. The sittings of the Private Bills committee were moved for this purpose from the small room usually occupied down to the Railway Committee room, the biggest committee room in Parliament House, but the crowd of visitors was so large that even this accommodation was overwhelmed and a large number were unable to gain admittance.

So great was the crowd excluded from the committee room that the opening proceedings were conducted amid interruptions by pounding on the outside of the closed door by those seeking admittance.

Chairman H. B. McGiverin of Ottawa, began with a warning that the committee wanted no expression of opinion from the audince.

So great was the crowd in the corridors that when the committee room had been filled to the point of exhaustion, an overflow meeting was held in the House of Commons. This meeting was given an explanation of the efforts being made to get accommodation, from George Black, Conservative member for the Yukon and then went on to discuss the union question, the gathering, though not entirely confined to one side, passing a resolution calling for the passing of a bill by the Private Bills committee.

Sir Robert Falconer, President of Toronto University, spoke in favor of church union, Sir Robert argued that the question for the committee to decide was whether the churches had acted according to their constitutions in entering upon the agreement to unite. He admitted that a Presbyterian minority would stay out of the united church and expressed the view that the minority might organize a Presbyterian church. Upon the conclusion of his statement, Dr. Falconer was subjected to a gruelling examination by members of the committee. The committee sat till half past one and then adjourned to meet at half past three this afternoon.

TARIFF SYSTEM NOT BEST BASIS OF THE EMPIRE

Philip Snowden Indicates British Policy In Budget Speech —Proposals Of Imperial Economic Conference Last Year Will Be Referred To Commons.

BLAMES BALDWIN.

LONDON, April 30. Canadian Press Cable. — While announcing in the course of his budget speech Tuesday, that the government was unable to endorse former Premier Baldwin's imperial preference proposals, Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, delivered several passages which shed much light on the government's imperial policy.

Though not for a single moment admitting that the ministerialists were one whit behind the opposition members in their desire to promote the best interests of the Empire, the Chancellor said it was never the belief of the government that the interests of the Empire could best be served by a system of tariffs. In these circumstances the government was unable to endorse the proposals of their predecessors, and while he greatly regretted any disappointment which might be felt by the dominions, that disappointment was not due to the acts of the present government. The late government, he said, must bear the responsibility. Loud opposition protests and cries of "shame" greeted the Chancellor's words.

Binding for Years.

"No government in the opinion of the Labor government, should attempt to bind parliament over a period of years upon such a controversial issue as tariffs, as the only result would be to raise hopes which would sooner or later be frustrated," declared the Chancellor. "The government does not propose to endorse or offer any kind of guarantee in this connection over a period of years, and all we can say is that as long as we remain in office we do not propose in all circumstances to ask parliament to abolish preferences now in force which should remain on the existing statutory basis. We wish it clearly understood, however, that we reserve full liberty to propose to parliament, whenever it is deemed expedient in the general or financial interests, the reduction or abolition on all commodities to which preference now applies."

Submit to House.

The Chancellor was proceeding to state that the government would submit the conference proposals to the free vote of parliament, and would make provision in the budget for any that might be adopted, when Austen Chamberlain interrupted to say that he did not understand whether the Chancellor's remarks referred also to those proposals for increased preferences which could be given by reduction of the duties. Mr. Snowden replied that it was the intention of the government that the whole proposals of the economic conference dealing with preference should be submitted to the House.

Financial Resolutions.

There were two matters, continued Snowden, arising from Imperial conference, requiring financial resolutions. The first related to immunity from taxation of state enterprises.

Though he saw no reason to dissent, he would like a little more time to consider it. Therefore he proposed to postpone that question till next year which would afford an opportunity for further consultation. The second matter dealt with the reciprocal arrangements made last year in regard to double taxation on shipping. He hoped to include in the finance bill a clause giving effect to that.

Recall of Jamaica Governor Demanded

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 30.—Political crisis developed Tuesday afternoon when a majority of the members of the Legislative Council voted to strike out from the budget the salary of the Director of Rilways in protest against alleged unpopular management and favoritism toward a Canadian construction company in connection with railway extensions.

Sir Leslie Probyn, Governor of the colony, declared the matter was of paramount importance and votes of nine of the Councilmen, elected under the constitution were over-ridden. These elected members, then retired from the Council Chamber and sent a request to the Secretary of State for the Colonies in London that Governor Probyn be recalled.

CROP OUTLOOK GOOD IN WEST

Seeding Will Be General Everywhere In a Week If Weather Conditions Are Favorable — Planting On Average Fine.

WINNIPEG, April 30 (Canadian Press). — Fine weather was general on Tuesday through Western Canada, and with ample moisture from recent rains and snowfalls there are indications that the 1924 crop will get away to an excellent start. Not a great deal of seeding has been done except in Southern Alberta, where between 20 and 25 per cent. of the acreage has been planted, but if the weather continues favourable within a week seeding will be general everywhere under very favourabl conditions.

A dry winter in Manitoba has been followed by a wet spring, and the soil is in excellent condition now for seeding, while pasturage promises to be abundant. Seeding will be general early next week if the weather continues favourable.

Conditions in Saskatchewan are somewhat similar. Not a great deal of seeding has been done, but the soil is in good shape, with sufficient moisture, and work will begin within a few days.

Southern Alberta reports considerable progress, and in the central and northern parts of the province, the farmers are at work on the land and conditions are said to be particularly promising.

The planting season is a little late throughout the West, but unless the weather administers a severe setback the crop will be planted in most districts at an average time and under conditions which at least are up to the average.

COUNTY POLICE FIND FORTY GALLON STILL

LINDSAY, April 30.—One of the largest illicit whiskey manufacturing outfits yet discovered by the local authorities was seized on Monday when Provincial Officer Storey and License Inspector Thornbury paid a visit to a lonely spot seven miles north of Bobcaygeon. Besides the plant and a goodly supply of liquor, the officers also gathered in one of the operators. The forty gallon plant was in full operation when the officers arrived. Grant Kellett, the man arrested, and who was in charge at the time of the seizure, made a dash for liberty by jumping through a window and sprinting across a ploughed field. He was finally run down by the officers and brought to Lindsay. The accused is remanded for eight days. A warrant has been issued for his partner.

$86,000 OF BANK LOOT FOUND IN ROBBERS' CACHE

Ex - Bandit Released At Lethbridge Aids Police In Recovering Money Stolen From Two Banks In Saskatchewan And Manitoba.

Hidden In Montana.

EDMONTON, April 30 (Canadian Press). — Disclosure was made by Commissioner Bryan of the Provincial Police yesterday of the further recovery last week in Montana of the entire loot taken in two bank robberies, one in Manitoba and the other in Saskatchewan, in May of last year.

The bonds and securities were found in hiding-places of the bandits and the recovery was made with the aid of the ex-bandit, Johnny Reid, who was released on suspended sentence at Lethbridge last Saturday.

The banks involved were the branch of the Hochelaga Bank at Dollard, Sask., where the itemised list shows that $58,000 in bonds and securities were taken, and the Mathers, Man., branch of the Bank of Toronto, where the haul consisted of $25,000 in bonds, cash coupons, and other securities.

All these have been recovered, and with that previously recovered from the Foremost, Alta., and the Ladner, B.C., banks, are now in the possession of the Provincial Police, and will be returned to the different financial institutions from which they were taken.

Piuiry in Robbery.

The information in the possession of the police shows that these four robberies that stirred Western Canada at the time were all the work of one gang, working in two sections. In one of the cases the job was set down for a certain night, but the other section having become aware of the plans jumped in ahead and pulled off the night before.

The total amount that has now been recovered reaches to $86,000, and there are still some small amounts that may be regained, but this sum represents the bulk of the four big hauls of the bandits in the years 1922 and 1923.

Loot Was Hidden.

The finding of the Mathers and Hochelaga Banks' securities was the result of the visit of Assistant Superintendent Nicholson and Reid to Minneapolis two weeks ago where they obtained information of the definite location of the loot which was cached in the vicinity of Havre, Montana.

Canadian National Orders Locomotives.

KINGSTON, April 30.—The announcement was made on Tuesday by officials of the Canadian Locomotive Co., Ltd., that still further large orders have recently been placed with them by the Canadian National Railways. The new orders received are for six locomotives of the mountain type, the "6000' series, and for two large Vanderbilt tenders.

The local amount of the orders received and still to be filled, including those announced yesterday, now amounts to twenty-one locomotives of the mountain type, and five of the Santa Fe type, and twelve tenders, ten of which were ordered some time ago by the Canadian Pacific Railway. With the exception of these ten tenders for the C.P.R., all the rest of the engines and tenders are for the Canadian National Railways.

HOW TO CARE FOR FLOWERS

The Monkshood is one of the most picturesque perennials, rivalling in habit and effect the Hardy Larkspur (Delphinium). Some varieties grow dwarf two feet high, while others grow fully five to six feet tall. Some bloom as early as July, others as late as October. Monkshood does better in cool locations and near the water and thrives in partial shade.

The quaint helmet-shaped blossom, the rich colours, the glossy leaves and the handsome robust growth, always appeal to me and yet the Aconitum is one of the oldest garden plants, famed for the beauty of its blossoms. The roots are poisonous. Monkshood does best in soil that does not bake.

The plant has just above the root a swollen base, like a bulb, and although when planted these increase, when we lift them we find each bulb has a separate set of roots. A single plant by itself, unless increased to a clump, is of no effect. Six bulbs six inches apart in a cluster is quite effective. In three years they will increase sufficiently to make a solid clump. Every fourth year in the spring they should be lifted and separated to single bulbs and replanted as at first.

The list of varieties which follows is a complete one one but seldom can we purchase all of one source:

Autumnale, 4 feet, dark blue flowers, August and September. Autumnale, bicolor, 2 to 3 feet, pale blue and white, August and September. Fischeri, 2 feet, large pale blue, September and October. Lycoctonum, 3 to 4 feet, small pale yellow, June and July. Napellus, 3 feet, dark blue, August and September. Napellus, bicolour, 3 tember. Napellus, Album, 3 feet, bluish white, August and September. Rostratum, 4 to 5 feet, light blue, September. Spark's Variety, 5 feet, deep blue, branching habit, September. Storkianum, 5 feet, deep navy blue, August and September. Wilsoni, 5 to feet, light violet blue.

This last sort is really the best and produces enormous trusses of flowers. Plant behind a large clump of Lilium Speciosum.

ROYAL MOUNTED POLICE CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

EDMONTON, April 30.—(Canadian Press)—Fiftieth anniversary of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be celebrated at MacLeod, July 1, 2,and 3, according to plans which are practically completed. Event will be one of the biggest of its kind ever held in the West and the last, according to those who are backing the movement.

WOMAN LOSES JEWELS WORTH MANY THOUSAND

RICHMOND, Va., April 30.—(Canadian Press.)— Jewels, furs and lingerie valued at upwards of $50,000 were stolen last Saturday from Castalia, the home of Murray Boocock, near Charlottesville, Va., it was learned yesterday. They were the property of Lady Williams Taylar, wife of Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, Montreal, who came down Friday to spend the week end with the Boococks.

Next morning all the house guests and their hosts left on a motor trip to Newmarket. Lady Williams Taylor left her jewels in a bag in her room with the exception of a ring with cluster of diamonds, estimated to be worth alone $60,000, which she took with her. When she returned in the evening she discovered that the remainder of her jewelry was missing.

REPARATIONS APPOINT AN EXPERTS COMMITTEE

PARIS, April 30 (Canadian Press) —Sir Robert Kindersley, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, and a noted British banker, and British member of the Experts Committee, was appointed to-day by the Reparation Commission as an expert to take part in the organisation of the new German bank of issue to be set up under the Dawes plan.

Sir Robert's nomination is considered likely to prove quite acceptable to France as well as to the other Allies.

WELL KNOWN TORONTO DOCTOR DIED TO-DAY

TORONTO, Ont., April 30.—(Canadian Press.)— Death came suddenly this morning to Dr. W. H. Peplar as he was about to start his day's practice in his office on Spadina avenue to-day.

Dr. Peplar was sixty-one years of age and had been suffering from heart trouble for some time and it was this complaint that caused his death. He was born in Bristol, England, and came to Canada as a very young man.

JAPANESE MEN FLOCK TOWARDS THE ORIENT

SAN FRANSISCO, April 30. — (Canadian Press).—Hundreds of unmarried Japanese men, anxious to marry Japanese women and return to United States before the proposed immigration law becomes effective, July 1, are crowding all steamers sailing from here for the Orient, according to San Fransisco Examiner. The Examiner, says Pacific Mail steamer, President Wilson which sailed yesterday for Japan, carried 400 Japanese and did not have accommodations for many other applicants.

WARREN McCRAY GETS TEN YEAR SIN PRISON

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 30. (Canadian Press). — Warren T. McCray, who retired to-day as governor of Indiania was sentenced in the Federal court to serve ten years in the Atlanta Federal Prison upon a charge of using mails in furtherance of scheme to defraud.

In addition he was fined $10,000, he was found guilty Monday and presented his resignation as governor yesterday, effective at 10 a.m. to-day.

ARCHDEANERY NOW IN SESSION AT MILLBROOK

Instructive Addresses With Over Twenty Clergymen in Attendance -- The Opening Session.

MILLBROOK, April 30. — The conference of Clery of the Archdeanery of Peterborough, which is meeting in Millbrook on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, held its opening session in the school house of St. Thomas Church at 9 a.m. on Tuesday with over twenty clergymen in attendance, Archdeacon J. C. Davidson presiding.

Some interesting reports from the mission clergy of the Home Field were received, and after morning prayer, Canon Allen, rector of the parish, delivered the formal address of welcome. In a few well-chosen words Canon Allen expressed his personal pleasure in welcoming his brother clergy to his home church, and also spoke of the cordial manner in which his people had united for their entertainment. The importance and significance of the gathering was stressed, and the certainty maintained that good results must inevitable follow, not only in the local church, but throughout the Archdeanery.

Rev. Rural Dean Fenton, of Norwood, took charge of a most inspiring devotional study based upon John 10, 11-17, for which the visiting ministers had been asked to bring their Greek testaments that the original text might be consulted.

The minutes were read by the secretary Rev. E. R. James, Newcastle, and Archdeacon Davidson delivered his charge which was followed by discussion. Admonitions from a superior officer, whether of church or state, not to be lightly esteemed, nor studiously disregarded. They are prompted by the responsibilities of the office, and bear a message of deep and solemn import.

The afternoon session convened at 2.30, the first speaker being Rev. T. G. A. Wright, of Whitby, who gave a paper on "Prayer-Book Study," and by the special request of the meeting his remarks had particular reference to the teachings of the Holy Spirit in the Book of Common Prayer. Mr. Wright explained that there had been four stages of about five hundred years each connected with the evolution of the prayer-book, noting them as (1) The Ephesus Liturgy, (2) Mixed Uses down to 1082, (3) Sarum Liturgy until 1549 (4) the first English Liturgy, which was ready in March but was purposely held over until June 9th, 1549, that it might be used for the first time on Whitsunday, showing that the book was definitely dedicated to God, the Holy Ghost.

The prominence given the mission of the Holy Spirit in the Creed, and in the intercessory prayers which follow it in the prayer book, as well as in the services of the church—baptism, confirmation, ordination, the Lord's Supper, all of which represent the Christian life as publicly expressed—showed conclusively that God's Spirit is honoured throughout its pages, and commands supreme attention, affection, admiration, and homage from all His worshippers.

Three distinct lines upon which the Spirit works were pointed out as (a) the Bible, "Holy men of old spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost," hence it is a God-breathed Book; (b) the Church, and just as the Bible is a Holy Ghost Book, so the church is a Holy Ghost body, the proof being found at Pentecost; (c) through our daily lives, as Paul says in 1st Corinthians, 6, 19, "What, know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost?"

Under the influence of the Holy Ghost, and through creation, sonship and adoption, there is a growing Christian life from the cradle to the grave.

Business relating to the diocesan Synod occupied the closing hours of the session, the discussion on such subjects as the superannuation fund, the widows' and orphans' fund, and the policy of episcopal government of the diocese being vigorously entered into by the majority of the delegates.

Rev. Archdeacon Davidson, Rev. Canon Allen, Rev. Canon Sawyers, Rev. Dr. Rigby, Rev. Dr. Blagrave, Rev. E. W. Picktord, Rev. J. A. Elliott, Rev. E. R. James, Rural Dean Fenton, Rev. T. H. Stanley, Rev. G. E. Clarke were among those who spoke on the questions as they were brought up for discussion.

Brief meetings of the Ruri-Decanal Chapters concluded the afternoon gathering, which was dismissed with prayer by Archdeacon Davidson.

Evening Session.

St. Thomas church was well filled for the evening session which opened at 8 o'clock, the two speakers being Rev. T. G. Wallace, of St. Stephens' church, Toronto, and Rev. J. B. Belford, of Warkworth and Wooller, their subject being, "The mission of the church in city and country in the work of the Kingdom."

Speaking from the standpoint of the city church, Rev. Mr. Wallace gave an inspiring address, pointing out that the element of competition is more severe in city than in country parish, and the fact that the "hot air artist," or preacher of the sensational type, is apt to be more popular than the thinker who delivers his message with quietness and dignity, seems to make it harder to maintain spiritual vigor. Being busy about "things" constitutes a danger through the mechanical routine which has to be pursued.

The tremendous temptations and dangers which the lure of the city inevitably brings, weaning away from God, goodness and purity, often means that one who was a dependable worker in the home church in the country, or small town, if changing to city environment, finds that the world captivates their interest and affections and they become lost to God's service.

Loneliness, too, drives many a boy and girl to evil companions and evil habits. Prodigal sons and prodigal daughters, drift to the "far country," refusing to learn its failure, disappointment and disillusion, except by personal experience. The mission of the church is to provide the Bread of Life for such hungry, weary souls. God wants His church to be run for the benefit of the submerged class, and the responsibility rests upon the laity as well as upon the clergy. It is unfortunately true that frequently it is from the loose living people that the stranger in the city finds the greatest kindness and interest shown. The need of fellowship, the expression of the genuine spirit of brotherhood, the breaking away from formality and getting away to reality, are great necessities in the church to-day. The secret of success is found in a natural, spontaneous, vital and constant contact with Jesus Christ.

Rev. Mr. Belford, in presenting the matter from the viewpoint of the country church, referred gravely to the fact that there are many vacant churches in rural sections where no services are held, and sought the reason therefore. The breaking down of the family altar, the laxity regarding church attendance, the omission of "grace before meat, and returning thanks afterwards," the lack of Bible reading and instruction in the home, and the spirit of irreverance which is so prevalent, show that "we have not the grip,' or reality of religion that our forefathers possessed.

The mission of the church was pointed out under various heads as (1) Preach the simple gospel; (2) Show practical brotherhood and sistehood in ministering to isolated, lonely lives; (3) Teach more of the old-fashioned virtues, like reverence, obedience, respect for the aged, (4) Join in the public worship heartily and train the young in this; (5) Recognize the duty of bringing souls into communion with God through Jesus Christ; (6) Show a cordial attitude to the world at large that all may know the Church of England longs to have within her fold those who desire to receive spiritual help and communion.

As the beacon of God the church should labor to have no part of this province unillumined with the beams of gospel light. This is the happiest and best work to which any life can be devoted.

A parochial reception was held in the Sunday school hall at the conclusion of the gathering in the church when an opportunity was given for meeting the visiting clergy. At the request of the rector, A. J. Fallis, M.P.P., Rev. G. S. Gervan, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. J. Wilks, who has been 50 years in the ministry of the Methodist church, spoke briefly. The A.Y.P.A. served refreshments and an enjoyable social hour was closed with the National Anthem.

It is over twenty years since an Archdeanery meeting has been held in Millbrook, the last gathering of the kind being in the time of the late Venerable Archdeacon Allen to whose long and faithful ministry Rev Archdeacon Davidson referred most feelingly at the opening of the evening session.

Those in attendance are: Ven. Veneralble Archdeacon J. C. Davidson, Toronto; Rev. Canon W. C. Allen, Millbrook; Rev. T. H. Stanley, Havelock; Rev. Can. F. C. Sawers, Cobourg; Rev. W. A. Pepper, Hastings; Rev. J. L. Hughes, Young's Point; Rev. F. O. Fenton, Norwood; Rev. J. O. Paterson, All Saints, Peterboro; Rev. Dr. Oswald Rigby, Port Hope; Rev. T. G. Wright, Whitby; Rev. T. H. Stringer, Haliburton; Rev W. Pickford, Brighton, Rev. G. G. Postlethwaite, Bowmanville; Rev. T. Wallace, Toronto; Rev. W. B. Belford, Warkworth; Rev. S. Heath, Wilberforce; Rev. Dr. Blagrave, St. John's, Peterborough; Rev. M. Kingsford, Peterborough; Rev. I. Weir, Omemee; Rev. James Elliott, Port Hope; Rev. J. G. Madeley, Perrytown; Rev. G. E. Fierheller, Bethany, Rev. G. E. Clarke, Campbellford; Rev. E. R. James, Newcastle; Rev. M. G. B. Williams, Millbrook.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Weekly Half Holiday is the Latest Issue in Town-Another Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, April 30. — The weekly half holiday question has again become a live issue in Campbellford. About two weeks ago three petitions were circulated, one favoring Wednesday, another Thursday and the third Friday afternoon but two of these were eventually dropped and 57 of the retailers of the town declared in favor of Thursday afternoon and cards advertising that fact were placed in the windows of the business places.

The matter was revived when James A. Kerr, proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hotel wrote a letter to The Examiner protesting against the proposed change from Friday, the afternoon which had been observed for years. Mr. Kerr followed up this letter by the circulation of a petition asking that the old date be retained and to this he obtained the names of 47 of the business men. A number of whom had signed the Thursday petition but who afterwards changed their minds.

Public Meeting Called

A public meeting was held in the Public Library last night at which the leading business men were represented either in person or by an employee and the different aspects of the question were gone into fully J. A. Irwin was elected chairman and W. J. Armstrong said that L. B. Glover was really responsible for the gathering which had been called at his request to agree if possible upon a day that would be suitable to all parties. Mr. Armstrong made a motion seconded by D. E. Tait that the meeting pledge itself to abide by the decision of the majority

George O'Sullivan, who declared that prsonally he would close his store on any day agreed upon, took the stand that as all the merchants were not at the meeting it would be only fair to give the absentees an opportunity to express their opinions and moved in amendment that a poll of every retailer in town be taken.

John Jeffs, manager of the Dominion store, thought that as the public had been taught to believe through the press that Thursday afternoon was to be a half holiday it was too late to make a change.

Harry Anderson, of John A. Anderson and son, who had taken a leading part in the move for Thursday afternoon, said he was under the impression that a petition signed by 57 merchants was a complete list.

D. E. Tait, who had signed the petition for Thursday afternoon, had also affixed his signature to the one circulated by Mr. Kerr after thinking it over. He was, however, willing to close his store on any afternoon agreed upon by the majority. His experience had been that Friday was the dullest business day of the week and for that reason he was inclined to favour the latter date.

Some Objections.

On Mr. Kerr's petition appeared the names of Mayor Meyers and of Postmaster Owen. Some of those at the meeting objected to these citizens as not being bona-fide merchants, but Mr. Kerr retorted that Mayor Meyers represented large business interests and was a heavy taxpayer, while some of those who objected to his signature did not pay a cent into the public treasury. The Mayor, by reason of his position, was certainly entitled to have his opinion treated with consideration. As for Mr. Owen, he was interested in the welfare of the town, and had for that reason a perfect right to be heard on an important public question.

There were on his list , Mr. Kerr Claimed, the names of 44 genuine merchants, many of whom had changed their minds since signing the Thursday petition when the matter had been presented to them in a new light.

"I don't see why one man should be permitted to run this town," remarked W. J. Stillman.

We have a majority in favour of Thursday afternoon," interpolated Sam Clegg and that is the majority to which we should stick.

"For years," put in chairman Irwin, "the merchants, long established in business have followed a certain policy and now some of those who have been here only a short time are trying to upset these conditions."

When some one asked Mr. Kerr, if he would be willing to close his hotel Friday afternoon, he replied, that that was out of the question as the law required him to keep it open. He was interested in the question before the meeting because the proposed change was a detriment to his business. Mr. Kerr, however, was willing to try out the Thursday half-holiday for a month.

Counseled Harmony.

John A. Anderson, poured out on the troubled water. The merchants, he said, should be willing to abide by the decision of the majority. He believed, however, that the conditions which Mr. Kerr phophesied would find this out after giving the change a month trial.

The change from Friday to Thursafter was not a new move as it had been discussed all winter. Mr. Anderson favored taking another poll of all the merchants in town but insisted that retailers only be allowed to express their opinion.

Final Action

The motion and the amendment were finally merged into one, this calling for another expression of opinion from the merchants, this to be secured by some disinterested party. All but three of the audience voted in the affirmative when the vote was put by Chairman Irwin.

On motion of James A. Kerr and J. M. Ferris, Alex. McGregor was appointed to make a canvass of the business men on Wednesday to ascertain their preference as between Thursday and Friday afternoon, the opinion of each to be secured without his knowledge of how others are voting. Professional men and barbers are excluded, the latter sending word last night that they intended to close on Thursday afternoon regardless of any action taken by the rest of the business men.

From May to October

A majority of those who signed the Thursday petition favored a half holiday for 11 months of the year. This time was reduced to six months May to October inclusive, at last night's meeting. Whether the day finally agreed upon is Thursday or Friday the first half holiday of the season will be observed this week.

As the bankers are understood to be governed in the matter by the will of the majority they will be given a vote on the question.

After the meeting adjourned W. J. Armstrong suggested the organization of a retail merchants' association

The motion anod the amendment

COMMITTEE SEEKS TO HELP FARMERS

Hearings to Be Held in Provincial Centres—Education, Social and Economic Conditions to Be Investigated.

TORONTO, April 30.— (Canadian Press.)—Through representative practical farmers, transportation and trade experts, county officials and generally any body who has any knowledge or experience that will assist the committee, the appointed to investigate Ontario agricultural conditions, hopes to get at the root of rural depopulation and agriculture's economic ills.

Appointed on motion of Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, the committee held its first meeting yesterday at the Parliament Building for organization purposes only, and discussed the general itinerary, which it is proposed to follow during the Legislature recess. Many of its sittings will be held at central points outside Toronto, handy to the spokesmen of surrounding agricultural districts.

The scope of the committee's investigations is very wide, taking in all matters concerning social, educational and economic conditions surrounding the agricultural, live stock and dairying interests of the province.

LAKEFIELD RINK ANNUAL MEETING

E W Bailey and Assistant Officers Re-elected — Treasury Shows Credit Balance.

LAKEFIELD, Apr. 29. — The annual meeting of the Lakefield Rink Co. was held in the council chamber on Friday evening last, with the president, E. W. Bailey, in the chair. The secretary-treasurer reported a good year, with a balance on the right side of the books. The season had not been as long as last year by three weeks, but the receipts were better. There had never been as much skating as this season. The directors and shareholders were delighted at the encouraging report which was a convincing proof that the people of Lakefield and the vicinity value the rink as one of the greatest assets of the village.

The officers of last year were re-elected: President—E. W. Bailey; vice-president—W. J. Charlton; secretary-treasurer—W. G. Morrison. Directors—W. H. Casement, Dr. M. P. Kennedy, J. F. Lillicrap, Theodore Cranford, Robert Jory, G. J. Elmsley, Rev. A. W. Mackenzie.

PROVINCIAL POLICE LOOK FOR EVIDENCE

TORONTO, April 30 (Canadian Press). — A search warrant was executed yesterday at the office of Aemilius Jarvis & Co., stock and bond dealers, by Chief Inspector Greer and Inspector Boyd of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Ontario Provincial Police.

With the officers were experts from the firm of Clarkson, Gordon & Dilworth, accountants.

The experts examined the books and papers of the company, and picked out papers and documents which in their opinion will be needed by the Crown in the prosecution of the Hon. Peter Smith, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Province of Ontario of certain moneys in connection with the purchases of succession duty free bonds.

Both experts and officers were at the Jarvis building until quite late last evening. They will return today.

THE COACH'S JOB

Something of the taskmaster, the general and the diplomat, and a lot of the doctor must be hidden away in the man who would be the coach of a successful football or track team.

Emergencies of all kinds are his daily routine. A thorough knowledge of first aid is as essential as a knowledge of the game played by his men.

Bumps, bruises, strained ligaments and muscles are every day happenings, but the coach never becomes contemptuous of them. He knows that if neglected, they may result in anything.

Trainers everywhere keep Absorbine Jr. in their lockers. They use it not only for sprains, cuts and bruises, but for the skin and blood protection of its disinfecting properties. In one convenient container it combines the functions of a number of preparations.

It is the first of all the First Aid requisites in use in all of the leading athletic clubs.

And there are just as many everyday uses for Absorbine Jr. in the homes of Canada as there are in the training camps. Always "jump to it" in case of emergency. $1.25 at your druggist.

THE PRICES OF CHEESE

Owing to the importance in this district of th dairy industry great interest is being taken in the opening price of cheese. Last week cheese boards held their first sales of the season. At Napanee on Friday cheese sold for 14c. On Saturday at Cornwall cheese sold for 14c, and at Belleville for 14¼c. On Monday this week, United Dairymen Cooperative, Limited, sold some Belleville district cheese in Montreal for 14¾c which was equal to 14¾c at Belleville. Hardly any factories in Peterborough County have started to make cheese yet although some are now ready to do so.

GOVERNMENT RETURNED.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, April 30. — Canadian Press Cable. —Early returns last night indicate that the government of Sir Charles Coghlan was returned at the polls in the general election throughout Southern Rhodesia yesterday. The second election since Southern Rhodesia was granted responsible government awakened great interest and enthusiastic crowds turned out tonight to learn the result.

MONTREAL LIBERAL

that the members of Parliament could get away from their responsibility for any of the property of the Canadian people. It was idle to talk of taking the railways out of politics in that sense. What was needed was the development of a public opinion that the railways of the country might be managed in the same business-like fashion as the C.P.R.

W. F. MacLean (Conservative, South York) asked if Mr. McMaster would provide for the payment of interest on the railway investment.

Mr. McMaster replied that he though it was improbable that the railways would be able to pay interest on the full investment. He thought it better finance that their value should be written down to somewhat nearer actuality.

Infant Industry Cry

Mr. McMaster said that the "infant industry cry" was the one which Sir John A. MacDonald and his supporters had raised fifty years ago in asking the people of Canada to adopt the protectionist principle. If the electors could have seen that fifty years later Sir John's successors were still asking "temporary high protection' 'to permit Canadian industry to get on its feet, they would never have given protection serious consideration.

Conservatives had no argument for protection. Their utterances were extravagant in assertion and parsimonious in argument. They said protection and prosperity went hand in hand. "Why, sir," Mr. McMaster added, "in the hungry forties the British wage earner was crying for bread because of the taxes placed upon foodstuffs." The corn laws were an example of high protection, imposed by a Parliament of landlords and bitterly resented by the common people as long as they were on the statute books.

Should Concede a Little

Mr. McMaster did not believe that Mr. Marler's speech represented the attitude of the average Canadian manufacturer. But if it did ,then the manufacturers "are not willing to give up one jot or tittle of the special privileges they now enjoy." It was a good idea to give in a little when the temper of public opinion had induced the richer classes to surrender some of their privileges. "I would recommend an attitude of conciliation," he added, "and recognition of the other fellow's interests to the privileged classes in this country."

Quoting from Mr. Marler's speech last year, in which the Montreal member commentel on Mr. McMasters' defection from the Liberal party, Mr. McMaster brought laughter from all parts of the House. Mr. Marler regretted that Mr. McMaster had not been able to sink his own opinions to the general good of the country.

"I am not going to retaliate with a lecture to my hon .friend. I think he is sincere in his opinions and that is worth a lot. The failure of the parliamentary system in many countries of Europe to-day, where dictatorships have been set up ,is chiefly caused by insincerity of statesmen."

Offered Reciprocity

Mr. Marler had made frequent references to the Laurier-Fielding tariff. Mr. McMaster said he had not heard of this tariff until quite recently. One fact which must not be forgotten, however, was that the Liberal party stood for reduced tariffs. In 1911 it had made one of the greatest efforts to give this country freedom of trade with the United States when it introduced and went down to defeat on the Reciprocity proposal. Mr. Marler had forgotten to mention reciprocity in his speech although he did quote certain extracts from speeches of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as arguments against tariff reduction.

Mr. Marler had given the House to understand that the agricultural implement industry could not continue without protection. This was contrary to a declaration made by the Massey Harris Company in 1920 to the effect that it could do as well, if not better under free trade provided that the tariff was removed from materials and machinery entering into the manufacture of agricultural implementes. In the Budget the Government had removed the tariff from materials entering into the manufacture of these implements and it had not completely removed the tariff. Therefore, the implement manufacturers should be able to get along.

The Massey Harris Company had stated before the war that it carried on sixty per cent. of its business in other countries. Exports of agricultural implements in 1921-22 were to the value of $5,345,308; in 1922-23, $6,066,893 ,and in 1923-24, $6,339,518.

POLICE SAY SKELETON NOT AMBROSE SMALL'S

PEMBROKE, April 30. — Canadian Press. — That the skeleton discovered on Friday in the woods at Chichester, Allumette Island, is not that of the late Ambrose Small, was the opinion of Sergt. of Detectives Mitchell of Toronto, sent yesterday to investigate the case.

The height of the skeleton could not properly be ascertained since the bones could not all be assembled but the Toronto detective gave it as his opinion that the skeleton shows the demise to be more recent than that of small. Until an anatomical specialist gives his opinion the identity of the skeleton can scarcely be established.

LEARNING TO SWIM.

The Y.M.C.A. in continuing its yearly custom of throwing its swimming pool open and offering two weeks' free instruction in swimming under expert supervision to boys of the city who have not learned the useful art, is performing a service of much importance.

The Ontario Safety League's statistics show that despite the large number of fatal motor accidents, more lives were lost in Ontario last year from drowning than there were in automobile mishaps.

That statement emphasizes the necessity of a more general knowledge of the art of swimming, and while there has been a remarkable increase in Peterborough in the number of persons who have become proficient in the water, there are still too many boys who for some reason or other have not mastered the rudiments.

For them the Y.M.C.A. classes offer a splendid opportunity to learn to swim without any expense to themselves and under conditions of perfect safety.

Parents of such boys should see that this chance is not missed, for situated as Peterborough is upon a river and with many water resorts near at hand a knowledge of swimming is a decidedly handy asset.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT.

If only for the demonstration it afforded of a real community spirit in Peterborough the Motor Show or some other event of the same nature should be made an annual event.

The manner in which various church, social service and other organizations in Peterborough rallied to the support of the Motor Show and the whole-hearted enthusiasm displayed in connection with the planning of and the carrying out of the various details constituted an object lesson in what can be accomplished by community effort.

The officers of the Health Association must have been heartened by the unhesitating willingness of these organizations and of many individuals to do everything in their power to make the Motor Show a success, and thus ensure for the Health Association sufficient funds for the maintenance of its beneficient activities.

At the same time it is safe to wager that every man and woman who took part in the Motor Show activities is the better for it.

Each participant in that splendid effort had a lot of fund mixed in with the conciousness that a splendid object was being helped.

The result was a good time for everybody, good business prospects for the automotive dealers, a substantial surplus for the Health Association and the development of a community spirit that will be of decided advantage.

THE WOODSWORTH AMENDMENT.

The fact that the Woodsworth amendment has been held by Speaker Lemieux to be valid and that the Conservative amendment will therefore have to be dropped will occasion a very peculiar alignment of forces in the House of Commons.

It is expected that the majority of the Progressives will support the Woodsworth amendment, as it is in accordance with the lower tariff policy of the Progressive Party.

The Government, however, will not be placed in peril as a result of the defection of their temporary allies, for the Conservatives naturally will have to vote for the Government and against the amendment, because of the tariff principles set forth in the Woodsworth motion.

Then, when the Budget motion itself is voted upon the Progressives will line up with the Government to oppose the official Opposition.

The spectacle of a Liberal-Conservative alliance on a Budget amendment and a Liberal-Progressive partnership on the main motion is just another of the strange things that have been brought about by the departure from the old two-party system in Federal politics.

Mr. Woodsworth's object in interjecting his amendment before the official Opposition could move the high protection amendment that everybody knew was coming is not easily guessed.

There was not any chance of its passing, and its introduction has complicated the Budget debate with no particular advantage to anybody.

IT PAYS.

The importance of paying greater attention to the protection of Ontario's forests from fires in order to give nature a chance to replenish the fast dwindling supply will perhaps strike home to the average man faster if he can be made to realize how the problem affects his pocketbook.

Frank Linton's paper read at Monday's meeting of the Rotary Club succeeded in admirably illuminating that angle of the question.

It showed that, although there is still a great deal of virgin pine in Ontario, 20 to 30 years' supply at the present rate of cutting, for all practical purposes the supply will be exhausted before the end is actually reached.

In fact, there are only three places in Ontario now where there are considerable amounts of pine in sufficiently compact areas to offer fair logging chances.

That means that, taking into consideration the high cost of loggng in remote districts and the high cost of transporting sawn lumber to the markets, white pine as a building material has practically dropped out of use.

Instead, lumber is brought from the Southern States, which means that the Ontario purchaser is paying the wages of foreign workmen instead of those of their fellow-countrymen.

The other alternative is to use British Columbia lumber, and that involves the payment of from $12 to $16 freight charges for every thousand feet.

That is where the question hits the pocketbook of everybody, directly or indirectly.

Protect the forests, it pays, is a slogan that should be remembered long after this campaign has passed into history.

REAL COLONIZATION WORK.

That the Land Settlement Branch of the Department of Immigration and Colonization is capable of rendering useful service to the people of Canada is shown by the direction which it has just given to nearly 300 settlers from the Scotch Hebrides who were well located on farms in the vicinity of Edmonton and Red Deer within two days of their arrival in Alberta, says the Ottawa Journal.

Hon. J. A. Robb states that officials of the branch in advance had found places for all the farm workers in the party as well as the young women designated for domestic service, and they were dispersed without delay and without hitch to their new homes, a fact which speaks well for the efficiency of the agency employed.

The departure of these Scottish crofters from the northern islands was organized by Father A. R. McDonnell, but the arrangements on this side were entirely in the hands of the Land Settlement Branch which met them at the steamer's side, accompanied them and arranged for their physical comforts during the long overland journey, and at their destination conducted them to the farms where they are to be employed till they are in a position to take up land of their own.

This is a departure from ordinary colonization methods which promises good results. Mr. Robb has sensed the fact that if his department is to function effectively and Canada is to reap the benefit of the flow of immigration which is expected he must give the new settlers something more than a speech of welcome at the point of debarkation. He has a real welfare service in the Land Settlement Branch, spreading out over the whole Dominion—an organization whose aim will be to make Canada a pleasant abiding place for the stranger who comes to us from foreign lands.

This is the most important development in colonization methods that has been made in decades. It is a real settlement project.

Of the Hebrideans themselves the Edmonton Bulletin says:

"Those hardy folk from the northern isles are of a type suited to the country and bound to succeed here. They are used to the hard work that counts more for success in Canada than anything else. There need be little doubt that these newcomers will make good, or that their industry will well repay the welcome they receive."

THE IRISH BANSHEE AGAIN.

The breakdown of the Free State-Ulster boundary conference is one of those evil episodes that have dogged the Irish question from the beginning. The existing dispute has its source in the Anglo-Irish Treaty of 1922. Article 12 of that instrument provided for the separation of Northern Ireland from the Free State by means of an address to the King by both Houses of the Northern Legislature, on condition that, if such an address were presented, a Commission should be established to determine the frontier between the two States. Membership of this body was limited to three persons—one representative of the Free State, one of Northern Ireland, and a British chairman; and its task was defined as being "to determine, in accordance with the wishes of the inhabitants, so far as may be compatible with the economic and geographic conditions, the boundaries between Northern Ireland and the rest of Ireland."

Publication of this article raised a storm of criticism in Northern Ireland, and Sir James Craig declared flatly that, as his Government had not been consulted in the matter, it would refuse to nominate a member to the proposed Commission and would insist on the essential integrity of the six Northern Counties. And there Northern Ireland has stood. They maintain that the boundary of the North was determined by the "Government of Ireland Act" of 1920, that the British Government had no right to change the provisions of that Act without consulting the North, and that therefore, Ulster's position is "what we have we'll hold."

The contention of the Free State, on the other hand, is that the Northern Parliament, instead of owing its existence to the Government of Ireland Act, is really the creature of the Anglo-Irish Treaty. It points out that the Treaty created the Free State from ALL of the thirty-two counties of Ireland. Article II of the Treaty simply suspended the "powers of the Parliament and the Government of the Free State" in six of those counties. The first paragraph of Article 12 allowed those six counties (forming "Northern Ireland") to contract out of the Free State by "an address presented to His Majesty by both Houses of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to that effect." The Free State holds that such an address having been presented, the North therefore gave recognition to the Treaty—that it invoked the first paragraph of Aricle 12 of the Treaty for the continued separate existence of Northern Ireland. And the Free State accordingly argues that having taken advantage of the first paragraph of Article 12, Ulster recognized, invoked and bound herself by the entire Article, and must, therefore, be bound by the Boundary Commission.

By far the most important factor in the whole problem is the position of Fermanagh and Tyrone, Fermanagh has a population (1911 census) of 61,836, of whom 34,000 are in favor of the Free Stae and 28,000 against it. The corresponding figures for Tyrone, which has a population of 142,000, are 79,000 and 63,000 respectively. The combined counties returned two members of Parliament at the last British General Election last December. Both were Nationalists—Mr. Harrison and Mr. Cahir Healy—and they had majorities of more than 6,000 each over the Unionist opponents. In Londonderry city 56 per cent. of the population are Nationalists, although in the county there is a Unionist majority of 17 per cent. Throughout the Northern area such anomalies are abundant, and it is evident that no cut-and-dried solution of the problem will be possible.

What will be the outcome, now that an attempt at settlement by conciliation has broken down, it is impossible to tell. Irish politics are of so incalculable a character, Irish prejudices, both North and South, so rooted in centuries of suspicion, that ordinary standards of reasoning do not apply. The only thing that appears is that the situation is a bad one, that it will do harm in Ireland, and that it will add enormously to the burdens and trials of the Government of Ramsay MacDonald—already almost more than human shoulders can bear.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

To bob or not to bob—that is the question with many of Peterborough's fair sex today.

The Y.M.C.A. is a community asset that deserves well of the citizens generally. Hence the appeal for assistance on this occasion is made confidently.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Indications are there will be a big apple crop this year. If nothing happens there won't be enough jugs and bottles to hold it.

Everything has its place. Flies keep lots of people from just sitting around doing nothing.

Bartenders should make good umpires, being used to bottles.

HIS SLUGGISH LIVER MADE HIM FEEL DROWSY AND TIRED ALL THE TIME

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers, and the only way you can get back to feeling right is to make your liver right.

This you can do by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills as they will stimulate the sluggish liver clean away all waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent, as well as relieve, all complications arising from a liver that has become inactive.

Mr. E. Hazel East Florenceville N.B., writes: —"I had been troubled with my liver and felt drowsy and tired all the time, and was unable to do my work with any comfort. I took your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and to-day I am a different man, and would not be without them in the house."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MAGISTRATE GUNDY REPLIES TO HOOPER

WINDSOR, April 30.—(Canadian Press).—Answering charges made by Alderman Hooper in the City Council Monday night, that he had withheld police court fees which were to be paid into City treasury, Magistrate Gundy openly declared in Police Court yesterday that the charges were malicious.

Magistrate said that because of Hoopers' conviction by him in Police Court in January 1922 the alderman has been attempting to intimidate in the administration of justice. Hooper at that time was fined $500 for operating a hand book.

TIRE SECTION IS MUTE TESTIMONY IN DEFENSE

Expert Took Back Statement Given Over Three Hour Interrogation When Confronted With Piece Of Tire.— Night Session Held.

A sensation developed in the closing moments of the night session of the Spring Non-Jury Assizes last night when an expert witness who had in a prolonged examination over three hours declared the formulae and processes alleged to be for the manufacture of Red Arrow tires was confronted with a section of tire bearing the red arrows in the centre of the tread and the beautifying white stripes on the sides that became familiar as the marks on Red Arrow tires a few years ago. After having declared positively that the formulae were useless and impractical and referring to the man who attempted to use them as "a fool," the expert admitted to Mr. Parmenter, cross-examining, that tires could be made from it, "but it is a question of the life of the tire."

William McIntosh of Pickering, the expert called by R. R. Hall, K.C., declared the formulae delivered by Charles H. Walters were absolutely useless. The company paid Walters 184,000 fully paid up shares of common stock at a par value of $5, a consideration of $920,000.

The court sat over nine hours yesterday, adjourning just before ten o'clock last night. J. J. Turner, called by the plaintiff, was in the witness box altogether four hours and twenty minutes, and will be called again by the defense. W. R. Morris was on the stand on Monday for two hours; G. N. Gordon, one hour and forty minutes; Robert Hicks, one hour, and W. McIntosh, three hours.

Throughout the trial there have been only a few spectators present in the court-room, the case not being spectacular from the point of view of the general visitors at court sittings. Many of the city lawyers, however, have visited the court to witness what is a difficult and impressive legal battle.

Towards the close of last night's session Mr. Justice Wright remarked that there would be no dispute that there is money owing by Red Arrow Tires to Hayes.

"We are not prepared to admit that, Your Lordship," the defense counsel were quick to reply.

The stand taken by the defense and outlined to His Lordship was that there was no written contract and the defendants did not know until the assignment was made that the contract had not been signed by Hayes & Sons.

His Lordship suggested that defense counsel come prepared today to admit that some amount is still owing to the plaintiffs by either Red Arrow Tires or Stockdale. He would not discuss the amount, but would refer this to the Master in Chambers, Magistrate O. A. Langley.

If this is done, the plaintiff will not be called upon to show the details of his claim, and the court now sitting will determine only whether the company is liable, and whether the directors individually are liable.

No Books Kept.

Mr. Turner said the object in the ceremony attending the turning of the first sod on the company's property was to show the public that the directors had confidence in it. The contract was to be completed in 120 days and production was expected in March.

At the time the contract was let the company had no cash book, bank book, ledger or book of account. It had none at any time. The certificate book was the only one that would show a list of shareholders. There was no book in the possession of the company showing receipts and expenditures.

"Under the Joint Stock Company Act there is provision for a company to keep a transfer book. Was there any such book kept?"

SYNOPSIS OF CASE

Presiding Justice—Mr. Justice Wright.

Parties—Plaintiffs: John E. Hayes & Sons. Defendants: John J. Turner, president of the defunct Red Arrow Tire Co. and president of J. J. Turner & Sons, Ltd.; G. A. Gillespie, vice-president of the defunct company and president of Peterborough Milk Products, Ltd.; P. P. Westbye, treasurer of the Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., and vice-president and general manager of Wm. Hamilton Co., Ltd., and J. R. McDonald, secretary of Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., and president of the McDonald Lumber Co.

Counsel—The plaintiffs are represented by R. R. Hall, K.C., and John Corkery, and the defendants by F. D. Kerr, K.C., W. F. Kerr, K.C., of Cobourg, appearing for John J. Turner, G. A. Gillespie and P. P. Westbye, and R. H. Parmenter, K.C., of Toronto for J. R. McDonald.

Aim—The suit is for $28,188.70 and interest at 5 per cent. from January 8, 1922, for alleged breach of contract; and infraction of the Companies Act is charged.

Synopsis—The case opened on Monday and the following witnesses have been heard: For the plaintiff: W. R. Morris, C.A., official receiver in bankruptcy; D. D. Brown, accountant in the Bank of Toronto; Robert Hicks, a provisional director of the company; Walter R. Blackwell, architect who drew up the plans and specifications for the factory; J. J. Turner, president of the defunct company; Charles Clark, shipping clerk who testified to delivery of parcels to Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., and Stephen McLaughlin, engineer engaged by Walters. For the defence: G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy-Speaker of the House of Commons, whose firm was engaged as counsel in the organization of the company.

"No."

Mr. Justice Wright: "Probably they had no need of one."

Mr. McLaughlin did not bring the corporate seal or books to his office after the winding up of the company, Mr. Turner said. The other directors probably knew as well as he what books were kept or not.

"What assets had the company on hand at the first of December?"

"The formulae, the minute book and the seals."

"What property did it own?"

"The processes and the seal."

"And the office furniture?"

"No."

Mr. Hall: "Common stock was issued for the formulae. What was the value of the common stock?"

"Five dollars."

"In the prospectus the statement is made that the only value of the shares allotted to Walters depended on his ability and success?"

"Yes."

Mr. Hall: "There came a time when the company failed and you made an affidavit of the assets of the company in which the formulae was not mentioned. There is no doubt at that time you considered the formulae of no value?"

It was admitted by the defence that there was a conveyance by Stockdale to Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., of property registered October 10, 1922.

Copies of the minutes were forwarded to each of the directors after each meeting, and Rath's copy was given to Walters to forward.

An agreement between the company and Stephen E. McLaughlin of Akron, Ohio, was produced in which the latter was employed as factory engineer and assistant to the general manager.

Mr. Hall: "Who is the general manager referred to?"

Mr. Turner: "Mr. Charles H. Walters."

"Why was it necessary to have at that time a factory engineer?"

"Mr. Walters explained that as the factory progressed an engineer would be needed."

The tire was to have arrows in the thread that would make a distinctive track, Mr. Turner said. The tires would have a guarantee of a minimum mileage of 8,000 miles.

He knew that Hayes & Sons were making good progress up to December 3 and no fault was found, he thought, with the progress.

In connection with a cheque for $2,000 said by Stockdale to have been paid to Curtis, Mr. Turner did not know it had been returned for "not sufficient funds."

No Audit of Books.

Did you as chief executive officer of the company call in any auditor to examine the accounts?

No. We had vouchers for the items. We couldn't check up anything on Stockdale. We couldn't get anything out of him, and you can't check something you haven't got.

When Stockdale was in Sherbrooke Mr. Turner had letters from customers there asking what had become of their share certificates.

On January 25, 1922, Mr. McDonald wrote his resignation as secretary and director of the company on account of pressure of business. No other explanation was made and no dissatisfaction was expressed by Mr. McDonald.

What extraordinary duties had he been doing as secretary of the board that took up his time?

He had no extraordinary duties—he had to take up other duties.

Mr. Hall: "Did it occur to you that your bylaws required four directors to form a quorum and that three could not accept the resignation of the fourth?"

Mr. Parmenter: "There were four. Mr. McDonald accepted his own resignation."

Mr. Westbye's signature was attached to share certificates dated January. This to Mr. Turner indicated that the certificates were not sent out until after February 15 when Mr. Westbye assumed the office vacated by Mr. McDonald.

No value was given Mr. Walters for 2,000 share of common stock given each director.

Mr. Turner protested, but Walters insisted that it was only fair.

In transfers of stock from Walters to Westbye there was no record except on the stub of the certificate. Mr. Turner did not know of any transfer in writing.

On March 7, 1922, Mr. Turner wrote to C. H. Walters at Sherbrooke reviewing the affairs of the company in which Mr. Turner called attention to accounts which demanded attention.

Proceedings were threatened by the Steel Corporation of Hamilton against Hayes and the Red Arrow Tires would be made jointly responsible in this eventuality. Mr. Turner pointed out that subscribers were calling for their certificates and thought reports should be made weekly.

A second letter, on March 9, 1922, asked about issuing stock certificates. The shareholders in the second list had received no certificates. On the morning this letter was written the Steel Company had notified Mr. Turner they would that day sue Hayes & Company.

On March 13 another letter was sent to Walters saying Mr. Westbye had called regarding a note given his company by Mr. Stockdale for smokestacks and boilers. Mr. Turner said he regretted the necessity for writing the letters, but urged an understanding at an early moment.

The Sherbrooke plant was equipped ready to operate, but was in the receivers hands for lack of capital. Mr. Walters was looking into the project of taking it over in order to supply the customers who had been promised tires by a certain date.

On June 19, 1922, a meeting was held of the remaining directors, J. J. Turner, G. A. Gillespie and P. P. Westbye, and minutes in pencil were produced. Mr. Turner was instructed to cancel any contracts with Peterborough Securities Co. and McLaughlin and take other steps to safeguard the shareholders.

"What had McLaughlin been doing all this time?"

"Nothing."

The president of the company did not know that brick had been used instead of concrete for the foundation of the factory, he had not been consulted by Mr. Walters and he had not been informed that the brick would cost more. He could not say now whether the foundation is of brick.

Mr. Turner was not subjected to cross-examination by the defense counsel, but was reserved for calling as a defense witness.

Engineer Called.

Stephen McLaughlin said he was engaged in designing treads for the tires. The peculiar character about the tire was a non-skid feature and the tire was to have three rows of arrows on the tread. His instructions were received from Walters.

The blue prints and tracings are the most essential part of the manufacture, the witness said. The tracings were necessary to the manufacture of Red Arrow tires. The thickness, length and width must be known before a formula may be drawn up and this data is obtained from blue prints and drawings.

McLaughlin was employed in preparing these drawings and they were filed in a cabinet. He did not see any blue prints that Walters might have had. There were none in his desk or in the office. If Walters had had these drawings it would not be necessary to have obtained McLaughlin, he said.

"When did you get notice to quit?"

"I didn't. The finances of the company dwindled out so that there was nothing for me."

"What became of the certificate books containing the preferred and common stock certificates?"

"They were delivered by me to Mr. Turner on June 8."

Mr. Kerr Cross-Examined.

McLaughlin said he delivered the books to Mr. Turner in his office in the afternoon. "I had gone down relative to some money I had coming to me and he referred me to Walters."

The witness did not have the key to the office continuously and finally relinquished it to the sheriff's officer in June.

He got the books he delivered to Mr. Turner in a filing drawer. He did not take the blue prints to Mr. Turner. Part of the certificates had been torn out and part of the remaining certificates were filled out. He did not know what happened to his blue prints.

He had concluded that the enterprise had failed, but had no instructions as to what to do with the books.

The witness told Mr. Parmenter he did not know whether Walters was experienced in the building.

"His particular line was compounding the ingredients?"

"I was led to believe so."

Witness had a claim of $762 against the company and Mr. J. F. Strickland looked after his interests.

Formulae Useless.

William McIntosh of Pickering, Ont., engaged in waterproofing, told of his qualifications in the rubber business and in experimentation.

Mr. Hall: "You have read over the formulae and processes. What is your opinion of them as a whole?"

Mr. McIntosh: "They are useless and worthless. They don't harmonize. There is nothing new in the ingredients, and they are impractical in combination, while new to me. The arrangements are vague and incoherent. The formulae cannot be used as they are—they would ruin the work."

The method of applying the combination is dangerous to life and property from fire and explosion.

Formulae and processes in detail can be bought for the manufacture of tires for a few dollars on the open market. "I can get all I want for $500." The processes on the open market have been tried and have given good results.

"In these formulae there are no secret ingredients, but the construction is new to me. A tire or tube could not be made up from this combination. If a tire was attempted to be made up no satisfactory result would be obtained. The tire would stick to the mold and break up.

"Blue prints are the groundwork of the tires and of the molds in which the tires are formed. A tire cannot be built without a blue print that shows the construction.

"In the construction of one tire would be required a dozen blueprints which must be accurate to one five hundreths part of an inch."

"Would these formulae and processes be any use without the blue prints?"

"Absolutely not."

"Could you buy blue prints that would fit in with these formulae and process to construct the Red Arrow tire?"

"Not with the special tread."

Mr. Justice Wright: "Did you ever hear of blue prints being for sale?"

"Each formula has its own blue prints."

The processes said to have been handed over by Walters were taken item by item by the expert and their uselessness shown. Temperatures were wrong. Some would result in breaking the machines, others would burn the rubber and some would be dangerous to life.

Tire Produced.

Mr. McIntosh described in detail the manufacture of rubber and showed how the processes described in the Walters' formulae were useless and in many cases impossible.

The drying process was described as far too long and costly and out of date. "It is the original way of drying," he said.

Regarding another process the expert exclaimed: 'Only a fool would do that. It is never done by anyone in the trade; he is a fool who would try it."

In cross-examination by Mr. Parmenter the expert said he has a factory.

"I am told you do this work in your house."

"I do it in my factory."

"Is it attached to your house?"

"Yes."

"Did you do any experimentation with this formula?"

"No. I judged by my knowledge of the business."

The witness said he had been out of the tire business since 1920, but is still in the rubber manufacturing business.

He positively declared the Walters' formulae were absolutely useless.

"Are you willing to pledge your oath?" asked Mr. Parmenter, producing a section of alleged Red Arrow tire, "that a tire such as this could not be produced by a practical man from the Walters' formulae?"

The witness did not answer the question.

"I am asking you again, can a tire such as this be produced with the Walters' formulae?"

"It could be made up, but it is a question of the life of the tire."
